Local and Special.

Dixie for February is a model magazine.

Read Mr. Tillman's reply to Senator Ypumans.

We call attention to the card of J. E. Wilkes in this issue.

The hardware store of W. L. Boyd, has been handsomely refitted and improved.

Greenville cotton factories are behind on orders for goods and report a splendid business.

Superintendent Belknap of the Georgia Central Railroad, passed through this place on Saturday.

Everybody is in a good humor and working with a will. This beats growling about hard times.

Some men can't find anything to do, but they cannot be pitied; for, if perchance they should find it, they would be miserable.

A congregational meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday next, for the purpose of transacting important business.

It will soon be too late to plant shade trees, and this is a most important matter. A few hours spent in this work will never be regretted.

An exchange thinks that Heaven is not the only city with "streets of gold," as Charlotte, N. C., is being paved with the finest gold bearing quarts.

A large lot of Guano just recived at Sullivan & Milams Ora S. C. Call on them, they will sell you at lowest possible prices. 2t

We acknowledge an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of the Augusta Medical College. Compliments of Drs. W. R. Harris and W. D. Fowler of this County, who are among the fifty graduates.

The Allen Cunningham arson case created great interest in Court on Friday. Johnson & Richey represented the prisoner and managed the defence admiraoly. Mr. Johnson made a telling speech of two hours.

Now is the time for merchants to sow Spring advertisements. The best method is by using the columns of The ADVERTISER, as by this means they are more thoroughly distributed and at less expense than by any other.

The Birmingham craze is on the wane. From the number of new industries to be started, and good paying enterprise needed, which the near future will develop at this place, Laurens is likely to create a simular sensation.

Congressman Cothran has gone to Washington to "learn the ropes" before assuming his office. His high culture and pleasing manners will make him very popular at the capitol, while his sound judgment and eloquence will command attention in the House of Representatives.

Rev. Mark L. Carlisle, youngest son of Rev. Jno. M. Carlisle, spent a few days visiting his fathers family at this place last week. Mr. Carlisle was accompanied by his bride Miss Annie M. Rast, of Orangeburg. He was admitted to conference last winter, and has charge of the Clifton circuit.

Mr. Edward Carswell, the celebrated Canadian temperance lecturer spoke to a good audience in the college chapel on Thursday evening. He is an earnest and eloquent speaker, and delivered a most excellent address on the evils of intemperance, which was replete with sparkling anecdotes and sound advice.

Deaths.

We regret to learn of the death of Mack Mitchell, a most estimable citizen of Fork Shoals neighborhood, which occured on Thursday last. He died very suddenly of heart disease.

Also, Mrs. Langston, wife of Barnett Langston, of Lanford Station, which occurred on the 28th inst., after a lingering illness.

Give us Relief.

The matter of having freight trains stand across the main thoroughfare of this city for nearly an hour every few days, is simply an outrage. We have time and again spoken of this nuisance at the main street crossing, near the G. L. & S. Depot.

It frequently happens that the road is blockaded on either side with horses, wagons, carriages and even pedestrians, who must wait for several cars to be emptied before they can use the public highway.

This was the case on Thursday afternoon and a number of ladies who were driving were compelled to stand in the road 32 minutes.

This is wrong, but there is a remedy. We call upon our city council to pass an ordinance against blockading the street longer then five minutes. It is an easy matter to uncouple the train so as to open the highway, if the engineers would take the trouble to do it. A fine of $10.00 would remind them of the accommodation of others. By all means pass the ordinance.

Court.

The present Term of the Court of Sessions has been long and tedious and has resulted in sending a strong delegation to the penitentiary. The following is a list of those convicted.

Arthur Perkins—assault and Battery with intent to Ravish, Guilty.

Wm Evins—Endangoring Safety of persons on R. R. Car, Guilty

Max Zarek—Selling liquor without license, Guilty.

Ike Richardson—Assault and Battery high and aggravated nature, Guilty.,

Mose Brown—Arson, Guilty.

C. M. Compton—Selling liquor without license, Guilty.

Jno D. Shehan—Selling liquor without license, Guilty.

Allen Cunningham—Selling liquor without license, Guilty.

R. L. Bishop—Selling liquor without license, Guilty.

George Pool—Selling liquor without license, Guilty.

James Mackey—Burglary and Larceny Guilty.

Lou Coon—Vagrancy, Guilty.

Ike Mack— " "

Annie Sullivan " "

The State vs. George Sullivan, assaul and battery with intent to kill, and an assault and battery of a high and aggrevated nature. Verdict, guilty as to second count.

The State vs. John Washington and Jim Mack, burglary and larceny Guilty, with recommendation to mercy.

The State vs. Abe Barksdale, grand larceny. Plead guilty.

The State vs. Wm. Bryson, receiving stolen goods. Guilty.

The State vs. Gus Yeargin, larceny.

Lisbon Farmers' Club.

Lisbon Farmers' Club met February the 15th, 1887, and elected officers for the present year, which resulted as follows: Dr. Wms. Wright, President; Lex Smith Vice President; W. S. Cunninghan, Secretary; J. D. M. Shaw, Corresponding Secretary; A. B. Holmes, Treasurer. Committee to present subjects for discussion, J. D. M. Shaw, R. H. Young, and B. F. Terry. The subject for the day being, Preparation, cultivation and the cost of raising corn per bushel. The subject seemed to elicit more than ordinary interest. The prevailing thought was that we must give this important crop more attention. Deep preparation, thorough cultivation, with a handful of manure to the hill, will insure a good crop with ordinary seasons. None of the members had estimated the cost per bushel, but all agree that it was cheaper to raise than to buy it. With last years experience fresh in our minds, we hope the farmers will not risk all their corn on bottom lands. With good crops and prohibition in August the farmers of Lisbon Club will thank God and take courage.

W. L. CUNNINGHAM, Sec'y.

Another Art Craze.

The latest art work among ladies is known as the "French craze" for decorating china, glassware etc. It is something entirely new, and is both profitable and fascinating. It is very popular in New York Boston and other Eastern cities. To ladies desiring to learn the Art, we will send an elegant china plaque (size 18 inches,) handsomely decorated, for a model, together with box of material, 100 colored designs assorted in flowers, animals, soldiers, landscapes, etc., complete, with full instructions, upon receipt of only $1.00. The plaque alone is worth more than the amount charged. To ever lady ordering this outfit who encloses the address of five other ladies interested in Art matters, to whom we can mail our new catalogue of Art Goods, we will enclose extra and without charge an imitation hand painted brass plaque. Instruction book in painting, 10 colored pictures &c. only 15c. Embroidery silk, best quality, all colors, 50c. per bottle. Tinsel braid, gold or silver, for art embroidery and needle work, large ball, only 25c. Macrame cord, white 50c per lb., any color, 60c per pound. Other goods at equally low prices.

CLINTON.

"J."

The recent heavy rains have somewhat retarded farm operations, but the opportunity has been appropriated by our country friends, to haul out their fertilizers and other farm supplies, so that there has been very little loss of time. All the oats sown in the fall were so badly winter killed as to necessitate a re-sowing, which has been done, and the prospect is very bright for a fair yield of that popular forage crop. The acreage in wheat is large, and old farmers say they have never seen the young plant look more promising.

The merchants of our town, ever characterized by a spirit of liberality and fair dealings are furnishing supplies on the most reasonable terms. Fertilizers are selling lower than ever known before. It is true that crops were short last year, and our people are not rich, yet a large per cent of those purchasing supplies in this market are paying cash. Our Clinton Bank is doing a splendid business for its managers, as well as furnishing our merchants and farmers with all the money they need to conduct their business on a cash basis, thus virtualy doing away with that abomination, the lien law.

Our young friend R. S. Craig, who went to Florida some time since, has been heard from. He has established himself in business at Lisbon, in Orange County. We predict for 1200, as he is familiarly called, a bright future.

The Orphanage is in condition to add to the number of its inmates. Something like a dozen new children have been added recently, and there is still room for a few deserving whole orphans.

Rev. Mr. Miller has purchased of Mr. J. W. Copeland his late residence on Main street, and moved into it.

Mr. H. Y. Vance is building on Centennial street, a very pretty cottage, and he and his young family will soon be in a home of their own.

Mr. Harrison and family of Reidville, have been on a visit recently to the family of Prof. Smith.

Mrs. Coleman and family of New Market, paid a visit recently to Mrs. J. A. Bailey.

Mrs. Col. J. H. Irby is visiting the sick family of her son Dr. W. C. Irby.

Messrs S. F. and H. Y. Vance, W. B. Owens, J. M. Blakeley and G. W. Bailey, all of Clinton, are in attendance as Jurors at the present term of court.

HIGHLAND HOME.

OBSERVER

The rains have descended upon the earth and it is thoroughly wet. Consequently the plows have been stopped for the past two weeks, and farmers are getting behind.

We observe in our travels around nealy every farmer is making his own fertilizer. Nearly every one has gone to the woods and is raking up the litter and is either hauling into his field or composting with other manure.

We predict that next fall those who have made the most compost will be the least troubled in paying their guano and other bills. We do not think it best to quit the guano entirely, but would say leave off one-half and make up with home-made manure.

Since our last the Great Kesper has been in our community. Only a few days ago Mr. J. T. Owens, a highly respected and most useful citizen, was buried at Warrior Creek.

On yesterday we attended the burial of Mr. W. M. Mitchell at Chestnut Ridge. He died at Fork Shoals, Greenville County, on last Friday morning.—The Rev. J. B. Pitts, whilst paying the last tribute to him, said that his message was to the living. After the sermon the remains were turned over to the Masonic order and were interred by them.—Thus one by one our most useful citizens are called from labor to reward.

No other news of importance.

Ladies, look here!

We offer advantages to cash buyers that will never be found in the beaten path of regular trade. We buy immense job lots from bankrupt concerns who are forced to sell, and our prices are fast, excessive, and CHUSHING! Everything we give them and lie is But will not and cannot lie!

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Agricultural and Mechanical Association of Laurens County on Sale Day in March next. All the officers are requested to be present. They are as follows: Vice-Presidents—J. Wash. Watts, J. Wade Anderson, J. A. Jones, J. E. Goodgion, C. Lark, R. C. Davis, W. B. Fuller, J. B. Wharton and W. A. McClintock. Secretary—A. Cannon. Treasurer—L. E. Irby. Executive Committee—W. P. Harris, S. W. Vance, James Bell, J. R. Anderson, J. G. Williams, Dr. J. S. Wolfl, Dr. F. M. Setzler, J. D. M. Shaw and Dr. W. J. Balentine.

N. J. HOLMES, President.

Gray Heads in Congress.

There is a great deal of old material yet in congress, despite the fact that many of the statesmanic landmarks have been removed during the past few years. In the senate, Morrill, of Vermont, stands out as the oldest man, being 76 years of age, while his colleague, Edmunds, is 68. Payne, of Ohio, is also 76 years old, but falls short of Morrill by seven months. Dawes, of Massachusetts, is 70, although he does not look 65. Wade Hampton, of South Carolina; Evarts, of New York, and Sawyer, of Wisconsin, have withstood the blasts of 63 winters and the heat of as many summers. Evarts looks much the oldest of the trio. Conger, of Michigan, is spry, but has worn 69 years. Wilson, of Maryland, and Brown, of Georgia, are each 65, while Beck, of Kentucky, is 64. Pugh, of Alabama, is 66, and Salsbury, the rusty bachelor from Delaware, is 69, and looks it.

There is no one in the house so old as the two oldest senators. Judge Kelley, the father of the house, the venerable Pennsylvania protectionist, leads the list. He is 72. But Eldridge, of Michigan, it is said, is quite as old. Plumb, of Illinois, is 70, while the directory records Waite, of Connecticut, at 75, which must be an error. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, is 69. Reagan, the ex-Confederate postmaster general and treasurer, the pride of Texas, is 68, as is also Singleton, of Mississippi. Barbour, of Virginia, 66; ditto Lindsley, of New York. Charley O'Neill, of Pennsylvania, is 63; Wadsworth, of New York, the same, and Geddes, of Ohio, makes up a good 62. The old men in the senate seem to be much more aged in actions than those in the house.—Indianapolis Journal.

A Great Sea on Fire.

The shores of the Caspian abound in naphtha springs extending for miles under the sea, the imprisoned gases of this volatile substance often escaping from fissures in its bed and bubbling up in large volumes to the surface. This circumstance has given rise to the practice of "setting the sea on fire," which is thus described by a modern traveler: "Hiring a steam barge we put out to sea, and, after a lengthy search, found a suitable spot. Our boat having moved round to windward, a sailor threw a bundle of burning flax into the sea, when floods of light dispelled the surrounding darkness. No fireworks, no illuminations, are to be compared to the sight that presented itself to our eyes. It was as though the sea trembled convulsively amid thousands of shooting, dancing tongues of flame of prodigious size. Now they emerged from the water, now they disappeared. At one time they soared aloft and melted away; at another a gust of wind divided them into bright streaks of flame, the foaming, bubbling billows making music to the scene. In compliance with the wishes of some of the spectators our barge was steered toward the flames and passed through the midst of them, a somewhat dangerous experiment, as the barge was employed in the transport of naphtha and was pretty well saturated with the fluid. However, we escaped without accident and gazed for an hour longer on the unwonted spectacle of a sea on fire."—Moscow Vedomosti.

Curious Custom in Java.

A curious custom of the natives of Java in the neighborhood of the Bromo volcano is recorded in The Straits Times, of Singapore. It is said that whenever an eruption takes place the natives, as soon as the fire (the molten lava, no doubt, is meant) comes down the mountain, kindle at it the wood they use as fuel for cooking. They keep in the fire thus made for years, and whenever it goes out through neglect or for any other reason, they never kindle it anew from matches, but they get a light from their nearest neighbors, whose fire was originally obtained from the volcano. The fires in use up to the late outburst in the native cooking places were all obtained from the Bromo eruption of 1832.—Frank Leslie's.

The Jolly Savants.

Among the people who do not appear to be greatly impressed with the example of Succi must be reckoned those German professors and literati who attended the annual banquet of the scientific societies recently held at Berlin. The menu comprised 200 ox tongues, 700 ducks, 2,000 pounds of fillet of veal, 1,000 lobsters and 1,000 pounds of Rhine salmon. A Bearnaise sauce, which formed one of the necessories, required for its composition 200 pounds of butter and 1,000 eggs.—Le Figaro.

A Sensible Society.

A society for promoting physical recreation has just been founded in England by Sir Herbert Gladstone, Lord Charles Beresford and others. An essential part of the work will be to organize drill, marching, calisthenic exercises and all games that involve activity and discipline. It will provide teachers, and in winter time will procure halls and covered places where instruction and practice may still go on in spite of the weather.—Chicago Tribune.

Great Sources of Wealth.

The silver mines of Mexico extend from the Sierra Madre in Sonora, near the northern border, to the gold deposits in Oaxaca, in the extreme south. A continuous vein traverses no less than seventeen states and since the day of its discovery has yielded more than $1,000,000,000. Yet these great sources of wealth are estimated to be not more than one per cent of the undeveloped and undiscovered whole.

The Necktie Charm.

If there is one thing more than another that a "sassiety" belle adores it is a hobby. Something new in this line is invented every little while by some fair sister, for hobbies grow stale and uninteresting in a short time. The latest out is the collection of the small neckties which gentlemen now wear, and are used by the dear creatures who beg them in a most moral and sentimental manner. A small cord is stretched from post to post across the head and footpiece of the young lady's bed, to which the ties are fastened. A tie, when presented by, or begged of, a gentleman, must be accompanied by a miniature card, bearing his name or monogram, under which the lady writes the prettiest compliment the giver has ever paid her. The ties are arranged artistically, with regard to color, and the belles of fashion vie with each other in endeavoring to be the first to have her couch fully decked. Each night a tie is taken from the line and placed under the pillow to insure pleasant dreams. If at the end of two months after a girl has completed the task of the decoration she be not engaged to marry, the ties are put into a black bag, tied with a black ribbon, and hung in an obscure corner. She must then begin over again, in hopes that her luck will turn. After marriage a silk quilt must be made, and the ties are fastened in clusters here and there all over the top of it. This will in all probability remain a thing of beauty and adornment until after the first quarrel, when the sight of the ties of his wife's former admirers excites the young husband to greater anger, and he yanks them off, one by one, and throws them into the fire.—Cleveland News.

Happiness on Sixty Kreutzers a Week.

The Neue Freie Presse gives an interesting and instructive account of the speeches made and the arguments used at the vegetarian congress recently held in Vienna.

One advocate of the vegetable diet told a story which is a gem in its way. It narrated the experiences of two lovers in humble circumstances who were long restrained from perpetrating matrimony by fear of the cost of housekeeping. Finally the vegetarian idea struck them, and they ventured to become one. In the morning they took bread soup, at noon vegetables, at night potatoes, with occasional indulgence in "health coffee," made of burnt corn and maize. Their expenses, in fact, did not exceed sixty kreutzers a week, and their domestic enjoyment was without bounds.

The superficial may cheer at a story like this, but the wise will easily understand its moral and wonder anew at the fewness and simplicity of the elements really necessary to human happiness.—New York Herald.
