ODD FELLOWS ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Chas A. Eller Becomes Past Grand; Notes From Other Lodges; Phillips Elected Director Woodman Journal.

[illegible] Odd Fellows of this city elected officers for the coming year. Dr. Charles A. Eller, outgoing grand, becomes past grand now, and his place is taken by T. F. King, formerly vice grand. Mr. King is succeeded by Joseph Whiteides, who formerly held an appointive office. James J. Volaw and Chester T. French were elected to succeed themselves in office as secretary and treasurer. There are a number of appointive offices which will be filled at the first meeting in July.

Plans are being made by the Woodmen of the World for their annual decoration day on June 4. At the exercises, which will be held in Fairview Cemetery that afternoon, the monuments erected to the memory of H. J. Cooper, H. A. Burroughs and Abran Dimas will be dedicated. Rev. W. E. Warren will deliver the address of the day and a quartet under the direction of Mrs. Bradford will sing.

D. E. Phillips, a well known member of the local Woodmen, has been elected one of the directors of the Woodmen Journal, the official organ of the craft.

PERSONALS.

The friends and patrons of Miss Effie Valck, the well-known and talented violinist, will be interested to learn that she has moved her studio from her former location on north Sixth street to more commodious quarters over Walton's drug store, at the corner of Central avenue and Third street.

A license to marry was today granted to Cleo W. Holmes and Hazel W. Kelly, both of Albuquerque.

Ladies of the Relief Corps are requested to meet at Central ward's school tomorrow morning to go in a body to the Congregational church. All are requested to attend.

Last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Goehring the Philathea and Baraca classes of the Highland Methodist church entertained in honor of Miss Alma May Howell and Dr. I. O. Schwentker, whose wedding will take place here June 1. Miss Howell is the efficient president of the Philatheas and is very popular with both classes.

Prof. R. F. Asplund, assistant territorial superintendent of public instruction, left yesterday for Santa Fe after spending the day in this city. While here he visited the closing exercises of the Mesa, Duranes, Old Town and Barelas schools.

The friends and parishioners of Rev. J. J. Bunyan held a surprise party on their minister last night, celebrating the first anniversary of his marriage a year ago. A number of valuable presents were made the couple.

There is some talk of extending the Pearl movements to the Angeles.—Los Angeles Times.

Torturing eczema spreads its burning area every day. Doan's Ointment quickly stops its spreading, instantly relieves the itching, cures it permanently. At any drug store.

She leaves her husband and one son, Precancino Lucero, who is in business in an Rafael, N. M. He will arrive tonight. Mr. Lucero came to the city a week ago when he found that Mrs. Lucero was ill.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock in Atrisco.

AMIABLE DRUNKARD WORRIES COURT

What to Do With Carlos Griego is a Problem; Has a Wife the Right to Lend Husband's Clothes?

[illegible] United States with prompt [illegible] this morning to answer to the charge of being drunk and night, Judge Craig and Chief Moffett [illegible] indications of either inexperience, while their countenances took on a look of the deepest perplexity. What to do with Carlos was a problem too complex for solution.

There isn't a bit of harm in the world in Carlos. In fact he has many positively amiable qualities. He is as [illegible] man as ever got in the [illegible] of a drink of whisky, and in the rare moments when he is sober and trying to get enough sand of the stuff to get a fresh start he is one of the most industrious and reliable workmen to be found in a day's journey. But nothing on earth, or in heaven above or the waters beneath, can keep Carlos from filling his hide as full as it will hold when the opportunity presents itself. The jail has no terrors for him. It would seem that he had rather be on the inside looking out than on the outside looking in. Yesterday he completed a thirty day sentence in the old Albuquerque jail, and as the gates of Freedom didn't feel natural to him he delayed not a moment in breaking in again, using a large urbanic pot for that purpose.

Through the medium of interpreter Pablo Lucero, Judge Craig and Chief McMillin consulted long with Carlos as to and what ought to be done with him. Carlos admitted the matter was as much a puzzle to him as to the court, and accompanied this expression with a sling of amazing indifference, declaring that he did not consider it up to him to solve the riddle.

Enough suspended sentences are out against Carlos to keep him in penal servitude for the balance of his life. After considerably worry over the problem, Judge Craig announced an additional sentence, and suspended, of ten dollars and costs in fifteen days in jail, and Carlos, in perfect good humor and bearing malice towards none, scuffled off to begin paying the penalty for his sin.

The right of a wife to lend her husband's coat to her brother was involved in the case of John Stewart, who was charged with the larceny of a coat belonging to his brother-in-law, J. M. Ferland. The complaint, signed by Judge Craig do not extend to a recognition of the same right in a brother-in-law. The coat, which Stewart took to Stewart with the old man's letter and consent of his sister, Ferland's wife, during Ferland's absence from home. The case against Stewart was dismissed upon payment of the costs, while Ferland's wife was admonished to lend his clothes no more.

SCHOOL BOARD MANDAMUS WILL BE HEARD NEXT SATURDAY

In the school board mandamus case otherwise and more orthodoxly known as Territory of New Mexico ex rel Board of Education of the City of Albuquerque vs. Board of County Commissioners of Bernalillo county, Judge Abbott today set next Saturday, June 3 as the date for further argument.

At the first hearing of the case a motion was made to quash for the county commissioners to quash the petition for mandamus, whereupon Attorney R. W. D. Bryan, representing the board of education, asked leave to amend his pleadings. This was allowed, and the hearing next Saturday will be upon the legal sufficiency of the amended pleadings.

Under the ruling of Judge Abbott, Treasurer Pinner was declared to be a necessary party defendant and to the amendment to the petition he was so named.

STANFORD CLUBS ARRIVED HERE THIS MORNING

Glee and Mandolin Organizations From California Varsity in City on First Annual Trip.

[illegible] Stanford and Glee Club arrived in the city this morning [illegible] long under the [illegible] of the south by the leading [illegible] They are accompanied by Edward Allemann, who went from here to Stanford to act as their "stage man" and [illegible] on the tour. The boys and [illegible] had a delightful run along the coast lines, and have enjoyed every minute of it. They are a fine looking crowd of bright young fellows, and the entertainment they give is sure to be without a peer in the field of entertainment.

The program for tonight is an elaborate one, and offers many numbers of exceptional excellence. There are nine numbers on it, and it is slightly changed from the program given at previous stops.

It is as follows:

Cello—G. W. Wilson, H. P. Knight.
Leader Mandolin club, M. H. Rowell—Leader Glee club, R. J. Finnie—manager.

The clubs go from here to Clovis, where there are special preparations made for their reception. Band boys of the Railroad Man's club is in charge. The club sports in yesterday to know what the Stanford colors were in order that they might suitably decorate the stage on which the clubs will appear, and to echo the general chorus of approval that has been met Mr. Busser's presentation of the glee clubs of so many colleges this year.

NEW WHITE CITY MUSEE AND ZOO OPENS MONDAY

The zoo annex to the ever-popular Airdome opens Monday to the public. The children and older folks will be made glad. Small animals that go to make up a much learn will be on exhibition. A number of most every species will be exhibited. A happy family of monkeys will occupy the large cage in the corner of the park, while cockatoos, parrots, porcupines and every kind of a queer and curious animal will be seen in different cages. The cages will be open every afternoon, where mamma can bring the children. An ideal fresh air playground it will furnish Greater Albuquerque. The orchestra will play on Sunday afternoons, refreshments will be served of all kinds, and the attendants will take pleasure in explaining the animals. This is another one of J. Sam Houston's promotions and the public knows what that means. It will be sure to run up to a standard that Houston does things. The least game never gets away from J. Sam. The crowds that are attending the Airdome nightly show their appreciation and the zoo will get its share.

The season is now at hand when most American newspapers will be published in two languages—English and baseball.—Waterbury Republican.

The Markets

WHEAT MARKET IS WEAKER TODAY

Speculators Hear That Kansas and Nebraska Have Received Good Rains; World's Shipments Smaller.

(By Evening Herald A. P. Leased Wire)

Chicago, May 27.—Wheat showed weakness today on a report of rains in Kansas and Nebraska. Apparently all the big shorts had covered and were ready for a fresh attempt to drive prices downward. The market, however, was steady somewhat on signs of smaller world's shipments than a week ago. July started at 89 1-8 to 89 3-8, a drop of 1-8 to 3-8c, and declined further to 88 7-8@89c.

In wheat lightness at offerings later led to a rally. The close was firm with July a shade up.

Corn eased off through lack of support. Cash houses were the chief sellers. July opened steady to 1-4 up 2-8c down at 53 7-8@54 1-8c and fell to 53 3-4c. Corn closed steady at a net loss of 1-4@3-8c for July.

Promised relief from the hot wave in oats work lower. July started 1-8 to 3-8c under last night at 33 5-8 to 33 1-4 and seemed inclined to keep within that range.

Scattered buying held provisions firm. Initial sales were unchanged to 2½c up with July at $13.00 for pork, $8.20 for lard and $8.00 for ribs.
