GREAT PLAYING SEASON IN OPEN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Jock Hutchison Sets a New Record in Chicago Event

SKOKIE COUNTRY CLUB, GLENCOE, Ill., July 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—The second section of players today started their 36-hole trudge around the Skokie course in the qualifying rounds of the national open golf tournament for the finals Thursday and Friday. While 18 players went out, it was foreordained that little more than one-fourth of the stars, Britons, Scots, Americans, many of them famous the world over, would have scores sufficiently low to place them in the championship 72-hole contest. The low 24 automatically qualified and ties for 24th place were expected to add these or four.

The pairings today were so arranged that there were several matches of famous players from which the several thousand spectators could make a selection. The feature match of the day came when Walter Hagen, American-born, who recently won the British open championship, teed up with George Duncan, internationally known British professional.

The course was expected to be in great shape today, Sunday night's rain being just enough to loosen up the fair ways and greens which were becoming very "tight" in the hot sun, to use Abe Mitchell's words. Most of the players say they would be well satisfied to have a little rain daily, but prefer that it come at night. That weather man favored them Sunday night.

Yesterday's golf was probably the greatest ever seen in a qualifying round from many standpoints. Not only did Jock Hutchison set a new tournament record with his 123 for 36 holes—five under par—but there were scores of cheer-forcing shots by famous stars, and several well known players failed to get into the coveted circle of championship contenders and greatest of all from the dramatic standpoint, perhaps, "Chick" Evans, internationally famous for his steadiness, blew up with a 42—8 over par—for his third nine of the day and was able to qualify only by an almost miraculous come-back on the final nine when he shot 35 against par 36.

Hutchison's work was one of the greatest bits of golf ever seen on any course, in the opinion of veterans of the game. The Chicago pro, who formerly held the British open championship, started off badly in both rounds, getting a six and then a five on the par four number one hole, but in each case shot perfectly thereafter. He finished the morning play in 67—three under par—and went out in the afternoon and shot a 68 for a total of 135, placing him eight strokes lower than any one else's play yesterday.

It took a score of 152 to qualify yesterday, one of the lowest marks in any tournament in many years. Previous to the start such veterans as George Duncan had predicted that 154 would qualify but as the course dried out and the greens became lower, they shifted their guesses.

The officials have decided to eliminate the penalty of a stroke on out of bound shots the players losing only their distance.

Rain Hampers Golf Play in Omaha Tourney

OMAHA, Neb., July 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Hopes of record breaking scores in the second day of the qualifying round in the trans-Mississippi golf tournament were literally washed away last night by a slow soaking rain that rendered the course soft as thawing ground.

This helped the chances of Rudolph Knepper of Sioux City, Iowa, to emerge today the medalist. Knepper shot a 71 yesterday and had a margin of three strokes as he left the first tee this morning. It is hardly probable that Graham, Kansas champion, who is three strokes above Knepper and Von Elm present champion, four above, can hold the Princetonian, as his game yesterday showed his perfect command of the pitch shot that will make or break the scores today.

Players believed today following the soaking of last night, that scores higher than have found their way into the championship flight in many years, will appear beside the names of the first 32 players.

Pairings will be made tonight following the completion of the qualifying round. The numerical system will be used.

At the annual banquet tonight the site for the 23rd meeting will probably be decided upon.

LYNCH WINNER OF BANTAMWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP

Johnny Buff Loses Title in Fourteen-Round Go

NEW YORK, July 11.—Jack Lynch, cool and calculating, had not a good left arm last night and permitted Johnny Buff to knock off his own crown—bantamweight championship of the world.

In the beginning Lynch stopped a cut on Buff's lower lip, and from then on it was the challenger's fight. It was apparent in the early rounds when Buff found himself unable to go past that long left arm to land the devastating short blows to the ribs that it was one of those rare occasions where an ex-champion "comes back."

Those times have been few—though dozens have tried. One of the most notable in memory was that of Stanley Ketchell, who took a lacing from Billy Papke and afterwards gave a beating to his conqueror. However, Buff, and Lynch never had met; Lynch had lost his title to Pete Herman and the New Orleans boy had fallen before the "Jersey Sheeler."

As Buff weakened Lynch drove his lefts to the champion's face, bringing it down and across with a powerful movement of the wrist and forearm and then upon occasions, crossing over with a terrific right. Several times he had Buff on the ropes and at other times groggy and half blind.

Buff landed comparatively few blows and missed often. His one hope was a knockout, but his swings were far wide. He had weakened so perceptibly that Lynch sent him crashing to the floor when they flew together in the 14th round. Then Frank Bagley, Buff's chief second knew it would be unfair to ask him to go on. Buff has just recovered from an operation on a neck gland and while he said he was fit, those who have observed him before, knew he wasn't himself last night.

Joe Lynch has to pay nearly $10,000 out of his own pocket for the privilege of wearing the bantamweight championship crown again.

When the receipts and expenses were checked up today it was found that the gate was $9,150.35 short of the guarantee, $20,000. Under the terms of agreement Buff was to receive this sum if he lost his title.

Boxing authorities said it was the first time in ring history in America that a fighter won a title without receiving a cent, to say nothing of paying a big sum to the defeated man.

Yankees Beat Browns In Game Today

Capture First of Series in Fight for League Lead

NEW YORK, July 11.—The New York Americans made progress in an effort to regain the lead in their championship race today when they defeated the St. Louis Browns 2 to 1, in the first of a four-game series the most important played in the American league so far this season.

Urban Shocker, former New York pitcher, was in the box for St. Louis. New York defeated him twice when the Yankees last were in St. Louis and Shocker was out for revenge. Joe Bush was assigned by Huggins to oppose the star pitcher of the Browns.

Third Baseman Ellerbe of St. Louis was out of the game with a lame arm and Robertson, a recruit from Joplin, played his position.

St. Louis got off to a one run lead in the first inning. Tobin greeted Bush with a long single to right. Gerber fouled out and Sisler's infield out advanced Tobin to second. Williams knocked him home with a single to center. Williams was caught napping off first by Bush.

Shocker retired the Yankees in order in the New York half of the first. Witt and McNally expired on easy outfield flies, and Ruth fanned.

New York tied the score with two out in the second inning on a freak home run by Ward. Ward hit a hard liner to deep left and Williams extended his gloved hand in the air for the drive but batted the ball into the bleachers for a home run.

After Bush retired the Browns in order in the first half of the third, the Yankees missed a scoring chance in their half. Schang led off with a long single and was sacrificed to second by Bush but both Witt and McNally filed out to Williams.

St. Louis wasted two hits in the fourth. Williams singled with one out but was caught stealing. McManus also singled but Jacobson fanned for the second time.

Pipp reached second for New York in its half on a single and Sisler's muff of Shocker's throw to catch him napping, but Ward lined out to Jacobson.

Severeid opened St. Louis fifth with his second single. He was forced by Robertson, who stole second. Shocker filed to Witt and Tobin was out on strikes. Shockers pitched himself out of a difficult hole in the second half. Schang singled with one out and took third on Bush's single. Shocker then struck out both Witt and McNally.

Bush retired the Browns in the sixth on four pitched balls, sending Sisler back for a third time.

New York took the lead with a tainted run in its half. Ruth hit a towering fly to short right and when Tobin muffed it Ruth headed for third. Tobin followed with a second error, a wild throw over Robertson's head, and Ruth scored. Pipp singled but never left first.

Bush again set the Browns back in order in the seventh, showing his best brand of pitching since early in the season. Witt singled for New York with two out, but was caught stealing.

Sisler again failed to hit in the eighth when he had a fine chance to tie the score. Tobin and Gerber both singled with two out, but Sisler forced Gerber at second on a grounder to Ward.

Williams rolled out to Pipp to start the ninth. McManus drew Bush's first base on balls. Jacobson then smashed into a double play, giving New York the victory by a score of 2 to 1.

Wife and Sister Sparring Partners

SAMMY GOOD, COAST LIGHTWEIGHT; JOSEPHINE, SISTER, AND BESS, HIS WIFE.

By NEA Service

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—Sammy Good was fair as a fighter before his sister, Josephine, and his wife, Bess, began training but now he's one of the best lightweights on the Pacific coast.

The two handsome and determined young ladies put the squeeze into Sammy's career by slicing his face smoothly with the gloves—every day during the critical period of his development.

"I'll tell the world it was crucial," says Good, with a grin. "It was cruel and unusual."

"While in Arizona in the training camp I needed sparring partners. My wife and my sister were keen to don the gloves. So I taught them. They learned surprisingly fast.

"They used to come at me like wildcats, and because they knew I wouldn't knock 'em for the count they made it exceedingly hot for me. Honestly, I ... the race of 'em for greatly increasing my speed and footwork. They have learned to fight like veterans."

Mrs. Tom Gardners (the lightweight's real family name) and Mrs. Josephine McClellan, recently married still take a prominent part in Sammy's training.

"I'd rather lose than win," says Josephine. "As a school kid I had several hysterical breakdowns fighting. You nobody ever licked Josephine and even brother Sammy.

"Now, we think the other girls know I can and will use my fists if occasion demands. Consequently I am not subject to that sore and small with which women are so free because they fear no physical retaliation.

"It's a lot better to enjoy with your fists than with a sharp tongue. And since bobbed locks have made hair-pulling easy to impossible I believe the art of self-defense will no longer be exclusively manly."

In 22 fights Sammy Good has lost but one, to Benny Valgar. He has—"thanks to effort and water's swimming"—licked such as Young Hoppe, Kid Dixon, Eddie Langdon, Walter Kane, Jack Daley and Young Murrell.

Return—"Good time now to invest in a Kansas farm", say the wise ones, according to Sheriff Finney who recently has sold a number of farms at the sheriff's sale. In each instance the farm brought only the amount of the mortgage, the sheriff stated. On this basis he figures the farms in question are considered worth only about half what they were two or three years ago. "No stampede here to the farm is noticeable", said the sheriff. "Prices warrant the supposition that a Kansas farm is a good investment".
