Hospital Staff Meets.

The members of the board of trustees of the Santa Fe Hospital association were in Kansas City the other day the guests of Dr. D. E. Clopper, local Santa Fe surgeon. The company was composed of Dr. J. P. Kaster, chief surgeon of the Topeka hospital, A. H. Wright, chief surgeon of the Iowa hospital, Dr. R. S. [illegible] of Iowa, Mss. W. H. Hamilton and E. E. Ives. The company left for a trip over the Santa Fe system.

Death and Burial.

Mrs. M. V. Burnap, who, with her husband, resided in this city sometime ago, died at Sedalia, Mo., the other day. The Sedalia Sentinel says:

Burial services over the remains of Mrs. M. V. Burnap, who died Saturday night, were held at St. Vincent's church at 10 o'clock this morning, Rev. Father Healey officiating.

Mrs. Burnap was buried in Sedalia and a large circle of friends read of her death with heartfelt sorrow, while to the desolate and heartbroken husband and [illegible] in the hour of his sorrow the sympathy of the entire community will be extended.

A [illegible] Knights of the Maccabees, the [illegible] Railway Conductors and the [illegible] Locomotive Engineers attended the funeral in a body.

SKIPPED THE TOWN.

Capt. George M. Bertin Takes French Leave of Las Vegas Good Boddards.

Anyone meeting a young man nearly [illegible] years of age, about five feet nine [illegible] inches in height, with a heavy set dark complex[illegible] black hair and fairly [illegible] cheeks, who claims to be up in military tactics, and having had some newspaper experience, as well as being a printer by trade, would do well to give him a wide berth, as such is the description of Captain [illegible] Bertin, late of the Las Vegas base ball manager [illegible] of Bertin.

The above description follows a supposed [illegible] from Las Vegas to El Paso, Tex., and took his departure without the customary go Las greetings of acquaintances and creditors.

Bertin came to Las Vegas in the late summer of last year, and immediately made it known that he could handle the drum major's baton, drill a military company and stand in with the ladies, in all of which accomplishments he was an adept. But with all this, he could not be induced to bite on getting a few paltry coins in his hands—most needs pump the town.

The fellow was not satisfied with the honors bestowed on him by the young people of the town, but in his greed for "little lucre," he won the confidence of a young lady, and under the promise of marriage, tried to borrow a sum of money. Luckily for her, though, his business called him away before she could comply with his wishes, for a greater sum than she, which he succeeded in getting, though being allowed to carry her pocketbook, one evening, which he failed to return. He also collected nearly $10 for ball tickets, of the Montezuma rifles, which he failed to account for before leaving.

Enough said about it, though, as the city is cheaply rid of a character who could, had he remained in the city a short while longer, have hoodwinked the people out of considerable sums, from different sources.

Another Sunday school young man who left town between two days, without settling with his landlady, is Ole Olsen, who came down from Denver some weeks ago, to accept a position in the job and composing rooms of the Optic. He worked the church racket nicely, and the only wonder is that he, too, didn't succeed in borrowing some money from a susceptible and unsuspecting young lady. However, this excuse for a printer, a former White Oaks young man, didn't need any of "the needful" to help him back to his Ida in Denver, as he was paid in full at this office—in deed, overpaid for his unsatisfactory services.—Las Vegas Optic.

"OWNEY" IS DEAD.

The Well Known Railroad Dog Went Mad and Had to be Killed.

Cleveland, April 22.—"Owney," the celebrated railroad dog, will travel over the country in mail cars no more. He has met his fate in this city.

The trouble which resulted in his death arose over the fact that he became mad. Whether or not his madness was due to an order issued recently by the superintendent of mails in Chicago to the effect that "Owney" should henceforth be excluded from the mail cars, cannot be positively stated. At any rate "Owney" found his way into the Union depot on some train Thursday, and that evening displayed signs of madness. He bit a brakeman quite seriously, and when a police officer attempted to pacify him with his club the dog turned on the officer and bit him also.

A short struggle then ensued, in which "Owney" was clubbed to death by the policeman.

AN ADVERTISING AGE.

Not the least interesting feature of the newspaper is its advertising columns, says the Butte Miner. Thoughtless people who throw aside the voluminous supplement of the metropolitan daily, sometimes express a peevish wonder at the thousands of announcements it contains. They do not know that each "want" is scanned by persons anxious to fill it; that the advertising pages of the press play as important a role on the stage of modern civilization as those devoted to the record of events. This is an age of advertising, and it would be interesting to know just how strongly the advertising idea has tinctured social life. Certain it is that literature is largely colored by it. The magazine or periodical that makes a success is edited from the business office. It does not seek to raise the standard of taste or morals, but to increase its circulation, and, therefore, its advertising patronage, by catering to established prejudices. It is always easier to acquiesce than to argue, to supply a demand which already exists than to create a new market. The cheap newspaper and the cheap magazine are to-day the most potent factors in the education of the people, and both are too frequently conducted with an eye to the advertising rates.

Mrs. Fred. A. Lewis, who was at Santa Fe on a visit to friends, returned home on the flyer at noon to-day.

PERCIVAL LOWELL'S WORK.

Transferred from Mexico Back to Flagstaff—The Planet Mars Inhabited.

The Lowell Observatory, which was transferred from Flagstaff, Arizona, to Mexico early last December, for the purpose of observing the opposition of Mars and for measurement of southern double stars, has been dismounted and transported back to Flagstaff. The season in Mexico has been wonderfully prolific of results and has added greatly to Mr Lowell's reputation. He is one of the most distinguished and brilliant scientists of the day. Within a comparatively short time he has forged to the front, his work being of such character as to attract not only the attention of professional people, but of the general public as well.

His observations of Mars and Venus have yielded most substantial results. They seem to have demonstrated that Venus makes but one revolution in her journey around the sun. Consequently, one side must ever be turned to the central luminary and the other shrouded in eternal night. One side then must be exposed to terrific heat, and the other to perpetual cold. In such circumstances, life, as we understand it, seems to be out of the question, but life, even on our own globe, as we view it, is possible under conditions which appear almost impossible to human beings that he would be a fool, even, if it is declared dogmatically that life is an impossibility under the conditions that we seem to find on Venus.

On Mars, Mr. Lowell is convinced it is inhabited by a race of greatly advanced civilization. Like as that planet must be genial and peaceful. Its atmosphere, a mere mist with no dense envelop which surrounds our globe, is thin and light, seas are practically unknown, and Mr. Lowell is of the opinion that the temperature is mild and balmy. Mars is the one member of our planetary family with which we are best acquainted. In some respects it is better mapped than certain portions of the earth. That it is peopled by a race of great intellectual power appears to be conceded, and in this we may have confirmation of that theory of evolution which promises steady development of mortals until at length they are ushered into the presence of what is now the Unknowable, there to grasp the great mystery of existence.

TRIAL CALL.

Business Before the United States Court of Private Land Claims.

The United States court of private land claims of Santa Fe has issued that the following cases be assigned for trial at the May, 1897, term, said term to be held on the 4th day of May, giving number, name of claim and, name of grant and date of trial:

HURD IS LOCATED.

Requisition Papers Will be Taken Out for Him To-Day.

Cripple Creek, Colo., April 24.—Chief of Police Kales leaves in the morning for Denver for requisition papers for ex-City Clerk J. K. Hurd, who is wanted for a shortage in his account of a little more than $6,000. The officers will not say where Hurd has been located, but it is given out to be somewhere in California. The whereabouts of the absconding officer was learned through letters he wrote to a woman in this town, of whom he is enamored.

[NOTE.—It is reported that Hurd, just before his accounts were to be investigated, telegraphed to a friend here to meet him at the depot, and it is stated that the friend was on time, according to the telegram, but that Hurd did not show up, probably thinking it wise to keep quiet and lay low in his flight from justice. Hurd and wife, or rather his alleged wife, resided in this city a few years ago.]

Going to France.

Rev. George S. Juillard, of Gallup, who has been in this city for the past few days, will leave this evening for Bernalillo, returning Friday evening to remain until Monday, at which time he expects to leave for his home in France on an extended vacation. New Mexican.

Man Killed.

At Lumberton, Rio Arriba county, yesterday, Emmett Wirt shot and killed Chas. Lipps. The shooting was over a trivial difficulty. Wirt is under arrest.

More Adjustments.

Ed. Henry, the Las Vegas insurance adjuster who has been here the past few days adjusting losses on the Sulzer and Parenti fires, informed THE CITIZEN at noon to-day that he had received a telegram to re-adjust the Commer & Glaesner and the Luke Walsh losses, held in the Western and British-American companies and which had been previously reported upon by Major W. A. Rankin. He also stated that Miss Trisarri, owner of the building occupied by Mr. Walsh, will receive $211.76 for her loss, and that J. F. Sulzer receives $275 from the Royal on his fire. The Delaware company insurance on the Sulzer fire will be adjusted by A. H. Whittemore, who is expected here from Las Vegas to morrow morning. Mr Henry desires to get through this afternoon so as to leave for Las Vegas this evening.

Old Brakeman Dead.

Barney Lannon, the old brakeman, who for years was one of Joe Rickey's mainstays, died at the La Junta hospital yesterday morning at 3:45 o'clock. "He took his last trip on the flyer on St. Patrick's day," remarked Conductor Richey this morning, "and as he felt bad he went to the La Junta hospital as a patient. I called on him on my last trip up, a few days ago, and asked him how he felt. Barney stated that he was very very sick, and it is with sorrow that I announce his death. He was about 55 years old, and as he was no spendthrift he left quite a snug sum of money. His relatives reside in Massachusetts."

GEORGE A. HERMAN.

The Agent for the Montezuma Piano Company Skips Out.

Friends are anxious to learn the whereabouts of genial George Herman, traveling salesman for the Montezuma Piano company of Denver. THE CITIZEN learned this morning that he was sent to San Marcial by the company on business and that he was afterward heard from down in Mexico. His friends do not fear "foul play."

Since writing the above, THE CITIZEN is convinced, upon further investigation, that George A. Herman, agent for the Montezuma Piano company, of Denver, has skipped from the city, and he leaves a bad record behind.

It is stated, upon excellent authority, that the adjuster for the company, a gentleman named Shaw, arrived in the city about ten days ago to investigate into the accounts and doings of their agent, Herman.

The latter, however, fearing that Shaw would unearth some of his rascalities, left the city for San Marcial and later on sent word to Shaw that if he (Shaw) desired to see him, he could be found over the border somewhere in Mexico.

Shaw remained here until yesterday morning, when he went south, presumably on a hunt for Herman, but before his departure it is now learned that he sold a piano, loaned by Herman and used by the "Weary Willies," to a lady on time payments.

This piano was sold some time ago to H. Simpson for $[illegible] by Herman, who leased it on condition that it must not be taken from the Grant building, where the "Willies" do their practicing. The piano, however, was quietly removed from the building by orders from Shaw and this fact started Mr Simpson to investigate, and on yesterday he replevined the piano from the lady. Mr. Simpson, however, states that he thinks Mr. Shaw knew nothing whatever of his transaction with the company's agent, Herman, and made the sale to the lady innocently.

There are several other scaly transactions by Herman throughout the city, where he has given mortgages on pianos and then sold them to other parties, in some instances securing the money.

Herman owes a number of small bills, and these creditors are likewise mourners. He was pretty well known in San Marcial, Cerrillos and other towns north and south of this city, and it is safe to say that he got in his dirty work on the people of those towns also.

Later it is now understood that Mr. Shaw declared before he left for the south that Herman was short in his accounts to the company between $100 and $500.

Injunction Granted.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 23.—Judge Showalter, of the United States court, has granted the injunction asked by the Citizens' street railway against the enforcement of the three-cent fare law. The effect will be to return to five-cent fares.

Col. A. A. Trimble, who, with W. L. Trimble, left the city the other day to pick out a road from Bland to the Sulphurs and the Jemez Hot Springs, has returned, and he states that they found a very good wagon road, which could be put in excellent condition with the expenditure of a small sum of money and a little hard work. The distance from Bland to the Sulphurs is only nineteen miles, and that the trip from this city, via railroad to Thornton and from there to the Sulphurs, can easily be made in one day. W. L. Trimble, who remained at Bland on business, will return tomorrow morning.

Edward Henry, the Las Vegas fire insurance adjuster, has completed his duties here and will return to his home this evening. In the readjustment of the losses sustained by Luke Walsh, of the Tivoli, and Commer & Glaesner, the tailors, the figures first reported upon by the local agent, Major W. A. Rankin, were accepted, and the companies were notified accordingly.

A. P. Hill, who was private secretary to Delegate Fergusson, has returned to Santa Fe from Washington, and it is now learned that a young democratic gentleman of this city, who has on several occasions aspired to political favors, is after the job.

John Carroll, the wool buyer for Gross, Blackwell & Co., and S. P. Bartley, a popular tourist from San Francisco, are in the city. They are well pleased with the showing Pardee, the Albuquerque twirler, is making in the St. Joseph, Mo., base ball team.

The contract for the Mrs. J. P. Kaster cottage, on north Walter street, was let to-day to J. W. Mequade. The cottage will be of modern design and will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000. It will be occupied, on completion, by S. E. Newcomer and wife.

John Wilson, a saucy fellow, was arrested last night for being drunk and disorderly. He was fined this morning by Justice Crawford, and advised by Marshal Fornoff, in emphatic words, to "go and sin no more."

The spring wool clip is beginning to arrive in town for shipment. Almost all of the camps are shearing and will be through within the next ten days or two weeks, when the wool will begin to roll in.

In a few days, probably early next week, the fair association will hold a meeting for reorganization and to select officers for the ensuing year.

Adah Chapter, No. 5, of the order of the Eastern Star, will meet this evening at Masonic hall. Mrs. Alba Butler, secretary.

Making the [illegible] happy is a [illegible] ly woman's pleasure. It is easy to make healthy baby happy. Such a [illegible] is born happy. Smiles and [illegible] ples are as natural to it as fretting is to a puny [illegible] ly child. It rests with every woman whether her baby shall be healthy and happy or puny and miserable. If during the preceding maternity a woman takes proper care of the organs upon which the perpetuation of the race depends, she insures health of herself and child. It is easy to do this. The proper medicine is a boon beyond price, as women have testified according to the value of it.

The organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible are directly acted upon by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It prepares for maternity. It does away with the pains and perils of the expectant period. It insures baby's health and makes its advent painless and almost painless. Druggists sell none of the Favorite Prescription "that is just as good" as this and other similar medicines combined.

I am anxious to add my testimony to the virtues of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. C. G. [illegible] of Fort Grant, Graham Co., Ariz. "I had been using the Prescription' for several months previous to my confinement, and I feel sure I have been benefited greatly from the time I commenced to use it. I feel fully as well as I did before my illness. Up to the very day when my baby was born I did all my own housework, and during confinement I had not the least sign of fever. The ordeal was nothing to what I expected."

The woman who owns a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser probably does not realize at once all the value she gave in exchange for it. There was a purpose in so doing. That paid for the large volume of 1,000 pages. Then, as day by day she looked into these pages, one by one they gave her anxieties for her own health. She learned how to make herself well. In the chapters especially devoted to her own weaknesses, she learned the causes and the cures. 680,000 copies have been sold at $1.50 each. Now a cheap edition, in strong paper covers, will be given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., to cover the cost of mailing only. Send 31 stamps for cloth binding.

The report reached this side this morning that an attempt to hold up a man supposed to be drunk took place on the old town last night, but that the man who was more sober than those in the scheme thought, vigorously and successfully objected; hence there was no holdup. However, revenge was taken on another man who was drunk, and the latter was battered over the head.

It is learned that the Western Union Telegraph company, for making a ridiculously costly blunder regarding the purchase of a mine in the Cochiti district, will soon have on its hands a $50,000 damage suit. The party to the suit resides in this city, and our informant states that the papers are now being drawn up and will be served on the company in a few days.
