After a pleasant visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ed. Johnson, Mrs. Kate W. Cannon left for Laguna last night to resume her duties as a government Indian school teacher. Mrs. Cannon spent her summer vacation at Newkirk, O. T.

Yesterday afternoon after the new harness had been hung and a few trials were had an exhibition hitch of the fire horses was made in seven seconds, which is a remarkable record, considering that the horses are new and unused to such work.

Hon. W. B. Childers, who will represent the county commissioners in the celebrated case against Jose L. Perea, county collector and ex-officio treasurer, left this morning for Las Vegas, where Chief Justice Mills will hear the case to-morrow. Mr. Perea also left this morning for Las Vegas.

Charlie Zinsser, who has been out in Bear canyon, came in last evening much relieved from his rheumatism. This morning he received a letter from his cousin, also a Zinsser, who is playing base ball in Schenectady, N. Y., saying he would spend the winter in Albuquerque, arriving about December 1.

The feast of Isleta, held among the classic adobes of the Indian village at the railway junction twelve miles south of the city, was well attended by the people of this city, and of course by those of adjacent river towns. On Monday first vespers were held at the ancient church, and yesterday high mass was said, after which the celebration of the patron saint of that village took place.

There was a charming reception and party last night at the residence of Mrs. C. W. Kennedy, on north Sixth street, given by Miss Mable Kennedy in honor of her friend, Miss Mattie Crews, of Hillsboro. A large number of young folks assembled to greet the guest, and spent the time with games and music. Delicious refreshments were served and greatly enjoyed. Miss Crews left for home last night and the party escorted her to the depot with wishes of a safe journey home.

Word has been received here that Will C. Montfort, well-known here, who has been employed by the Santa Fe Pacific at Gallup, has been appointed car inspector at Winslow. He will move his family to the latter place at once.

The Silver City Independent says: "The Silver City club will undoubtedly go to the Albuquerque territorial fair next month, and should be able to get away with one of the prizes."

The Silver City Independent says: Albuquerque is making great preparations for the territorial fair which will be held there commencing on the 19th of September. It will far surpass any previous exposition.

A. B. McGaffey, of the big china store, has gone on a business trip to points north of this city.

A. B. Reading, formerly a stenographer of this city, is located at El Paso, and recently reported himself prospering.

L. L. Merrill, formerly a resident of this city, is now in the customs service at El Paso as a riding inspector along the border line.

Mrs. C. E. Berry, wife of the conductor, and mother of the Springer boys, has returned from Los Angeles, where she was called by the illness of her mother.

The Misses Maggie and Katie Bell, of Texas, who have been visiting with their sister here, Mrs. J. E. Franklin, during the summer, have returned to their home at San Antonio.

E. S. Nyeland, representing H. E. Bucklen & Co., of Chicago, is in the city to-day, and was a caller at this office at noon to-day. Bucklen's remedies are famous all over the world.

Harry Herrick has returned to Magdalena after a business trip here for his father. The professor and his family will return to the city from their summer outing near the above place in a few days.

The road to the New Mexico university on the mesa is in a most dangerous condition, and the commissioners ought to fix up the road before a damage suit on account of some one injured is entered up against the county.

This morning, Captain Ed. Zink, the literary looking young man working for the Hudson Bill Posting company, was around with some fine lithographs about the Territorial fair. He did good work in posting.

H. C. Brooks, from the New York office of the Equitable Life Assurance society, came in from the east last night, and is being introduced around by the local manager, W. N. Parkhurst. Mr. Brooks will leave to-night for Deming.

Angus McGillivray, the Chilili sheep raiser, came in from the mountains yesterday afternoon and registered at the Sturges European. He is around today, telling the people that the Chilili neighborhood will be represented at the fair.

Last night Captain Fogarty, the lower yard policeman, arrested two small boys for stealing brass and copper from the railway company. The boys were tried before Judge Crawford and fined $1 and costs each. Their parents paid their fines.

W. A. McCarthy, the local representative of the Wrought Iron Range company, to-day presented the president of the Fair association with a check for $10 to defray the expenses of the fair. Mr. McCarthy also received another car load of those celebrated ranges, making the third car load received here in the past few months.

Professor C. E. Hodgin and wife have returned from their trip to their old home at Rushville, Ind., where they visited with relatives. Accompanying them on their return was Mrs. Harry Hodgin, wife of the professor's brother, who will visit here for a while.

The members of the Press club of this city are requested to meet at the office of the Mining Record in the Commercial club building, to-morrow evening at 7:30, for the transaction of important business. Every member of the club is requested to be present at this meeting.

Father Mandalari came home last night from Santa Fe, where he has been visiting with Archbishop Bourgade. From Lamy Junction he was accompanied by Sisters Ildefonso and Berchmans, of the local Catholic boys' school, who have been spending their vacation at Denver.

C. N. Cotton, of Gallup, the popular Indian trader, spend yesterday in the city and left last night for the west. He has a contract to furnish Navajo Indian laborers for railroad work and claims that they are first class workment. This is a feature of Indian life that will be entirely new to many people.

Senator Andrews was seen on the train last night on his way to his famous mines at Andrews, N. M. He was accompanied by E. J. Murray, the Los Cruces editor. The senator has been back in Pennsylvania on political matters, and fixed things satisfactorily. He has planned extensive improvements for his mining town, among which is a telephone line connecting it with Hillsboro and Lake Valley, and a modern hotel.

Albuquerquians who have been out of town during the summer are beginning to return home, so as to prepare to enjoy themselves at the great street fair and carnival next month. Among those noticed stepping off the train during the past twenty-four hours were Mrs. Frank Zink, Mrs. C. D. Whitcomb and Mrs. J. H. Fenner, all of whom have been enjoying themselves at the Pacific coast resorts, bathing, fishing, sailing and sight seeing.

One of the prettiest and nicest floats to be seen in the big trades' display and parade of the Territorial fair will be from Mrs. W. Y. Walton, who has been engaged by the Fair association under the same conditions as the fair of last year, and by those who attended the fair then it will be remembered that Mrs. Walton gave some of the most interesting platform features and her pretty float was much commented upon. She is preparing some surprises for the fair next month, and is so careful about her details that she is making a confidant of no one.

T. B. Drury, son of J. H. Drury, left this morning for Cheyenne, Wyo., where he will visit his brother, George W. Drury. The latter will return to this city with T. B. Drury, in time to take in the big Territorial fair, and will visit his parents for a few weeks before returning to Cheyenne.

John Morrow, of Raton, has been admitted as attorney to practice before the interior department at Washington.

In the case of the Santa Fe & Grand Canyon railroad, of which mention was made yesterday, it should have been stated that E. M. Doe, of Flagstaff, and Herndon Norris, of Prescott, were the principal attorneys for the lien creditors and that Mr. Field assisted them and did not act alone, as might be inferred from the article referred to.

Special to The Citizen.

A parlor meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the A. M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. A good program has been prepared, including papers on the history of the W. C. T. U., on mother's work and on medal contest work. The colored children will also repeat the music given at their recent successful concert. Everyone interested is invited to be present.

Harry Fluke, son of Edward Fluke, who was injured while at work at the local railway shops yesterday, is reported getting along nicely to-day. It will be some time, however, before Harry can consider himself well enough to be up and around among his friends.

CROP BULLETIN.

Santa Fe, N. M., Aug. 28.—The condition of crops and the ranges west of the Rio Grande and over the northern and southwestern portions has not materially changed during the past week, but in the central Rio Grande valley, and especially in Socorro county, very heavy rain fell that will cause the grass to grow and produce good fall and winter grazing. On account of the good grass east of the Rio Grande, in the central portion of the territory, it is estimated that about half a million sheep and several thousand head of cattle were recently driven to the east side of the river, and many more will soon follow. Plenty of rain has also fallen in the lower Pecos valley and greatly refreshed crops and the ranges; elsewhere the drouth has not been broken. In the San Juan valley in the extreme northwest portion, the weather has been quite favorable to crops. The markets are well filled with vegetables and fruits and the shipping of apples, peaches, pears, plums and other fruits continues. The threshing of grain is under full headway. An evaporator and creamery was recently established in the Farmington district of the fertile San Juan valley, and it has created a new industry. There is abundance of fruit, and many trees are so heavily laden that the limbs are being broken by the excessive weight of the fruit. This overproduction of fruit will now be saved by the evaporator. Along the west portion of the Taos valley the wheat crop has just been harvested, and is below the average yield and quality. The corn crop will also fall short, while beans are a total failure. A light shower fell during the week, but of insufficient quantity to be of benefit. In the north central valleys the weather continues very hot and dry and crops generally are suffering for want of rain. Most of the water holes are dry and grass on the range is drying up fast. The water in the Rio Grande is very low, but there is still sufficient for irrigation. The third crop of alfalfa is being cut, but it is short, and will not equal the first two cuttings, having been slightly injured by grasshoppers. Local markets are filling up with home grown melons and cantelloupes. Large shipments of fruit of good quality, such as peaches, plums, nectarines, pears and apples are made daily to outside markets.

The following extracts from correspondents show the conditions more in detail:

Aztec—C. E. Mead: The weather during the past week has been quite favorable for the growth of all crops. The markets are well filled with all kinds of vegetables and fruits. The shipping of apples, peaches, pears, plums, etc., continue. The thresher is at work in many fields of rain and the resulting yields are good. Some early varieties of corn are ripening. Much of the fruit is being evaporated by a recently established evaporator and creamery, which is also making butter. The river continues lower than before known by old settlers, but the water supply for irrigation is still abundant. Ranges are in need of rain to revive the grass. Highest temperature, 89; lowest, 45; rainfall, 0.13 of an inch.

Bernalillo—Brother Peter: The third crop of alfalfa is being cut, but having been slightly injured by grasshoppers it does not quite equal the first two cuttings. The Rio Grande river is lower than ever still we have enough water for irrigation. Highest temperature, 90; lowest, 54; rainfall, 0.02 of an inch.

Farmington—W. H. Symonds: The nights have been somewhat cooler, but the days are still quite warm. Two light showers fell during the past week and freshened vegetation. The third crop of alfalfa is being cut and corn is earing fairly well. The yield of fruit will be abundant; on many trees the excessive weight of the fruit is breaking the limbs. The prices obtained for fruit are about the average. The range is very dry and the stockmen are becoming much alarmed.

Fort Stanton—Frank B. Coe: Although the early rains made grass very good in this part of Lincoln county, we are now having a dry time, and unless rain falls soon the ranges will be greatly injured by the drouth. Apples are fine in the lower Ruidoso valley, but almost a total failure in this portion of the Pecos valley.

Hobart—W. H. Hough: Cool and very dry weather has prevailed. The water in the Rio Grande is very low. The third crop of alfalfa will be short. Corn, fruit and vegetables are in fairly good condition. The highest temperature was 92 and the lowest 51 degrees.

Mesilla Park—A. M. Sanchez: The days continue warm, but the nights are getting cooler. No rain as yet, and the drouth conditions still prevail. Melons are becoming scarce, owing to the yield being so small. Because of the drouth there is no hope of making another cut of alfalfa, the demand for which is beginning to be felt. Highest temperature, 100; lowest, 47; no precipitation.

Ojo Caliente—Hon. Antonio Joseph: The wheat crop just harvested is far below the average in yield and quality. The corn crop will also fall short, while the beans are a total failure. This has proven the worst season for farmers here in the past twenty-five years. A light shower fell during the week, but of insufficient quantity to be of benefit. The highest temperature was 92 and the lowest 46; rainfall, 0.20 of an inch.

Redrock—Louis Champie: A couple of good rains have fallen and great refreshened vegetation. Corn in roasting ears. Gardens are looking well. For some unknown reason early potatoes have made a very poor yield. There is plenty of water for irrigation. Grass is starting up fine.

Carlshad—L. O. Fullen: The past week has been the hottest weather of the year, and with high relative humidity. We have had hot winds; however, crops have had plenty of rain and are not suffering. There is an abundance of water for irrigation. The first peach crop is exhausted, and the late peaches are just coming in. In the markets there is a profusion of grapes, cantaloupes and watermelons.

East Las Vegas—J. Thornhill: The weather continues very hot and dry, and all crops are suffering for want of water even for irrigation there is no water. Corn and alfalfa are drying up. Most of the water holes are dry. Range grass is drying up fast.

Santa Fe—United States Weather Bureau: The temperature for the week was above the normal and the rainfall below the average. Water for irrigation continues scarce. Nectarines, peaches, plums, pears and apples are plentiful, and large shipments of fruit of good quality are made daily to outside markets. Local markets are filling up with home grown melons and cantaloupes. Harvesting and threshing of grain is in progress and the yield is very fair. The highest temperature was 92 and the lowest 50; precipitation, 0.14 of an inch.

Springer—Dr. L. Hines: The past week has been windy and dry and with cool nights. The grass on the ranges is drying up, and from present indications there will not be sufficient grass for winter feed. The highest temperature was 93 and the lowest 40; no precipitation.

A Charming Violinist.

Miss Estelle M. Valck has been spending her vacation in Denver. Tonight she leaves for her home in Albuquerque much to the regret of a score or more of new but enthusiastic and musically inclined friends. Miss Valck has refrained from appearing in public here. On a few occasions, however, she has delighted small companies of her friends with her wonderful playing of the violin. Among these friends were those competent to speak of her work. They are unanimous in affirming that she is easily entitled to a place in the very front rank of violin artists. She is yet quite young. Since she was eight years old she has been a student of her favorite instrument, and her old home in Chicago presented admirable opportunities in the way of famous teachers, whose interest she was able to command. A year ago or more business affairs took the family to New Mexico. There she has been busy teaching successfully, and now and then appearing most acceptably in public entertainments. It is to be hoped that Miss Valck will consent to entertain in the early future a Denver audience.—Denver News.

DEATH OF CHARLES BULLEN.

Dies From Heart Trouble in Montana—Cochiti Bridge Builder.

"A telegram received to-day at the head office of the Bullen Bridge company here, states that Charles A. Bullen, vice president of that company, died of heart disease at Glendive, Mont., at 8 o'clock this morning. He was one of the best known bridge contractors in the west and did considerable work in Alaska about a year ago. He was born in Leavenworth, Kan., 41 years ago and came to Trinidad, Col., in 1888. From 1890 to 1894 he resided in Pueblo, and for the past few years has made his home at Portland, Ore., where he leaves a wife and four children. Chas. A. Bullen was a fine specimen of physical manhood and his unexpected death will cause surprise to all who have known him. He apparently enjoyed the best of health. Of generous disposition and kind and charitable to all, his friends were legion. His last visit to Colorado was about a week ago, when he appeared a perfect picture of health. Since that time he has been at Glendive, where the company of which he was a member was doing extensive work."

The above dispatch was wired on Monday from Pueblo, Col., to the Denver Republican. The deceased was well known here, and supervised the construction of the bridge across the Rio Grande at the Indian village of Cochiti.

TRAGIC SUICIDE.

Took Poison Before a Dozen People in "The Turf" at El Paso.

The El Paso News says: Yesterday evening at 6 o'clock at the Turf saloon Lewis Boothroyd deliberately took poison before the eyes of a dozen persons. There is no cause assigned for the man's rash act, and it is the opinion of those who knew him and were witnesses to the suicide that drink had deranged his mind. Boothroyd was around town yesterday afternoon and apparently in good spirits, showing no signs that he had death in contemplation. He walked into the Turf saloon shortly after 5 o'clock and asked the bartender on duty for a glass. He said he had some medicine to take, and then had a powder in his hand. The poison was mixed and shown to those present. Boothroyd then walked out on a back porch and drank it. In less than five minutes after swallowing the solution he was seen to fall and those in the saloon rushed to him. A message was at once dispatched to Dr. Huffaker, who arrived soon after the taking of the poison, but the man was too far gone to be relieved. He died a few minutes later and not more than 30 minutes from the time he swallowed the poison. The dead man was quite well known in El Paso, where he had worked as a dry goods clerk in the store of R. A. Allen, who speaks very highly of his ability as a salesman. Mr. Allen had engaged Boothroyd to work next week. The salesman had returned to El Paso Saturday from Silver City, where he had been employed as a bartender. He was a man of education, being a graduate of Cambridge university, in which he had taken high honors. It is claimed that he was a relative of the present Duke of Winchester, one of the oldest families in England. The deceased also has relatives in Tucson. It has been stated that Boothroyd said when he entered the "Turf" that he would show how an Englishman can die, but this is denied by a reputable party who was an eye witness to the man's rash act.

Justice Spencer held an inquest this morning and the burial took place this afternoon in the potter's field. No replies were received from his relatives who were said to live in Tucson.

The Game Season.

The season for big game opens next Saturday, September 1. Under the statutes of New Mexico it is unlawful to kill, wound, ensnare or trap any elk, deer, antelope, fawn, mountain sheep, ibex, mountain goat or beaver, except that antlope and deer with horns may be shot during the months of September, October and November. As regards quail, grouse, prairie chicken, pheasant, partridge and wild turkey it is also unlawful to shoot or trap them but such birds "may be shot with a gun only" during the months of September, October, November, December, January and February of each year. The closed season for trout begins November 1.

LIKE THE PHILIPPINES.

Volunteer Soldiers Want to Be Discharged at Manila.

FOREST RESERVE GRAZING.

The secretary of war has been advised through congressional and military channels that there are a number of men in the volunteer regiments now in the Philippines who desire to be discharged in the islands, instead of being brought home to muster out. Many of these men have good business opportunities open to them, while others wish to remain behind in the hopes of finding some profitable employment or investment. Among the number are several of the men who enlisted from Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and other southwestern states.

The secretary has practically decided to adopt the same plan that was followed in the case of the state volunteers, granting such discharges as are desired at the time the regiments embark for home, and allowing the men who remain a due proportion of travel pay, covering the return trip. These regiments are now preparing to return and the first will embark upon the arrival of the regulars who were originally destined for China.

Secretary Root considers this desire of the men to remain in the Philippines a substantial argument for expansion.

FOREST RESERVE GRAZING

About the middle of September the two representatives of the agricultural department, Forester Pinchot and Botanist Coville, who visited New Mexico and Arizona last spring to study the question of grazing upon the forest reservations, will return and cover the same field again. The object of the second trip is to observe the condition of the lands directly after being grazed. Their former trip of inspection gave them an idea of the condition of the grazing lands after the winter season, but before the sheep had been admitted.

In the former trip they paid especial attention to the San Francisco and Black Mesa reserves, but this time will investigate particularly in the San Francisco and Grand Canyon reserves, making a cursory examination in the Black Mesa. Neither of these gentlemen feels at liberty to give expression to his opinion formed on the former trip, nor will they do so until they have submitted their views to the secretary of agriculture in the fall. It is inferred, however, from their conversation that unless this coming fall inspection shows very disastrous effects of grazing within the forest reserves, that these two officials will report in favor of the grazing system. The secretary of the interior may abandon his idea of a joint commission to make an investigation of this character in view of this extended investigation by the agricultural department.

NEW MEXICO NOTES.

Las Vegas and Santa Fe, Two Good Towns, Done Up in Brieflets.

LAS VEGAS.

From the Optic.

A. A. Jones has obtained judgment against the county of Union in the sum of $304.

Isaac Lewis has been appointed administrator of the estate of his mother, the late Mrs. Bertha Lewis.

Mrs. John S. Clark and her bright little son, Clarance, Mrs. Charles Blackler and Joe Grassl are enjoying the beautiful days and cool nights at the Blake ranch on the Sapello.

Thomas Morterman, the west side policeman, it seems, has taken it upon himself to release, upon his own recognizance, the blacksmith who was on the war path Sunday morning.

Emanuel Manko, a promising young man who has been in business on the west side for the past three years, will leave about Sept. 1 for Kansas City, where he will take a three years' course at the Medical college in that city.

H. J. Morrison, who is in the service of the Santa Fe, employed at the round house here, was at the depot to meet his bride, who arrived from Dallas, Texas. The young people will go to housekeeping and make their home in this city.

Judgment has been obtained against the board of county commissioner of San Miguel county by A. A. Jones in the amount of $866.25, in favor of Edward J. Hancy; also one in favor of some party for $2,383.55, and another in favor of Elton T. Beckwith, in the sum of $10,916, the latter two being judgments on old bonds and coupons.

At the meeting of the base ball clubs a committee was appointed to look after the selection of the grounds, the building of the enclosure and the grand stand and to raise the necessary funds for the purpose. Suitable grounds were offered by Mrs. E. C. Henriques on a five-year lease basis. These grounds are located west of the track and north of the Hill & Brown brick yard.

SANTA FE.

From the New Mexican.

Mrs. Jones, the respected mother of Mrs. Donietta Wood, has returned home after a prolonged visit among friends in eastern states.

Hon. T. B. Catron is in New Haven, Conn., on legal business connected with the settlement of the Waddingham estate and is not expected to return home until about the 10th of September.

Felipe Delgado, a well-known resident of Las Vegas, partner of Hon. Eugenio Romero, is in the city on a visit to his brothers, Messrs. Pedro and Juan Delgado. His two little daughters accompany him.

BACK FROM PRESCOTT.

Hon. Neill B. Field Returns—Receiver Appointed for Grand Canyon Railroad.

Hon. Neill B. Field, who represents the lien claimants against the Santa Fe and Grand Canyon Railway company, returned to the city this morning after a professional visit to Prescott. Yesterday, Judge Sloan appointed a receiver for the above railway company, naming E. D. Gage, of Prescott, and made an order that operations of the road be suspended, pending a report by the receiver as to the possibility of operating it without loss. There is a probability that the Santa Fe Pacific will undertake to operate the Grand Canyon road and guarantee the expenses of operating, in which event the operation of the road will be resumed immediately.

Mr. Field represents County Collector Perea in the case of the Bernalillo county collectorship, and he telegraphed to Attorney Childers, asking that the case be postponed from to-day until to-morrow. The case will come up before Chief Justice Mills, and Mr. Field will leave for Las Vegas to-morrow morning.

CANADA DE COCHITI GRANT.

Objections to the North Boundary Survey of Grant.

J. H. Knaebel, of Denver, attorney for Joel Parker Whitney, of Boston, and other claimants yesterday filed in the office of the clerk of the United States court of private land claims at Santa Fe his formal objections to approval by the court of the survey of the north boundary line of the grant. This matter has been pending for more than a year. The land court confirmed the grant and located its north boundary at the ancient pueblo de Cochiti ruin, the one that was captured by De Vargas in the Spanish invasion in the year 1680. There are several ancient pueblo ruins on the Cochiti mesa, hence the controversy. Special Agents Tipton and Filiper went out last month and following the decree of confirmation, definitely fixed, located and designated the true north boundary, as they believe, at a certain ruin which was the one captured by De Vargas. About 1,800 feet north of this is another ruin, and here Mr. Knaebel contends the boundary line should be located, in which event there would be included in the grant several hundred more acres of land, including agricultural lands, in the Cochiti canon proper, and numerous mining claims in the Perulsa canon. Some of these latter are quite valuable and are held by miners who have well developed them since the decision of the land court declared the main mineral belt in that region north of and without the grant and on the public domain.

The land court will probably pass upon the north boundary survey at its session in December. Attorney Knaebel states his objections as follows:

1. The line taken by the said survey for the north boundary of said grant is situated about 1,000 feet south of the true north boundary.

2. The said line is run without regard to the permanent landmark described and intended in and by the final decree of confirmation of said grant, as the north boundary call thereof, that is to say, the old pueblo of Cochiti situated on the mesa of Cochiti, the said pueblo being the pueblo to which the Indians retired in the rebellion of 1680 and where they were captured by the Spaniards.

3. If the said proposed line is accepted as the true line the claimants will lose nearly all their agricultural lands in the Canada de Cochiti.

4. In running the said proposed line the surveyor followed a statement of distance found in the decree as controlling the statement therein of the said permanent land mark, the said distance as given, in the decree, being erroneous and misleading; whereas the surveyor should have disregarded the said statement as a "false demonstration."

5. The said north boundary should be run through the said old pueblo mentioned in and intended by the decree of confirmation without regard to the conjectural distance therein stated.

DR. BOYD RETURNS.

He Has Hopes That the Elephant Butte Dam Will Be Constructed.

Dr. Nathan E. Boyd, secretary of the Rio Grande Dam and Irrigation company, who has been here some weeks awaiting the decision of the supreme court in the Elephant Butte case, left for Las Cruces this afternoon, accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Torpey, says the New Mexican. Dr. Boyd said the rights of the people had triumphed every time this case had come to an issue in the courts and he expressed the hope that the matter would now soon be set definitely at rest. He is not advised as yet whether or not the government intends to again take the matter up to the United States supreme court, but expresses the hope that, in case such a step is decided on, it will not be long delayed. He is anxious to have the matter adjusted, as are also the people of the central Rio Grande valley, in order that if anything is to be done it may be done as quickly as possible. The present long season of short water, or no water at all, the doctor thought, had amply demonstrated the fact that by no other means than the construction of storage reservoirs, extensive enterprises requiring a large expenditure of capital, could water sufficient to irrigate those rich valley lands be provided. "We commenced work on the Elephant Butte dam," said Dr. Boyd, "nearly four years ago, and would have probably expended as much as $5,000,000 in improving the irrigation facilities of the Rio Grande valley by this time had it not been for the obstructive policy of the national government."

A Million Women

have been relieved of female troubles by Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine.

The letters of a few are printed regularly in this paper.

If any one doubts the efficiency and sacredly confidential character of Mrs. Pinkham's methods, write for a book she has recently published which contains letters from the mayor of Lynn, the postmaster, and others of her city who have made careful investigation, and who verify all of Mrs. Pinkham's statements and claims.

The Pinkham claims are sweeping. Investigate them.
