FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

IT'S ALL WRONG

I don't see why that boy like me
Should have to go to school,
Because I don't like anything
But what's against the rule.

And in the summer time I learn
What school books never show
And just the very, very things
That every boy should know.

Last summer I learned how to swim,
And how to dive & float;
I learned to bat;
I learned to pitch;
And how to row a boat.
