RALEIGH NOTES.

The News and Gossip In and Around the Capital.

Saw mill men look at Hal. M. Worth's notice in this issue.

The Railroad Commissioners have postponed their final action regarding the lowering of the rates to June 15th.

Mr. James H. Eaniss who has been quite sick for the past week, was reported as being some better yesterday afternoon, we are glad to state.

Chief Police Heartt has received a very neatly gotten up invitation to the Annual Parade and Review of the Police force of New York, June 1st next.

Did you see Berwangers windows yesterday? If not, stop on your way down town to day and take a look. His display of scarfs and other furnishing goods is hard to beat.

Mr. Dughi, having seen in a paper in this city that St. John's Hospital needed help, proposes to give five gallons of ice cream as his portion and thinks if others will contribute, a festival can be held and a snug sum realized.

Our enterprising merchants do a good business in the state but Eberhardt & Pescud are stretching out further. They have recently filled ordes for their fine herring and other fish for Virginia and South Carolina.

Yesterday deputy sheriff W. W. King brought three convicts to the city, who took apartments in the Tavern de State. They will take special courses in brick laying and ditch digging in the Roanoke section as soon as the regulation uniforms can be procured.

A swarthy youth of tender years was before His Honor, Mayor Badger, yesterday, who was "excused of cussin on de streets" as he put it. It was also proved that in addition to the cussin he had threatened a brother in black with a powerful lampooning if he just waited till he had mailed his letters. His Honor said that if his mammy would administer the lampooning to the lampooner he might go with a warning. The dose was administered and he went his way.

The application of the Western Union Telegraph Company to the Railroad Commission for a modification of the order making the charges for the transmission of messages uniform throughout the State, was argued by Judge Strong, the general counsel for the company, on the 28th instant. On yesterday the Commission announced its decision declining to modify the order, but suspending its operation from the first to the fifteenth of June. It is thought the company will accept the result without appeal to the courts.

There was a very singular feature in regard to the opening of Swindell yesterday—they actually had to call in the police to prevent the people from taking the place. They came from the country and they came from the city—in the pouring rain they onward bent their way. The store was packed with people who wanted some of those wonderful bargains they had read about in the CHRONICLE. The store was finally closed and they packed the sidewalk—never was such a scene witness here before. See what judicious advertising will do.

Change of Schedule.

There will be a change of schedule on the Richmond & Danville Railroad, Sunday, May 31st., but the change will in no wise affect the arrival and departure of trains at Raleigh, except train No 14, from Richmond, Va., via Keysville, will not reach Raleigh until 10 40 p. m.

Local freight trains Nos. 62 and 63, with passenger coach attached, heretofore running daily except Sundays, between Selma and Greensboro, will hereafter run between Raleigh and Greensboro.

Funeral.

The Funeral services over the remains of the late Henderson Reaves were held from his residence on East Martin Street yesterday at 2 p. m., and were conducted by Rev. Dr. Carter, of the First Baptist Church, and Rev. Dr. Nash, of Centenary M. E. Church, a large circle of relatives and friends being present.

The following were the pall bearers: Messrs. Sherwood House, R. C. Redfern, Wesley Whitaker, Caswell Pollard, Frank Brannan and Hugh Earp.

The floral offerings were beautiful. Interment in City Cemetery.

Special Trains for the University Commencement at Chapel Hill.

On Wednesday, June 3rd, and Thursday, June 4th, special trains will run from Chapel Hill to Durham and return. Citizens of Raleigh can leave on the Oxford and Keysville train at 8.15 a. m. and reach Chapel Hill at 10:50 a. m., in time to see all the commencement exercises, returning to Raleigh the same night. A coach will run through from Raleigh.

The public are cordially invited to attend the commencement exercises.

COMING AND GOING.

Some of the Folks You Know and Their Doings.

Mr. G. W. Hinshaw, one of the most active business men of Winston, was here yesterday.

Miss Turner, the daughter of Hon. H. G. Turner, member of Congress from Georgia, is visiting her uncle, Dr. V. E. Turner.

Senator J. T. Reid, of McDowell county, member of the Board of Public Charities, was in Raleigh yesterday to attend a meeting appointed by the chairman, but owing to sickness in Dr. Haywoods family the meeting was postponed. The CHRONICLE was delighted with a visit.

Messrs. H. N. Kingsbury, of Massachusetts; J. L. McKinney, of Ohio; and H. H. Whitmore, of Minnesota, are in the city stopping at the Yarboro House. These gentlemen are prominent Odd Fellows and are here for the purpose of consulting Grand Sire Busbee upon matters of importance connected with the order.

It Was Eugene Hood.

The CHRONICLE yesterday published the facts as ascertained up to the time of going to press about the accidental killing of the young man at Princeton, and stated from all the information attainable it was probably a young man who had gone on the excursion to New Berne on the Tabernacle church pic nic by the name of Eugene Hood.

Yesterday the brother and uncle of the deceased went down to Princeton for the purpose of viewing the remains and ascertaining if it were Eugene Hood. Later in the day the following telegram was received from Mr. Ed. Hood, his brother: "It is my brother, meet me at train."

As the Eastern train from Goldsboro came in, the depot was crowded with the friends and acquaintances of young Hood and many relatives including his mother and other members of the family.

The following were the pall bearers: Messrs. Frank Bryant, Claud Blalock, M. L. Marcom, W. D. Upchurch, George Watson, and John Hardie. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall, of the Tabernacle Baptist Church.

The remains were taken at once to Oakwood Cemetery where the funeral service and interment took place.

This was a very sad and lamentable affair, and it has never been ascertained just how the accident occurred that terminated in his death, but it is supposed to have happened as the CHRONICLE reporter stated in yesterday's issue.

A Bad Accident.

An accident occurred late yesterday afternoon which may terminate fatally. A team belonging to Mr. Pat Johns was put up at Mr. Alfred Upchurch's shop, and late in the afternoon the driver, a colored man, hitched up and started for home. In pulling out of the yard, his wheel ran against a post of the shed and knocking it down, the whole shed collapsed.

The mules and wagon were far enough out to escape the crash, but one of the joists was thrown out and struck the driver in the small of the back, crushing him down in the wagon. He was extricated and taken in a carriage to the Leonard Hospital, where his injuries were looked after. He seemed to be badly hurt.

Memorial Ceremonies.

The Memorial Services at the National Cemetery in this city to-day will be conducted under the direction of Gen. Meade Post, of the Grand Army of the Republic. Assembling at the Postoffice at 3 o'clock p. m. and proceeding in carriages to the cemetery.

The exercises will be informal—no speaker having been provided. Miniature flags will be a feature of the decoration in the absence of sufficient flowers. All kindly disposed citizens are cordially invited to attend.

THE WORLD'S COMMERCE.

(By The United Press.)

NEW YORK, May 29, 1891. Messrs. Hubbard, Price & Company, in their cotton circular to night say: "The fear of heavy tenders on June contracts in Liverpool continues to depress values there, and sales of the near positions by one of the more prominent houses in that market is the cause assigned for a decline there of two points in futures. This decline came as a surprise to our market, for an important response to the strength shown here yesterday had been expected. The result has been a loss of about five points in the value of the near positions, while new crops are from six to seven points lower, the decline in the distant months has been assisted by the exhibition on the Exchange of two well-matured cotton bolls from Nueces county, Tex., which is, however within 25 degrees of the equator. The interior movement promises to be about 7,000 bales, against 1,736 last year, which points to a plantation movement of of about 17,000 bales. At the close prices were steady. The Exchange will be closed to morrow (Decoration Day) and will not be opened until 11 o'clock on Monday."

Receipts at ports to day estimated at 6,000 bales, against 9,958 bales last week, and 134 bales the same week last year.

The spot market is easy at 1 64 decline on quotations; middling uplands 8 7-8; sales 219 bales.
