MAX SCHUSTER AT HOT SPRINGS

A brother of Mr. Adolph Schuster came in this morning from Albuquerque and will spend a few days visiting with his brother. We are informed that he intends in the near future, to go into business at Fort Apache, Ariz.

James D. Eakin, of the wholesale liquor firm of Melini & Eakin, has returned from a very successful trip to the towns south of the metropolis. He reports the signs of "coming prosperity" brighter to-day than for several years, and believes, like all, except the croakers, that New Mexico is truly on the eve of a good, substantial boom.

THE STORM AT SAN ISIDRO

Hail Lays Wheat and Cornfields Low and Destroys Fruit.

San Isidro, June 27, 1897.

Editor Citizen:

Saturday, June 26th, 1897, will be a day long to be remembered by the citizens of this rural settlement, as well as to all that portion of the Jemez pueblo whose farms extend from the pueblo to San Isidro. Where Saturday at noon were fine fields of wheat, corn, frijoles, chili, vineyards and orchards, is now desolation and all vegetation of every kind has been destroyed.

All the forenoon of Saturday clouds were hovering about the mountain peaks and the muttering of distant thunder gave warning of an impending storm, but no one dreamed of such a catastrophe as was about to visit this beautiful valley. At about 2 o'clock an ominous cloud swept down from the west in the face of an east wind that was blowing a gale and soon hail, rain in sheets, such as come only with the wildest cloud bursts accompanied by vivid lightning and terrific peals of thunder burst upon the devoted valley.

I can distinctly remember sixty years of life yet have never seen such hail. It came in masses, the size of which would have been incredible to me in the early morning. My point of view was from the extreme southern edge of the storm at the residence of Cayino Garcia, and we did not receive the full force of the storm, but I saw many stones fully three inches in diameter, fall with such force that they rebounded not less than thirty feet. The storm lasted nearly or quite one hour, with unabated violence, the rain with smaller hail, continuing about one hour longer.

After the storm was over Mr. Garcia and I visited the fields in the immediate vicinity and found every vestige of what in the morning were promising wheat and corn fields, to have been levelled with the ground.

On Sunday morning we visited the upper portion of the settlement and the scene we encountered beggars description. Every pane in the north side windows of every house was broken out, piles of hail many inches, even feet, in depth remained wherever currents had been obstructed. One field of perhaps forty acres of wheat Saturday morning had attracted my attention by the even stand of wheat just coming into bloom, was entirely covered with hail not less than two feet deep, although the hour was 11 o'clock Sunday. At the residence of Leandro Sandoval not a leaf was left on his vineyard. All his fruit gone, all his crops of every description destroyed. The general store of J. B. Rieck had a narrow escape from destruction, the water reaching within one inch of his floor. Mr. Roman Jaramillo, who is in charge of the business, was struck by broken glass from a window, drawing blood, the stone breaking the glass weighing six ounces avoirdupois. The fine residence of Cornelio Sandoval was seriously damaged, the water standing twelve inches deep over the first story, seriously damaging the building, as the water was not three feet deep around the outer walls. Mr. Sandoval lost all his fruit crop and his beautiful home looked woful Sunday morning. Mrs. Sandoval especially mourned the damage done to her carpets and costly furniture, and spoke of one hailstone she had weighed, the weight of which was fully eight ounces. Mr. Sandoval estimates his loss at not less than $1,500. The estimate is certainly small enough.

At the residence of Pomuceno Sanchez the water and hail stood on the floor of every room, until they covered bedsteads and reached to the top of the tables.

On Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m., when we visited it there were still two feet of hail covering the floors of all the rooms. Many chickens and other poultry were killed in the valley, and it is probable that sheep, colts and calves will be found to have been killed on the range where exposed to the storm, as chunks of ice, weighing half a pound, driven with such terrific violence, could easily kill small stock.

On all the south half of the Jemez Indian grant, farms were located in the path of of the storm, and every vestige of crops has been destroyed.

After the storm the Jemez river was higher than the oldest settlers have ever seen it, and for two hours was literally gorged with floating ice. The path of the storm was between two and three miles in width, how far east and west it extended is not known here.

The people of this settlement are great sufferers, as most of them are poor and depend upon their crops for the means of existence. Some will suffer, all are serious sufferers, and all deserve the sympathy of the citizens of New Mexico.

Accident in Mexico.

A letter from Lester Jameson, who is in the City of Porfirio Diaz, Mexico, to his brother Vernon, states that on the 21st inst at a station four miles from that city, engine No. 43 on the International railroad blew up, killing Engineer Jim Griffin and Fireman Jakeman. The crown sheet of the engine gave way, lifting the engine 100 feet into the air and landing it on the pilot when it turned over. A piece of the front end went through the depot, severely injuring the agent in its passage. Five Kickapoo Indians who were on the depot platform at the time, were scalded, some receiving $5 each from the railroad company, for injuries sustained.

Rev. Cross.

Rev. Edward S. Cross closed his pastoral engagement here last Sunday evening, and will leave in a few days for San Marcial, where he will be more centrally located in his new field of labor. He has been appointed general missionary in the Rio Grande valley between Albuquerque and El Paso, and will visit Silver City occasionally until a pastor can be secured for this place. It is with regret that the people of Silver City part with Mr. Cross, for a man of his culture, force of character, zeal and upright principles is rarely found, even among the clergy. During the five years and four months of his residence in Silver City, he has delivered at twenty-nine places in southwestern New Mexico and over the border in Arizona. Besides this, he has, in attending conventions, and during brief vacations, preached in a number of other places in New Mexico, Texas, Colorado and California.—Silver City Independent.

THE RAILROAD HOSPITALS

The Santa Fe Will Repair the Hospital Buildings.

Several thousand dollars will be expended by the trustees of the Santa Fe Hospital association in the renovating and repairing of the Hospital buildings at Ottawa, Kan., La Junta, Colo., and Las Vegas, N. M., within the next two months.

A meeting of the board of trustees was held in Topeka the other day for the purpose of letting the contracts for the work. With the $1,200 necessary for the repair of the roof of the Santa Fe hospital in Topeka as the result of the hail storm of last week, the total expenditure for repairs of rail road buildings will amount to over $5,000.

The most extensive repairs will be made at the Ottawa hospital. When this building was built a number of years ago the interior was but roughly plastered, with the intention of more thoroughly plastering the rooms at a later date. This work was never done, and the repairs to be made now will consist in part of replastering the entire interior. New floors will also be laid in a number of rooms, and the roof of the building repaired. In all the work at the Ottawa hospital will cost in the neighborhood of $2,500.

The repairs at the Las Vegas hospital will consist in a new plumbing apparatus and several new floors. At the La Junta hospital several new floors will be put in, and the roof extensively repaired.

Dr. J. P. Kaster, the new chief surgeon of the road, is responsible for the work being done up to this time.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

Why a Cochise County, Arizona, Man Will Not Sell His Cattle.

A Mexican named Juan Carrillo living near the line in the southern part of this country, has made one of the most unique and valuable discoveries of the century.

For many years there have been known to exist in the vicinity of his ranch, gold placer, but owing to the fact of the fineness of the particles of gold it was never profitable to work them by the usual process of sluicing or with a rocker, the gold passing over the riffles instead of being caught and held by them.

Below the spot where the prospecting was usually carried on was a saline deposit usually called a "lick," where cattle and sheep would lick the clay and thereby derive the necessary amount of salt to assist the process of digestion.

Lately Mr. Carrillo set apart a number of cattle to be fattened for beef and for the purpose of drying the meat for winter use. A few days ago being in need of fresh beef he concluded to kill one that had been kept in the pasture where the lick was situated. After cutting the meat up and preparing some for drying he had the stomach prepared in the usual manner for stripe. Upon submitting it to the customary process of cleaning he discovered the entire lining of the stomach filled with some hard substance which completely filled a part of the spongy folds which form the source of the gastric juices. A closer examination disclosed the fact that the substance was gold, and upon carefully saving and afterward washing the products he found he had nearly four ounces of the precious metal. The salt in the earth had chloridized the gold and the inner lining of the stomach had acted, in saving the metal, very much like a coarse blanket in the bottom of a sluice.

Mr. Carillo next experimented with sheep in the same manner, and found the result very much the same, only the quantity of gold was less.

Instead of giving his stock salt, as formerly, he periodically drives them on to the "lick," and when he requires anything not produced on his ranch, he simply kills a beef or mutton, takes the gold out of the stomach and exchanges it at the nearest store for whatever he wants.—Tucson Citizen.

The Rio Officers.

President Ripley, of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway, besides the appointments issued and published by General Manager Nevin, announces the following officers as elected by the Santa Fe Pacific railroad, which is virtually a replica of the roster of the elective officers of the Santa Fe company:

A. F. Walker, chairman of the board; E. P. Ripley, president; Paul Morton, third vice president; W. G. Nevin, general manager; H. C. Whitehead, general auditor; G. Holterhoff, Jr., treasurer and assistant secretary; L. C. Deming, secretary; H. W. Gardiner, assistant treasurer; J. P. Whitehead, comptroller; Victor Morawetz, general counsel; S. G. Kenna, general solicitor.

The situation at the local offices is about the same as yesterday, and the list of those who will accompany Auditor Crary to Los Angeles has not yet been made out.

Louis McKee, the manager of A. A. Grant's several enterprises, will leave Monday night for San Francisco, where he will join the Albuquerque party at the Christian Endeavor convention.

TERRITORIAL FAIR.

Prospects Exceedingly Good for a Grand Exposition.

BIG PRIZES FOR FRUIT EXHIBITS.

San Isidro, June 27, 1897.

Editor Citizen:

The Territorial Fair association is out for a big time this year. It has organized six weeks earlier than usual, and has a large executive committee of the best element in that live city in charge of the work.

The resources of the territory are to receive more than usual attention this year, as is shown by the large increase in the prizes for county and district exhibits in the field of agriculture, horticulture and mining. It has put up $500 for the best and largest collection of fruit grown in any county in New Mexico and Arizona, the first prize to be $250 and the second prize $100. The best collection of fruit raised by one exhibitor will be $25 for the first prize and $10 for the second. For the best and largest collection of field, farm and garden products grown in any one county the first prize will be $100 and the second prize will be $75. For the best general collection of ores from New Mexico and Arizona the first prize will be $250 and the second prize will be $100. For the best cabinet collection of ores belonging in New Mexico or Arizona the first prize will be $25 and the second prize $10. The association will also put up purses for individual exhibits in all the various products of the country.

The executive committee has made a great innovation this year in the customary program in the speed ring and field sports and have simply adjusted things to meet the demands of the people who patronize the fair. It has become more and more apparent each year that trotting races were no longer a drawing card unless they were faster races than in the past. Therefore the association has dropped off trotting and pacing races from its program entirely, believing that the people can be entertained with more popular sports. It has therefore hung up $4,000 for running races alone, believing that by concentrating all its available money for the speed ring on one class of racing that it will be able to get more for the money than it has in the past. There will be three or four running races for blood each day of the week. No one can afford to miss the races this year.

The experience of the association last year convinced it that a ball tournament and bicycle races were among the popular thing with the people. The association will therefore this year put up $1,500 for a base ball tournament open to the world, only requiring the ball teams to file their entries with names of their players thirty days prior to the opening of the fair. $600 goes to the fastest bicycle riders. As amateur bicycle riders are not allowed to race for money, this is a large appropriation for the bicycle races.

The secretary is in correspondence with the railroad officials to secure exceptionally low rates to the fair this year, and is also urging the railroad company to give homeseekers' excursion rates from the eastern states to Albuquerque during the fair, with thirty days to look at the territory, if they so desire, and return home on their excursion rates. The executive committee believes that with the co-operation of the railroad company in getting homeseekers to visit New Mexico during the fair, where can be seen the resources of our territory, as will be exhibited, the fair can be made of great practical value to the territory.

The Territorial Fair association therefore appeals to the citizens of New Mexico to join with it in preparing a great exhibition of New Mexico's wonderful resources that will be a credit and lasting benefit to the territory.

We are assured by the secretary of the association that while there may be some changes in the amount of the prizes for a certain exhibit the amount of money to prizes will not be changed. This will appear definitely in the premium list, which will be out by July 15th.

Fourth at Madrid.

Madrid has made extensive preparations to properly celebrate the glorious Fourth. An elaborate program has been prepared, which consists of base ball, foot ball, boy's and men's races, sack race, wheelbarrow race, climbing greased pole, two six-round boxing contests, catching a greased pig and a tug of war, and all the other sports common to first class Fourth of July celebrations.

A spacious platform will be erected on the grounds for dancing, which will be in progress both afternoon and evening.

In the evening there will be a grand display of fireworks. Two balloon ascensions, and two parachutes, hundreds of rockets, mines, Bengal lights, comets, windmills, Roman candles, etc.

Not Going.

The mayor having changed the Fourth of July holiday from Saturday, the 4th, to Monday, the 5th, it will be impossible for Company G and the band to attend the National Guard inspection in Santa Fe, July 3, as a large majority of the members are employed in the mercantile houses of the city, and as Saturday is their busy day the boys cannot well get off for the trip.

The officers of the company and the field staff will, however, go up, as Gov. Otero has called a meeting of the National Guard association at Santa Fe.

Entertainment.

A very lengthy program of music, recitations, dialogues, etc., was carried out by the Sundhower club at the A. M. E. church last night. The club is composed of the young folks associated with the church, and they certainly acquitted themselves throughout with great credit. The attendance was very good, and each number was greatly appreciated, applause evidencing the fact. Individual mention is impossible in view of the institutional character of the whole.

Miss Ida Mumford is president of the club and Miss Mildred Murray the secretary.

The club will be heard from again at an early date.

Funeral of Miss Bertolone.

The funeral of Miss Italia Bertolone, whose death was mentioned in THE CITIZEN of yesterday afternoon, took place at the bereaved home, No. 322, corner of Carroll avenue and Arno street, on the Highlands, this morning at 10 o'clock, and there were present a large crowd of mourners; burial in Fairview cemetery. Her father, who died about a year ago, was a worthy and popular veteran of the Grand Army of the Republic, and in token of his services to his country, on many battle fields, the local G. K. Warren post furnished the flowers that almost literally covered the casket that contained the remains of his dead daughter, Miss Italia Bertolone.

Continuous Performance.

The Elite Dramatic Co. will not give its usual performance Saturday night, as the hall has been previously engaged but will give their regular performance on Sunday evening, July 4th. On Monday, beginning at one o'clock they will give a continuous performance lasting till 10:30 in the evening. Come when you please and stay as long as you want to. This will be the first continuous performance ever given in Albuquerque, which is now the craze in all the large cities.

Rev. Bagby's Book.

THE CITIZEN acknowledges the receipt of Rev. D. A. Bagby's book "Jesus the Nazarene is Certainly the Messiah of Jewish Prophecy," which has just been issued. Typographically it is a neat, tasty book of 177 pages. The book is adorned with a half tone picture of the author, which is a very true likeness. The book is divided into two parts. In the first the prophecies are examined, while the second treats of "The Prophecies Fulfilled." Prof. A. C. Davidson, of Georgetown, Ky., writes an introduction to the work.

To those in Albuquerque, who are acquainted with Dr. Bagby and know him as a ripe scholar, and an earnest student of the Bible, it is needless to say that the subject is handled in an able and interesting manner.

An Important Function Stimulated.

The kidneys exercise most important functions, which are so wearisome that they tax to the utmost the strength and endurance of these busy little organs. Every breath, every pulsation of the heart, every movement of a limb, every thought, makes waste, and necessitates the development of new atoms. The used up particles in the blood are sifted from it, and dissolved in a watery fluid by the kidneys, which then discharge this fluid into the bladder. A train of disasters to the system would follow if these "ashes," so to speak, were not thoroughly strained off and discharged. This is the case when the kidneys become inactive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, by restoring their activity, not only keeps open a most important outlet for impurities, but prevents diseases of the kidneys themselves, which, when inert, become liable to fall a prey to diabetes, Bright's disease, mephitis, albumanuria, and other maladies specially incident to them, which, although not specially rapid in their progression, are particularly fatal and obstinate.

Joe Barnett, the junior partner at the St. Kimo saloon, who is one of the very best manipulators of the shotgun in the southwest, refers with considerable pride to a picture taken while he and George S. Blunt were doing California a few months ago. It was in March when Mr. Barnett left for a wild goose hunt, about seven miles from San Francisco, and the day was a good one for such sport, he killing lots of the toothsome web-footed fowls. The picture represents the result of his hunt spread out on the ground, with Joe, wagon and horse nearby.
