BRIDGE PARTY.

Mrs. Jno. O. Pritchard was hostess at a one o'clock luncheon last Friday and delighted the guests in a most charming manner.

The guests arrived at the Gran Quivira at the appointed hour and were immediately ushered into the sun parlor where their places at the tables were designated with pretty place cards decorated with roses—the rose theme and decorations being fragrant and delicious throughout.

After lunch the ladies were asked into Mrs. Pritchard's apartment where they enjoyed several interesting games of bridge. Mrs. W. P. Mersfelder being the successful contestant, was awarded a very beautiful hand made dresser cover. Mrs. Mandell was also given a hand made doily, for consolation, and Miss Johnson of Las Vegas, received a bouquet of American beauty roses.

The ladies present were: Mesdames Tracy, Lindley, Reed, Gibson, Parker, Jefferson, Miller, Chapman, Mayhall, Stevens, Mandell, Peters, Mersfelder, Jones and Miss Johnson of Las Vegas.

MORE HEIDER TRACTORS.

Another car load of Heider tractors was received by E. J. Dennis this week and two of them were sold before the car was unloaded.

Louise Huff and Jack Pickford scored a tremendous success in "Seventeen" which was shown here a short time ago. The co-star again in "Great Expectations" at the Lyceum Tuesday, August 28th.

EPISCOPAL SERVICES.

There will be services at the Episcopal church on Sunday morning and evening, Sept. 2, conducted by Rev. Walter Stephen Trowbridge of Michigan City, Ind. A special invitation is extended to everyone to come.

If you had an older sister with a frightful temper and had encountered a desperate escaped convict in your efforts to elude your irate sister, with which one of these perils would you finally elect to risk your well being? Pip (Jack Pickford) tries to placate the criminal and dodge his sister in "Great Expectations" at the Lyceum Tuesday, August 28th.

EPWORTH LEAGUE ENTERTAINED.

Miss Czeghenye Taylor entertained the Epworth League at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. W. Skarda. With music and games on the lawn, the evening was pleasantly spent. Refreshments of fruit salad smalac and wafers were enjoyed.

Pip's adventures at the hands of Miss Havisham, his love affair with the delightful Estella, the mysterious legacy which makes him wealthy, and the final shocking discovery of the source of his wealth are all factors in this absorbing story, set in the romantic atmosphere of which Dickens drew such sweeping pen pictures. "Great Expectations" at the Lyceum, Tuesday, August 28th.

F. L. Ohrmann, who has been a machinist in the Santa Fe shops, left the first of the week for Temple, Tex. He registered there and is among those chosen for Uncle Sam's service.

Cockroaches Older Than Man.

The despised and ludicrous cockroach is one of the most remarkable of living things. It has existed in its present form ever since the Archaeozoic age, billions of years ago. During that time whole families have lived and died. Man is a newcomer on the face of the earth compared with the cockroach. All evidence of this shows that the insect is a type which skilfully turned to survive and in fact are most insects. They are the only form of life which even lice and coughing and are for that reason his most dangerous enemies in the animal world.

One of the biggest, strongest, snappiest plays that's ever been handed to Clovis movie fans is "The Patriot" with Wm. S. Hart, at the Lyceum with Lonesome Luke, Wednesday, Aug. 29.

J. T. Stalcup and J. T. Baisden are advertising a joint public sale to be held on the Stalcup farm August 27. These two gentlemen have recently purchased the Akers furniture store in the Croft building on Grand Ave. and will move to Clovis. They have also purchased the furnishings of Mrs. Pendergrass rooming house in the upper story of the Croft building and will combine that in connection with the furniture business.

"The Patriot" with Wm. S. Hart has all the power and vigor of "Hell's Hinges" without a woman in the cast. It has its full share of heart interest and plays upon the chords of human affection, with a master hand and makes them vibrant at its every crisis. The usual love story is replaced by love of country and by love for a little child in the heart of a strong man. Lyceum, Wednesday, August 29th.

Rubber Producing Plants.

Of all rubber producing plants only guayule grows wild within our borders. In the Big Bend territory in Texas a large district, only second in size to the Chihuahuan field in Mexico, is available. Why not extend this field over the arid lands of New Mexico, Arizona and Nevada? Waste land would be utilized, and a valuable product secured. Guayule is not new to the American rubber man, unfortunately it is almost ancient history to him. It is safe to say that there are scattered over this country at least forty defesinating plants, intended primarily for the treatment of this rubber. At one time they furnished about one-fifth of the entire rubber used in this country. The total production of the Mexican guayule fields was about 10,000 tons of the washed and dried, but not defesinated, rubber a year, from 1905 to 1910. In 1911 it began to fall off, and the recorded production for 1912 is 3,500 tons. About 80 per cent of this production was exported to the United States. Since 1912 guayule has been comparatively unimportant.—Metallurgical and Chemical Engineering.

"A Girl Like That."

Mrs. Frances Coulter, who has furnished rooms in the Owen building, reports to the News that she had her apartments burglarized in broad daylight one day the past week. The intruder entered her apartments while she was away shopping and when no one was on the floor of the building where her rooms are. The dresser drawers were upturned and the intruder ransacked nearly everything in the house, so Mrs. Coulter says, but she missed nothing as he evidently found no valuables he thought worth while taking along.

"Who is Zapilla?" Why Zapata and Villa! Two Mexican bandits kneaded into one for Wm. S. Hart in "The Patriot" at the Lyceum, Wednesday, August 29th.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Services at the Baptist church were conducted at the morning hour last Sunday in memory of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rawlings. Mr. L. A. Roll gave a review of the deceased child's life. Margaret Culpepper sang sweetly "Asleep in Jesus." Rev. Culpepper, the pastor, addressed comforting words to the bereaved parents. The church was very beautifully decorated with ferns, flowers and white crepe paper.

DIED LAST WEEK.

Miss Leta Foreman died last Thursday morning after a lingering illness which she bore with real Christian fortitude. Miss Foreman has been sick for many months and was called just as she was entering into what should have been the most enjoyable part of her life, as she was only twenty years of age. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Culpepper.

The glamour of the elopement seems to hold pretty Louise Huff in its spell. She eloped in a motor car in "Seventeen." Now she slides down a grape vine to make her escape and join her lover in "Great expectations" at the Lyceum, Tuesday, August 28th.

SHORT OF HELP.

The News has been working to a great disadvantage during the past week on account of being short of help. We will add another printer to our force next week and will be in better position to care for our work.

Here is a photoplay in which the heroine is a crook and the hero is anything but the matinee idol type of man. Irene Fenwick and Owen Moore in "A Girl Like That."

It was a pointed question. She was neither married to the native man nor the American. Her passport labelled her as the American's wife. Yet he did not know her standing in Russia. He did know that her beauty, charm and wit assisted her entrance to high society and she was a girl of mystery and rare skill.
