Phthisis—Cure in a Perfectly Safe Remedy to Use.

[illegible]

DR. HENRY A. MOTT, PH.B., M.D., E.C.

[illegible]

New York, October 22, 1892.

Pursuant to request I have examined the preparation known as [illegible] and find the same to be composed of perfectly [illegible] and well-known medicinal substances principally of vegetable origin. Chemical analysis demonstrates the entire absence of any metallic poison such as lead, mercury, arsenic, copper, etc., or their salts, as also the entire absence of any alkaloid, such as morphine (opium), strychnine, etc.

This is to the office of the chemist to point out the most medical application of any preparation with which I am acquainted for the treatment of the consumptive. I may say that the properties of the preparation are such as I believe that I can safely use it in every case in which I may think it advisable for the benefit of my patients.

I have the honor to sign myself,

Yours respectfully,

HENRY A. MOTT, JR., PH.B., M.D., E.C.D.

DEATH OF MRS. C. B. HAWLEY OCCURS THIS MORNING.

[illegible]

Elizabeth S. Johnson was born in Niagara Falls, Canada, April 5, 1826. On [illegible] 1844, she was married to C. B. Hawley who survives to mourn the separation. Two children were born to them, of whom, Mrs. May Blakely and Fred Hawley, reside in the parental home. Mr. and Mrs. Hawley came to Albuquerque in 1881 and have been identified with the growth of the town from the first. Mr. Hawley himself, having never left the town since first arriving in it, seems a kind compensation that she, who had suffered so long and intensely, should at the last be permitted to pass peacefully into the dark waters.

The funeral will occur to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the casket being taken from the house to St. John's where Rev. Mr. Bennett will conduct the service. The following named persons have been selected as pall bearers: E. S. Stover, L. B. Putney, Fred Kent, Calvin Pickett, A. M. Whitcomb and A. W. Hayes.

WINSLOW WAIFS.

A Delightful Entertainment and How Well It Was Appreciated.

Special Corresponden[illegible]

Winslow, Jan. 30. It is seldom that a concert or an entertainment receives such universal applause as the one that was given here last Thursday night under auspices of the locomotive firemen. The most favorable comment on it is still heard in all places, and it is said to have been the most sucessful event of the kind ever given here. The audience was large and appreciative and there were many encores. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and the various colored lanterns used by the firemen in their work. The scene presented was a beautiful one, and one that will live long in the minds of all who were present. The firemen supplied every one present with a button-hole bouquet and this assisted materially in giving a festive appearance to the gay throng.

The concert opened with a selection from the Winslow band. Next a quartette composed of Messrs. Vorhees, Wardlow, French and Nolan sang the famous Neapolitan song "Jammo." They received an enthusiastic encore and responded by singing "Down the Ohio." Mrs. E. G. French next sang a solo, "When the Heart Is Young," in an admirable manner. D. C. Russell, of Gallup, followed with a solo, which was highly appreciated and he received an encore. Mr. and Mrs. E. G. French then sang a duet, "I Live and Love Thee." Then came a violin solo by Joseph Krentz, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Dryden. Miss Bertie Rupert, of Gallup, sang a solo and was followed by Charles Vorhees, who sang the popular darkey song, "Yes, Baby, I'm Coming to Town." He scored a decided hit and received a vociferous encore, to which he responded by singing "Honey, Does Yer Love Your Mammy." The quartette assisting in the chorus. Mr. Russell and Miss Rupert then sang a duet, "Life's Dream Is Over," and they were followed by Mrs. French, who sang a selection from the opera "Martha." Lang Wardlow sang a darkey song and then D. C. Russell gave a hornpipe dance, which was very good. The concert closed with another selection from the band.

The ball which followed the concert was equally successful. There were about 200 couples in the grand march, which was led by Jesse Treat and Miss Kate Quinn. An excellent lunch, of sandwiches, pickles and coffee, was served free of charge. The firemen may well feel proud of the success of their endeavor, for their concert and ball is the social event of the season in Winslow.

Work was commenced Friday, breaking ground for a new school house, which is to be built here. The building will be a two-story brick and stone structure, and will cost about $7,000. There are to be four rooms and a large hall upstairs, which can be partitioned off into rooms whenever an increase in school population makes more space necessary. Richard Wiggins has the contract for the work and B. Harmsen has a sub contract. The plans and specifications for the building were made by J. N. Duncan, of this city. The acceptance of Duncan's plans and specifications and the letting of the contract developed one of the bitterest squabbles that has ever been witnessed in this community. The school trustees, Henry Heide, J. A. Wood and Dr. Dryden, advertised for plans and specifications for the school and received a number of answers from architects in Prescott, Albuquerque and other places. They decided, however, to accept plans made by the home man, Mr. Duncan. Bids were advertised for on these plans and at the meeting held for the purpose of opening the bids, one bid was received from Mr. Wiggins and also a communication signed by F. Seeger, W. A. Parr and Ben Burk, other contractors and builders. The trustees, however, held that the order of business for which the meeting was called was opening bids and not receiving communications, so the communication was laid aside unread. Wiggins' bid was then accepted by the trustees.

In their communication, the other contractors set forth that the plans of Mr. Duncan are incomplete, and that they could not make an intelligent bid based on them. After the bid was let to Wiggins, the other contractors began an agitation against the trustees. They charged that the trustees had failed to comply with the law in that they had not submitted the plans to the tax payers before accepting them.

They also charged that after receiving plans from other architects, the trustees asked Duncan to draw up some plans containing the good points found in the plans of the other architects.

The trustees then called a public meeting, where the people could express themselves on their doings, and here they received an endorsement. A resolution, endorsing the action of the trustees in every particular, was adopted by a vote of 65 to 8. The opposition charges that a gag rule was in vogue, and that they were not permitted to make and explain their charges.

Mrs. D. W. Curtis is sick and confined to her bed. Her many friends have strong hopes that she will soon be enjoying good health again.

W. B. Kunkle, who has held the position of manager of the Harvey house for the past seven years, was yesterday transferred to Williams. Mr. Kunkle has made a host of friends during his stay in Winslow, who deeply regret his departure. B. Biestman succeeds Mr. Kunkle as manager. Mr. Biestman comes here from Bagdad, Cal., where he held a similar position. He is not entirely a stranger in Winslow as he worked here at the Harvey house four and nine years ago, and THE CITIZEN predicts that he will soon occupy a warm place in the hearts of the people of Winslow.

Miss Alice Budge, of Fort Hope, Canada, stopped here a week on her way to California. While in town she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. French.

Miss A. T. Cornish, of Flagstaff, is in the city visiting her sister, Mrs. John Puller.

Mrs. Richard Bauerbach has returned home after an absence of four months visiting in the east.

Dr. Campbell, father of druggist Campbell of this place, expects to move his family here from Ogden, Utah, in the near future.

There have been fifty-five cars of cattle shipped out of here in the last two days. Some of them have gone east and others west. The cattle have been shipped by the Aztec Land & Cattle Co.

Measles are quite prevalent here just now. Little children are the ones generally effected, but there are a few grown persons also down with the disease.

Engineer Frank George will build a house here right away and when it is completed will move his family up from Gallup. ON THE ROAD.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Newsy Chat from the Capital by "The Citizen's" Special Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Since the holidays, legislation at the national capital touching upon the more important matters of interest to the country and people at large, has been wanting, nor is it likely that any of the great measures will be taken up by this congress. It is surmised by the knowing ones that before adjournment is reached there will be resolutions passed in regard to the Cuban affair that will censure the stand taken by President Cleveland and Secretary Olney upon this question.

It is generally conceded that immediately after the inauguration of President-elect McKinley, an extra session of congress will be convened for the purpose of a revision of the tariff. The republicans, from the present outlook, will be able to pass any tariff measure through both house and senate. The resignation of Senator Pritchard gives the republicans forty-four votes in the senate. The Kentucky legislature will be convened by Gov. Bradley March 4, which will add one more, and with the vice president's vote, give the republicans a majority of one in the senate, independent of those republican senators who sheered off from the party and supposed Bryan in the recent campaign, among whom, it is thought, Senators Teller and Cannon, and possibly Mantle, will vote with the party on any tariff measure, thus giving a clear majority in the senate for any tariff bill as it may be prepared by the house.

In consequence of the very close vote in the senate, it is thought that there is no possibility for the admission of any of the territories for at least two years. From present assurances the republicans will have a very clear working majority in the senate two years hence, and New Mexico and Oklahoma will probably be admitted within that period of time, as it is the general belief here that they will send republican senators in case of admission. If these territories expect admission they should show a disposition in this direction.

House bill No. 2759, introduced by Hon. T. B. Catron Dec. 13, 1895, passed the house Jan. 12. The bill had been before the proper senate committee and referred to a sub committee and will be reported by that committee favorably to the senate Jan. 25. There is every likelihood that the bill will become law. Mr. Catron, from the committee on territories, submitted the following report, in part:

"The bill refers solely to the rights of aliens to acquire and hold lands in the territories and not in the District of Columbia. It is an amendment to an act entitled, "An act to restrict the ownership of real estate in the territories to American citizens, etc. Approved March 3, 1887, except so far as it affects lands in the District of Columbia, and provides that that section shall not apply in territories to lands which may be acquired by any alien who shall become a bona fide resident of the United States or shall declare his intention to become a citizen of the United States."

The following selected from the report is of direct interest to people of the territories:

"The present law has operated to practically exclude all foreign capital from the territories, and has in a great measure paralyzed business there, the mining industries have been very much crippled thereby, and improvements in cities and towns have been greatly retarded, as no foreign capital has been invested in the same since the passage of the act to which this is an amendment.

"The great object of the amendment is, however, to increase the investment of foreign money in the construction of dams, reservoirs, and ditches for irrigation and mining purposes, so as to develop the vast resources of those arid regions and bring them into a profit producing condition, and furnish homes to the surplus population of the states.

"Such moneys are not now accessible because of the present law. It is believed that much capital from foreign countries will be soon invested in such ditches, reservoirs and dams if this bill becomes a law, and those arid regions be very greatly populated and improved by the people of the United States desiring to locate on the public lands.

"The proposed bill provides that it shall not be construed to alter or change in any manner the laws regulating the disposal of the public domains."

A bill for the establishment of a sanitarium at Santa Fe, introduced by Mr. Catron, has a favorable show for passing the house at an early date. J.

Even a Marriage Did Not Draw.

Great Bend, Kas., Jan. 26.—Rice's Mystic World showed here Saturday night to a house which would not pay for passage to the next town. The performance was repeated Monday night, the marriage of Floyd D. Whitson, of Albuquerque, and Essie M. Fisher, of San Francisco, members of the show, being made a feature. Even this failed to draw a crowd and the show is stranded here.

The above is clipped from the Kansas City Star, and THE CITIZEN desires to congratulate "Our Floyd," but would like to whisper something of this kind in his ear: "Get in some first-class company or quit the business and come home, for the boys here would like to see you awfully, awful well."

NEWS FROM HOLBROOK.

A Tough of That Town in Jail. Brief Account of His History.

OTHER ITEMS FROM THE WEST

Special Correspondence.

Holbrook, Ariz., Jan. 30. Jim Thomas, at present better known as Climax Jim, from the fact that he chews a plug of that brand of tobacco every day. Was arrested a short a short time ago on a warrant charging him with horse-stealing, had his preliminary examination here before Justice W. H. Clarke to-day, and was bound over for trial to the grand jury which is to meet here next September.

He is undoubtedly one of the toughest and most dangerous characters in Arizona. Indeed his evil doings can not be compassed by the boundaries of Arizona alone, for they extend over into New Mexico as well. Jim Thomas as he now calls himself, is only one of the dozen aliases that he has carried within the past four years. He worked at Trimble's livery stable in Albuquerque some time ago and while there was known by the name of Rufus Nephew and was popularly called the "Kid." The latter was applied to him on account of his few years and youthful appearance. He is over 22 years of age and does not look over 18. Considering that he has been a hard criminal for several years, it is altogether probable, that for his age he is one of the toughest characters in the United states. The kid left Albuquerque when Trimble discharged him one morning at let he had run into a street car the night before and turned it back. The "kid" had been on a spree and was intoxicated when the accident occurred. The kid's nothing when asked how it happened, he replied "The twin street car would hit Pete to the right." A party in the town from that section of the country, says that Thomas' parents reside in Mesa City, Arizona and that his right name is Yeager.

Thomas is under arrest at present charged with stealing two horses from the McKinney Ames & Hall stage line company at this town on the night of the 15th. The story of the horse-stealing subsequent to be about as follows: Dan McNeil of Snowflake, an old pal of Thomas' at the Yuma penitentiary, had a falling out with Thomas in the early part of December and Thomas fired some shots at him, one of which grazed his arm. He appeared in town the following day and told Adams, of the above mentioned firm, threatening to kill him. Adams asked him if he let him know where Thomas was and he would go out after him. McNeil, to shield his pal, said it was only an accident and meeting Thomas, informed him of Adams' offer. This angered Thomas, who swore he would get even, and soon after the two horses were stolen. The best horse in the stable of the same company was poisoned at the same time. While it is suspected that this deed was also performed by Thomas, there is no proof of the fact.

The evidence against Thomas as brought out in the preliminary examination, is that he was seen riding the two stolen horses at Fort Apache. It was also shown that he traded two horses for a mule, with money to boot at Fort Thomas. It is not known yet whether it was the stolen horses he traded off or not, but this matter is being investigated now.

A gentleman named Peter Larson, gave the damaging evidence about seeing Thomas with the stolen horses at Fort Apache. Thomas denied this up and down and after he was bound over, he arose and asked the justice to issue a warrant for Larson's arrest on a charge of perjury. The court refusing to comply with this request received a score at the hands of Thomas.

Thomas bail was fixed at $[illegible] and he asked the sheriff to see Nat Greer, whom he was sure would go on his bond. That gentleman, however, when seen simply shook his head dubiously and silently declined the proposition to go on the bond. As a result Thomas will be confined in a steel cell until the time of his trial in September. Before his hearing Thomas was living in the happy hope that the authorities did not possess sufficient evidence to bind him over, and in the expectation that he would soon be legally free, had been on his Sunday school behavior. Now that he is facing eight gloomy months in prison, he has become more uneasy and is openly boasting that when he gets ready to leave his present habitation, the steel bars will not prevent his escape. He is said to have a great record as a jail breaker, having been locked up in jail ten times and made his escape six.

Sheriff Frank Wattron does not propose to take any chances on Thomas making his escape, and today when Deputy Sheriff Bargmann took Thomas to breakfast, he made a thorough search of the cell and threw out every article he could find therein. When Thomas returned to the cell he was stripped of his clothing and supplied with a new suit. The officers are now confident that they have their man foul and that he will be compelled to resign himself to a life of imprisonment. Thinking that this may be the case Thomas has asked the officers for law books and says he is going to study law, so as to be able to defend himself when his time of trial arrives.

Sheriff Wattron has lifted him out with a copy of the revised statutes, on which he will probably spend his spare moments.

Deputy Sheriff Bargmann met exciting and trying experiences in his search for Thomas. He left here January 19 and at Double Circle Horse camp first discovered Thomas' trail. He followed on to the headquarters of Double Circle Horse camp and from there went to Battandoff's ranch, which is about twenty miles from Clifton. Here he ran across Thomas, who had sought shelter there from the storm. The deputy told Battandoff that he was going to Clifton, but that he got lost and had followed a trail in the snow to the house. Here Thomas spoke up and said he had made that the day before. To this the deputy replied: "Yes and I have a warrant for you."

"The hell you have," retorted Thomas. The deputy sheriff prepared to put on the handcuffs, when Thomas demanded that the warrant be read first. He was promptly covered with a six shooter, while Battandoff put on the handcuffs. Thomas yielded very gracefully when he saw the gun. At this time he had two saws made of clock springs, fastened to his right arm, and his six shooter was close by on the bed. The officer had taken a position between his prisoner and the six shooter, so there was nothing to do but to surrender unconditionally.

The roads back here from Battandoff's ranch, a distance of [illegible] miles, were well nigh impassable on account of snow, mud and swollen streams, so the sheriff took his prisoner to Clifton, at which place he boarded the train for Deming. From there he went up to Albuquerque, where he arrived on the night of Jan. 21. He stopped there between trains and while there several of his old acquaintances met the "kid."

Thomas served two years in Yuma prison for horse stealing. While at that institution he made a bowie knife which was considered the finest of the kind ever seen in the territory. He had a natural talent for doing things of this kind, and this brought him great notoriety in making his escape at various times.

He came to this country from New York and was taken in the vicinity of Gallup, where he was worked for some years on the cow ranches.

[illegible]

There was a big snow storm last night, but the snow has all melted now, making the streets look very muddy. The roads to Fort Apache are in a very bad condition owing to the snow and mud.

There are [illegible] carloads of water pipe here which is to be used at Fort Apache in laying the new water work.

The quartermaster's agent here received six mules yesterday from Fort Wingate. They were taken to Wingate on a special train and left Holbrook at 10 p. m. Tuesday. The mules were taken to Fort Apache.

Sheriff Wattron was presented with a gold-lined silver dollar last night by the other half of the firm of Summers & Shepherd. It is probably the finest coin in the possession of any man.

Dan Lewis, formerly of Albuquerque, is now representing a celebrated clothing house and looking after the trade of Fort Apache.

Quartermaster Lieutenant Simmons left yesterday for Fort Bayard, where he will take an examination for promotion.

Many of the boys will leave for a trip to Albuquerque and other points in the east in a few days.

THE MOLINEUX JURY.

[illegible] Gilkins Finds Her Testimony in Her Behalf Very Damaging.

[illegible] Gilkins, of his age aged about [illegible] years, committed suicide some time last Saturday night at her room on south second street, by taking morphine.

The suicide came here about ten days ago from Las Vegas with a letter from D. S. Dean, a railroader there, to W. H. Matson, Jr., station agent asking the latter to give him Gilkins work if possible. Mr. Matson turned the letter over to Frank Sheets, foreman of the platform force at the freight depot, who gave Gilkins work. The deceased put in the day Jan. 20 that she so suddenly with the asthma and could not stand the heavy work, but did not show up for duty the next day. Mr. Sheets states that Gilkins was very pleasant and jovial and did not, in the least, while at work or afterward, for he was at the freight depot on several occasions, show any signs of despondency or premeditate suicide.

The CITIZEN learns that on last Saturday afternoon Gilkins told his landlord that his trunks and satchels, with some money were expected from the east. When talking he seemed to be in good spirits and that afternoon was the last seen of him alive. Yesterday he was locked all day in his room and the landlord, becoming suspicious that all was not right, knocked on his room door at 7 o'clock last night. No response was received, when the door was forced open and Gilkins was found lying on bed as if asleep, dead. He had in his possession been dead about twelve hours, and an empty phial, which had contained morphine, told the story in silent words the cause that brought about the death.

The case was at once reported to Marshal Fornoff and Justice Crawford, and the latter, considering that no coroner's inquest was necessary, turned the remains over to Undertaker Strong.

There were several letters of recommendation from Chicago merchants as to Gilkins' qualifications as a book keeper, among the effects of the suicide, and these letters were turned over to Marshal Fornoff, who notified the Chicago people last night, and a response was received to give the remains burial here.

Undertaker Strong telephoned to THE CITIZEN'S office this afternoon that the funeral of Gilkins will take place at his undertaking parlor Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, burial in Fairview cemetery.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN!

A Lively Meeting Among the City Fathers Last Night.

Alderman Montfort Declared Himself in Favor of the People.

An Interesting Debate is Precipitated as a Result.

CORPORATIONS VS. PEOPLE.

A regular meeting of the city council was held last night, Mayor Bridgeman presiding. Aldermen Montfort, Cummings, Long, Horner, Stevens and Otero were present, and Aldermen Diether and Grunsfeld were absent.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

[illegible]

The following bills were then submitted and referred to the proper committees:

[illegible]

The chief of the fire department reported in favor of fitting the mouth of hydrants.

City Physician John D. Hayden reported having treated seventeen patients during the month of January, also for having written fifty-two prescriptions and made [illegible] visits. He reported one case of smallpox, one case of measles and one case of chicken pox.

[illegible]

The special committee consisting of Aldermen Montfort, Horner and Otero, to whom was referred the petition of numerous citizens respecting the council to take some action looking to securing a reduction in the price of gas, stated that they had written numerous letters to other cities for the purpose of getting information on the subject, but as the answers had not been received asked for further time.

[illegible]

Alderman Otero expressed himself at length on the subject. As a member of the committee he said he had not been consulted by the other members, but had given the matter his time and attention, and as he might not be present at the next meeting desired to give his views on the subject. He said: "I do not think it right to impose on a man who is hard by making a living."

Mr. Otero read from a directory of gas statistics of 1891 some of the prices paid for gas in a number of cities which are equally unfortunate with Albuquerque.

Mr. Otero made a motion to discharge the committee, but his motion found no second.

MONTFORT TO THE RESCUE.

Alderman Montfort called Alderman Otero to order during the course of his remarks and stated that he was not working against the gas works, A. A. Grant or anyone else, that he was simply carrying out the instructions of this council on the strength of a petition from tax payers and users of gas, asking the council for some remedy in the price of gas and incandescent lights.

Alderman Montfort further stated that communications were being received relating to prices of the same, which would later be tabulated and presented to the council and to the public. Alderman Montfort added, I consider it my duty to work for the interest of the citizens of Albuquerque as against the corporations.

[illegible]

Alderman Cummings moved to allow the committee further time. Alderman Horner seconded the motion, and the mayor declared the motion carried.

Alderman Otero demanded the yeas and nays but was declared out of order by the mayor.

Alderman Otero appealed from the decision of the mayor, and on Alderman Otero calling for a yea and nay vote on the question of sustaining the decision of the mayor the roll was called and the decision of the mayor was sustained by the council, Alderman Otero being the only one to vote in the negative.

SIDEWALK ORDERED.

A petition asking for the construction of a sidewalk on north Walter street, which was presented on Nov. 19, 1896, was again brought up and the clerk was instructed to notify M. P. Stamm to appear before the council on Feb. 15, to show cause why said sidewalk should not be built.

HEALTH ORDINANCE.

An ordinance was presented to the council amending the present ordinance relating to public health, and requiring that a yellow flag, board or sign be erected and maintained in front of any premises wherein there is any case of small pox, varioloid, diphtheria or scarlet fever or other contagious or infectious disease and that said flag, board or sign shall have painted thereon the name of the disease in large letters.

On motion the rules were suspended and the ordinance put on its final passage.

DR. WROTH TALKS.

Dr. J. H. Wroth addressed the council against the use of the flag. Among other good reasons he stated that we depend on the consumptives for considerable of our revenue and in one particular case where the flag was used three of his patients had left town, and after suggesting the imposing of a fine on physicians for failure to report contagious diseases to the council, he closed with an earnest appeal to protect the physicians means of livelihood.

On motion the yellow flag was dispensed with and the ordinance as changed and with a penalty attached for failure to report cases of contagious diseases was adopted and will be published in full in THE CITIZEN.

ANOTHER ORDINANCE REFERRED.

An ordinance requiring notice to consumers by the water company before shutting off the water for any reason, which was introduced at the last meeting was again read in an amended form and was allowed to take its regular course and was referred to the water committee.

TO ABATE A NUISANCE.

Alderman Long, of the grievance committee, reported that Emil Kleinwort was maintaining a slaughter house within the city limits, and that the said committee had received many complaints from people living in the immediate neighborhood.

After some discussion, the mayor instructed the marshal to make an investigation and abate any nuisance he might find.

APPOINTMENT.

The mayor nominated A. J. Crawford for appointment as police judge of the city, and the council confirmed the nomination.

The mayor appointed the following board of health: Aldermen Stevens and Cummings, and Doctors Kaster and Rupe, and the city physician, the mayor being chairman of the board.

The appointment of the board of health was confirmed by the council.

WANTS THE RESOLUTIONS.

R. Ruppe addressed the council as city druggist, complaining of discrimination in the filling of the city prescriptions, stating that of the thirty-five prescriptions written by the city physician during the month of January, only seven were filled at his pharmacy.

The mayor interrupted to state the city physician had hereafter to have all prescriptions for city patients to be filled at D. Rupe's pharmacy.

Dr. Hayden, the city physician, being present, accepted the notification verbally, and stated that hereafter he would see that all city prescriptions were filled according to the instructions of the council.

The council then adjourned, after which several of the members signed a petition addressed to the thirty-second legislative assembly of the territory asking the enactment of some law to force the vaccine of twenty-three.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Meeting of the Board of Education—Interesting Session.

The regular meeting of the board of education for February was held last night at the board room, Gold avenue, all members being present, President Trustee Hanson.

President Hanson called the meeting to order and appointed Trustee [illegible] temporary clerk in the absence of W. A. Pratt, regular clerk.

The following bills were ordered paid:

Water supply [illegible]

Clerk pro tem read the regular statistical report for the fourth month, [illegible] which showed the largest enrollment of any month since the organization of the schools, there having been [illegible] new pupils entered upon the roolbook, the average daily attendance was somewhat [illegible] owing to sickness among the pupils.

A communication from Gus Schmeltz, the superintendent, was read. It was a suggestion that the school board give an opportunity to comrades of the Grand Army and Loyal Legion post to place at each building a suitable flag, and that a petition for that purpose be placed at each building. The suggestion was favorably received and the superintendent directed to present the matter to the [illegible] trustees.

At request of the superintendent, the board directed that the schools make an exhibit of the school work for the year at the Highland building sometime in May. The drawing work, which expense will be the St. Louis exhibit, then will be displayed at this time.

The supply committee were instructed to purchase a book case for the Fourth ward. The same was recently put in the Second ward. The blackboards and pages of the Fourth ward have outlived their usefulness, books to be the permanent property of the school, and the board is a good case that the books may be well cared for.

A committee was appointed by the president to look into the matter of non-resident pupils paying tuition, whose parents pay no tax, and to report at the next meeting.

The board adjourned until the first Monday in March.

Mr. Ward L. Smith, of Fredericktown, Mo., was troubled with chronic diarrhea for over thirty years. He had become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time when he would have to give it up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians in Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a newspaper and chanced to read an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. He got a bottle of it and the first dose helped him and its continued use cured him. For sale by the W. A. Maxwell Drug company.

THAT NAVAJO SCARE.

Sheriff Cameron on a Collection of Taxes—The Cause.

Special Correspondence.

Flagstaff, A. T., Feb. 2.—Sheriff B. H. Cameron and his posse went out toward the Navajo reservation to collect taxes from the Indians who have left the reservation with their flocks to graze on the outside land. The somewhat martial appearance of the sheriff and his posse on this peaceful expedition was the sole source of the rumor that spread over the entire territory to the effect that there was an uprising of the Navajoes, and that three Indians had been killed in one of the preliminary skirmishes.

This is only one other instance of that weird and miraculous process of evolution by which a saw log is made out of a shingle. Everything in this vicinity is as quiet and peaceful as an angel's dream.

Major Ernest Meyers, of Albuquerque, was at the Grand Canyon last Saturday.

BACK FROM HIS HOME.

I found considerable snow up in the Cochiti mining district and very little actual mining of present going on, remarked W. L. Trimble, who returned to the city last Saturday night. Mr. Trimble had the contract to move the Gertrudis smelter machinery from this city to the golden district near San Pedro and after seeing the machinery safely landed at Golden he drove across the country to the Cochiti district where he has a contract to haul ore from the mines to the railroad station of Thornton. He reports however, the town of Bland quite lively, and the miners begin to feel quite jubilant over the prospects of the Washington mill.

CUBAN QUESTION.

Treaty Will Be Signed Before Close of Arbitration Session.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The treaty of arbitration between Great Britain and Venezuela will be signed at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The delay was caused by the difficulty in making up the tribunal so as to interfere as little as possible with the important work of the supreme courts of the United States and Great Britain from which bodies four of the arbiters are drawn. Notice, however, was received by cable this morning from the London privy council which finally confirmed the selections made. The four arbiters, it is understood, will be Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court and Lord Herschell and Sir Richard Henn Collins, knight justices of her majesty's supreme court judicatory. The fifth arbiter in the case will be named by king oscar. By the terms of the treaty the agents of Great Britain and Venezuela must deliver complete cases at Paris, where the arbitration tribunal will meet within eight months of the ratification of the treaty, with three months additional allowed for submission of counter cases, so that the entire arbitration will probably occupy a year and a half.

CHEROKEE STRIKE.

Men Willing to Arbitrate, But Company Not Heard From.

Carbondale, N. M., Feb. 2.—The striking coal miners at Madrid held another meeting at 10 o'clock this morning and drew up a scale of prices for working the Clark and White mines which will be submitted to superintendent Duggan to-day. They ask for $1.50 per ton of 2000 pounds of screened coal. The company's new scale is eighty five cents. The miners agree to submit the matter to arbitration, but the company has not been heard from. It is understood the men with families held a meeting last night and signified a willingness to accept the scale, but have not dared to express themselves openly. The engineers also held a meeting and will accept the reduction.

SPANISH INFLUENCE.

Consul Barker Complains of a High Handed Outrage.

New York, Feb. 2.—Consul Walter B. Barker of Sagua la Grande, Cuba, has written a bitter complaint to Secretary Olney, because despatches from the department in reference to important matters regarding the relations of Spain and the United States were seized, opened and read by the Spanish authorities. Captain-general Weyler ordered the Sagua la Grande authorities to apologize to Barker, which they did, but the angry consul would not accept the apology and said he had referred the matter to his government.
