The Ferguson Hook & Ladder company will meet at their head quarters this evening and celebrate the sixth anniversary of this most excellent fire company. All members of the company are expected to be present, and as a number of outsiders have been invited, a good time is promised. Active and exempt members are invited.

The city has put on a very busy look, and the busiest people in it are the bright women, who are making ready to endeavor all the world at the great minstrel show next Monday evening. It is impossible to particularize. Each number and there are lots of em, is a gem. The whole performance is bright and sparkling. Reserved seat at Waltons.

Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Mclowell, with nurse, arrived last night from Vermont, and after being met at the depot by Dr. W. S. Bratton, registered at the Grand Central hotel, where they were assigned to comfortable rooms. The health of Mrs. Mclowell is not the best, and the doctor thinks that the climate of the Rio Grande valley will prove beneficial.

Fred. Frank Stansell, of Denver, a brother of E. L. Stansell, of the Golden Gate Dancing house, arrived in the city last night with his wife and will visit with his brother for a couple of weeks, taking in the fair next week. Professor Stansell is an actor of considerable prominence and is also a skillful magician and slight of hand performer.

Fred. Loss, the painter has completed a mammoth painting for O. Barberchi, A. Co., and it now serves as an ornament for the retail department of the firm's First street house. Proprietor Barberchi is very much fascinated with the work and points with great pride to the life-like appearance of the lady who is made to repose on a sofa. The painter has worked all along the western and southwestern railways, and is a veteran in the business.

The matter of the Lincoln Bugg partnership contest came before Judge Collier to-morrow. The principal issue in this matter is whether or not the public land survey corner around section 1, at Gallinas, shall be held to be where the measurements would place them or where one of the evidence shows where they were found hundreds of yards out of position. If the latter prevails then Lincoln must pay the railroad a large amount of money for coal extracted, and if the former prevails he will not have to pay for the reason that the coal extracted was his own.

On September 11 the case of Kosmanski [illegible] vs. Juan Garcia, on the demurrer to the defendant's plea, is set before Judge Collier. The novel question is raised in the case as to the right of a defendant to show that a promissory note, absolute on its face, was not delivered to the plaintiff to become a present existing and binding contract between the parties but given on condition that certain property should be satisfactory to the maker of the note after investigation.

A Mr. White, of Denver, is here in the interest of the Beam process for reducing refractory ores, and is around interviewing our mining men. Col. W. T. Thornton, the old Sandia mountain miner, owner of several valuable mines in Coyote canyon, informs THE CITIZEN that he has had ores treated by the Beam process, and everything proved satisfactory. Mr. White, so it is learned from outside parties, is well pleased with the mineral formations of this section of New Mexico, and it is more than likely that a Beam mill will sooner or later be erected at some of the adjacent camps.

Prof. A. J. Matthews and wife arrived in the city last night from Rock Springs, Wyo., on their way to Needles, Cal., where Prof. Matthews will have charge of the public schools. They stopped off in this city on account of the illness of their little child, who needed a rest. Prof. Matthews was offered the position of principal of the public schools, but was away from home at the time the offer was made so he failed to get it in time to inform an answer to the board.

The St. Johnsbury, Vt., Caledonian says: "Dr. H. S. Browne left yesterday for Albuquerque, N. M., to visit his daughter and to attend the Territorial fair. The fair is one of the most unique exhibitions of its kind in the world and Dr. Browne will write about it in a future number of the Caledonian." Dr. Browne is the father of Mrs. H. J. Emerson, he arrived in the city last night.

Mr. Ivey, the proprietor of the Los Angeles Restorator, left the West Railroad station yesterday last Saturday night from a visit to his home. He was met this morning by a CITIZEN representative, and stated that he had a fine time, but was really glad to get back to New Mexico.

M. R. Hoffs, of New York, who has been a Western Union operator at El Paso, came in from the south last night, and now holds the position made vacant at the local office by C. B. Jenkins, who left last night for Denver and from there to go to Wallack, Neb.
