In Des Moines a heavy vote was cast against the school, but it is not thought this vote can change the result.

JARALES THINKS IT IE ENTITLED TO SOME RAILWAY RECOGNITION

Santa Fe, N. M., May 20.—Jarales on the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe, has petitioned the state corporation commission to induce the Santa Fe to put in a sidetrack there. The petition is based on the fact that the village, having been established for 250 years and being therefore permanent, never having been washed away by the Rio Grande, is entitled to transportation facilities. Superintendent Summers has been asked to advise the commission what can be done.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

GUARDSMEN CAN GET INSURANCE IN THIS CITY

Agents Here Say They Are Prepared to Issue Policies. One Company Doesn't Charge Any Increased Premium.

Reports from other cities to the effect that members of the national guard find it impossible or next to impossible to take out life insurance policies because of the imminence of war with Mexico are not borne out by statements made by local insurance men.

It appears, from what insurance men said today, that members of the guard can get policies readily enough, although in some cases premiums will be higher when the policyholder goes to war, the actuaries having figured a rate on the increased probability of death.

Two of the biggest of the old-line companies in this country said through their local offices today that they would issue policies to members of the guard under certain conditions, the chief of which is an increased premium during time of service in war.

Another well known company, with an aggressive policy, announced through its office that it would issue a policy regardless of membership in the guard, war or anything else. A member of the national guard can get a policy in that company, it was said, just like anybody else in normal health, and then go out and fight the whole Mexican army for all the company cared.

At another office it was said by the agent there at the time that he didn't know just what the company's attitude was toward issuing new policies to members of the guard, but the company was unhesitatingly issuing permits to present policyholders which would serve to keep the policy valid during service at the front.

In 1898 at the outset of the Spanish-American war the insurance companies of the country generally went after business among the soldiers with avidity. Agents flocked to the mobilization camps, and every soldier who could pass the physical examination was received into the policyholders' fold with a hurrah. During that war and afterwards, however, there was terrible mortality among the soldiers from typhoid and other camp disease, due to admittedly wretched management of food and other supplies by the government. It may be that the big, old established companies grew wary of "soldier business" because of that experience and are not inclined to whoop after such trade at this time as they did in '98, although ready to take it on certain conditions.

UNFORTUNATE SENT TO JAIL FOR HIS OWN GOOD

Victim of Drink Said to Be Member of Prominent Nevada Family, Rescued by the Police.

For his own good, a man who said he was connected with a prominent family in Nevada, and admitted that the name he gave was not his own, was committed for fifteen days to the county jail by Justice of the Peace Craig today. He is suffering from excessive whiskey drinking and the court decided that it would be a kindness to him to put him where he will have a chance to straighten out.

C. F. Lainard is the name the man gave when arraigned by Officer Pablo Lujan. He said it was not his right name, and begged the court not to press him for the latter, because it would bring shame to his family connections. His speech and bearing, despite his ragged clothes, unshaven face and shaking frame, indicated a past walk in life vastly different from that in which the police found him.

He pleaded for a chance to go out of town. He said he would travel twelve miles to the southward this afternoon, and would camp there for the night, going on in the morning. Justice Craig, in kindly manner, refused the plea.

"For your own good," he said, "I am going to send you to a place where you will not be able to soak yourself with whiskey for a while. You are in no state now to control your appetite for drink."

The prisoner bowed his head sadly. "I know, sir," he said simply. "But, oh! sir," he added suddenly, "you have not experienced what I have."

Lainard is said to be the nephew of a man, now dead, who at one time was Nevada's most distinguished citizen and famous throughout the country.

Very Remarkable Cure of Liver Complaint.
