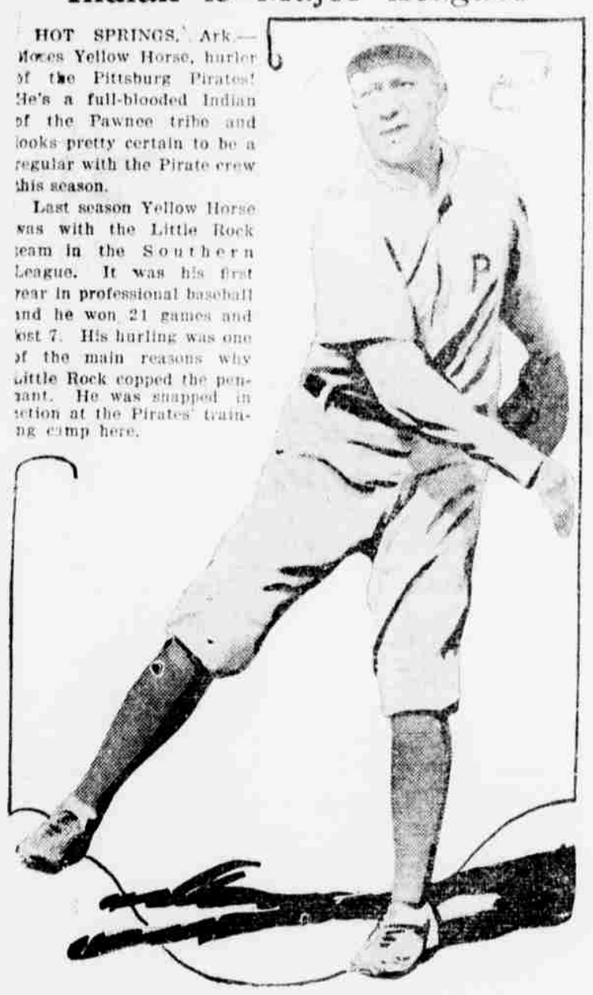
Indian is Major Leaguer



HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Moses Yellow Horse, hurler of the Pittsburg Pirates! He's a full-blooded Indian of the Pawnee tribe and looks pretty certain to be a regular with the Pirate crew this season.

Last season Yellow Horse was with the Little Rock team in the Southern League. It was his first year in professional baseball and he won 21 games and lost 7. His hurling was one of the main reasons why Little Rock copped the pennant. He was snapped in action at the Pirates' training camp here.

PYOTTS MAY PLAY CURTAIN RAISER WITH FANS' TEAM

DUNN ANNOUNCES MAY 1 AS OPENING DATE OF 1921 SEASON —AGGREGATION ALL LINED UP READY TO GO—LYNCH HERE.

With a first-class team rigged together, Ottawa baseball fans are patiently awaiting that glorious day, Sunday, May 1, when Manager Dunn will escort the fans' warriors to the North Side lot to open the season's baseball. There is a continual buzz about the city and it is all about the coming baseball season. Dunn expects to put over one of the biggest and most successful seasons ever and he is going after it in fine shape.

As yet he has not booked a game for the curtain raiser, but he is negotiating with Billy Neisen of Chicago, president of the Chicago City League and manager of the Gunthers and Pyotts, for a game with the former team on that date. Last week the mentor forwarded a letter to the Chicago magnate, inquiring about a game for May 1, but so far no answer has been received. Nevertheless, Dunn is almost certain he will get the game and usher in the Ottawa season with a bang. Should he fail to get the game with the Gunthers he will attempt to hook up with some other Chicago League team.

Yesterday Jimmy Lynch returned from his visit in the East and gave fans a surprise by calling a little earlier than usual. Jimmy admitted to Dunn that he did write to officials of the Peoria club, asking for a transfer, but that his intentions were not of quitting the local nine. The little southpaw stated that it was just a bluff or a stall that his pitching for Ottawa might be made more certain. He is in fine shape and is looking fine, ready for the season to open.

With Jimmy on the mound and Roth backstopping, Dunn and other members of the association expect to cop off a flock of wins this season. Besides the two main stems, Dunn is certain of every other man. Starting at first base, Dunn will have Sammy Katz, one of the cleverest first sackers in the state, and fans will remember last season of how he used to spear the old bee liners and line drives that came his way. At second, Rabbit Clark will reign in all his glory. That is his regular position, and he is more than pleased that he will play there. At shortstop, Dunn has a speedy player in Paul Brandage of Marseilles. Last season the village lad played in Dakota and made a magnificent record. At third, Dunn has the hard slugging Merle Edmunds, Dunlap's heavy hitter of last season.

In the poppy fields, to pull down the long ones, everybody can nearly guess. Shorty Sheiden will play left field, "Polly" Wolfe at center and "Kid" Wilmeroth at right. Every one of the trio named are exceptionally good outfielders and besides are to be credited for their ability of crashing the old pill in times of need.

With such a line-up it is most certain that Ottawa will be put on the baseball map this season. A very successful season is in store for the local club and all that is needed now is the good, loyal support of the Ottawa fans.

The best records made are for sale or exchange in our shop at a very low cost to club members.

REDUCE BONDS OF INDICTED WHITE SOX

Chicago, April 5.—Promising that they would uncork a lot more scandal than yet has been aired in the baseball world, attorneys representing the seven indicted White Sox players obtained a reduction of their bonds from $18,000 to $7,500 each in the criminal court yesterday. Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald modified the bond requirements on motion of Attorneys Benedict Short, Michael Ahern and Thomas Nash, who represented Joe Jackson, Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams, George Weaver, Oscar Felsch, Fred McMullin and Charles Risberg. Assistant State's Attorney George E. Gorman opposed the reduction of the bonds.

During the course of the argument Attorneys Short and Ahern declared there were some gamblers who got away with "between $200,000 and $300,000," who should have been indicted, but will be shown up at the trial, the attorneys said.

Prosecutor Gorman argued that the players had no standing until they were in court. "I do not believe there should be any distinction between the gamblers and the players," he said. "If you give the players consideration, the gamblers will ask for the same."

The players' lawyers replied that the old bonds of $5,000 each had been sufficient to keep the indicted men from running away. Judge McDonald, in granting the reduction, said:

"The purpose of a bond is to insure appearance for trial. The old bond apparently was sufficient to keep the men here and compel their appearance for trial. I will make the bond $7,500, and that is more than the old one."

Several of the indicted players are said to have made indirect overtures to local semi-pros promoters to be employed during the coming season, but have found a cold reception.

FRENCH BOO GEORGES FOR "LIBERAL" PRIZE

Paris, April 5.—Egg and Soiree won the circular bicycle race Sunday night at the Velodrome before 18,000 fans. The sympathies of the big crowd, however, were not with the winners, Brocco and Spears being the favorites.

How the French fans feel towards anything connected with war was demonstrated during the morning when an orchestra started to play "Sambre et Meuse" a battle song of the war of 1870. The occupants of the gallery, who were mostly poilus, who had fought in the great war, drowned out the music by hook and whistling. "Give us jazz," they cried.

The French pugilist, Georges Carpentier, brought down some of the crowd's wrath on himself when he offered 50 francs (about $3 at the present rate of exchange) and a set of silent rate of exchange and a set of aluminum kitchen utensils which he manufactures, to the winner of the race. The announcement was greeted with boos from the gallery.

MAKES A "THREE" ON 452 YARD HOLE

Pinehurst, N. C., April 5.—Perry Adair, the young Atlanta golf expert, led a field of over 200 players by margin of three strokes at the end of the first eighteen holes of the thirty-six hole qualifying round in the north and south amateur championship tournament yesterday. Adair won the medal in this event last year.

The fourteenth is a 452 yard hole. Adair's fine drive in the teeth of a heavy wind and the great shot that followed it and left his ball a few inches from the cup, were blows to be remembered.

"That was the best hole I ever played in my life," said Perry.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

LITTLE GNOMES.

Hurrying Along.

"When the girl and the boy," said Dolly, who were going forth for adventures, met the little creature who was so small, they asked him, soon after they'd met him, if he'd tell his name.

"My name is Mr. Gnome," he said. "But I am no relation to any of the gnomes you know, no relation to Peter Gnome. He is a fine fellow. Now what is it you want to know?"

"We want to be successful and great and important and rule over everyone," said the boy. "I want, in other words, to be a great man."

"We want everyone to do as we say they should do," said the girls, "follow our leadership, in other words, for we will be noble and splendid. How do we go along becoming leaders? Can you tell us that much?"

"I am," said the little creature; "can tell you very little. I live here where everything is safe and beautiful. I never grow any larger. I have always been of the same size, because I have always had so much comfort. I might have grown years ago, but now it is hopeless to wish for it. I could never change my ways; they fit me so closely and so well, I know not."

"I want always have my easy, soft bed to lie on. I will never exert myself. I will not go forth to work or to strive for great things. Therefore I stay so small. For hardly anything or anyone will come to me.

"If they do come they hurry away, for they're so afraid they'll become lazy and idle, as I have become, and thus they will always be small in stature and smaller yet in thoughts. You see, my head is so small. There is little room for anything in it.

"But here comes Mrs. Gnome. She is pretty to know, too."

"The boy and the girl looked at Mrs. Gnome, as she came hurrying along the mossy ground, carrying a basket over her arm.

"She was very tall and very thin, and her face was horribly wrinkled.

"'Good-day,' said the boy, bowing politely and trying not to count the wrinkles in her face, for they were so clearly marked and were so deep that he would have liked to have said:

"'One, two, three, four, five, six, seven to the right side,' and so on.

"'Good-day,' said the girl. 'We hope you're quite well.'

"'Quite well or quite ill,' said Mrs. Gnome; 'I've no time to think of either. Maybe I'm well, maybe I'm ill. I do not know. I am too busy to stop and think.'

"'What keeps you so busy in these quiet woods?' asked the boy. 'Mr. Gnome was just telling us what a delightfully lazy life he leads, but that it did keep him small. He also said you were no relation to any of the other Gnomes we knew or knew about.'

"'You see,' said Mrs. Gnome, 'I am tall, and I don't lead a lazy life. But I am too tall and too thin.'

"A tear trickled down Mrs. Gnome's face but she hastily brushed it away.

"'I will get your supper directly, sir,' she said to Mr. Gnome. 'Pray pardon the delay. And are these two having supper with you?'

"'Will you both stay for supper?'

"'We'd love to, if it would be no trouble,' said the girl, who was secretly longing to stay on and talk to this curious couple.

"'Oh, it will be no trouble at all,' said Mr. Gnome, smiling. He leaned back against a tree and Mrs. Gnome began to bustle about, setting a table and taking many things out of the basket.

"'We were talking about my size,' he continued.

"'Oh,' said the girl, 'I remember you said something about us becoming small if we stayed long.'

"'No,' said Mr. Gnome. 'I said that creatures never liked to stay long with me because they might grow small, but you'd have to stay longer than just through supper. If they stayed on with me any great length of time they might grow smaller, because they'd amount to so little. See? It would take a long time to get into my habits, though.

"'You're quite safe.'

"So the girl and the boy paid the Gnomes a visit."

"No Trouble."

"Jimmy" Lynch and his wife are visiting friends in New York temporarily for a honeymoon. Jimmy has been working out with an amateur college team and while a little heavier than usual, appears to be ready for the opener.

Joe C. is to have a baseball team this year that is a composite outfit of girls which will be run on the theatrical of a Mississippi steamer. Among the white girls she signed up are a pitcher and a catcher, a lot of fly balls to right that were shoved out of Uncle James' grounds played. Miss Gilmore White, who has been playing at various times with all-female teams in the Joplin City league, will occupy the mound for Joe's team. People who have seen this lady say that they are fast enough to pass with most semi-pros.

Steve Ott, the Brooklyn left hand pitcher who came to Dunn last fall, looks as the coming man in the Dodger outfit this season. It will be a case, until he can show that he is Leach always so he was a hold-up for "Dazzling Steve" in 1921.

Frank Murphy who clowned with the Cubs when they were in the pennant, will be with Rock Island on the Three I league this year. John I had been counting on Murphy.

Jimmie Ring, mainstay of the Johnny Rechman will have the same lineup as last year. Cubs fans will remember this lineup as being an exceptionally fast combination.

Bendota fans are getting a baseball play next week for their baseball team. The title of the play is "Safety First." Above that is the reason they do not want to look any game with Ottawa.

According to reports from Toronto the fans there have given up the idea of having a team in the field this season.

A lady who attends the ball games asked "Dinny" Leach if he was going to have only two men in his team this year. When the men got stuck the lady what made her think that. Dinny explained that from the local baseball accounts she thought that "Leach" signed her that he signed up a complete team, filled as usual, and [illegible] games had been play [illegible] other names would suffice, in proof.

According to reports from those who know the new third sacker for Ottawa will be a second Ruth with the willow. His name is Edmunds and if he is just half as good as they report local fans will be satisfied.

Who is going to be the umpire?

SKOKIE GETS BRITISH CHAMP FOR EXHIBITION

Chicago, April 5.—The Skokie Country club, which last year made an unsuccessful bid for the western amateur championship, again has showed its enterprise by being the first local club to book George Duncan, the British open champion, and Abe Mitchell.

They will appear at Skokie on July 24, playing against Phil Gaudin and Chick Evans, if the latter accepts an invitation already sent him.

George Braid, local manager for Wanamaker & Co., who is booking the Britishers in this section of the country, has signed them for Milwaukee on July 21.

Duncan and Mitchell will sail on July 2. Shortly after their arrival they will play Jime Barnes and Jack Hutchinson a seventy-two hole match at the New Pelham Bay club of Long Island. For this event the club is putting up a purse of $2,000.

AUSTRALIAN TEAM LEADS BIKE RACERS

Chicago, March 5.—Reading, Mass., and Goodwell, Okla., yesterday produced Frank Corry and Alec McDonald, the Australian team, well into the lead on the first day of the six day bicycle race now being held at the Coliseum park pavilion. Robbins and Fogarty, the Belgian team, which was the lead after the first session on Saturday morning, came in second in yesterday's race. Frank Kaiser, local rider, who is teamed with Willie Hunter of San Francisco, broke into the money column for the first time by scoring three laps. Kaiser took the fourth spurt in the afternoon in commanding manner, while Hunter was the victor in the third.

The Australian teams which were tied when last Sunday morning came in, and spent a few spells tangled up persistently since, the riders are finding the wood in excellent shape despite the warm weather. A number of the contestants are going the distance without sleep, but the lack of sleep is expected to start at any time. It has been whispered around the pavilion that the Australian riders have a deal of respect for the foreign teams which are said to be among the best ever in a local sixday race. The Australians seldom take any chances to allow a foreign rider get out in front and for the most part riders who are not on the track stay close to [illegible] ready for any of the [illegible] teams.
