ALBUQUERQUE, — — JULY 27, 1895

Ed. Riley, at the European corner, has a picture of a model Rio Grande valley ranch, which he gladly shows to friends.

The switchmen at the local yards are now making up for lost time. Besides the freight trains made up last night and this morning, 175 carloads of freight were reported this morning to arrive here during the day.

The blind man, who was misled by the Democrat's sensational articles into coming here from Denver to be cured by the "healer" returned home yesterday afternoon much disgusted with his costly trip. Though blind he sees plainly through the humbuggery of the whole affair.

An effort is being made by the officers of the Browne base ball club to induce the Williams, Arizona, club to visit this city soon, and play a series of games. THE CITIZEN learns that the Williams club has on its roll half a dozen southern California league players, and they put up gilt edged ball. In connection with this item, Percy Hawley, secretary and treasurer of the Browne, would like for the playing members to meet this evening at the Athletic club quarters, as business of importance will be transacted, and an accounting of the Denver series of games will be made.

A Rare Bird.

The Sierra County Advocate prints the following communication descriptive of a bird rarely seen in this part of the country:

Mr. Curtis, while riding over the ridges and through the gulches in search of a fat beef steer, saw a hawk devouring a bird. He drove the hawk off and secured its prey, which was seen to be a merganser, a duck-like bird with a soft tuft of hair like feathers on the top of its head, and a long, straight bill with a short hook on the end and projections along each side, which are like teeth. This beautiful water-fowl, known also as hairy-head, water pheasant, and hooded shell drake, is found but rarely here in the Black Range. There are six species, differing somewhat in size and in the color of their plumage, the one found by Mr. Curtis having a grayish-green hood or tuft of hairy feathers on its head, grayish brown mottled back, and wings with a light grayish white and grayish brown mottled breast, and red webbed feet. It is about the size of an ordinary tame duck, with a slightly longer neck and a long, slender, straight bill, broad where it joins the head, narrow and hook-tipped at its outer end, with many notches or projections on the edges of both mandibles or sides, resembling teeth. The hawk which had struck the merganser down was devouring it voraciously, when Mr. Curtis surprised him and secured his strange prey, bringing it into camp for identification. The hawk had destroyed and eaten the breast, so unfortunately it is not a perfect specimen for preservation.

High Five

A Railroad avenue quartette greatly addicted to "high five" have strong hopes of becoming permanently cured some day. Yesterday they went down to see the Democrat's "supernatural healer" in the vicinity of the Atlantic & Pacific shops. Ben Meyer headed the party and says that while they did not submit to personal treatment, they felt greatly relieved of the affliction that is rapidly growing on them. As the strongest evidence of the fact, Mr. Meyer states positively that his party had no inclination for playing "high five" from the time they left here until they returned. Of course it may take a number of trips to be cured permanently.

Oh! My Back!

A prospector named Mahoney, who had nothing in particular to hand last week, found a box in a cider car that stuck out in a convenient place, put in a sled and took out a load of wood. On gathering up some of the fragments he was surprised and delighted to find that he had broken into a treasure house, the sides of which sparkled with gold.

Some Chinamen have rented a piece of ground in Miller valley and sunk a well, or water chamber, in it about 12 feet long, 12 feet deep and 6 feet wide, to obtain a water supply for irrigation purposes. They placed a steam pump at the well to raise the water, and at the above depth it came in so rapidly that they could not sink it any deeper. Last week they worked their pump all one afternoon to its full capacity, and only succeeded in lowering the water in the well about an inch.

G. D. Williams, who assists Capt Ruppe at the latter's drug store, returned last night from Col. Le Bar's ranch near the Jemez hot spring, and it is a pleasure for THE CITIZEN to state that Mr. Williams returns to the city much improved in health. He denies the report, in circulation here last week, that he and a she bear got tangled up while he was out hunting, and he dispatched the bear with one blow from his mighty right hand.

Mr. O'Donnell will visit his folks at Cerrillos, going north on the first train leaving the union depot.

Rev. Thomas Harwood, the Methodist missionary among the Spanish-speaking people of New Mexico, and one of the good old-timers of the territory, having been a resident hereabouts for over twenty years, has at this office a strong letter against glove contests, and especially in opposition to the proposal to bring off the Corbett-Fitzsimmons "mill" in or near this city, provided the meeting of the two gladiators is prohibited at Dallas, Texas.

WAS IT THE WHISKY?

A Hobo Healer Who Received Divine Inspiration at Flagstaff.

WALKED TO WICKED WINSLOW.

The Flagstaff Democrat, in commenting upon Francisco Schlader, the crazy cobbler who sneaked out of Denver about two years ago and has been wandering aimlessly throughout the southwest country since then, shiftless, and who should be jailed for inciting the uneducated and credulous to leave their work and spoil their crops and believe in him, has the following to say regarding the "Healer":

Albuquerque's old town is troubled with a hobo fanatic who claims he has the power to make the blind see, the halt throw down their crutches and the man with the weak appetite get up and howl for more pie. This forty-seventh Savior of mankind sprung very suddenly upon the religious horizon, and hordes of poor sufferers are flocking there to be cured.

The "Healer" simply lays his warty hands upon the victim, mutters an incantation, says "presto, change," a volt of magnetism shoots through the veins of the patient and he goes out into the world a new man—or new woman, as the case may be.

THE CITIZEN man put himself under the tender care of this new Messiah, but his moral infirmities were too much for the disciple. The reporter asked him whence came his authority to heal the sick and this was his answer:

"Two months ago I was in Flagstaff. I could find no one who wanted a little boy to raise, so I was thrown into jail as a vagrant. It was a horrible hole and I prayed that death might come to relieve me from further conversation with the huge insects that crawled upon the walls. At last I fell asleep. I dreamed it was a strange dream. The Lord appeared to me and told me to flee across the desert to Albuquerque, where there was a great field for missionary work. And I am here."

The "Healer" says he walked all the way from Flagstaff, as he could not successfully evade the brakemen of the freight trains. He wears socks but no shoes, and the good citizens of Albuquerque are praying that he will return to Flagstaff and get put in jail again.

WATER BOUND.

Last Night's Heavy Rains Again Cause Serious Delay.

Up to the heavy rains beginning at an early hour last evening and lasting throughout the night railroad communication was open west and south, and there was possibility of receiving at least one of the delayed trains from the other side of the Galisteo bridge and sending a passenger north in return. The additional rain seems to have covered a big water shed and made the situation at Galisteo on the north and at Alamillo on the south very uncertain. No. 2 from the south, due here at 8:25 p. m., was annulled at San Marcial, the bridges through the Alamillo flats being again endangered by the swollen streams. No. 34, freight from the south, was also annulled. The Rio Puerco, which empties into the Rio Grande in the vicinity of the washouts, was reported running high last night.

A dispatch from Trainmaster Mulhern, of Las Vegas, caused all trains for the north to be held here over last night and to-day. It is understood that a transfer at Galisteo will not be attempted and that nothing will move until the trains can pass over the bridge in safety.

MINOR NOTES.

There are about 85 cars of oranges and other perishable goods in the yards here that require re-icing daily.

The railroad companies have been drawing heavily on the Crystal Ice company to save perishable goods. A car load of ice was received from Las Vegas before the washout.

Ed. Lavelle and a number of other experienced railroad hands were awaiting orders at the depot this morning.

There are over one hundred water bound passengers at the depot making the best of the situation. All appear to be in as good humor as the circumstances will permit.

At noon the delayed passengers dined at Harvey's depot restaurant at the expense of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company.

On account of the extensive washouts between La Junta and Dodge City the next Santa Fe train out of here will likely go by way of Pueblo and over the Missouri Pacific to Hutchinson, Kansas.

"What is the latest?" has been the standing question at the depot all day. "Simply nothing," covered the replies.

Agent W. H. Mateson is doing everything possible to make it pleasant for delayed passengers.

It is stated this afternoon that the rains of yesterday and last night washed away the repairs of the Galisteo bridge which were about completed.

General Superintendent Wells, Chief Clerk J. W. Walker and Transportation Superintendent Denair were interested visitors to the depot at noon.

B. P. Cheney, a director of the Santa Fe road, came in from the west on a special train at 12:50 o'clock this afternoon. His coach is named the Bay State and carries the Massachusetts coat of arms. Mr. Cheney is called hurriedly back to Boston to attend the funeral of his father, who died suddenly. He and family were spending a few weeks in San Diego when the sad news reached him. Chas. S. Gleed, of Topeka, Kansas, a director and influential member of the re-organization committee of the company, is also on the special. The run from Barstow, Cal., to this city, a distance of 740 miles, was made in twenty hours. Hurrah for the Atlantic & Pacific for fast time.

Why Does a Yellow Get Yellow?

You needn't mail an answer to this simple conundrum. We know that you know that a fellow—we use the term in no offensive sense—is yellow because he is bilious. In other words, his liver has got out of order, his bowels have become constipated. His skin and eyeballs assume (a most unwarrantable assumption) a saffron tinge, his tongue puts on a coat of fur, even in the summer time; beneath his right shoulder blade and rib twinges remind him that a very restless imp is in their immediate vicinity. Now, if this hapless individual will simply procure and use at once Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, he'll be all right shortly. Constipation, biliousness, malaria, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia and disorder of the kidneys and bladder all yield to this peerless family remedy and preventive. Use it promptly, with persistence and regularity. A wineglassful thrice daily.

Accidentally Killed.

Jose Maes, a young man of about 22 years, who has faithfully worked for Jake Gold for some five years, was accidentally killed by John Green, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

In the afternoon, young Green, the deceased, and Francisco Ortiz y Baca, intimate friends and inseparable companions, went out to Arroyo Hondo, five or six miles south of the city, hunting rabbits and doves. Each was armed with a muzzle-loading shot-gun.

Just before starting home, about 4 o'clock, they concluded to re-load their guns and try for some more rabbits on the way back. The guns had already been charged, and, as Green was placing caps on his, one barrel unaccountably went off and the entire charge struck young Maes in the face near the left eye, causing death almost instantly. The boys were standing so near together that the face of the deceased was badly powder burned.—New Mexican.

Wheat Crop

John Becker, the big merchant and miller of Helen, came up on this morning's delayed train from the south. The gentleman informs THE CITIZEN that the yield of wheat will be the largest ever known in that portion of the Rio Grande valley. It is now being cut and threshed. Mr. Becker adds that the recent heavy rains have not damaged the crops, but that serious injury would have resulted had the rains held out longer. His big roller mill has been put in first class condition for handling the new crop. Belen wheat carried off the first premium at the World's Fair, Russia taking the second prize.

Afternoon Teas.

Fitt Hartwell in her last syndicate article says: "I don't recommend any special brand of tea for afternoon four o'clocks. I do, however, know all about the best tea to take at night. Parks' Tea will certainly clear your complexion and purify your blood. You will be surprised at the improvement if you take a cup of Parks' Tea each night." Sold by Dr. Thos. H. Burgess & Son.

A GREAT FOOT RACE.

A Winslow Kid Defeats an Ex-Albuquerque Sprinter.

Special to Citizen.

Winslow, A. T., July 24.—Never in the history of our little town has there been as much excitement as that occasioned over a 100 yard foot race here last Sunday afternoon.

The contestants were George G. Montgomery, once the "pride of the Albuquerque fire department" and as your correspondent learns an "ex-assistant chief" of that efficient aggregation of volunteer fire fighters, and a kid of this town, only sixteen years old.

When George Montgomery came among us, with his smiles and affable manners, every inch of him proved to our satisfaction that he was an athlete of no mean pretensions, and when he declared that he could give any sprinter in Winslow a yard or two and beat him out in a 100 yard foot race, he actually had the town "Buffaloed."

He was looked upon as a Morris, a Quirk, a Collins, or some other famous sprinter, and he had admirers by the wholesale among the men folks, while his manly proportions, as he would practice on the cinder path in the afternoons, excited the envy of almost every marriageable lady in Winslow.

One morning, about a week ago, a young boy of Winslow, who had been doing some practicing on the quiet, confided to a few of his most intimate friends that he would lower the colors of "Montey," as we have learned to call George G. Montgomery, and asked whether they would back him for $100. The gentlemen took the boy to a level piece of ground, back of the principal street, and the chap covered the required distance in remarkably fast time. This convinced them that "Montey," or any other foot racer, had no license to defeat their progeny, and they staked the latter against the ex-Albuquerque fireman for $100.

Friends rallied around "Montey," and he had more backers than usually come to the assistance of a sprinter.

Last Sunday afternoon, an hour before the sun shed its rays in the western horizon, the two sprinters, followed by several hundred citizens, marched to a well prepared cinder path.

It was a fast path—such a one that would delight the heart of Morris, the fastest sprinter in the world—and after preliminary sports, the starter informed the sprinters to get ready. As the runners pranced up the path, money was bet in large chunks by admiring friends.

"Montey," having the age and experience, jockeyed the "kid" for some time until a most excellent start was obtained. They thundered along the path at a rapid gait, the twenty five yards being reached in three seconds, with "Montey" a foot ahead; fifty yards in six seconds, and the "kid" had gained three inches; seventy-five yards in nine seconds, and the "kid" had lapped his gallant opponent; and the 100 yards in 11 seconds, the "kid" winning, amidst a storm of hurrahs, by two feet.

The latter was borne off the grounds on the shoulders of four stalwart railroaders, while "Montey" walked back to the depot surrounded by a disgusted lot of men who had pinned their faith on his winning.

JIKES

[NOTE—THE CITIZEN regrets to learn of genial George's inability to win. If the Winslow "kid" had met him several years ago, while he resided in this city and was one of the best in the champion hose running team of the territory, the story might have been different. This paper believes now that there must have been something the matter—a bad start, the weather unfavorable for foot racing, or something else that prevented George from doing his best.—ED.]

Flood Losses.

The local office of Bradstreet's agency received this morning the following incomplete list of losses sustained by the floods of last Sunday night, which was told in THE CITIZEN'S special dispatches of yesterday afternoon:

Bishop Baxter, fruit, etc	1,200
Cosgrove & Brownell, hardware, etc	600

Bound Over

Mrs. Franciscita Romero de Chaves and her kid lover, Teleofo Chaves, who were arrested under the Edmund's law, told their tale of woe to United States Commissioner Bryan yesterday afternoon, and after hearing the interesting recital the commissioner bound the two over to the next grand jury of this county in the sum of $250 bail each. In default (no friend rallying to their aid) the guilty pair was placed in the care of United States Deputy Marshal Knight, and he assigned them cells at the county jail.

W. H. Nelson, who is in the drug business at Kingville, Mo., has so much confidence in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy that he warrants every bottle and offers to refund the money to any customer who is not satisfied after using it. Mr. Nelson takes no risk in doing this, because the remedy is a certain cure for the diseases for which it is intended, and he knows it. It is for sale by Thos. H. Burgess & Son.

WINSLOW WAIFS.

A Few Items from the Atlantic & Pacific Division Point.

Winslow, July 24.—Winslow derives its undisputed importance to the fact of being the western limit of the railway division that has its eastern boundary at Gallup.

Even greater activity than that which usually prevails may be anticipated to-day after the arrival of the pay car.

The new round house of dimensions proportionate to future demands is being advanced with due diligence, and will be made of material to withstand the tooth of time. A stone, quarried in close vicinage, enters into its construction, and is of everlasting composition. Brick of excellent quality and consistency is also baked here, but finds no distant market owing to heavy freights.

The reading room, embowered and almost hidden in beautiful greenery, is delightful to look at. It was established and is maintained by employes of the Atlantic & Pacific, who spend much of the little time that can be spared from laborious duty within the inviting walls of the pretty cottage in the enjoyment of the advantages its offers, and in this way give further evidence of the intelligence which characterizes and is a necessary part of their calling.

J. F. Wallace, editor and proprietor of the Mail, has been especially courteous on account of the letter which was presented to him, and so have all the other business and professional men with whom it has been my privilege to associate, but to mention their names individually would be furnishing you with a list of the whole population.

Here as elsewhere the great question is that of irrigation. From evidences that are both apparent and indicated the problem might be solved here by a judicious combination of brains and money, for which reason the deliberations of the forthcoming congress at Albuquerque are looked forward to with such lively anticipations as the vital nature of the subject demands.

The popular and widely-known proprietors of the Arizona Central hotel are fully deserving of the liberal patronage that is bestowed upon them. R. S. G.

Hearing Postponed

The hearing on the bill of application for separate receivers for the Atlantic & Pacific railroad which was to come up to-morrow has been postponed by Judge Collier to August 12, on application of counsel for both sides.

A horse kicked H. S. Shafer, of the Freemyer house, Middleburg, N. Y., on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafer has recommended it to many others and says it is excellent for any kind of a bruise or sprain. This same remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. For sale by Thos. H. Burgess & Son.

A Difficult Trip

THE CITIZEN'S Folton, N. M., correspondent writes under date of the 22d as follows: Miss Londonderry arrived here this p. m. at 1:15. She looked like a drowned rat. She will remain with us until 5 a. m. to-morrow when she will start for Las Vegas. She had a fearful trip from Santa Fe—nothing but rain and mud. Mrs. Shuckhart will revive her and give her a good start in the morning.

E. K. Moore, of Canon City, Colo., extends an invitation to our local firemen, through the chief of the Albuquerque fire department, to attend the firemen's tournament of Canon City, in connection with their annual "fruit day." The cash prizes are as follows: Wet test, $200 first prize; $100 second. Dry test, $100 first; $75 second. Speed race, $50 first; $25 second. Two hundred yard foot race, $35 first; $15 second. One hundred yards foot race, $35 first; $15 second. Our fire sprinters will be unable to attend, the distance being too great, and again the boys here will probably shape themselves for several contests during the Territorial Fair.

They Failed Again

On last Saturday afternoon Francisco and Antonio Gonzales y Borrego, two of the four men in the county jail under sentence of death for the murder of ex-Sheriff Chavez, made another fruitless effort to free themselves from their shackles and regain their liberty.

It will be remembered that some three weeks ago the Gonzales y Borrego brothers were provided with two small files and a small saw by Jim Harris, and that with these tools they contrived to cut their chains, so that they were in readiness to avail themselves of the first opportunity to escape, and doubtless had reason to expect outside help in furtherance of their plan.

In the second effort, not having proper working tools, they undertook to break the links of their chains where they were attached to the irons on their feet. This had proceeded so far that Francisco had broken, by stamping with his feet, one of the links in his brother's chain, and, if the officers had not interfered, doubtless the same method would have been used in breaking a link in the chain attaching Francisco to the floor.—New Mexican.

Cleveland School Teachers

Miss Mary Carroll, sister of Tom Carroll, the pleasant and competent operator at the Postal Telegraph company's office, just across the street from THE CITIZEN, and Misses Reuter, Bateman, Powers, Marion and two other ladies, all school teachers of Cleveland, Ohio, passed through the city the other evening for City of Mexico. The ladies had attended the convention of the National Educational association at Denver, and extended their trip to Mexico, where they will view the interesting sights of that quaint country for a few days. On their return, homeward bound, Miss Carroll will stop over in this city and visit with her brother a few weeks, after which she will return to her school duties at Cleveland.

Call It a Craze.

AN ALARMING STATEMENT CONCERNING WOMEN.

HOW BAD HABITS ARE FORMED.

The New York Dispatch says: "The habit of taking headache powders is increasing to an alarming extent among a great number of women throughout the country. These powders as their name indicates are claimed by the manufacturers to be a positive and speedy cure for every form of headache. In many cases their chief ingredient is morphine, opium, cocaine or some other equally injurious drug, having a tendency to deaden pain. The habit then is easily formed, but almost impossible to shake off. Women usually begin taking them to relieve a raging headache and soon resort to the powder to alleviate any little pain or ache they may be subjected to. And finally like the morphine or opium fiend, get into the habit of taking them regularly imagining that they are in pain if they happen to miss their regular dose."

In nine cases out of ten, the trouble is in the stomach and liver. Take a simple laxative and liver tonic and remove the offending matter which deranges the stomach and causes the headache. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are composed entirely of the purest, concentrated, vegetable extracts. One Pellet is a dose; sugar-coated, easily swallowed; once used, always in favor. They positively cure sick headache and remove the disposition to it.

Mr. E. VARGASON, of Otter Lake, Lapeer Co., Mich., writes: "I am infrequently have an attack of the headache. It usually comes on in the forenoon. At noon I dinner I eat my regular meal and take one or two of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets immediately after, and in the course of an hour the headache is cured and no bad effects. I feel better every way for having taken them; not worse as is usual after taking other kinds of pills. 'Pleasant Pellets' are worth more than their weight in gold, if for nothing else than to cure headache."

E. VARGASON, Esq.

Capt Saltmarsh had the Albuquerque Guards out for drill last night. The boys will make a good showing at the Territorial Fair.

Rotating prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our

conducted by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 or thousands more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on the plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.
