GOVERNOR VETOES DISTRICT ATTORNEY BILL TODAY

Declares Salaries Provided Are Too High and That $3,000 Should Be Ample Compensation for Work Done.

CONTRASTS $4,000 PAID TO ATTORNEY GENERAL

[Special Dispatch to Evening Herald]

Santa Fe, N. M., March 10.—The expected message from the governor vetoing the district attorney salary bill reached the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The governor finds that the salaries allowed in the bill are too high and gives it as his opinion that $3,000 per year would be amply sufficient for any district attorney. Following is the text of the veto message:

"To the Honorable Speaker and members of the house of Representatives:

"Gentlemen— I return herewith without my approval house bill No. 124, entitled an act relative to the salaries of district attorneys.

"The salaries of the district attorneys in the various judicial districts of the state are fixed in this bill as follows:

"One county, $2,750.

"Twelve counties, $4,000 each.

"One county, $4,250.

"Three counties, $4,500.

"The salary of the attorney general of the state is fixed in the constitution at $4,000 and he has to reside in Santa Fe and devote his entire time to the duties of that office. The district judges receive a salary of $4,500 each and are expected to devote their entire time to the office and are necessarily precluded from practice in the courts, as is also the attorney general of the state.

"Besides the salary for district attorneys, their actual traveling expenses are paid by the state. They are in no way precluded from conducting the civil practice in the courts; in fact, being district attorney is an advantage and usually does advance their civil practice.

"Now if the sum allowed the various district attorneys is to be considered net, it seems to be unquestionable that most of them are too high. If it is expected that they will hire assistants from this sum to help in the discharge of the duties of the office the bill should in my opinion separate the salary of the district attorney and that of his assistant or assistants. I believe that this is the correct principle and that the taxpayers have a right to know whom they are paying for the work done in the district attorney's office.

It seems to me that $3,000 net with traveling expenses would be ample compensation for any district attorney in this state with some provision for the employment of an assistant or assistants.

"Respectfully yours,
"WILLIAM C. McDONALD,
"Governor."

Two-Thirds Lacking.

Immediately upon the reading of the message Mr. Chaves moved that the bill be again placed upon its passage, the objections of the governor to the contrary notwithstanding. The vote resulted 27 in the affirmative and 15 in the negative, the majority being less than the two-thirds required by the constitution. The bill failed of passage over the executive.

KID GILFEATHER ROBS CLEANING ESTABLISHMENT

Florencio Apodaca Admits He Plundered Royal; Wore His Fighting Shoes to Do Job; Footprints Prove His Undoing.

If Florencio Apodaca, better known perhaps as "Kid" Gilfeather, and "Palsano," had not worn a pair of fighting shoes on the night of March 3, when he broke into the Royal cleaning establishment, 403 West Central avenue, he might not at the present time be in jail with a charge of larceny hanging over his head.

Apodaca, who is a ham and egg boxer, and has demonstrated his prowess before local audiences on several occasions, donned his fighting apparel and put on his fighting shoes last Friday night. That night it rained. Telltale footprints were left in the mud in front of the Royal. Sherlock Holmes methods of deduction were employed. E. J. Gibson, proprietor of the Royal, being sad because the robber had carried away many articles of valuable clothing the property of customers, measured the footprints, looked at them with a magnifying glass and communicated with the police. Following a consultation, it was agreed that the footprints were the footprints made by a person or persons wearing gymnasium shoes, nearly always used by fighters. The next question that puzzled the detectives was the question as to the identity of the wearers of such shoes.

Suspicion fell on Apodaca. The Palsano had been arrested Saturday evening because he insisted on throwing pebbles against a window of a room in the Westminster hotel in which his supposed lady love was believed to reside.

Following up the Sherlock Holmes methods, under the direction of Chief McMillin, Policeman Paulo Lujan and Gibson, owner of the Royal, made a pilgrimage today to the Westminster. They made an informal call on Miss Josefa Chavez, known to be Apodaca's friend. Miss Chavez expressed herself as being delighted to see the policeman. She did not object to a search of her room. Gibson was overjoyed to find the long lost articles of wearing apparel, as follows, to-wit: One black coto shirt, one white wool dress, one tan ladies' coat, fancy trimming, one man's gray coat, one ladies' dark gray coat, one black silk dress. Asked as to how she came into possession of the goods Miss Chavez volunteered the information that Palsano had brought them there, gaining entrance to the room by scaling a ladder placed against the outside wall.

Gibson copped the goods. Lujan took Miss Chavez into custody for good luck, especially as her room was littered with articles of wearing apparel which might or might not have belonged to her. In the jail, the Palsano, seeing the game was up, admitted that he had stolen the goods from the Royal and regretted that he had worn the gymnasium shoes, which he said could be found in a certain place in his room. Apodaca has been in the reform school and has been in jail twice within the last week for various offenses.

Held to Grand Jury.

Gilfeather, or Apodaca, was arraigned before Justice Craig this afternoon on a charge of burglary. He pleaded guilty and was held to the grand jury in the sum of $500. He went to jail.

A HISTORY OF HIS CAREER ON HIS SHIRT BOSOM

Unable to Obtain a Piece of Paper, Roscoe Vaughn, in County Jail, Ruthlessly Sacrifices Once Immaculate Linen.

"Leonard told me to plead guilty and that he would pay my fine, what ever it was. So when I was arraigned before Judge Craig I pleaded guilty. Leonard failed to do what he promised to do, and pay my fine of fifty dollars, so I could go on about my business and provide for my precious children and wife. I can truthfully say that I received no money from Leonard for introducing the girl from El Paso to him. I did not stop to think at the time how untrue Leonard's story was. So my advice to my friends in Albuquerque is, never take up with a stranger man as I did. This is the first time in my life I was arrested for anything. I had a good job and was doing fine here. But I am sure I have no job now. I am in the county jail with a $50 fine hanging over my head, for being foolishly innocent enough to introduce the El Paso girl to the rich Mr. Leonard. I was an innocent victim and had no intention of wrong doing."

The foregoing composition is only the closing paragraph in an essay of more than two thousand words, written on the stiff bosom of a waiter's shirt front. The writer of the essay is Roscoe (Doc) Vaughn, who on Saturday was sent to jail for thirty days provided he failed to pay a fine of $20. He and one A. V. Leonard went to jail together, Leonard for ninety days, with no alternative to pay a fine. Leonard posed as a wealthy banker's son, according to the story told on Vaughn's shirt front, the story being mainly a defense of his action and a proclamation of innocence. The communication was sent to the Evening Herald with the request that it be published.

Vaughn had evidently endeavored to obtain writing paper in the county jail, but was unable to do so. Hence, he ruthlessly sacrificed a waiter's most cherished possession, a shirt bosom. In indelible writing, which covers both sides of the shirt front, Vaughn tells the story of his life from the days of his boyhood until the present time, when unfortunately he is confined in the county jail. Vaughn says he pleaded guilty because Leonard promised he would pay his fine, which he failed to do, however.

The communication which Vaughn sends from his prison is unique. Brother waiters who wish to see it are invited to call at the Herald office.

HIGH SCHOOL BOND ISSUE APPROVED BY ATTORNEYS

Chicago Buyers Forward Form of Resolution to Be Adopted By Board of Education; Formalities Progressing Satisfactorily.

Legal representatives of Holmes, Bolser and Williams, and R. M. Grant & Company of Chicago, bond buyers, jointly made the successful bid of $101,777 for the $100,000 Albuquerque high school bond issue, have forwarded to the board of education a form of resolution, which when adopted in regular or special meeting, will mean that the bond companies have formally accepted and approved the bond issue. The board of education has received notice that the bond issue has been passed on satisfactorily by counsel for the buyers. The acceptance by the bond buyers and the adoption of the resolution by the board of education will complete negotiations for the disposal of the issue and the $101,777 will be immediately in cash within the near future. Plans are coming forward for the beginning of the construction work. It is likely that the new board of education, which assumes office soon after April 1, will decide as to the employment of an architect, as to plans and specifications and the letting of the contract. It is hoped to have construction begin as nearly as possible in order that the building may be finished across the first of next year.

DISTINCTIVENESS of STYLE and Originality of Design is the Key-Note in Our Ready-to-Wear Section

A Help to All Women

It has always been our policy to aid all women in securing correct garments by keeping our ready-to-wear stocks right up to the minute. Half of the worry of buying a suit, coat or dress is immediately dispensed with---by coming here, because you have the assurance that---"the right goods at the right time, at the right price can always be found in our stocks."

Distinctiveness of Style

The garments carried here are all high grade---made for particular women---hence they bear the stamp of refinement and dignity, and that exclusiveness so much sought for by all dressy women. We only buy from manufacturers recognized as the leading fashion purveyors of the world.

Originality of Design

We mean by this---that although every season has some predominating color, cut of skirt or coat, proscribed waist line, or drape effect---our garments always embody the newest ideas but still there will be found a touch of originality that will pronounce them different from all others.

Our Buying Facilities

We are personally represented in the eastern markets; we are continually in touch with the fashion makers of the world who keep us advised on the trend of style. We are recognized as New Mexico's largest department store and regarded as authorities on correct dress.

$2,700 REMAINS OF $30,000 DEBT ON CHURCH

Member of Immaculate Conception Parish Have Paid More Than $27,000 On Improvement Since May, 1908.

The parish of the Immaculate Conception is almost clear of debt, according to an announcement made yesterday to the youth by Father A. B. Meunier, S. J., the pastor. The church debt at the present time is $2,700, which it is hoped will be paid off before the first of the new year. In May, 1908, when the church improvements were completed, the parish owed approximately $30,000. The improvements consisted in enlarging the original church building and refitting the interior.

The Markets

WALL STREET.

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald]

New York, March 10.—Financial strain abroad, particularly in Germany, led to heavy liquidation by the continent on the London exchange, and the weakness of Americans there was transferred to the stock market today at the opening of business.

Declines here did not measure up to the drop in London in some cases, but the quotations registered new low records for the present movement for Union Pacific, Reading and steel, around which the speculation centered. The severity of the decline led to a natural rebound and the market worked up sensibly to a parity with last week's close or above. The list maintained its advantage in the face of a 4½ per cent renewal rate for call loans.

Bonds were heavy.

Prices wavered around midday and there was some reaction amounting to a point before energetic support for the general level higher than in the forenoon. Union Pacific rose to 150 and Copper shares were purchased on reports that producers were obtaining better prices. Reduction in steel tonnage figures about met expectations. Bethlehem Steel gained 1½ and preferred 3 points on the restoration of the latter to a 5 per cent dividend basis. Speculation was dull and easier again at 1 o'clock.

Spasmodic selling for bear accounts relieved the market at intervals during the afternoon. Many stocks went to still lower prices, Steel touching 58⅝, Union Pacific 147⅞ and Canadian Pacific 220⅝. Inactive stocks also slumped badly, Adams Express breaking 10 points.

The market closed unsettled. Reports from Berlin that 10 per cent was being paid for money there, together with estimated sales of 10,000 shares of Canadian Pacific for German account in this market, caused wholesale liquidation of all classes of stock during the last hour. Canadian Pacific dropped 7⅝ to 213½ and Union Pacific 2⅝ to 148⅞. Low figures were also established for Steel, Reading, Southern Pacific and other standard stocks.

Closing prices:

Amalgamated Copper, 68⅞.
Sugar, 113.
Atchison, 101.
Northern Pacific, 115⅞.
Reading, 153⅞.
Southern Pacific, 93⅞.
Union Pacific, 147⅞.
Steel, 59.
Steel preferred, 107⅞.

Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, March 10.—Wheat advanced today in sympathy with firmness at Liverpool and a decline in British consols. There was also a doubt as to whether the Washington crop report would confirm bearish estimates on farm reserves. Fair sales here late Saturday to foreigners tended further to help the bulls. The opening was unchanged to ¼c higher. May started at 91⅞@91⅝c, a gain of ⅛@¼c, and rose to 91⅞c. The close was firm, with May ⅛@⅞c net higher, at 91⅞@91⅞c.

May corn opened a shade off to a like amount up at 52⅝@52⅞c, touched 53⅛c, and sulked to 52⅝@53c. The close was easy at 52⅝c for May, a net loss of a shade.

May oats, which started 1-16c higher at 34⅛c, sold at 34c and then climbed to 34⅝c.

Hogs in plentiful supply carried provisions downward. First sales ranged from 5c to 7½c lower, with May at $20.70@20.75 for pork, $10.72½@10.75 for lard and $10.77½@10.80 for ribs.

Closing prices:

Wheat—May, 91⅝@91⅞c; July, 90@90⅛c; Sept., 88⅞c.
