Hon. E. V. Long, chief justice of the territory, Judge Parsons of Greenfield, first assistant attorney general H. L. C. Fort and B. Romero arrived last night from Las Vegas. They are registered at the San Felipe. They are going on legal business.

Charles Burdick, who was called to El Paso on account of the alleged attempt on the life of the chief justice of the territory, returned home last night, and informs THE CITIZEN that he did not find anything to better and in a fair way to early recovery.

Peter Lutkemeyer, who has been hunting in the Sandia mountains the past two weeks, has returned to the city and reports having a splendid time. Bringing down the game. Peter is a crack and killer shot, and during his absence his office could not have safely be conducted.

A. J. Barney and family registered at the San Felipe last night from Dallas. Mr. Barney is a member of the No. 2 hose company, and his coming was anticipated news from Assistant Foreman Rogers about the recent purchase of new horses of that company. The visitor is also night agent for the Atlantic & Pacific road at Dallas.

Hon. Silas Alexander, formerly territorial secretary, now in the law business with Col. Wm. Breeden at Socorro, came up from the south last night and is here today on legal matters. He will probably not go to Santa Fe to-morrow evening. Mr. Alexander states that the town city is getting along nicely financially, and says the mines of Socorro are being worked more vigorously than for the past ten years.

THE CITIZEN was informed yesterday that H. B. Whitney, county of schools superintendent, had appointed Mrs. Frank Stuart teacher of one of the public schools in the Barelas district. The lady passed a creditable examination some time ago, and is fully competent to "teach the young idea how to shoot." She will no doubt prove acceptable to the citizens of Barelas, and her name be added to the superintendent's list of successful teachers of the county.

Death of Mrs. Reeves.

Last night at midnight, Mrs. J. B. Reeves, who has been residing with her husband and six children in a small frame shanty on the Alvarado place at the terminus of Second street, died from pneumonia, and was buried this afternoon by Undertaker Strong at 2:30 o'clock in Fairview cemetery.

The deceased was about 32 years of age, and came here last April with her husband and children, from Indian territory. They are originally from near Ft. Smith, Arkansas. For the past three weeks Mr. Reeves has been in the employ of B. B. Borden, the Third street meat marketer, but before then he earned a scanty living by driving a delivery wagon and doing odd jobs. Do You Know Ours?

Every newspaper man has at some time in his life experienced the pleasure of receiving from some patent medicine concern a letter like the following: "Dear Sir—Enclosed find one dollar, for which please send me one bottle of your wonderful medicine, which I have read so much about in the papers." Of course, the dollar is always enclosed, and the bottle of medicine is sent by return mail. The editor then waits for the letter to come back with the dollar, and wonders why the sender thinks he is a fool. Isn't he?

Another Christmas Baby

On Monday morning, Christmas day, H. A. Harris, of Independence county, and Miss Mattie Hutchinson, of Cleburne county, were married. The happy couple are well known in New Mexico, the bride having been a city girl from Las Vegas, where her parents reside. The bridegroom is a prominent young man of Independence county, and the bride is a young lady of many accomplishments and a most charming disposition. The CITIZEN joins with their numerous friends in congratulations and best wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Harris will be at home after January 15, at Harris' place, near Batesville, Ark.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

Mayor Field Welcomed the Teachers Last Evening

Last evening the Educational Association of New Mexico, holding their eighth annual meeting in this city, were welcomed to the metropolis by Mayor Field at the opera house.

When President Ramsay, of the association, mounted the rostrum and announced that Prof. W. D. L. Hoell, of Raton, would preside, there was a good audience present, but not as large as the occasion justified. This was probably due to lack of sufficient notice to the public.

On the meeting being called to order, Prof. Hoell stepped forward and introduced Mayor Field.

The mayor's address was a brilliant effort, in which he reviewed the educational advancement the country from the time he made a speech at the business men's dinner three years ago to the present time. He stretched a few wild [illegible] and wonderful [illegible] [illegible]

ANIMAL FERTILIZER.

How the Body Produces Electricity for the Plant.

A dead animal of any kind, fish, fowl or beast, buried near the roots of a fruit tree, will cause a wonderful growth. The animal substance does not pass into the vegetable, but being a natural and a powerful generator of electricity, increases the current that passes from the atmosphere to the earth and thereby a larger quantity of support is drawn from the atmosphere. You can grow a good crop of potatoes on a brick pavement if moisture is retained, and the potato vines are connected with moist earth by copper wires.

Commercial fertilizers do not enrich the soil, do not add anything to it that is of value. The objects sought in these fertilizers is to put the soil into a condition that will enable it to conduct electricity. The electrical current passes into the vegetable through its leaves, carrying with it the gross matter that goes to build up the vegetable cells, and after the matter is deposited in the vegetable, the electric current must have a conductor through which to pass to the earth.

Worn out soils are poor conductors, says Foster's Weather Bureau, and the acids used in the commercial fertilizers, which are little more than acids and sand, pulverize the dead soil, and cultivate it for a short time. These acid fertilizers are largely used in the New England states, and in the cotton countries east of the Mississippi.

But few people in the Upper Mississippi and the Missouri valleys ever saw a commercial fertilizer. If science can find something that will render worn out soil a good conductor, it will save millions of dollars annually that is now paid out for commercial fertilizers.

Then Cards Were Sent Out.

Agony of mind distorted her classic features. Kneeling upon the tufted floor of the front parlor she held her clasped hands aloft.

"What have I done," she moaned, "that I should be thus cursed?"

Then she went on to relate amid sobs how many young and eligibles once had come to call on her, how they had uniformly shown symptoms of an acquaintance ripening into love, how she had suddenly become cold and left with a few perfunctory words of farewell.

"Heaven help me!" she cried with all the earnestness of a distracted soul.

And even as she spoke a breeze stole into the window, and gently turned her cooking school diploma toward the wall.

Ere yet another month had passed the cards were out.—Detroit Tribune.

"It is a pleasure to sell Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Stickney & Dentler, druggists, Republic, Ohio, "because a customer after once using it, is almost certain to call for it when again in need of such a medicine. We sell more of it than of any other cough medicine we handle, and it always gives satisfaction." For coughs, colds and croup, it is without an equal. For sale by T. H. Burgess & Son, druggists.

MRS. ELMIRA HATCH.

HEART DISEASE 20 YEARS.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

DEAR SIRS: For 20 years I was troubled with heart disease. Would frequently have falling spells and smothering at night. Had to sit up or get out of bed to breathe. Had pain in my left side and back most of the time; at last I became dropsical. I was very nervous and nearly worn out. The least excitement would cause me to faint. I was also much troubled with fluttering. For the last fifteen years I could not sleep on my left side or back until began taking your New Heart Cure. I had not taken it very long until I felt much better, and I can now sleep on either side or back without the least discomfort. I have no pain, smothering, dropsy, no wind on stomach or other disagreeable symptoms. I am able to do all my own housework without any trouble and consider myself cured.

Elkhart, Ind., 1891. MRS. ELMIRA HATCH.

It is now four years since I have taken any medicine. Am in better health than I have been in 40 years. I honestly believe that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure saved my life and made me a well woman. I am now 62 years of age and am able to do a good day's work.

May 29th, 1892. MRS. ELMIRA HATCH.

JESSIE WAS JILTED.

She Sues Samuel H. Blonger to Recover $25,000 Damages.

Jesse Wheat has been jilted and she is not happy. Samuel H. Blonger is the man whom she says disappointed her, and she thinks the anguish of mind that she has suffered by his cruel action is worth just $25,000. She has sued Mr. Blonger in the district court to recover that amount. In her complaint she alleges that the defendant on Aug. 1 last promised to marry her and that he renewed his promise at various times since then. Recently, however, his manner changed and he refused to marry her. Blonger's first wife obtained a divorce from him on the grounds of extreme cruelty some time ago.

The above is from the Denver Times. Mr. Blonger was merchant of Albuquerque in the early days. While here Sam was regarded as a very pleasant gentleman, but bad associates in Denver no doubt ruined him.

The Orpheus To-night.

It is expected that the Orpheus concert tonight will eclipse in excellence any musical event of the season. The first appearance of the club last fall was very creditable, and a surprise to even those who looked forward with the most sanguine hopes of success. But now, with the studious practice of the past three months, Mr. Dupuy the director, has drilled off many of the rougher edges expected in a new organization, and the richness of the tones now rendered in concert are as so many silver chords of harmony.

Aside from the progress the club aspires to exhibit at each successive concert, the greatest stress is laid upon the soloist talent secured. To-night, Miss Claude Albright appears before an Albuquerque audience for the first time since her return from eastern studies. Her name suggests to those who knew her, a sweet voice in childhood, capable of stirring any soul to its very depths. It recalls recent successes at the greatest event of American history, the World's Fair, where Miss Albright carried off the honors from competitors from all parts of the world. And to-night the people of her home will have the opportunity of listening to the richest and grandest contralto voice ever heard in this city. Miss Albright will sing a solo, also a duett with Mr. Dupuy.

Georgie's Birthday.

Yesterday pretty little Georgia Cundiff, daughter of Capt. G. M. Cundiff and wife, reached her fifth birthday, and to round off the event she gave a birthday party to all her little friends, boys and girls of the neighborhood. It was one of the sweetest affairs of the holiday season, and Miss Georgia, assisted by her brother, did the honors to the guests in a royal manner.
