The Sheep Traffic.

W. A. Drake of Fort Collins, and J. B. Manby of Trinidad, well known and extensive Colorado sheep and cattle buyers, are in the city but from what The Citizen can learn they are likely to return without purchasing any of our ewes and lambs. Mr. Drake states that he finds the prices entirely too stiff for buyers to feed the stock, prepare them for the markets and sell with any profit.

"There has been plenty of rains and therefore plenty of grass throughout New Mexico," said Mr. Drake, "the past few months, and in consequence the sheep raisers have raised in the selling prices of their ewes and lambs to such an extent that buyers cannot purchase with a loss to themselves."

Mr. Drake has been coming to New Mexico for the past ten years and has bought extensively in lambs from M. S. Otero, Solomon Luna and other heavy sheep raisers.

Manager Noble has secured from Darcy & Wolford of New York, the sole right to produce this beautiful scenic melo-drama in the west, and has spared no expense in mounting and staging it. The first act is in two scenes, the first showing the exterior of an inn in Spain; the second showing the famous Diablo chasm by moonlight—one of the most wild and beautiful scenes ever presented on any stage. The second act takes us to Leighton hall, England, where a case of mistaken identity is the beginning of misery for all concerned. In the third act, which takes place in the Ferndale hotel, the daughter is made to believe her father is a criminal. The last act shows another beautiful picture—the old stone quarry near Ferndale, by moonlight. The explosion of the powerhouse in this act is one of the most thrilling climaxes ever witnessed. Added to the strong heart interest, there is a unique vein of comedy running through the play. The company carries all special scenery for this play and it will be one of the most complete productions ever witnessed in the city. At Colombo hall tonight.

HE WAS AT LAS VEGAS.

Where He Boomed The Citizen and the Territorial Fair.

W. T. McCreight, business manager and city editor of The Citizen, returned from Albuquerque last night and registered at the Castaneda. He is in the city on business connected with The Citizen and today is calling on his many old-time Las Vegas friends. In speaking about the territorial fair, which will be held in Albuquerque next month, Mac stated that the fair will be an old-fashioned one this time, consisting of horse races, cowboy tournament, race ball games and exhibits of minerals, fruits and vegetables from many sections of the territory. Everybody is taking a big interest in the forthcoming fair, and all are rendering valuable assistance in the management, the heads of which are President Marron and Secretary McCanna. Besides the attractions mentioned above Mr. McCreight assures The Optic that the side issues will be many and the midway plaisance will outshine anything ever seen in the southwest, double discounting the midway events of the 1899 fair which was then considered first class. The teams entered in the base ball tournament will be composed of national league players, and if they don't put up a fine article of professional ball playing it will be no fault of the fair management, who have had emissaries in the east picking out the crackerjacks of the national league.—Optic.

W. T. McCreight, business manager and city editor of the Albuquerque Citizen, is in Las Vegas today. He came to add a little official encouraging to the convention of New Mexico firemen, but incidentally he is doing the liveliest kind of hustling for the territorial fair and the excellent impression of which he is such an able representative.—Record.

STARTED THE MUTINY.

William Wilson, Who Smuggled Revolver, Sentenced.

William Wilson, alias McGinty, pled guilty at Santa Fe to the charge of having smuggled a revolver into the penitentiary. Judge McFie sentenced him to one year in the penitentiary. The sentence was made light owing to the youth of Wilson, who is not yet of age, and because he had acted in deadly fear of the other convicts for whose benefit he smuggled the revolver into the penitentiary and who afterward, mutinied, two of them being killed and one wounded, the captain of the guards and another guard being wounded before the mutiny was subdued.

Arrested for Embezzlement.

A deputy sheriff from Silver City, N. M., passed through the city Wednesday night from Kansas City, having in charge Browning N. Stewart, recently in the employ of the Armour Packing company. Stewart was indicted by the Grant county grand jury on a charge of having stolen $100 belonging to the Wells-Fargo Express company, while acting as its agent. Stewart for many years was a messenger running out of Denver. In reward for his faithful services he was given the Silver City agency. Three weeks later he was found short in his accounts. Being bonded by the National Surety company, the officers of that concern demanded his arrest. Stewart was traced from Silver City to Kansas City, extradition papers applied for and the arrest made.

THE FIREMEN'S CONVENTION.

A New Organization Is Formed With Beneficial Features.

The annual convention of the New Mexico Association of Volunteer Firemen was held Wednesday at Las Vegas hot springs. On roll call it was found that East Las Vegas, Las Vegas, Gallup, Santa Fe and Albuquerque were represented. After the reading of the secretary's and treasurer's reports, which were approved, the association resolved to disband and adjourned sine die.

At once a new association, to be known as the New Mexico Association of Firemen, was formed and called to order. B. Ruppe of Albuquerque, stated the objects of the convention, it was then resolved that the association be composed of all veterans, exempt actives, volunteer and paid firemen of the territory; that there be paid by each member $1 initiation and $1 per year dues; that an assessment of 25 cents be levied on the death of a member and that the funeral benefits be $5. The permanent association then elected B. Ruppe of Albuquerque, president, Eugenio Sena, Santa Fe, vice president; and one vice president from each city or town having a fire company or fire department A. M. Dettelbach, Santa Fe, secretary; L. W. Ilfeld, Las Vegas, treasurer. The board of control as follows: A. T. Rogers, Las Vegas, for three-year term; Fred Mueller, Santa Fe, for two years; and W. W. Risden of Gallup for one-year term.

A committee on constitution and by-laws was appointed and it was resolved that this committee and the officers of the association meet at Albuquerque during fair week to promulgate the laws of the association. The secretary was ordered to have the necessary blanks printed for the enrollment of members and to issue the same to each vice president as soon as possible. The convention then adjourned, to meet at Santa Fe in June, 1902.

If Sunner's conduct in the penitentiary is considered examplary by the authorities his sentence may be concluded within eighteen months after date of imprisonment.

At noon today several indictments were returned to the territorial grand jury and many more are expected to follow before the jury is dismissed.

Tomorrow being memorial day both the territorial and United States grand juries will adjourn until Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Deserving of Assistance.

A subscription paper was being circulated today among the railroad men and merchants to raise a sufficient amount of money to aid Peter Schultz a former employe on the section at Belmont, Arizona. The gentleman is about 32 years of age and while in good health he was an industrious workingman, always obliging and courteous to everyone with whom he came in contact, ever striving to make those about him happy. He has many friends knowing these good qualities in him, have responded largely and now they are endeavoring to send him to his home in Germany. Mr. Schultz was taken down with consumptina and has been an inmate of the Santa Fe Pacific hospital in this city for the past two years and a half. It is understood the railroad company will furnish the unfortunate man with transportation from here to Chicago.

Narrow Escape From Drowning.

J. D. Boone and Miss Florence Flavive had an extremely narrow escape from drowning while crossing the San Juan river on their way to Gallup from Farmington. Just as they reached the middle of the stream a wave six feet high from a cloudburst upset the buggy in which they were riding.

A Mexican asbore witnessed the accident and threw a convenient rope to Miss Flavive, which she succeeded in grasping and thus was drawn ashore. Boone held to the team and after a very exciting effort managed to reach shore. They lost all their luggage, besides a valuable gold watch and chain belonging to the young lady.

Hyde and Wetherill, on their way to Farmington, reached the San Juan river foot at the same place where Boone had his mishap. Wetherill drove in and lost all the luggage, one grip containing very valuable papers. They camped on the north shore and this morning, after a vain search offered some Mexicans $50 reward for the larger grip, which was found by one of the searchers four miles down the river.

Many will come from the mountains, the representation from the various sections will be splendid and joy will be unlimited.—San Juan Index.

A Serious Accident.

George Trunnell, a machinist 22 years of age, who had been occupied at his trade in Clebarn, Tex., until recently, met with a serious accident last Friday morning at Raton, which will probably result in his death. The young man was en route to his home in Salt Lake City and while he was in the act of opening a door to a boxcar which was in motion, he stepped from a bridge and fell a distance of twenty-two feet into a pile of rock. He finally managed to walk about a mile to Raton and was summoned a physician. In the examination of his body it was found that his arm had been broken and many internal injuries were sustained. The physician gave the young man every attention that was possible, but he could not hold out much hope for his recovery. In a few hours Trunnell lost consciousness and at last report he was gradually sinking. It is learned that Trunnell is a member of the machinists' union and the members of that organization in Raton have notified his parents of the accident.

"Brown's in Town."

There is little doubt but what Delcher and Hennessy will reap a harvest with their new farce, "Brown's in Town," as it is said to be one of the cleanest, brightest and funniest entertainments seen in a long time. The farce is of just the build and texture that makes a multitude of laughs, and people would more readily be laughed out of their money than they would be willing to have it coaxed away by a frown or given up for too serious drama. This latest farcical effusion comes to the "Brown's in Town" is about a young couple who are living in the country under an assumed name, so the father of the young man will not hear of the match. Incidentally, everyone they know, the father, the wife's sister, a girl friend, and everybody who should be at home comes round and makes things interesting. Of course it takes a deal of prevarication to straighten things out and before the audience knows it, the suitor of the wife is pretending to be her husband, and she is obliged to maintain the supposed relationship. The whole thing about the play is "Go." When "Brown" gets to town nothing can stop him but "Stay to go home."

Commission of Irrigation.

A meeting of the territorial commission of irrigation was called for today but as Hon. W. A. Hawkins, of Alamogordo, and Hon. G. A. Richardson, of Roswell, will not be here before tomorrow, and Hon. Frank Springer of Las Vegas, cannot attend, no meeting will be held until tomorrow. Col. Geo. W. Knaebel, of Santa Fe, and Hon. R. A. Miera, of Albuquerque, being the only members of the commission in the city today.—New Mexican.

ANCIENT ARIZONA.

Prehistoric Ruins of The Territory—Richest Field in the United States.

One of Arizona's most extraordinary sources of interest and attraction, especially to those scientifically inclined, lies in her almost unequaled field of prehistoric ruins. United States Special Agent Holsinger whose duties have called him to make broad researches in this direction all over the Pacific slope, announces Arizona the richest field of the kind in the United States.

A recital of his experience in this line in Arizona would supply matter for a volume, and a volume of interest. In architecture, stonework prevails almost exclusively and their masonry was remarkable fine. On one 160 acres there are many buildings, two of which contain over 100 rooms each. The most remarkable building visited by him had a 70-foot front with an arc-shaped rear 150 feet long, and had been five stories high and contained more than 1200 rooms, 500 of which have been explored. Over $10,000 worth of turquoise has been taken out of the building, in pieces of little value to please the eye of a man's hand. Immense quantities of weaving apparatus, including feather blankets, stockings made of human hair, and specimens of the yucca fibre have been discovered. In some of the larger buildings a great deal of timber is found, many of which measured eighteen inches in diameter and forty feet in length. The timber is mostly pine, though no timber of that kind exists in that part of the territory at the present time.

Questioned as to his theory of the disappearance of those people, Mr. Holsinger stated that while no definite conclusion on the subject is warranted by the conclusion that it was a failure of the water supply which drove them out of the country. He said that traces of ditches, canal, and reservoirs were everywhere in evidence, and the people ordinarily had a constant struggle to obtain water, while the scarcity of human remains is against the theory of sudden overwhelming disaster and favors the theory that the people departed in detail.

Evidences of a religion of some kind are plentiful, large circular enclosures, something on the plan of the old Druidical rules, being common.

The subject is one to which the press and people of Arizona should devote more attention as being a matter of intense interest, especially to the people of the west, where such things are rare.

Navajoes Arrested.

Game Commissioner Hunch lodged a complaint before Justice of the Peace Quinan Wednesday against two Navajo Indians who were hunting deer in the mountains southeast of Sure. Deputy Sheriff Wolcher brought the hunters here Thursday, having arrested them at Canyon Diablo. When brought before the justice the dusky hunters acknowledged that they were guilty and that were fined $25 each or fifteen days in jail. Not having a sufficient amount of coin to pay the fine they will stay fifteen days in jail.—Coconino Sun.

Murder and Suicide.

A Fort Apache correspondent of the Holbrook Argus says that the county was the scene of a murder and suicide early in September. Tevis a policeman, shot and killed George Burks, a 16-year-old school boy, then turned the pistol on himself. Burks was instantly killed, but the murderer and suicide lingered for an hour or more before he died. No motive is known for the crime, but it is thought that Tevis was crazed from an excess of "Tulpai."

The Horticultural Exhibition.

The fruit exhibition of the New Mexico Horticultural society in the board of trade rooms is filling up gradually and bids fair to be an interesting and instructive affair. It affords a fine opportunity for persons to compare varieties and ascertain which are best to plant. Everyone who has any fine specimens should send them for exhibition. No charges of any kind, the whole exhibition being free. It will probably be kept open on Thursday to afford those at leisure on that day an opportunity to attend.—New Mexican.

GRAND CANYON RAILROAD.

First Train Over New Road Run Yesterday.

From Williams News.

The first train to carry passengers from Williams directly to the hotel at the canyon will probably be run over the now completed road no later than next Tuesday, and with its arrival commences a new era in the tourist travel to this already famous resort for the sightseer. Thousands of people made the trip to the canyon by the long and tedious stage drive from Flagstaff before the railroad was ever thought of. Thousands more have made the trip since the completion of the railroad to the junction town, either from the canyon, but now, that the entire distance can be covered by the tourist with all the modern conveniences of the railway of today, there is nothing by which a correct estimate of the number of people who will visit the canyon can be made.

With the new hotel on the brink shall have been created, with new and complete equipment, such as is found in all large resorts, the travel will be doubled and trebled because of this fact alone. People from all stations in life have and will continue to visit this, the greatest of all natural wonders, and the advent of its fame has only just commenced.

Holbrook Artesian Well.

The machinery for digging the artesian well arrived Monday and started to work Thursday about 2 o'clock, with J. W. Galbraith of Los Angeles in charge. The drill is kept at work night and day and at the present rate it will be but a few days when the water question will be settled and we anticipate a heavy flow at 300 feet or less.—Argus.

Mr. McKinley's Insurance.

Mr. McKinley's life insurance is placed by Chicago general agents at $25,000 although at one time he was known to have considerably more than $100,000 in various companies. In 1892 he took out a policy of $5,000 in the Michigan Mutual Life of Detroit which was increased about ten years ago by an additional $5,000 in the Connecticut Mutual Life and shortly after his nomination to the presidency took out a policy of $10,000 in the New York Life. This was afterward increased by an additional policy of $10,000, but it is the prevailing impression that this latter policy was allowed to lapse.

Another Appointment to Philippines.

Otero county has no reason to feel aliened in the selection of teachers from New Mexico for educational work in the Philippines. On Tuesday Prof. W. F. Smith received notice from Washington of his appointment to the position of teacher in the Philippines, with the information that he would probably be expected to sail from San Francisco between the 1st and 15th of October. The appointment came as a surprise to Prof. Smith as he had about given up receiving a favorable reply to his application.

This is the third appointment of this nature that has been made from Otero county.—Advertiser.

Town of Copperton.

J. D. Clements has returned from Copperton, where he went to investigate some copper propositions. He brings a favorable report of the prospects of the camp, some small sales are being made, new men are gradually interesting themselves in the district, some with money, others without. The Zuni Copper company has a number of men at work prospecting and developing and have plenty of money to operate with. A buckboard mail route has been established from Grants, a distance of twenty-two miles.—McKinley County Republican.
