Weekly Citizen

ALBUQUERQUE. - JAN. 13, 1894.

THE democratic party will find that in killing American prosperity it has killed itself.

STARTLING! Since the merging of the Santa Fe Sun, what has become of Col. Ira M. Bond?

THERE were very, very many failures in 1893, but the worst failure of all was Cleveland's Hawaiian policy.

THE present administration has performed a big sleight of hand trick in emptying the treasury and the people's pockets at the same time

THERE was an increase of about $1,000,000 in the public debt last month The debt to-day, less cash in the treasury, is $873,230,362, or $37,798,197 more than it was a year ago.

THE Optic is threatening to reduce its size to a six column sheet. THE CITIZEN made a financial mistake when it enlarged last year. The advertising patronage of New Mexico daily papers does not justify large sheets.

AFTER all the fuss about financial matters, it is found that women have far more influence upon man than money. Disappointments in business caused 97 suicides in 1893, but disappointments in love caused 220

THE fact that Carlisle is the attorney for the Frankfort lottery is very satisfying to Attorney Olney, of the Boston & Maine railroad. Mr Olney will now be able to wink across the cabinet table at the secretary of the treasury.

REPRESENTATIVE MORSE, of Massachusetts, estimates the shrinkage of values of property, and actual losses to workingmen because of the free trade policy of Cleveland, at $15,000,000,000 Rather a high price to pay for the sweet boon of Grover Cleveland!

WHILE desiring statehood, the republicans of New Mexico will make no concessions to the democrats to secure that end And if the democrats insist on too much, the republicans will do as the democrats did two years ago—defeat the proposed state constitution.

THE rapid growth of the Y M C A in North America during the twenty-five years of its history is one of the marks of advancing civilization. From one hundred associations in 1866 the number has increased to 1439, and the membership from 15,000 to 246,000.

THE New Mexican states that it is going to treat Tom Catron and all the republicans of New Mexico fairly If it does, it will not be a satisfactory democratic organ. One of the first duties of a democratic paper in New Mexico is to jump on Catron with both feet.

THE Louisiana lottery is illegal in that state since the 1st of this month. Old General Early, who has been drawing a big salary from it for acting as a figure-head and allowing the use of his name, retires, and the concern will remove to some point in South America, from which locality it will endeavor by hook or crook to still extract money from gullible workingmen in the United States, giving them one chance in fifty of winning.

THERE was a shrinkage of $685,000,000 in the market value of securities dealt in on the London stock market at the close of 1893 as compared with the corresponding period in 1892. The decline in values was even heavier in the New York stock market, as twenty-five leading speculative railroad and industrial stocks in Wall street alone showed a decline of $235,000,000 in the same period.

THE Pennsylvania Railroad company has saved $200,000 in its yearly contract for steel rails, by reason of the depression in the price caused by the menace of the Wilson bill. But it has also lost $2,000,000 freight from the paralysis of business caused by the same thing. This probably illustrates pretty well the sort of "saving" which the whole country will experience if the Wilson bill becomes a law.

THE deposed Hawaiian queen announces that she is willing to accept the proposition of the United States, which creates a broad smile in this country. The dusky potentate imagines that Mr. Cleveland is the United States. This country has made no propositions in regard to the Hawaiian throne, and the deposed queen will be surprised to learn that Mr. Cleveland had no authority to interfere in the affairs of a foreign country.

SOME IMPORTANT FIGURES.

The fifth annual report of the United States commission of labor, given to the press recently, shows the number of railroad employes in this country to be about 690,000, employed on 1718 railroads, which the report says are practical controlled by 600 railroad corporations

Twenty-five per cent of the railroad employes, or 172,500 people, earn less than $1.20 each per day

Fifty-six per cent, or 386,600 persons, earn less than $1 97 each per day.

Nine per cent, or 64,400 persons, earn $2.00 each per day.

Eight per cent, or 55,200 persons, earn $2 50 each per day.

Two per cent, or 13,800 persons, earn $3.00 each per day.

The average working day is ten hours.

Twenty-five per cent, or 172,500 persons, are employed only 135 days each year.

Thirty per cent, or 207,000 persons, are employed less than half time each year Twenty-five per cent, or 172,500 persons, work from 151 to 300 days in each year, and about 25 per cent, or 138,000 persons, work from 301 to 365 days in each year.

IRRIGATION ENTERPRISES.

Another big irrigation reservoir project is a stag pushed for the reclamation of country tributary to Phœnix, Arizona. Eastern capital is behind the project, which is to dam up Cave creek and store water sufficient to irrigate 80,000 acres of land. The cost of building the dam is estimated at a quarter million of dollars. The creek is nearly dry several months of the year, and it would seem that the Tecolote dam scheme to provide water for irrigating the beautiful mesa land east of Albuquerque is just as feasible The latter project, however, is showing no signs of early fruition and everything leads to the conclusion that either Albuquerque lacks the enterprise which exists in Phœnix and vicinity or else that capital is blind to the advantages which are here offered for investment. "Nothing succeeds like success" is an aphorism the truth of which is demonstrated in all countries where a boom has been started The inauguration of one extensive irrigation enterprise in this portion of the country would soon lead to others, as has been the case in the Salt river valley and other sections of the west, and the enterprising people of this city and county should interest themselves in getting the irrigation boom started This city would find it more to its interest to contribute $100,000 to some irrigating enterprise which would reclaim many thousands of acres of tributary country than it would to give that amount in aid of any railroad whose building here has ever been talked of.

ADVANCEMENT OF EDUCATION.

Educational statistics condensed by the Bureau of Immigration from the report of the territorial superintendent of public instruction for the year 1893, make a showing which reflects creditably upon New Mexico, and it would be a good thing if those statistics could be seen by every eastern representative in congress and member of the senate who opposes statehood for New Mexico, that they might, if they were open to conviction, have their preconceived ideas concerning the backward condition of this territory in educational matters dispelled by the array of facts

The public school law became operative in this territory but two years ago, yet in that time large sums of money have been expended in public school buildings in every county, the city of Albuquerque alone investing over $60,000. There are in the territory 519 public schools, with an enrollment during the past year of 21,650 and employing 547 teachers, at a total cost of $111,241.29 No more certain index of the enterprise and intelligence of a community or country can be found than is disclosed in the character and number of schools which they support. Judged from this standpoint Albuquerque stands on an equality with the most enterprising and enlightened communities of the same population in the union, and the entire territory in ratio of population makes an exhibit of which it may justly feel proud. In some regards New Mexico's progress during the past two years has not been what might be considered rapid, but in the matter of popular education and educational facilities our advance has been most gratifying

No longer can any objection be raised by congress to our admission to statehood on the score of illiteracy

Give New Mexico self government and she will surprise the world by the progress she will make during the next decade materially as well as educationally.

DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH

George K Holmes, who is officially connected with the national census bureau, has made a very thorough investigation in regard to mortgages throughout the country. The results of this inquiry are given to the public in an article published in the December number of the Popular Science Quarterly. He gives an instructive tabular statement of the average distribution of property among twelve and a half million families in the United States It is estimated that the entire amount of the national wealth is $60,000,000. It appears that more than two-thirds of this immense sum is owned by about one-eleventh of the total number of families in this country. A little over one million families own property valued at $43,000,000 Such a concentration of wealth must exert a powerful influence over the destination of the American people. The disproportion will be more manifest when it is remembered that the average wealth of one and a half million farm-hiring families is only $150. There are five million home-hiring families whose average wealth does not exceed $500.

POSTPONEMENT.

The Meeting of Irrigation Company Stockholders Postponed

Col. P. R. Smith, who is a member of the Rio Grande Irrigation and Colonization company and who has brought considerable eastern capital into southern New Mexico the past few years, came up from Deming last night and is registered at the Hotel Columbus. He came up to attend the stockholders' meeting of the company, called for to-morrow, but which is postponed. He returns home to-morrow morning. The colonel paid his respects to THE CITIZEN and the following was gleaned from him:

"The injunction case of the Rio Grande Irrigation and Colonization company is continued to the 19th and the stockholders' meeting to the 20th. This continuance was agreed upon by the attorneys, representing the litigants, at the request of one of the largest Boston stockholders, and with the further view of giving contestants more time to consider propositions for compromise; and unless an amicable adjustment is arrived at before the 19th the case will be pushed to a final issue and disposed of as soon as possible. So, in any event, the status of the company will be settled, and the public will be informed as to whether the company will go ahead with the enterprise to completion or go into liquidation There seems to be no question of the ability of the company to carry the scheme to a successful conclusion, providing this vexatious litigation can be gotten rid of, and it is hoped for the good of the country and company that these troubles are nearing the end."

Sam Webb, collector at Nogales, estimates that the importation of oranges from Sonora will reach one hundred and fifty carloads, bringing a revenue to the government of $8,000.

POLITICAL NOTES

Paragraphs of Interest to New Mexico People and Politicians

It is becoming more and more apparent daily that the democratic leaders will make the effort of their lives to bring this territory in as a democratic state At the same time there are a few of these bosses who have a plan of their own to carry out for the purpose of personal gain and benefit These have conceived this plan. Delegate Joseph is to push the bill for an enabling act for New Mexico through the house as speedily as possible, then it is to be held up in the senate, till the republicans of New Mexico come to time and promise that the democrats are to have a majority in the constitutional convention, in the next territorial legislative assembly, and that Joseph shall be elected This plan was conceived in Santa Fe by a few brilliant lights; it was talked over during the recent stay of the Hon Antonio there, and is now being considered and that favorably by him and his friends.

The territorial penitentiary in Santa Fe has always been a bone of contention and trouble, no matter what party has been in power. It is such a bone now. W B. Sloan, a Santa Fe lawyer, has preferred charges against the present superintendent, E. H. Bergman, and these charges are now under investigation They consist of bribery, misapplication of public funds and public supplies, duplicity, and several other alleged high crimes and misdemeanors Superintendent Bergman claims that the charges are utterly false, and W. B. Sloan claims they are true Those best posted say they are flimsy in every particular and cannot stick; in the meantime there is a row among the politicians over the matter and everybody is happy

The political situation in Mora county has been somewhat changed since the assassination of John Doherty People believe now that it was a political murder, and several prominent democratic politicians in that section are coming in for a large amount of suspicion and distrust The better citizens are becoming very angry because the county authorities are making no efforts to discover the criminals, and propose to punish those authorities and the party they belong to—the democratic party—by leaving it and going over to the opposition. The chances for republican success in Mora county are improving, and with shrewd management and taking advantage of the doings of the democratic leaders in that county and some strong nominations, Mora county may be redeemed from the democratic thraldom it has suffered, for lo, these many, many years. It is openly asserted in Mora that two brothers, men of bad character, were the assassins, and their names are bandied about in a public manner, but the authorities move not and presumably care not to move in the matter of detecting and punishing the assassins of John Doherty.

The report of the resignation of Judge A. B. Fall from the position of associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico, was evidently premature. Judge Fall knows a good thing when he sees it, and giving up voluntarily a good office, and a valuable political office, is not the custom now, specially where democratic officials are concerned Judge Fall has made hay while the sun shone, and his friends and relatives in Dona Ana county, also in Grant county, are right well provided for The assistant United States attorney, Hefin, is a Fall man; so is the new district attorney, G C Bell; so is the new clerk of the fourth judicial district, Lenoir; so are several of the new regents of the Agricultural college; so are the deputy clerks and deputy marshals in southern New Mexico, and so on and so forth. Judge Fall's resignation so far is "no go."

Associate Justice Freeman's commission does not expire for over a year, still the fight to succeed him is warm. The two leading candidates are Col. Hewitt, of White Oaks, and Mr. Hamilton, of Socorro Col. Hewitt, having been a union soldier with a good record, the chances are against him The present administration is not recognizing many union soldiers, either in New Mexico or elsewhere. Hewitt is a straight man and would make a good judge. Hamilton is supported by the majority of the politicians, still nothing has been said against his personal character so far. The fight is growing apace between the politicians, but the people, of course, have nothing to say. They never have under a democratic administration.

There is already talk among Santa Fe republicans in the direction of starting a new paper in place of the New Mexican, which has now become a staunch democratic organ. A paper they must have, but how to get it, that is the question Several of the Santa Fe republicans are great fellows for getting all they can and and also great fellows for putting up as little as possible. They are now scheming around and may succeed in starting a new paper at somebody else's expense Some of the men, who have made the most money out of legislation, out of capital matters and out of republican successes, will never put up any money, but will always be found talking loudly and patriotically, but also taking it all out in talk Talk now-a-days runs no newspapers in New Mexico, and if the Santa Fe republicans want a paper, they should call on several of their rich men, who professto be republicans, and who have made money out of innumerable warrant speculations, and who live in that city for the stuff. These gentlemen can well afford to put up, but will they, ah, there is the question? They had better if they wish to have anything to do or to say in party councils hereafter or any influence in the republican party

An Old Religious Relic.

The oldest religious relic that a representative for this paper has ever seen is in the curiosity store of A. Hunsow & Co., Juarez. It is in the shape of a Catholic bible. The holy book is three feet by two, when closed, and when opened it is four by three feet. It is printed in Latin in type about the size of four-line great primer, and the work is excellently executed, considering its age, which is supposed to be no less than 350 years The date of the publication is not printed on the book, but its voluminous size and the manner of its get-up lead one to believe that the age is fully that mentioned Another feature of it is, that it is printed on parchment, on both sides. The sacred relic rests on a large easel, and has been viewed by hundreds of people since it has been placed where it is now resting.—El Paso Tribune.

SANTA FE FINANCES.

Receivers Reinhart and McCook Correct—Several Misstatements.

J. W. Reinhart and J J. McCook, receivers of the Santa Fe, have issued an official statement correcting certain "inaccurate statements telegraphed from Chicago and purporting to have been made by George Peck, the general solicitor of the Atchison system, and Mr Wilson, recently appointed one of the receivers of property of the company, to the effect that the Atchison was known to be insolvent as early as last August, and legal papers were drawn in anticipation of a receivership"

The receivers state that both these gentlemen declare the alleged statements attributed to them as false and without foundation.

"The financial condition of the company," they say, "was clearly and accurately given in the statement of the directors, issued Dec. 23, showing that its western accounts were normal. The condition of the system, including the St. Louis & San Francisco, Atlantic & Pacific, Colorado Midland and all other auxiliary companies, is as given in the directors' statement of Dec. 23, which shows total demand and time loans and notes with collateral due from December, 1893, to June, 1894, $6,300,000; and total coupon interest and other fixed obligations due Jan. 1, $3,900,000.

"Since the appointment of receivers the loans have been continued and the collateral held intact for the company. This practically leaves the Atchison company, for itself and all its auxiliaries, in addition to the floating debt above stated, owing but $3,300,000, being the aggregate amount of interest due Jan. 1, 1894"

LOS CORRALES CHUBS.

Peter Monteignier and wife, accompanied by the latter's sister and brother, expect to visit France in a few months, being absent from the United States for some time. Mr. Monteignier is a prosperous raiser of grapes and other fruits, besides a brandy and wine manufacturer.

Mrs Paula Armijo de Garcia, regarded a wealthy widow, whom a certain deputy county official at the court house is sparking, has a splendid place at Los Corrales, and is a brandy maker. She has been on the sick list for the past few months, but is reported now in good health.

Seferino Crolott has a log kick coming against the justice of the peace of Los Corrales, Felipe Silva. He states that he is not an impartial justice, being actuated in his opinion in almost all cases by the wishes of certain parties. Such being the state of affairs, Mr. Crolott says that cases are brought as far as Albuquerque and to other justices for important trials.

A little over a year ago, if our memory serves us right, the little son of Mr and Mrs. Louis Imbert, accidentally discharged a rifle and the deadly missile struck a woman, which resulted in the latter's death. The matter was brought to the attention of the grand jury, and the innocent little boy was discharged. All parties live at Los Corrales, and it is now learned that since the occurrence the sister and other relatives of the murdered woman are constantly terrorizing the little boy, by saying that they will yet "have his blood" When the boy sees any of the family he stands trembling for his life, and on these occasions he cannot sleep at night, for fear of being assassinated and with visions of death before him. Mr. and Mrs. Imbert have notified the relatives of the woman, especially the sister, that they must cease threatening their son, or abide by the consequences. Mr. Imbert is one of the successful viticulturists and orchardists in the Rio Grande valley, and by hard work has acquired a good home at Los Corrales. They are royal entertainers and progressive in every degree of the word.

The ranch where Bobby Fitzpatrick, formerly of Pillsbury & Walton's, now at Bradstreet's, this city, started poultry raising, is near the merchandise store of J. M. Sandoval & Co Bobby tried the scheme for a few weeks, the eggs didn't hatch quick enough for him and consequently the chickens, hence he gave up the idea and returned to the city.

Pedro Sandoval, who for years was a faithful clerk at Mandell Bros. & Co., manages the general merchandise store of J. M. Sandoval & Co. He is getting along finely, and is always pleased to see his Albuquerque friends.

It is learned that considerable jealousy exists among certain native families of Los Corrales, owing to strifes in political contests, county and local. This is a republican district, heavy in majorities, but when it comes to the mayordomo election the long pole usually knocks off the persimmons and wins in a canter. The recent election for mayordomo was hotly contested, but to the credit of Los Corrales the day passed off without any serious fights.

Jesus Ma. Sandoval, ex-chairman of the county commissioners, and his brother, Alejandro Sandoval, are prominent native citizens of Los Corrales They live in comfortable adobe houses, elegantly furnished inside, and are proverbial for their hospitality. The Messrs. Sandoval are probably the largest sheep raisers, who radiate northwest from Los Corrales.

B. C. Faurot, the Lima, Ohio, banker, largely interested in the proposed railroad south of Deming, who went under some time since, has brought suit against several officers of the defunct bank, says the Headlight, charging them with embezzlement and kindred mismanagement in connection with the funds invested in the railroad operations. Prominent people are involved.

Says the Optic: The other night, in coming up the road, Capt. John H. Riley, of Las Cruces, cut short a conversation with Judge S. E Booth, of this city, and shot out of the coach door, as if fired from a gun. Upon returning, in a few moments, he explained that he had carelessly left lying on a seat in the Pullman, a package containing $8,000, belonging to Col. James A. Lockhart, of Deming.

SICK-HEADACHE

Makes life miserable. All other ailments are as nothing in comparison. Women especially know its suffering, and few escape its torture,

THE RELIEF AND CURE IS

Many people take pills, which gripe and purge, weakening the body. More take Simmons Liver Regulator, liquid or powder, because more pleasant to take, does not gripe, and is a mild laxative, that also tones up the system. The relief is quick. It is Nature's own remedy, purely vegetable.

"I never found anything to do me any good until I used Simmons Liver Regulator. It has been three years since I first used it and I have not had Sick Headache since. I sent my sister (who had from one to two attacks of Sick Headache every week) one-half of a package, and she has not had it since."—C. S. MORRIS, Brownsville, W. Va.

Give it Encouragement

New Mexico's first efforts to hold a poultry show ought to have the earnest encouragement of all good citizens who are not here particularly for their health, but who come to stay and make their homes The flavor of that turkey that we had on Christmas doubtless still lingers with most of us, but how much more cheerfully would we have planked down 20 cents a pound for it, and how far more glad would we have been to linger in its fragrant company had we felt that it was a New Mexico product. We people of New Mexico have got to learn to hang together in such matters of sentiment as this just as do the people of other sections of the union. We have got to learn what it really means to send thousands of dollars annually into Kansas, Iowa and Missouri for those staples of life that can be produced within our own borders quite as cheaply for the consumer and far more profitably for the producer and the people in general

As we comprehend it, the main object of the New Mexico Poultry association is to stimulate this branch of business and foster and encourage a new home industry by appealing to the eye as well as to the taste and common sense of our people The exhibit opens at Albuquerque on the 23d inst. Help it along.—New Mexican.

The new owners of the great Aztec gold producing mine in Colfax county, are arranging for vigorous and extensive work on the property. This will make lively times in that camp.
