Carload Eastern Concords

Now here in Albuquerque the first carload of Concord grapes ever shipped into the state like the Colorado Elbertas, the crop is early and scarce. Since no other carload will reach this city this year and outside prices are rapidly advancing, unless you buy now later purchases will cost you much more for an inferior quality. Ask your grocer.

STAMM-BENJAMIN FRUIT CO.

COMING EVENTS.

Albuquerque Temple No. 8, Pythian Sisters, will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the K. of P. hall.

The Ladies of Carpenters will hold a regular meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the I. O. O. F. hall.

Stated convocation of Rio Grande Chapter No. 4, R. A. M. this evening at 7:30 o'clock. All visiting companions welcome.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Christian church will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon with Mrs. W. E. Holliday, 301 North Third street.

The Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will meet in the church parlors this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Instead of regular program of the Woman's club Friday, October 13, the delegates to the Federation will give their reports and afterwards a reception will be given to new members and it is to be hoped a goodly number of guests will be present to the four members who have the privilege of bringing one non-member as a guest. There will be music and refreshments.

A meeting of the Albuquerque Boy band will be held tonight at 7:30 in the orchestra. Harry Douglas, manager.

The Good Cheer club will meet with Mrs. J. Vaca, 213 West Granite avenue, Friday afternoon, October 13, at 2:30.

"THE MOMENT BEFORE" TODAY AND TOMORROW AT THE LYRIC THEATER

Pauline Frederick, noted for her characterizations of fascinating and alluring women, as well as for her realistic portrayals of sweet, innocent girlhood demonstrates her unusual versatility in the latest Famous Players-Paramount picture, based upon Israel Zangwell's "The Moment Before," appearing at the Lyric Theater today and tomorrow. In this photoplay Miss Frederick adds a new role to her remarkable screen repertoire, that of Madge, a gypsy maid. The story takes her from the camp of her liege husband, John, into the employ of Harold, the second son of the aged Duke of Maldon. Her husband, suspecting his wife and Harold, goes to seek her.

Lionel, the heir to the Duke's estate, heartily disapproves of Madge and while arguing with her is killed by John. Harold, who had quarrelled with his brother previous to the murder, is suspected and advised to flee by the Duke. John and Madge, also fearing capture, take refuge in Australia, where Harold, the present heir, is hiding, unknown to them. The two meet again and a tragic climax is which John is murdered at the hands of his wife. The couple return to England; they marry and rule jointly over the deceased Duke's vast territories. Many years elapse in the aftermath. Madge recalls the prophesy once told her by a fortune teller, that the hour of her death would occur at the stroke of noon. Wishing to leave the world with a lighter heart she devotes her time and wealth to the care of the poor. Whether or not the prediction of death is fulfilled is unfolded in the further development of this Israel Zangwell story.

Improvements Under Way at Ft. Stanton

(Special Correspondence.)

Lincoln, N. M., Oct. 12.—Fort Stanton, New Mexico, is undergoing some extensive repairs and improvements. A million gallon cement storage tank is now under construction at the fort, and in the large kitchen a cement floor with modern drainage and all new fixtures, is being installed.

Dr. Smith, officer in charge, has by his own request, been transferred to Fort Monroe, Virginia, and he with his wife and daughter, Miss Dorothy, will leave for their future home about the 25th of November. The doctor has been in charge of the fort for several years, and has endeared himself to all with whom he has come in contact. Mrs. Smith's many friends will also be sadly missed in the musical circles at the fort. Dr. McKee's
