DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Greatest in leavening strength, a spoonful raises more dough, or goes further.

Working uniformly and perfectly, it makes the bread and cake always light and beautiful, and there is never caused a waste of good flour, sugar, butter and eggs.

With finer food and a saving of money comes the saving of the health of the family, and that is the greatest economy of all.

NOTE.—Many mixtures made in imitation of baking powders are upon the market. They are sold cheap, but are dear at any price, because they contain alum, a corrosive poison.

Mozart Symphony Club.

The audience that greeted the Mozart Symphony Club at the New Grand Thursday night was not so large as the merits of the company deserved. Those present however were the music loving and music appreciating people of our city, and they were highly entertained. We have never seen four people produce a better entertainment than the one given by this club last night.

Every one of the four members is an artist, and the different instruments and combinations of instruments in the well arranged programme gave a variety to the music that was most pleasing.

The Versatile Mr. Stoeizer distinguished himself by his viola solo and "In the Gypsy Camp," a descriptive piece of his own composition in which he plays 12 different instruments to the accompanying music of the other instruments.

The cello and DeGamba solos by Mr. Mario Biodock were revelations to our music lovers and his performance elicited the warmest applause.

Herr Theodor Hoch was a great success and the audience seemed never to tire of his music whether on the cornet, the Alpine echo horn or the Roman triumphal trumpet. His overflow of good humor and his jolly manner made him a prime favorite.

Miss Marie Stori, soprano and violinist, captured the hearts of her audience from the start. She has a beautiful soprano voice with full clear tones and her singing was highly enjoyed. Her violin playing was a delightful revelation, her technique and execution being practically above criticism, and her expression gave to her playing a charm that lulled to sweet forgetfulness of all save the lovely melodies that seemed to float from the softly vibrating chords.

A Social Evening.

A most delightful though informal affair took place at the Commercial hotel parlors Wednesday night. Prof. Harry H. Carter, of Rochester, New York, a guest at the hotel, had a large phonograph which, through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Coon, he opened up in the parlor. The hotel guests were invited into the parlor and highly entertained for a time.

Mr. Al Burtram Morris, a guest at the hotel, was introduced and read a number of selections from James Whitcomb Riley, very much to the amusement of his listeners.

Mr. Lawton Gordon gave some excellent piano selections which were greatly enjoyed, as his music always is. He was accompanied in some of his selections by the tenor drum played by Master Carleton Coon, who is quite a little artist with this instrument.

The evening was highly enjoyed by all present.

ENGLAND'S NEW QUEEN.

Characteristics and Customs of the Much Admired First Lady of England.

The daughter of a king herself, one of her sisters married Czar Alexander III., emperor of Russia, and at the time of his death she stayed for some time with her sister, the czarina; her other sister is the duchess of Cumberland. She herself is very queenly and well fitted for her splendid position, for she has a very dignified and graceful bearing, while at the same time she has an almost magnetic charm of manner and a royal knack of always saying and doing the right, which is always, too, the kind, thing, says the London Mail.

She is never very stringent in her rules of etiquette. "Won't you sit down?" she says at the very first symptom of fatigue, and she is so winning and natural in her manner and so eager to be interested and amused that conversation with her is always very easy. Simplicity is the keynote of her character, and at Sandringham she leads the quietest and happiest life.

She is out all day long in fine weather with her dogs, and indoors is generally surrounded by her grandchildren, who are devoted to her and whom she also adores, more especially Prince Edward of York, who, however, has a great attachment for "gran-gran"—as he called his illustrious great-grandmother. When parties are staying in the house there is a very pleasant absence of ceremony, and oftentimes the princess has gone to some favorite visitor's bedroom and chatted with her while she dressed or brushed her hair; or, again, she would go round with her guests to the stables to introduce them to her favorite horses or show them her dogs. When she visits the kennels she wears a white apron with the pockets bulging out with bread.

The queen is the most indefatigable letter writer. Thirty or forty letters from her own pen is no unusual daily occurrence, and she often sends off a number of telegrams, too. While Miss Knollys, who is her favorite attendant, has very often written over a hundred letters a day, all of which are under a special personal supervision.

The queen, too, is very particular about her writing paper, and only likes to use one particular sort, which is rather rough, of a creamy color, with the address stamped in red at one corner. She writes often in the most affectionate strain, and she has several friends whom she calls by their Christian names.

Spain's National Sport.

Bull-fighting, Spain's national sport, was supposed to be too strongly intrenched in the spirit and traditions of the people ever to become distasteful to them, but it now appears destined to be swept away before the march of civilization. At a recent mass meeting in Barcelona, the scene of many a gory contest between matador and bull, resolutions were passed condemning the sport as cruel and brutalizing, and calling upon the government to suppress it throughout the peninsula. The fact attests the power of the humanizing ideas and influences which, slowly but surely, are transforming the world into a better and happier abiding-place for man and animal alike.—Youth's Companion.

Funeral services took place at the Methodist church at three o'clock Monday afternoon. Dr. E. C. Gordon, Rev. Z. M. Williams and Rev. E. N. Gino, of Wellington, conducted the funeral services.

Mrs. Gaile was formerly Miss Katharine Duck, daughter of Mr. Davis Duck, who was for a number of years postmaster at Wellington, Mo.

MRS. PRISCILLA HARRIS.

Died, at her home in Kansas City, Sunday, March 31st, Mrs. Priscilla Harris, aged 79 years.

She was the daughter of the late Capt. Henry Wallace, and was born in Woodford county, Ky., May 21st, 1822. In 1839 she was married to Randolph Dieujeoid Harris. They moved to Missouri in 1858 and settled on a farm near Wellington, Lafayette county. They raised a family of ten children, seven of whom survive their parents, Mr. Harris having died in 1875. Mrs. Harris also leaves one sister, Mrs. Dora W. Carter, and two brothers, Messrs. H. C. and G. O. Wallace to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Harris united with the Presbyterian church when quite young. She loved the church and was a regular attendant at the services until failing health prevented her going. She raised her children in the fear of the Lord. They will ever remember her wise counsel and Christian example.

"One less on earth!
Its pain, its sorrow and its toil to share;
One less the pilgrim's daily cross to bear;
One more the crown of ransomed soul to wear,
At home in heaven.

"One more in heaven!
Another thought to brighten cloudy days,
Another theme for thankfulness and praise
Another link on high our souls to raise
To home in Heaven!

"One more at home—
That home where separation can not be,
That home where none are missed eternally,
Lord, Jesus, grant us all a place with Thee,
At home in Heaven!"

Ever since the construction of the M. K. & T. Ry. through the Indian Territory its local passenger rate between stations in the Indian Territory has been on the basis of five cents a mile. The customary rate of passenger fares on railroads, except in sparcely settled country, is three cents a mile. The population of the Indian Territory during the past few years has grown rapidly; there has been a large increase in passenger traffic on this account, and the Katy officials recognizing the wants of the people and the justice of so doing, have voluntarily arranged to reduce the local passenger rate to a basis of three cents a mile. This reduction will take place on or about November first. There will be great rejoicing among the residents along the line of the M. K. & T.
