A Chinese Bride.

This morning when the Marysville train arrived here a number of Celestials were waiting at the depot to catch sight of an expected bride, she being in charge of an old gentleman, who was beaming with pride. Several boys accompanied her as servants. The groom, who is second cook at the depot hotel, was not in sight, as he was to receive her formally in Chinatown. The woman was arrayed in a red sacque and green dress. On her head was a gold paper crown, from the rear of which fell a red paper cape, and in front her head and face were covered with a red silk handkerchief. She was evidently an aristocrat, for she had "small feet" encased in dainty gold and green shoes. She was carefully hobbled to a carriage, the other women holding the mask about her face. She seemed to be a mere child, judging from the way in which she was handled, and the size and height of her figure. She was not heard to utter a word, and gave no sign that she saw the crowd that gathered about her.—Sacramento Bee, Nov. 10.

Evidently a Crank.

William Wilbur graduated from the University, at Syracuse, on the 24th of last June. On the 26th of the same month, Clara Greenby graduated at the high school. They were secretly married, but have not lived together. When he has gone to her house to ask her to live with him, he has been denied admission. This morning he climbed over the roof, broke in the window and entered his wife's bedroom with the intention of begging forgiveness and asking her to leave her mother and live with him. Clara was not in her room, and he went down stairs and found the mother and daughter here. Her mother ordered him to leave the house, when Wilbur seized a pair of shears and stabbed them both, but not fatally. In court he pleaded guilty to assault in the the second degree, and was held for the grand jury. The girl is very pretty. Wilbur is an insurance agent, and has a brother in the insane ward of the county house here. Action for divorce has been begun by the girl.

Lively Runaway.

This afternoon about half past one, the horse attached to Dr. Willis' buggy while standing in front of his office on Freemont street, took fright at something, and dashed off down the street to Fifth and turned a sharp corner, and then veered off in the direction of Mansfield's store where it attempted to pass between the delivery wagon of Mansfield and another wagon that was standing near it, but the space between the two wagons was not sufficient to allow its passage, and in consequence a collision occurred, which resulted in a great deal of damage to the buggy and harness, and breaking the shaft of Mansfield's wagon. After the collision the doctor's horse become disengaged from the wagon and dashed off up Fifth street where it was soon captured. It is very fortunate that the other two horses did not run away after the collision and cause still further damage, and perhaps loss of life.

Associate Justice Bennett, accompanied by Cameron King, Esq., arrived in this city last evening from Clifton. As it was not known the exact date of Judge Barnes' arrival many of our citizens were not aware of his presence in this city, hence the Judge was not disturbed by John Peck- ham and other mugwumps who make it a point to shadow a new Democratic appointee, whenever they arrive in this city, and that show going boiler plate that desires opposition comes out in a sleepy manner this morning and announces that "Judge Barnes did not arrive last night."

"Suppose there is one cent saved in the daily expenses of every man, woman and child in the Union. This is certainly not a high estimate, but it would make a yearly saving of $3.65 a head, or $200,750,000 a year. In the three years of retrenchment a total of $602,250,000 would be obtained. This money has to go into something, never mind whether it be into dry goods, agricultural implements, chattels or stocks and bonds. Now, while it has been saved, the earning capacities of the country have not decreased. It is the economizing and steady making of money which forms the basis of the remarkable change in the general temper of the business and speculative community. People feel that they are better off and that they can embark in new ventures."

Summerfield Bros. the best known merchants in the Territory, always maintain their reputation for selling the best goods for the least money. 10-14

The recent unsuccessful attempt by unknown parties to burn the depot buildings of the Southern Pacific company, at Benson, following so soon after the destruction of the bridge over the Colorado river, at Yuma, indicates that the company is beset by enemies of the most desperate class—incendiaries—who, like black-cloaked assassins, perform their dastardly work in the dark. It can hardly be conceived that the recent acts of incendiarism were committed by persons who have substantial interests in this territory, for every injury inflicted upon the railroad company is an outrage upon every resident along the line or within its influence. It is more reasonable to suppose that they were committed by irresponsible persons—perhaps tramps—to whom the company refused the privilege of its trains without compensation, and who have no interest in Arizona or anywhere else. It behooves all good citizens to render the company every assistance in their power to discover and bring to light the villians who have so wantonly destroyed much valuable property of the company, and whose acts of vandalism have endangered human life and interrupted trade in all its branches. The company offers substantial rewards for the arrest and conviction of the incendiaries and will very greatly appreciate any assistance that may be rendered in bringing the miscreants to justice.—Tucson Times.

"LITTLE MAC" DEAD.

The Fate that Overcame "Little Mac" and Five Other Governors.

Apropos of the sudden death of Gen. Geo. B. McClellan, we note that the New York Sun, points out the singular fact that Governor DeWitt Clinton, Governor Silas Wright, Governor William Marcy, Governor and Chief Justice Sanford E. Church, and Governor R. E. Fenton, all of New York State, dropped dead of heart disease, and under quite identical circumstances—each of them dying while reading a letter except Marcy, who was perusing Cowper's poems.

Hold your hand against the ribs on your left side, front—the regular, steady beating of the great "force pump" of the system, run by an unknown and mysterious Engineer, is awful in its impressiveness.

Few persons like to count their own pulse beats, and fewer persons still enjoy making the "thud—thud" of Holmes on heart.

What it is, in old Kip's best?

As a matter of fact the heart is the least susceptible to primary disease of our vital organs. It is, however, very much injured by certain long continued conjestions of the vital organs like the kidneys, liver and stomach. Moreover, blood filled with uric acid produces a rheumatic tendency, and is very injurious to healthful heart action,—it often proves fatal, and, of course comes from impaired kidney action.

Roberts, the great English authority, says that heart disease is chiefly secondary to some more fatal malady in the blood or other vital organs. That is, it is not the original source of the fatal malady.

The work of the heart is to force blood into every part of the system. To the organs it sends it is an easy task. If they are at all diseased, it is a very, very hard task. Take as an illustration: The kidneys are very subject to congestion and yet, being deficient in the nerves of sensation, this congested condition is not indicated by pain. It may exist for years, unknown even to physicians, and if it does not result in a complete destruction of the kidneys, the extra work which is forced upon the heart weakens it every year, and—a "mysterious" sudden death claims another victim!

This is the true history of "heart disease,"—so called, which in reality is chiefly a secondary effect of Bright's disease of the kidneys, and indicates the universal need of that renowned specific Warner's safe cure.

B. F. Larrabee, Esq., of Boston, who was by it so wonderfully cured of Bright's disease, in 1879, says that with its disappearance went the distressing heart disorder, which he then discovered was only secondary to the renal trouble.

There is a general impression that the medical profession is not at fault if it frankly admits that heart disease is the cause of death. In other words a cure of heart disease is not expected of them.

There may be no help for a broken down, worn out apoplectic heart, but there is help for the kidney disorder which in most cases is responsible for the heart trouble, and if its use put money and fame into the treasury of the profession instead of into the hands of an independent investigator, every graduated doctor in the world would exclaim of it, as one, nobler and and less prejudiced than his fellows, once exclaimed: "It is a God-send to humanity!"

What therefore must be the public estimate of that bigotry and want of frankness which forbids in such cases (because forsooth it is a proprietary article), the use of the one effective remedial agency of the age?

"Heart disease," indeed! Why not call such things by their right names? Why not?

"Dead without a moments warning." This likewise is an untruth! Warnings are given by the thousand. Physicians are "not surprised." They "expected it!" They know what the end will be, but the victim?—Oh no, he mustn't be told, you know, it would only frighten him, for there is no help you know, for it?

The fate that attended "Little Mac" and the five governors is not a royal and exclusive one—it threatens every one who fails to heed the warnings of nature as set forth above. n9-1w

The Renewal of Vigor.

The most important step in this process is the restoration of the functions of digestion and assimilation to full and uninterrupted exercise, since it is upon their activity alone that the system can depend to replenish its dwindling store of energy. Among tonics which the voice of the people and the high professional endorsement approve as reliable, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has long been recognized as the best. Its properties as a medicated stimulant commend it to all persons suffering from the effects of fatigue, mental or bodily, as an immediate means of counteracting their effects; and in cases where loss of vigor is attributable to such weakening chronic causes as dyspepsia, affections of the kidneys and bladder, and the infirmities peculiar to age, it produces permanently beneficial results. Those twin obstacles to health and vigor, liver complaint and constipation, are also removed by it. It also prevents and cures malarial disease. n9-1w

It is stated that the Tombstone fire department will give a grand masquerade ball on New Year's night. We hope that they will, and that if they be announced soon in order to allow our citizens to procure costumes in plenty of time.

The popular indignation against the Chinese, which commenced in Wyoming and then spread to Washington territory, has reached California, and several interior towns in that state have notified the Chinese to leave, and at once, and Governor Stoneman, fearful that the epidemic may reach San Francisco, has called upon the military for assistance.

A great many people both east and west are turning their faces toward Tombstone, and they are for the most part people of means, who will locate in the adjacent valleys as stock raisers and who will engage in mining and other business pursuits in this city. We feel sure that with the year 1886 we will leave hard times forever behind us.

The large number of carriages that have been engaged for to-morrow at the different livery stables speak well for the big races to-morrow. Arrangements have been made for the convenience of all who may desire to visit the track, and we have no doubt but what to-morrow will witness the largest attendance ever seen upon the track.

On Thursday of last week the Indians killed some ranchers near Deming, and on Wednesday of this week, the soldiers put in an appearance. This indicates that Crooks policy is to give the hostiles plenty of time to reach the mountain fastness of Mexico, and then he will telegraph that the hostiles have all been driven back into Mexico by his troops and settlers need not feel uneasy.

It is stated that R. Cohen, the proprietor of the Mechanics store will arrive in the city about December first, and proceed at once to erect buildings and works upon the Bon Ton and Addie Mines, which he has recently incorporated in San Francisco. One by one the various mines in this district are resuming work and employing men, and it will not be long before Cochise county alone will turn out more bullion than the balance of Arizona and New Mexico put together.

Judge Barnes, accompanied by a few friends was driven about the city to-day, and up on the hill where he viewed the big pumps and then stepped upon a cage and was dropped down 500 feet towards the center of the earth. The Judge expresses himself as much pleased with our city and with our mines. He is a very pleasant gentleman, and seems to grasp the situation of affairs here at a glance. We hope that the Judge may be induced to take up his residence in this city.
