Wall Street Tradings

New York, June 5.—The demand for stocks was renewed today and the market continued a slightly irregular tendency. There was considerable profit taking and after the first advance in prices the market made some recession.

Consolidated Gas sold up 2 points and stocks and some of the minor issues showed improvement during parts. Hamilton Powder, Westinghouse Electric and General Electric also had better ends. At noon the market was irregular, with the bulk of the issues in the railroad section which were selling at a point above Saturday's closing quotations. Steels were steady.

The market closed firm. Toward the close there was a general advance, the groups of Anaconda, United States Steel and Kansas being recommended in rallying prices.
