NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

BY DAISY DEAN

Jane and Katherine Lee, of the Fox forces, inspecting their Christmas dinner.

The most recent Keystone comedy to be released is a burlesque one entitled "The Lost Baby." It is more in the nature of a farce comedy than the usual slapstick. A tramp fellow is left a fortune provided he does not become a father for a certain age. Another tramp plays a baby in the house man's home hoping to get the fortune himself and win the girl to whom the fellow just is engaged by pretending the baby is his. A notable feature is the comic work performed by a big Dane, who plays a cradle (not a dream) and in a other ways is a laughing school for the baby and all concerned.

It doesn't seem possible to find anything "predicting" for Edith Hanson's dog, but Howard works all the time and insists on it. Constant work is the best factoring using possible for an actor, and Hickman is one of those rare fellows who go along without picking up a lot of dope, giving one polished performance after another.

Harvey Clark, the character actor, was married to Miss Ethel Ullman, a charming girl and leading woman with the Thanhouser company. They are at present at home in Santa Barbara.

Charlie Chaplin said he would love to be Santa Claus. "The children love me," he said, "but they fairly adore the bewhiskered man in the red suit. He is the only envy of my young life."

The Clara Kimball Young Serial World Pictures produce the comedy photoplay, "Mademoiselle a la Carte," in which Clara Kimball Young is starred at the Majestic tonight. Miss Young's versatility will have a chance of showing itself to advantage in this film. She is equally at home in comedy roles as well as dramatic. The story of "Mademoiselle a la Carte" is a series open airy romance, nothing more nor less. It revels the marriage game, as it is frequently played, in all its unmentionable cynicism and baseness, although it does not overlook the humorous side of the matter. Mrs. Niles, an ambitious society lady, has a pretty daughter, Mildred, played by Clara Kimball Young, and she wants the girl to make a good match. Along comes an eligible count who, however, hasn't not anything more to recommend him to Mildred than his title. But his cousin, who is Mr. Niles, Mildred's father, finds it necessary that the girl should have money and money. Instead of which she falls in love with a penniless young fellow, Theodore Lombard, and they are married. There is misunderstanding in the bride's family, which is repaired when it is revealed that the young bridegroom is a millionaire.

NEW RECORD SCORED BY COALING PLANT

New York, C. Z.—A record for quick coaling has been made by the new coaling plant at the Panama canal at the Atlantic terminus. It recently delivered 420 tons of coal into the bunkers of a ship and sent her about her business in 24 minutes, and that too with the use of only one of the four leading towers with which the plant is equipped. This single conveyor was handling coal at the rate of 1,050 tons an hour.

There is practically never a ship comes to the plant which can take coal as fast as the plant can deliver it. The conveyors have to be stopped repeatedly to allow the coal to be trimmed evenly in the bunkers. For naval purposes the plant was designed to have an overall handling capacity of 2,000 tons an hour for an indefinite run, and to be capable of speeding up to 3,000 tons an hour in emergencies. Tests for this capacity have been run, and the plant has been found to exceed requirements slightly.
