THE SENATOR MEN.

BY HARRISON CONRAD.
(Flagstaff, Arizona.)

Out in the west, the wild, wild west,
The private car of the Senators flew,
And the farther they went the thicker the dust
On the polished pane of the window grew.
"I will brush it off," said the Porter Man;
Said the dignified Senators, "Nay, let it be.
If the glass were clear and the glass were clean,
There are Many Things which we might see."

"This is the way," said one Senator Man,
"That I saw things in the Philippine Isles;
"And this is the way"—as they sipped their wine—
"To see the Land where the Real Sun Smiles.
Then, looking out, they were sad and they sighed.
"What a limitless desert this seems to be!"
They saw the dust on the window pane,
But the Pines on the Mountain they could not see.

They flew to the west and they flew to the south.
They knew not whither, they cared not where;
They sniffed the smoke in the stifling car
And they all agreed we had fleastly Air.
"Let us look again," said the Senator Men;
They craned their necks and they cried, "Holly gee!"
They saw the sage 'neath the dusty pane,
But the Fields and the Orchards they could not see.

This trip makes Me tired," said a Togas One,
As into his flask he took a peep;
"Me too," said another; "and Me, said a Third,
And they all curled up for a beauty sleep.
Then they snored a tune, all in unison,
"The Land of the Brave and the Home of the Flea;"
And they heard the wheels of the train go 'round,
But the Mills and the Mines they could not see.

And they dreamed sweet dreams, did the Senator Men,
As down the Valleys the swift train ran;
In vision they saw the red man glide
Through the low mesquite to his rude hogan;
They saw the cliff where the race long dead
Had pitted its walls like the hive of the bee,
The ruins and bars of the elder times,
But the Homes of Today they could not see.

The train had stopped when the Dreamers woke;
"Let us stretch our legs," said a Senator Man;
Then, drawing their togas in state around,
They up to the forward platform ran.
And, gazing out on the crowd, they saw
The Men Who Were and Who Never Will Be,
The Men Who Will and the Men Who May,
But the MEN WHO ARE they could not see.

Back to the east, to the poor, cramped east,
The Senators whirled in their private car;
And they tell the Fools who shouldn't be fools
What a pitiful race we Indians are.
They would that we were as Other Men;
But alas! they say, it never can be!
They saw the Mote in their Brother's eye,
But the Beam in Their Own they could not see.

SOUTH DAKOTA AT THE FAIR.

A site for the South Dakota building at the St. Louis world's fair has been definitely selected. The building will occupy a conspicuous location opposite the Texas building and east of Oregon's. South Dakota will erect a handsome structure, covering with porches, 74x86 feet. The exterior will be covered with the famous South Dakota cement. The state also plans to make very fine agricultural and horticultural displays, and besides the mineral exhibits of gold, tin, cement, etc., will have in the Mines and Metallurgy building a relief map of the famous Black Hills region, and an outside exhibit of reduction works, with amalgam and cyanide plants, that will be run continuosly on Black Hills ore throughout the exposition period.

RULE FOR BREATHING.

If one's health is impaired, or if he wants to preserve it and increase his power to resist disease, he must first of all, give attention to his breathing, says Success. Even food and drink are second in importance to this, for one can live for days without nutrition save the air breathed, but if deprived of that, even for a few minutes, life ceases. Here are some of the first rules for acquiring a correct method of breathing, as given by a specialist who has made an exhaustive study of the subject: First—After retiring at night, release the body and mind from all tension, and take full regular inhalations through your nostrils; hold the breath about one second; take all the time you can to exhale it; keep this up until you are weary or fall asleep. Second—When you wake in the morning, repeat the exercises at least for five minutes; longer, if time permits. Third—During the day, take as many full respirations as possible, exercising care with the exhalations. While taking these exercises, one should bear in mind the thought that he is inhaling new life and power.

THAT MISTAKE.

The New Mexican is mistaken. The Citizen was not given time to correct the proof reader's mistake in overlooking a short sentence in District Attorney Clancy's communication before it was corrected by the Morning Journal. It is quite evident to The Citizen that the secret letter writing district attorney had prepared two copies of that communication. He submitted one copy at The Citizen office and it was the last piece of news set up for that afternoon. Without asking The Citizen to correct its mistake, the district attorney, having the other copy at the office of the Morning Journal, had that paper make the correction in their issue, thus giving this office no opportunity to first nectify the error. However, in the next issue of The Citizen, the following correction was made, which we deemed ample inasmuch as the district attorney had violated known newspaper courtesy by first calling upon the Morning Journal to make the correction:

"An unintentional omission occurred in F. W. Clancy's communication, published in The Citizen last Saturday afternoon. The article in question was ... Saturday's issue, and in the rush to give Mr Clancy space and to get the forms down to press, his communication was not read by copy; hence the omission."

GOVERNOR OTERO'S REPORT.

On commenting on Gov. Otero's report to the secretary of the interior the Denver Republican says: The annual report of Gov. Otero of New Mexico contains nothing especially new in comparision with the one made a year ago. It shows, however, that the territory is progressing and it contains an appeal for admission as a state.

Notwithstanding the prejudiced and unjust report made by a certain member of congress last year in regard to New Mexico claims to statehood, all persons who are correctly informed concerning that territory know that it is amply qualified to assume the responsibilities and duties of a state government.

The policy of the country since its foundation has been to admit the territories as states as rapidly as they become qualified, and there is no reason for departing from that rule now. Many of the states were admitted when they had less population and less taxable wealth than New Mexico possesses today, and it is an error to say that because of the growth of the older states a higher standard in these particulars should be insisted upon now.

The chief matter to consider is whether the inhabitants of a territory are capable of maintaining a state government. Their relations to the union as a whole is a minor consideration, and, furthermore, the strength of a new state with a small population in the national house of representatives is relatively smaller than it was a generation ago because of the larger representation the old states have secured through their growth in population.

Since the chief inquiry should be directed to the ability to maintain a state government, the conclusion cannot be disputed that a given number of people in these days of telegraphs, railroads and newspapers are better qualified for state government than the same number of people were before these modern means of communication and spread of information were brought into use. Ohio, Illinois and numerous other states were admitted when they had less than one-third the population of New Mexico; and if it was safe to admit them, no one should insist that the admission of New Mexico would be imprudent or unwise.

NEW MEXICO GOLD DISCOVERY.

Reports from the vicinity of Hillsboro, New Mexico, represent that more than ordinary interest attaches to a discovery of placer gold made in that part of the territory, says the Denver Republican in its comments on the report of the placer gold discovery in Sierra county.

Although it seems that much excitement has locally been caused, it is altogether too soon to conclude that a valuable and extensive field has been opened.

New Mexico is a country of great promise, but, unfortunately, of comparatively small performance in respect to gold production. For the last twenty-five years or more residents of the territory have been talking about its great but undeveloped wealth of gold, but failure to disclose large bodies of sufficiently rich ground has interfered with wide acceptance of these views. Friends of the territory have hoped that some great mining camp would be opened up, but as yet they have hoped in vain.

Possibly the predicted discovery has at last been made; but if this proves to be so, it will be a repetition of the often told story of men who have discovered valuable mineral deposits in close proximity to a locality tramped over and prospected by thousands before them. Hillsboro is an old district. Gold has been produced there for a quarter of a century, and while it has been looked upon as a fairly good, but small camp, it has never produced anything of a sensational character.

A rich and extensive mining camp in the vicinity of Hillsboro would enjoy the advantages of a delightful climate, and work would be done at comparatively small cost. All the conditions are favorable, and nothing better could occur for New Mexico than a demonstration that the discoveries recently made are the forerunner of a great gold mining boom in that section.

At Pastura the El Paso-Northeastern road has begun a determined search for suitable water for their locomotives. They have given a contract for the drilling of a well 2,500 feet deep, if the sought for fluid is not encountered at less depth. Already at two hundred and ten feet they have water in the well but not of the quality desired.

The California traffic on both the Santa Fe and the Rock Island systems is very heavy at the present time. Trains in two sections with double headers are a daily occurance, while on Friday last a train of sixteen coaches pulled into El Paso over the Rock Island system, the largest train that ever entered the Pass City.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Idleness and poverty always dwell together, and misery and crime are their natural offspring.

Success is nothing more than the result of doing whatever you can do, not only well but just a little better than anybody else.

Cheerfulness is a light that may be kept ever burning in the humblest home. It has no meter on it, and all may enjoy its rays without stint.

The possibilities in irrigation are illustrated in a report on Egypt just made by a government expert. It is shown that a tract of land no larger than the irrigable area of California sustains from agriculture alone 6,000,000 people, supports an expensive government and pays the interest on the national debt that is half as big as that of the United States.

The largest potato ever grown in Montana was sent to President Roosevelt for his Thanksgiving dinner. The tuber, which was grown under irrigation, is twelve inches wide and three and three-quarter inches deep, weighing four pounds, six ounces.

The demand is greater than the supply in the copper world. About 500,000,000 pounds of refined copper is produced yearly in the United States. Next year's production will exceed this amount by 10 per cent. Fourteen cents is regarded by the market as the average selling price for copper; when it is below that it is selling entirely too low.

Arid America grows the highest grade of beets in the world, and once the economies of the industry shall have been worked out our own factories will be able to furnish the American people with sugar at less cost than by importing it, and besides that we will keep our money at home, develop our country and make homes for our people.

The trade in holiday goods is opening up briskly.

For that job printing, the order promptly executed and delivered, see The Citizen.

Hillsboro was a lively town last week. Here is what the Advocate says: "With court in session, a Masonic dedication, a grand ball, a suicide and a bad case of gold fever, all within a week. Hillsboro isn't so slow."

Hon. Solomon Luna of Los Lunas, member of the Republican National Committee for New Mexico, will leave Wednesday for Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the committee called to meet there on the 11th instant.

The political enemies of President Roosevelt have conjured up all sorts of bogies on the strength of reported dissensions within the party in New York; but the hatchet has been buried and Odell and Platt will work in harmony and fond anticipation of strife and discord once more come to grief.

General Frank D. Baldwin, of the United States army, and Mrs. Baldwin, arrived at Roswell yesterday from Denver to visit J. G. Hagerman at the Hagerman farm on the South Spring River. The citizens of Roswell who are working to have a cavalry post established near Roswell will present their claims to General Baldwin while in that city.

William Archibald of Newark, N. J., has been awarded the silver medal and diploma of the St. Petersburg Photographic society. His pictures that won that prize were photographs of lightning flashes.

The Federation of Labor deserve credit for adhering to its traditional policy of refusing alliance with socialism. Labor unions are only strong and useful when they confine themselves strictly to the service of labor.

The bureau of forestry has undertaken the preparation of a working plan for the 10,000 acre tract of the Mount Pleasant Hotel company, in New Hampshire. The forests on these lands have been heavily cut, and the company desires to put them in the best possible condition both for the benefit of the forests themselves and for the scenic effects.

The banking house of Henry Clews & Co., New York, in their advance proof sheet of the Weekly Financial Review, sent out to the newspapers, has the following to say in the first paragraph: "Thanksgiving holidays naturally tended to restrict stock market operations, but in spite of this confidence is rising and a better undertone pervades the 'street.' This no doubt is partly due to manipulation; yet a month ago conditions would not have permitted such manipulations, and the mere fact that they are even attempted demonstrates a change of feeling and judgment amongst those behind the scenes."

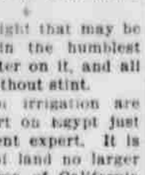
Jerry Still Alive—It is stated on what seems to be good authority that Jerry Quinn, watchman for the Santa Fe at the yards above the city, is dead, says the Las Vegas Optic. Mr. Quinn doesn't exactly deny the report, though he would appreciate knowing when and where and under what circumstances he died. He also expresses the hope that he will be notified if anything like a funeral is in prospect. Marshal Cartwright, hearing that the old man had suddenly and unostentatiously, passed in his checks, went out to the solitary abode this morning. He found Jerry engaged in putting away a hearty breakfast and a once appealed to the watchman to say whether he was to be numbered with the quick or the dead.

ECZEMA SETS THE SKIN ON FIRE

No disease causes so much bodily discomfort, or itches, and burns like Eczema. Beginning often with a slight redness of the skin it gradually spreads, followed by pustules or blisters from which a gummy, sticky fluid oozes which dries and scales off or forms bad looking sores and scabs. It appears on different parts of the body but oftenest upon the back, arms, hands, legs and face, and is a veritable torment at times, especially at night or when overheated.



In 1896 I experienced at times patches on the inside of my hands that itched and burned, causing much discomfort. As time went by it grew worse, and I was convinced that I was afflicted with Eczema. I consulted several physicians and a number of specialists, and used several external applications, receiving but slight temporary relief. In February I decided to try S. S. S., and in less than a month I experienced a change for the better, and by May all symptoms had disappeared, and I found myself entirely cured, and have had no return of the disease since. W. P. BRUSH, Manager Stockman's Advertising Agency, Station A, Kansas City, Mo.

The cause of Eczema is a too acid and general unhealthy condition of the blood. The terrifying itching and burning is produced by the overflow through the glands and pores of the skin of the fiery poisons with which the blood-current is overloaded. While external applications, such as washes, soaps, salves and powders aresoot hing and cooling they do not enter into the blood itself or touch the real cause of the disease, but S. S. S. does, and purifies, enriches, and strengthens the thin acid blood and cleanses and builds up the general system, when the skin clears off and Eczema with all its terrifying symptoms disappears.

KINGMAN MINES

Ome of the Best Arizona Districts and Its Ore Producers.

BATCH OF GOOD PARAGRAPHS

As several Albuquerque citizens, among them J. F. Luthy, F. H. Kent, John S. Neeland and other local capitalists, are interested in the Kingman, Arizona, mining district, The Citizen believes the following paragraphs will prove interesting reading:

The hoisting plant of the Treasure Hill mines, at the foot of Stockton hill, is now installed and working smoothly.

Dr. J. P. Wallace has applied for patent to his Purro and Telegraph mines, on Burro creek. The mines contain the largest veins in that section of country.

Jules Rhodes is reported to have made a rich find of gold ore in the Snowball country. Nothing definite has yet been learned of the extent and richness of the vein.

Leasers on part of the Gold Road mines have made a shipment of sixty ounce gold ore. The streak is small, but the ground is easily worked. Some time ago these same leasers made a shipment of ore that gave nearly the same result.

Steve Tyler of Mineral Park was in Kingman a few days ago. He claims to have opened up a great body of gold bearing ore in his mining claim, near Canyon station. Capt. Conkey, in Mineral Park is interested with him in the mine.

The Stockton Hill country has many promising mines carrying gold, silver lead and copper, that ought to be working large forces of men. It is hoped that this winter will see many of these mines taken over by capitalists capable of putting them on a producing basis.

The Azula group of mines is valued at $300,000. One month ago the three owners, T. E. Cary, Brown and Petitt, were the proud possessors of one burro, packed, and a job for Cary on the Chloride limited. Now look at them. Go find you a gold mine. "The cars are beginning to roll!"

M. P. Gilbert of Salt Lake City is in Kingman. Mr. Gilbert is one of the best known mining men in the intermountain country, having handled some of the heaviest deals in Utah and Nevada. He promoted the Leland-Mitchell deal in this county and is now here looking after something that will stand the necessary examination.

W. S. Fletcher, who is negotiating the purchase of the Star Spangled Banner and Infallible mining claims, Stockton Hill, is in Los Angeles promoting a company to develop and handle the mines. He represents that the purchase price of the mines was in the neighborhood of $50,000. With the Star Spangled Banner and Infallible and De la Fountaine mines working good crews of men the Hill ought to again become a lively mining camp.

It is reported that a ten stamp mill is in contemplation near the big mill of the Mohave Gold Mining company for the purpose of handling custom ores from the San Francisco mining district. Also that the company will add forty more stamps to their mill capacity just as soon as the present mill is an assured success. The mines are capable of supplying an eighty stamp mill with ore for at least two years from the present ore reserves.

Sheriff Lovin brought in from the Gold Road mill a $15,000 bar of bullion, the clean-up of one week's run of the mill. Hereafter it is the intention of the company to make weekly bullion shipments, and it is expected that these shipments will run from $1,200 to $1,500. Under the management of Superintendent Spargo the expense of mine and mill has been cut down about one-third, while the output of the mine and mill has been greatly increased.

James Uncapher returned from Tucson and Phoenix, where he looked after business affairs. He reports that the oil smelter invented by a Tucson man, has been taken to Pittsburg, where experiments will be made with it. It is not intended that the furnace will reduce the metal in the ores to bullion, but on the other hand it is simply to put the metal in the ores in the form of metallics, something after the manner of blistering rock in a forge, so long practiced by miners, and then the ores are crushed and concentrated. This is one of the oldest theories that experimenters have exploited. When carbonites and chlorides respond freely to this method it has been found that to so treat the baser sulphide ores is an impossibility.

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks 1904 Alamanac.

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks Alamanac for 1904 is now ready. it will be mailed to any address for 30 cents. It is surprising how such an elegant, costly book can be sent prepaid so cheaply. No family or person is prepared to study the heavens, or the storms and weather in 1904, without this wonderful Hicks Almanac and Prof. Hicks splendid paper, Word and Works. Both are sent for only one dollar a year. Word and Works is among the best American magazines. Like the Hicks Almanac it is too well known to need further commendation. Few men have labored more faithfully for the public good or found a warmer place in the hearts of the people. Send orders to Word and Works Publishing Co., 2201, Locust St. Louis, Mo.

The company is incorporated for fifty years, and is authorized to acquire and operate silver, gold copper and lead ore mines. The company is capitalized for $3,000,000 divided into 3,000,000 shares of the par value of $1 each, $1,000,000 of which is to be treasury stock. The first board of directors consists of the incorporators and Sara Webster Conger and A. B. Renehan.

The Rinconda Land and Reservoir company, principal offices at Temporal, Otero county, New Mexico. The incorporators are Gustave B. Hengen, Henry J. Anderson, Benjamin S. Baker, John E. Smith and Robert H. Pierce. The company is incorporated for fifty years, and is authorized to construct and maintain reservoirs, canals, ditches and pipe lines for irrigation purposes. The company is capitalized for $200,000 divided into 8,000 shares of the par value of $25 each. The first board of directors consists of the incorporators.

HOTEL FIRE

Old Log Building at Tres Piedras Destroyed—Will be Rebuilt.

The old log hotel at Tres Piedras, owned by J. B. Cann, was completely destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning of this week. The fire started in a defective flue in the reception room and rapidly spread until the whole building was in a blaze.

Although there was a quick response to the alarm, the flames had made such headway that they could not be extinguished. The loss is partly covered by insurance and the hotel will be rebuilt at once on a larger scale.

The Williams News says: It is said that Conductor McGinty "got onto" a scalper's ticket here the first of the week and put a couple off the train. They were en route from Los Angeles to Denver and when dumped the man got very indignant and threatened to do things. The lady tried to pacify him and said: "Never mind, sweetheart, you rode this far for nothing, anyway."

Thursday evening last, Needles Division, No. 282. Order of Railway Conductors, gave a Thanksgiving ball at the Needles opera house. This in itself would be sufficient announcement that everything from decorations to delicacies, were of the best, says the Eye. A large crowd was in attendance, but they were expected and were consequently royally entertained.

I. W. HOPKINS,
Postmaster

Everybody Busy.

Everybody's figgerin';
Countin' up the cost
Countin' up their winnings

Or countin' what they lost.
Countin' up the gas bill,
Countin' up the rent;
Countin' up the ballots
And the money that was spent.

Measurin' up the water
Put in stocks one day;
Measurin' up the shrinkage
When it leaked away.

Figgerin' on the record
That a horse can get;
Measurin' up your trouble
If you made a bet.

All our worry started
On the double-quick
When some one invented
This aritmetic.

Here This Week.

The Don C. Hall company still continues to please at the opera house. Last night the audience was almost double that of the night before, and the play "Fun at the Ferry," one of those old New England comedies, was heartily enjoyed by all. Mrs. Don C. Hall as Pansy Homer, the wronged child, was, perhaps, the favorite of the evening, while Don C. Hall as the detective was fully equal to the character and displayed marked ability in the handling of different disguises. Jerry Ketchum was enjoyed in the difficult role of Jason Jospins the old farmer. Altogether it was a pleasant evening's enjoyment. The company presents, by special request, "Serpent and Dove" tonight.—Las Vegas Optic.

MOTE AND BEAM

Las Vegas Optic Overlooks Beam in Its Own Eye and Comments on Mote in Bernalillo County.

The Las Vegas Optic of recent issues has devoted more attention to the affairs of Bernalillo county than it has given to home matters. The fact is that the general talk on the streets here is that the Optic, a former representative of its section and a power in territorial matters, has fallen to the position of a side issue to an Albuquerque paper.

It has taken up the issues in Bernalillo county, trying to fix on the officials of the county the responsibility for a race war, but it has never said a word of a race war in its own town of greater magnitude.

By recent events in the Meadow City, the faculty of the Territorial Normal University, so called, has been changed, with the exception of a couple of women. The result has been an influx of new people, ignorant alike of New Mexico citizens and conditions. Recently the new president of this territoriti institution established a rule that the Mexican children and those of the so-called American families, must have different rooms to sit in, and different hours of recess and play—in other words that the two classes should not be brought together.

There was an indignation meeting in Old Las Vegas, as there is angry indignation all over the territory, but the Optic says nothing about it, while it devotes its space to an ignorant comment on affairs in this county.
