POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of

SHERIFF OF COCHISE OCUNTY

subject to the action of the Republican County Convention. Respectfully, DAYTON GRAHAM.

THIS nation is now irretrievably tangled up with the European powers. The Chinese war has implicated us with those powers in the defense of interests which involve other principles than the proper protection of American citizens. The rescue of our own people from a position of imminent danger is but one of the undertakings which our arms will have to accomplish in China. The protection of our commercial interests from destruction by the Chinese is one necessity, the protection of those interests from the grasping policy of the powers, whose system of aggrandisement is the source of war must inevitably follow. To increase our commerce by means that are peaceful is the natural sequence of our original national policy, but the means employed must now be that of force. The free commerce with all nations was the desire of the thoughtful men who designed our foreign policy, but in pursuit of this we find ourselves entangled in brawls which will henceforth require the maintenance of forces abroad and find us mixed with European nationalities, in all the horrors of wars with their attendant consequences of alliance and subjugation. We were to establish a system of our own but recent events have rendered that system abortive, and we are linked with others in their essential plan of conquest.

THERE are few, if any, mining camps in Arizona, or elsewhere, which show such a large proportion of homes made by the industry and prosperity of the miner, as Bisbee. The liberality of the dominant company has made it possible for the careful employe to found and build a home with all its comforts and economy in living, and the number of houses in this town where the miner resides, and where he has gathered around him the real essentials to happiness, and the best incentives to good citizenship, is unprecedented in the history of mining camps. The mining community is usually composed of a floating population, men who, without ties, come and go, seeking at will other fields of labor. Here, in Bisbee, the permanent inhabitant may be said to be the rule and not the exception, and the proper attention to the rules of work ensure a permanence of employment that is the foundation of comfort and happiness. This is one good reason why the town must certainly show up so well in the matter of population, and the mineral wealth of the country has called into existence mining corporations of great financial strength and positive stability, thus insuring in the future an increased employment of miners who will further swell the number of inhabitants beyond the present considerable and gratifying total, which total will of course appear soon from the industrious efforts of the census taker. Various computations of the probable number of people here have been made by men well able to judge, and whose experience here, and constant contact with the people naturally cause their opinions to be of great value. All these calculations, with the excellent reasons given lead us to assume that Bisbee will be found among the leading cities of the territory, and we can thank the happy conditions that exist in our chief mining institutions for the steady and firm growth of Bisbee in population and in prosperity.

Notice.

Take notice that I, Robert Caldwell, will not be responsible for any debt my wife, Ella Caldwell, may contract in my name after this date, August 20, 1900.
