CHEVROLET

A Thoroughbred

Quality is the hallmark of Chevrolet motor cars.
Neither completeness nor refinement is sacrificed to make the selling prices—low as they are.

There is no need of changes and additional parts—supplementary springs, special wheels, hoods, radiators, etc.—to give a Chevrolet the appearance, comfort, and performance abilities of a real automobile.

These qualities are bred in the Chevrolet—conceived in its design; carried out in its construction; and proven by its performance in the service of over sixty-five thousand satisfied owners. Chevrolet owners experience a real pride of ownership.

Chevrolet quality cars are built in two chassis models, the "Four-Ninety," price $490, equipped, electric starting and lighting, and the "Baby Grand," a large, powerful touring car, at $890. These prices are F. O. B. Flint, Mich.

many other lines. Several mining companies are represented in the display.

Eddy County.

This county was given second prize a year ago, and apparently is here to win first prize this year, and the county that beats her will be "going some." Cotton is emphasized as one of the main products of the county, and the display of the fine cotton seed reminds the writer of the old days spent "away down south in Dixie." In addition, there are apples, grain, alfalfa, tobacco and other products, which combine to make a most pleasing and effective display. Mr. W. F. McIlvain is in charge, and has a faculty for boosting his county that would do credit to an Oklahoma real estate boomer in the palmy days. If you don't visit his booth, you have missed one of the sights of the fair.

San Miguel County.

With an altitude of from 5,000 to 9,000 feet, makes its how, and offers one of the most practical displays of any county in the state, which is in charge of M. R. Gonzales, the county agent. The display advertises that "a potato in every exhibit" is an essential quality, and "one good variety is better than twenty poor ones." There is an exhibit of wheat, oats, beans, seed corn, hay, and arrangement is made from the standpoint of the farmer rather than that of the exhibitor, and is educational in its nature. It shows the possibilities of irrigated land, as well as dry farming products. There is a fine display of timothy, red top, vega grass, red clover, and wheat and millet in the sundle. Beginning Thursday the county meet will give demonstrations at frequent hours. Samples of wheat such as Dawson's defiance, Turkey red for winter, and the many varieties for spring. There is also an exhibit of dairy cows, showing a fine degree of improvement over the wild cows, a close a method of field demonstration. Of corn also corn in various varieties, showing the adaptability of this grain. The demonstration is also will interest the farmer, three of which are shown, the stave, hillside, or bank silo, and the structure of the foundation of the silo, and this is followed with a demonstration of the cutter.

McKinley County.

McKinley county has a small booth, with an exhibit of the New Mexico Fire Brick company's product of fire brick, and buff building brick, which will compare in beauty and durability with any of like character on the market.

Torrance County.

Torrance county has an attractive booth, trimmed in red, and a display of grasses, cabbage, pumpkins, potatoes, beets, oats, and wheat, all of which are of good grade. The emphasis is placed on pinto beans, the raising of which is making a reputation for the county, their product this year approximating 150,000 pounds, and selling at $3 a hundred. It is a fine demonstration of what can be done on land which a few years ago could not be dryland farmed.

Guadalupe County.

Guadalupe county, with Mr. Chapman in charge, has an exceptionally good display, which is so arranged as to exhibit the products of the dry farming campaign as well as the results from irrigated land. Among the fruits there is melting pear, as well as apples and pears. There are some of other specimens shown. The corn that is shown, as the line we recall to have seen, that was produced by the dry farming process, as well as an irrigated land. There is also an exhibition of milk and a contrast is noted between that produced for commercial purposes and that grown in their backyard of the sales, contrasting the different water that cows received, as Mr. Frank Dale, a scientist, is going to explain that the cows, when fed from the bottle, produce more milk. There are another will have another than Guadalupe, but there are many progressive farmers in Guadalupe county.

Other Displays of Interest.

A case of the archaeological studies of the ruins left by a noted map in New Mexico, in four sections, that furnishes valuable information of its kind, and another is the exhibition of honey, at the left of the entrance, by R. E. Peffley, of Albuquerque.

This morning, the judges, in different departments had begun their work, and the different colored ribbons had begun to make their appearance. Within a day or two, the results will be announced and publication as they relate to all those who win prizes in the various departments.

It means inflammation of a mucous membrane somewhere in the head, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, biliary ducts or bowels. It always means stagnant blood—the blood that is full of impurities. It weakens the system generally and spreads its operations until systemic catarrh or an acute illness is the result.

BOUNTY DISCUSSION LEAVES STOCKMEN'S BOARD UNDECIDED

No Decision Reaches as to Value of Plan That Encourages Professional Trapping of Predatory Animals; Driveways Question.

The question of doing away with the present system of wild animal bounties and the substitution of a state appropriation to be expended on salaries for hunters was discussed at length at a meeting of the executive board of the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' association this morning, such a state appropriation would be supplemented by a federal appropriation of equal size, such appropriations to be expended under the direction of the United States biological survey.

The proposed change gave rise to considerable discussion, although it was admitted by all that the present county bounty system is in many ways inadequate. Many of the counties are said to be several years behind in their payment of claims, and it was pointed out that the trapper's incentive to kill off predatory animals is greatly reduced if he has to wait five years for his bounty money.

The bounty system itself was attacked on the ground that the trapper's interest under such a system is not to exterminate wolves and coyotes and lions, but only to kill off a part of them where they are most numerous, since their extermination would put the trapper out of business. Several members of the board, however, were of the opinion that the present system, while imperfect, is the best that can be secured today, and so the board came to no final conclusion. A committee consisting of President Morley, Secretary Miller, A. B. McMillen, Senator B. F. Pankey, and Hugh McKeen was appointed to investigate the question further.

Homestead Bill Considered.

Another matter of importance discussed was the new 640-acre grazing homestead bill which, according to advices received by President Morley, is practically certain to pass soon after congress convenes in December. This bill touches the interests of the stock industry in New Mexico very closely, as many of the sheep and cattle owners range their stock many miles from the railroad, and if the land between should be taken up by homesteaders, the stockmen will be cut off from their shipping points, according to statements made at the meeting this morning. The bill contains a provision authorizing the secretary of the interior to set aside such districts as he may deem necessary, and the association will make every effort to have adequate driveways set aside all over the state before the homesteading rush which is sure to follow the passage of the bill begins.

Accordingly to some of the sheepmen who drive 125 miles to the railroad when they ship to the stockyards, where one mile is considered as long driving. The bill originally drafted limited the width of driveways to one-quarter mile, but as the measure stands at present this matter is left to the secretary of the interior, and the stockmen feel that their needs should be laid before him as soon as possible, before any of the land needed for driveways is taken up. For this reason the association urges all cattle and sheep men who may be in the city as well as all others interested in the livestock industries of New Mexico, to attend the meeting which will be held in the Commercial club at 10 o'clock Friday morning especially to discuss what measures may be necessary to safeguard the interests of stockmen as the new homestead bill, which will soon become a law.

RETAILERS' HEAD SAYS GARNISHMENT LAW IS JUST ONE

President Salmon Urges That Steps be Taken to Keep It on the Statute Books; Banquet at Alvarado Tonight.

Nathan Salmon, of Santa Fe, was re-elected president of the New Mexico State Retailers' association at the fifth annual meeting today. In his address to the convention, Mr. Salmon upheld the garnishment law, which was recently attacked by railroad men, who were said to have organized a movement for its repeal. President Salmon said the law was just, and urged that steps be taken to keep it on the statute books.

The meeting was held in the Commercial club. Santa Fe sent a goodly number of delegates. Albuquerque was the only other city represented.

Reports from the president and Secretary Nora Summers were received. A committee consisting of H. S. Lathgow, E. J. Strong, C. G. Ackerman, J. A. Davis and President Salmon was appointed to devise ways of perfecting the retailers' organization throughout the state, with full power to act.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Nathan Salmon, Santa Fe, president; B. C. Jaffa, first vice president, Albuquerque; M. R. Mendelsohn, Raton, second vice president; Clark Dilley, Roswell, third vice president; M. B. Goldenberg, Tucumcari, fourth vice president; C. G. Ackerman, Albuquerque, secretary; Isaac Bacharach, Las Vegas, treasurer.

The next place of meeting will be Las Vegas, provided the city wants the session.

A banquet to visiting delegates will be held at the Alvarado hotel this evening.

The delegates are to be guests of the local association at the fair grounds tomorrow.

The reception committee appointed by the local association for the convention was as follows: J. C. Boyd, chairman, Hunter H. Ward, E. J. Strong, H. S. Lathgow, John Beavens, C. G. Ackerman, Wallace Hesselden, G. A. Matson, C. H. Kapple and C. G. Ackerman.
