As the engine started, his arm was caught in a coupling being made with a car a few feet away and the arm was cut off below the elbow.

A Drowned Man.

Capt. J. A. Mellen, of the steamboat, Cochan, came down last week from the mines and reports the finding of a body on the 2nd of April in the eddy at the foot of Deep Rapids, on the Arizona side of the river, about fifty-six miles from this city. The crew were engaged in heaving a line ashore for the purpose of towing the Cochan through the rapids, when the corpse was found. The body was buried by the captain and crew. The pockets of the dead man's clothing were cut away, but nothing was found but a pocket knife and matchbox. On the lapel of the coat was a Grand Army button. These articles were kept by Capt. Mellen, and were sent to the coroner at Kingman.

The man was bald, with gray whiskers and two fingers of the left hand were missing.

Three men, one of whom answered this description, passed through this place some days ago on their way to the river. They are supposed to have attempted to go through the rapids in a boat, which was swamped, drowning the man whose body was found, and also the other two, as no one at Charles Gracey's mill or further up the river had seen them, and Capt. Mellen says he saw a boat bottom-side up, just below Fort. Mojave. The three men seen here were old soldiers from the Old Soldiers' Home at Santa Monica, and were named Mallory, Wood and Smith, the last named filling the description of the man who was drowned. The body, in the opinion of Capt. Mellen, had been in the water about ten days at the time of his finding it.—Needles Eye.

A COCHITI DEAL.

Crown Point Group of Mines Purchased by Capitalists.

OTHER INTERESTING NOTES.

Mrs. A. J. Lamb, who has been confined to her home with a severe attack of la grippe, is able to be out again.

I. W. Davis, who has been the superintendent at the Union mine for some months, has resigned his position and left Wednesday for Milwaukee, where he will enter the employ of his former employers, the Edward P. Allis company.

R. M. Stevenson lost four valuable porkers this week from the effect of poison which he supposes was given them by some unprincipled person. He is inclined to make matters uncomfortably warm for the culprit should he learn the name of the guilty one.

Samuel Newhouse, of Denver; Mr. Cartan, of Boston, and their associates, have purchased the Crown Point group of mines. The consideration was $65,000 and a large block of the stock in the new company they are organizing. The property comprises the Crown Point, Giant and Bull of the Woods. About $27,000 in ore has been taken from its quartz ledges.

Alex. Jordan, proprietor of the "Nine Spot" saloon, which is located at the South end of the canyon, was arrested Tuesday at the instigation of residents living in that portion of town, charged with maintaining a public nuisance. He appeared before Justice Graves Tuesday afternoon and plead guilty. He was assessed $10, which he paid. The offense which brought about the arrest was committed during Mr. Jordan's absence while his business was in charge of an employe.

Manager Chas. Graves of the Cochiti Cookoos is out with a sweeping challenge to cross bats with anything in New Mexico, and it's a bold proposition, too, from the grass roots down. The special object of his animosity at present is the crowd of "Jub" ball players of the Duke of Albemarle. He proposes to bet the Star mine and the Crown Point group against their hole in the ground that if they screw up sufficient courage to meet the sky-pilots there won't be a grease spot left to tell the tale. He wants to arrange the game for a week from Sunday at Allerton. The Cookoos would also consider proposals from aggregations across the Rio Grande.

One evening last week while Rev. Madden was conducting religious services at the Albemarle, some one, whose objective point was the Cochiti metropolis, appropriated the preacher's beast and rode it over. After the service, when Rev. Madden discovered his loss, he was compelled to do some skirmishing for another animal to ride home. During the service the numerous "small fry" lent solemnity to proceedings by firing stones onto the iron roof of the building. Taken all in all, Rev. Madden had a very enjoyable visit. Arriving home he found his steed stabled and groomed. There is some talk of engaging the services of Jim Jeffries in the capacity of missionary at this point for a year or two.

At the last regular meeting night of the Cochiti Relief association the membership generally was very conspicuous by its absence, not a mortal man being present. The officers were working and the members who could have attended elected otherwise. Those members who have never been known to grace the meeting with their presence are the loudest with their "chin" music on the outside. The few who do fully appreciate the benefits to be derived from an organization of this kind are beginning to lose heart and "don't care whether it goes or not" as they phrase it. A very small number of the most enthusiastic are now advocating including employes of the Navaho company in the organization, thinking thus to stimulate the body sufficiently to revive it. It is questionable, however, whether this end can be attained. The committee appointed to confer with Messrs. Posey and Johnson during the former's visit to the camp, in regard to the hospital, failed in its duty by neglecting to get together.—Bland Herald.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed at J. H. O'Reilly & Co.'s.

POOR MAIL FACILITIES.

More Complaints Reach the Citizen Office from the West.

This paper during the past few months, has received numerous complaints from subscribers along the Santa Fe Pacific regarding failures in receiving their papers and even letters, and in order to get the matter directly before the proper authorities the following letter is published:

Chloride, A. T., May 12—The Citizen has almost quit coming to any of its subscribers here entirely. I, myself, have not had but two copies in over ten days. It is the same way about all other mail matter from the east, including valuable letters. Recently I received a package of ten copies of the Phoenix Gazette six weeks after date. Western mails come all right, and no blame or negligence can be made against the postmaster here, but it is the carelessness of some postmaster or route agent east of Kingman. You would confer a great favor by informing a postoffice inspector of the conditions of mail affairs this way, as I know of none.

Very respectfully, J. M.

A Frightful Blunder,

EXTENSIONS ON THE SANTA FE.

Leading Officials are Returning from an Inspection of a Great Railway.

Paul Morton, second vice president; George T. Nicholson, passenger traffic manager, and W. A. Biddle, freight traffic manager of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, were in Kansas City, on their way from San Francisco to Chicago, says the Star. They are returning from an inspection of the Santa Fe properties in San Francisco. Within the last year the Santa Fe line has been extended from Bakersfield to San Francisco, the railroad now going to Point Richmond over its own tracks. Two immense ferry boats, similar to the ones in use by the Southern Pacific, transfer freight and passengers to San Francisco. The line is now open through to San Francisco for freight, and by the first of July passenger trains will begin running through.

"Recent heavy rains in Southern California and Arizona insure improved conditions," said Mr. Morton in his private car at the Union depot this morning. "Work is progressing rapidly on the Santa Fe and Grand Canyon railroad from Williams, Ariz., to the Grand canyon. This canyon is one of the wildest bits of mountain scenery in the country, but because of its remoteness from railroads has not attracted the attention it would if it had been easier of access. The canyon is twelve miles wide, 200 miles long and from 6,000 to 8,000 feet deep. Aside from the passenger traffic that will result from the building of the new line, the face of this immense canyon has an exposure of 6,000 feet of copper ore which promises to make it one of the richest mining districts in the world."

MAGDALENA MINES.

A Correspondent Thinks Well of the Mines of that District.

Magdalena, N. M., May 11.—There has not for a long time been much excitement in the Magdalena camp. It has been going along quietly, shipping from 80 to 100 tons of bullion and ore weekly. Occasionally at some mine a pocket of precious stuff is found, like the one Mr. Nelson made his fortune out of—in the Hard Scrabble.

The owners of the Black Cloud a few days ago struck a rare and rich lot of carbonates, some 40 feet wide, with 50 per cent lead, and carrying 28 to 30 ounces of silver. As the work proceeds the ore seems to grow richer, and we shall no doubt hear shortly of some wonderful developments at this point. The mine is next to the Queen group recently purchased by eastern parties, who have commenced to tunnel through the mountain to tap the mother lode. This, without doubt, will open up the richest mines in these mountains. It has long been a wonder that such a course was not taken before—because there is no doubt whatever of the extent of the mineral. It is in touch with the Kelley and the Graphic, and these have produced and are producing not dollars but millions. It is gratifying to see that our mines are attracting eastern capital, and that this camp, which is equal in richness, if it does not surpass any in the west, has been able to secure it.

Fatal Colors.

It has been proven that soldiers are hit during battle according to the color of their dress, in the following order—red is the most fatal. Austrian grey is the least fatal. The proportions are red twelve, rifle green seven, brown six, Austrian bluish-grey five. There is one other color, not mentioned, more fatal—and that is the pallor of weakness. If it has commenced to paint its deathly hue upon your cheek, and the stomach weakens and life seems not worth living, go to the druggist and obtain a bottle of Hostetter's Stomach bitters. It will give you life and energy. It does this by making the stomach strong and the blood pure. It is unequalled for such disorders as indigestion, dyspepsia, or malaria, fever and ague.

ACCIDENTS IN THE COCHITIS.

Foot Hurt—Burke's Hand Cut—Morgan Badly Injured.

Merl Wagoner, an employe of the Navaho company at its saw mill, met with a minor accident last Tuesday. In company with other employes he was engaged in handling a heavy log when, by some chance, he got his foot caught under it. The appendage was badly pinched.

Charlie Burk, an employe of the Navaho company at its mill in Media Dia canyon, met with a serious accident Wednesday, which will lay him up for some weeks to come. In company with another man he was falling a tree when the ax of his assistant flew from the handle, striking him across the back of his left hand almost severing that member from the arm. The injury was dressed by Dr. Grace, and as a result he will loose the use of a couple of fingers on that hand.

M. B. Morgan, one of the crushers at the Albemarle reduction works, met with an accident the fore part of the week which will necessitate his laying off for a few more days. It is customary with the employes in this department to take home for fuel the refuse timbers which are sent out of the mine. In getting his consignment he accidentally included a stick to which had become affixed a dynamite cap. An explosion followed contact with the flames, which badly burned his left hand and forearm. He had the injured member dressed by the company physician and is now enjoying an enforced vacation as a consequence.—Herald.

A Follower of Measles.

In many instances a persistent cough followed an attack of measles. In speaking of this Mr. Walter B. Beel, editor of the Elkin (N. C.) Times, says: "Three weeks ago I had an attack of measles, which left me with a bad cough. I took several doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the cough has entirely disappeared. I consider Chamberlain's medicines the best on the market." For sale by all druggists.

U. S. LAND COURT.

Conejos Grant Case Submitted—Other Important Matters.

In the United States court of private land claims Wednesday afternoon the hearing of the Conejos grant claim for 3,000,000 acres in Southern Colorado was concluded and the case submitted and taken under advisement by the court.

In case No. 165, Eduardo Otero vs. the United States, involving the Abo mine grant in Valencia county, a motion for rehearing was overruled, the court having previously rejected the claim. It involved over 50,000 acres.

In the matter of the Las Lagunitas or Antonio Baca grant, bordering on the Cebolleta grant in Bernalillo county and claimed by Mariano S. Otero, et al., involving 51,772.54 acres, objections to the survey heretofore executed under decree of this court were raised by the United States attorney, and as the witnesses both in favor of said survey and against it reside at such a distance from Santa Fe, it was decided to designate a member of the court to proceed to the ground and take the testimony. Justice H. C. Sluss was so designated.

In the case of the Chama grant, and the San Miguel del Bado grant, Justice W. F. Stone was designated as special representative of the court to take testimony as to the extent of the several allotments. Justice Stone will also proceed to Tres Piedras and take testimony on the Petaca grant and go to Las Cruces on a similar mission in connection with the Refugio colony grant.

The court, through Judge Stone, handed down an opinion rejecting the Jose de Leyba grant, in Santa Fe county, claimed by Mariano F. Sena, of Santa Fe. The claim was for 16,000 acres. Upon the grant are situated the Tiffany turquois mines.

The Roque Jacinto Jaramillo grant was also rejected, the opinion of the court being delivered by Chief Justice Reed. The grant was an imperfect one, but was rejected because it conflicted with the Juan Jose Lobato grant, previously confirmed. The grant is situated in Rio Arriba county, and was claimed by Jose Pablo Jaramillo, et al.

BACK FROM GALLUP.

A Few Points Gleaned in a Talk With W. W. McClellan.

W. W. McClellan, book-keeper for Bachechi & Giomi, returned on the delayed train from Gallup this morning, the train having been delayed several hours at McCarty's station by an accident to one of the coaches.

Mr. McClellan, in a short talk with The Citizen representative, gave the following paragraphs about Gallup and her people:

W. A. Maxwell, formerly of Albuquerque, has returned to Gallup from his trip to Washington and Oregon, where he is interested extensively in the timber industry.

The people of Gallup are at present agitating the question of a new depot, and some of the officials of the Santa Fe Pacific road are favorably inclined to the proposition.

"It is safe to say," said Mr. McClellan, "that Gallup will send a rousing delegation to the next Territorial Fair. Everybody who attended last fall was well pleased, and they, with many others, are now laying aside some funds to visit Albuquerque this fall."

The postoffice is being newly papered and repaired, and a new floor will also be laid.

The Southwestern Brewery & Ice Co., of Albuquerque, will erect an ice house for the storage of beer at Gallup, plans and specifications having already been submitted.

Mino Bros., wholesale liquor merchants, have removed their quarters to a store room adjoining Kennedy's opera house.

C. N. Cotton, the well known Indian trader, is feeling the impulse of prosperity, and will make some up-to-date and extensive improvements to his residence.

The merchants of Gallup are agitating the question of sprinkling the streets, thus keeping down "real estate" during windy days.

A grand ball was held at Odd Fellows hall the other evening, and it proved to be one of the nicest dances ever held in Gallup.

Base ball has struck Gallup in good big chunks and several clubs of local players have been organized. A game between two local teams will be played tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon.

AN ANNIVERSARY.

Eight Years Ago Last Saturday the Old Capitol Burned Down.

It is just eight years ago last Saturday night since New Mexico's beautiful capital building burned at Santa Fe. Many of the citizens undoubtedly recall the desperate but futile efforts made by civilians and firemen to get the fire under control and the attendant excitement of the multitude. So rapidly did the flames spread that within twenty to thirty minutes after the alarm sounded all hope of saving the building was given up, and heroic efforts were then made to save as much of the furnishings, valuable documents and pubic library as possible. Within an hour after the fire started in the two domes, the entire building was enveloped in flames, and what had been the pride of citizens was soon ashes and smoldering ruins. However, New Mexico again has a capital building, whose spacious corridors will soon reverberate with the voices of public officials and others as they pass to and fro in the daily routine of business to which it can point with utmost pride, as a monument of the skill, progress and integrity of the citizens of the future "Sunshine State," New Mexico.

At a meeting of the joint committee of the capitol rebuilding and capitol custodian boards, held Friday afternoon at the office of Governor Otero, the initiatory arrangements were formulated for carrying out the dedicatory ceremonies which are to take place at the new capitol on the afternoon and evening of June 4.

EDUCATIONAL MATTERS.

M. E. Hickey Again Chosen Superintendent—Committees Appointed.

There was a special meeting of the school board held last evening in the academy building to transact some important business. There were present: President Hopkins, Trustees Keen, Glover, Isherwood, Lamb and Clerk McDonald.

On motion by Trustee Keen and seconded by Trustee Isherwood, M. E. Hickey was unanimously re-elected to the position of superintendent of public schools for another year.

A report for the past year was submitted by Clerk McDonald which met the approval of the board.

A resolution, which had been formed by members, was read and adopted. It requires that all teachers hereafter employed in the city schools must possess a normal school or college diploma, or to have had at least three years' experience in public school work.

The following committees were appointed by President Hopkins:

Finance—Keen and Ramsdale.
Teachers—Rankin and Glover.
Building—Dodd and Rankin.
Supplies—Isherwood and Lamb.
Rules of course of Study—Ramsdale and Lamb.

An Ancient Belief.

The ancients believe that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the infliction is demoniac enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by all druggists.

He Should Be Released.

Alberto de Valle, the 12-year-old boy who turned in a false alarm last Tuesday evening and was afterwards sent to the county jail for a period of ninety days, is reported to be in a critical condition. Almost from the time of his incarceration the boy has cried for freedom and appears to be badly frightened. He cannot be consoled by anyone. Efforts are being made to obtain the boy's relase, as it is thought he has received sufficient punishment.

LINCOLN COUNTY MAIL SERVICE.

New Bids for Carrying Mails Asked for by the Government.

The new mail service was to have been inaugurated on May 10 in Lincoln county, is postponed, and the government has advertised for new bids on the various stage routes, the time now stated for the beginning of the service being June 10. The delay is caused by the contracts now in force being below a figure than any man can carry the mail and exist on the income from the business. At present the contractors are paid $1,400 per year for carrying mail between White Oaks and Lincoln. This means a daily trip of forty-seven miles each way, ninety-four miles a day, employing two drivers and several horses, for the munificent remuneration of less tran $4 per day! The bids for the new service were higher than the above rate, as they should be, and were all rejected by the postoffice department as being too high.

GOSS MILITARY INSTITUTE.

Col. Goss Secures the Trumbull Stone Building for School Purposes.

A few days ago Col. Robert S. Goss stated to The Citizen representative that he was negotiating for new and better quarters for his military school—better than the old quarters, which were destroyed by fire the other day, but he declined to let The Citizen any further into the secret.

Yesterday afternoon, however, the colonel stated that the new quarters had been secured, and that on the coming September 3d he would begin the tenth annual session of the Goss Military Institute in the large Trumbull stone building, which is located in the Perea addition and now occupied by W. P. Metcalf and wife.

The building is admirably adapted for military school purposes; nature could not have made the surroundings better, and Colonel Goss is to be congratulated on securing the Trumbull house for his military institute.

THE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

Permanently Organized Saturday Evening—Constitution Adopted.

At the meeting of the Baptist association in this city last Saturday afternoon it was resolved and unanimously carried that the organization should be made a permanent one and that the officers elected temporarily should occupy their respective positions for the coming year. At the evening session a working constitution was adopted for the year, after which time it will be completed. Various cities were proposed as the next meeting place of the association, but nothing definite was decided upon. However, it is probable East Las Vegas will be selected as the most desirable city for the second session. An address upon "The Work and Value of the Home Mission Society," was eloquently delivered by Dr. Bairden to a large and interested congregation. Delegates from the Baptist churches in East Las Vegas, Las Cruces, Dona Ana and Deming were present. The following program was carried out yesterday at the church:

11:00—Sermon by Rev. John Crooks.
2:30—"Foreign Missions"—Rev. H. C. Strong, Deming. Discussion.
2:45—"Publication Society"—Rev. E. H. Sweet, Las Vegas. Discussion.
3:30—"What is our Responsibility to New Mexico?"—Miss Evert, Las Vegas. Discussion.
7:30—Devotional meeting.
7:45—Sermon by Evangelist Geo. H. Brewer.

GOLDEN MINING NEWS.

A Few Items About Golden's Big Mining Companies.

Special Correspondence.

Golden, N. M., May 13.—W. G. Swart, assayer and chemist, who was here testing the cement beds and gravel for the Industrial Placer Mining company, left for his home in Denver yesterday.

The Old Reliable Mining company has bought the boilers and drilling machinery from the San Pedro Gold Mining company, and the same is being hauled to the mines where the company intend drilling for water.

The San Pedro Gold Mining company, operating in the San Lazarus gulch, have increased their force of miners so as to keep the mill supplied with ore. The Hummingbird mill is running pretty steady now and doing well.

The McKinley Mining company have been pushing their work ahead since the arrival of Mr. Wm. Lofinck from Kansas and by next week they will commence grinding the ore on the arastra lately built for that purpose. Mr. Hall, part-owner of the McKinley, who has been confined to his bed for three months, is now able to be around.

SOME SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS.

"A Merchant" Thinks the Local Business Houses Mistreated.

"Patronize home industries." This homely homily enters seriously into the economics of any community than more people, without reflection, think. Without the practice of this principle no enterprise, or any community can be built up. As the tree, flower or shrub draws its sustenance from the soil and moisture at its roots, so any sort of a local enterprise must draw at least the major part of its patronage from the community where it flourishes. Unless the people stand by their local enterprises they cannot be built up. A city or town that purchases from abroad when the same things can be had at home, is slowly reading its death warrant. It means the death of local institutions, and consequently, the slow death of the community. People who trade among themselves enhance their social and advance their financial relation. Each gains something by the transaction, while money sent abroad for things that we can purchase at home withdraws just that much money from circulation in that community, "and makes us poor, indeed."

The people of Albuquerque do not seem to understand the importance to their community of buying at home. For sometime, we understand, a representative of a Chicago house has made a practice of coming here and soliciting retail orders for groceries (cash on delivery). These groceries are shipped in here and delivered by the seller, who puts the money in his pocket that should go to our retail grocerymen, and then skips out. He does not and a dollar in wealth to the community. Recently there has been in the city representatives of a foreign steel range concern, who go about in their wagons, selling ranges on the installment plan at enormous profits and higher prices than equally as good, if not better ranges would cost from our local hardware houses. And responsible parties can always buy from home people on monthly payments, too. Another instance of injustice to the local dealers is that of a local citizen, who, having made all of his money here, is allowing his better half to take orders for go-carts for an eastern house, to the great detriment of the local furniture dealers. Now, this is all wrong. It is unjust to the local merchants, and if practiced to any considerable extent, would be suicidal to the community.

The local grocerymen, hardware men and furniture dealers spend their money at home. They pay taxes, contribute to the support of the churches and other local enterprises and institutions, employ labor and help build up their community. Whatever they make is added to the wealth of the city. If they prosper, they build houses, employ mechanics, help along local enterprises, and everybody in the community, to a greater or less degree, shares in their prosperity. These things Albuquerque people should learn and appreciate. Patronize your home bakery, brewery, laundry, printers, grocerymen, dry goods merchants, hardware men and furniture dealers, and even if your purchases cost you a little more, it is cheaper in the long run, for your money will be like bread cast upon the waters to return home many days hence. Standing up for home and by home enterprises makes cities great. "United we stand; divided we fall." Let's all stand up for home. A MERCHANT.
