

Saint Mary's Beacon
COUNTY NEWS.

Localities and Obituaries.

Give our advertisers a call and buy your Christmas goods of them.

Despite the inclement weather of Tuesday, Judge Crane was on hand and held court.

To bring up a child in the way it should go, travel that way yourself once in a while.

We hope that none of our county people have lost any of their pork by reason of the recent warm spell.

Robt. C. Combs, Esq., of this town, has stuck up a notice stating that he desires to trade his horse.

Mrs. H. R. Graham, nee Yates, is on a visit to her father in this town. Mrs. Graham is much pleased with the Eastern Shore.

George Alfred Townsend, "Gath," paid a visit to Leonardtown Monday last. He left per Weems' Line, from Spencer's, Monday night.

Mr. John F. Ceill, of California, has gone to Baltimore to take the position of deputy in the Maryland Penitentiary lately held by his son, Byron.

Wednesday last, Mr. Jack Dorsey's dogs caught a red fox in the California section. It is the first red we have heard of in the county for some years.

Mr. William S. Coppage has purchased the farm known as "Cooper's Creek" at private sale and the property will not now be offered at public auction.

Mr. Charles Gough, of "Solitude," is clerking for Mr. F. Oscar Morgan, this town. When you are selecting your Christmas presents don't forget to call on Charlie.

The western counties are complaining of the appointment of the Free School Fund and are alleging that the counties in the "black belt" get more than their due share.

We trust that our readers in making their Christmas purchases will remember our advertisers. The advertisements are invitations to call which we hope will be heeded.

Monday last, Daniel C. Hammett, Trustee, sold at public auction the home farm of the late Ignatius Thompson for $600. Mr. John B. Thompson, of Baltimore, was the purchaser.

Mr. Joseph C. M. Abell has closed his store at Edelen's old stand, Leonardtown, and will remove from the village. It is reported here that one of the Millison's will reopen the store.

Mr. William F. Greenwell, of this town, is having a stable erected on his lot and is remodeling the front of his store building. Messrs. J. Benj. Norris and Willie Hebb are doing the work.

Delinquent taxpayers of the second collection district will avoid expense of a sale by regarding the warning in Mr. J. W. Williams' advertisement. Mr. Williams states that he can grant no further indulgence.

Recently, while "nippering," Mr. T. F. Yates caught an oyster growing out of the mouth of an ink bottle. The bottle was partly filled with ink and the oyster fitted so tightly in the mouth that the fluid would not pour out.

Mr. B. H. Swann killed on December 9, three hogs, fifteen months old, weighing respectively, 370, 390 and 335 pounds—total 1095 lbs. He also killed one pig, nine months old, weighing 234 pounds. This is very good for the 7th E. D.

Mr. G. Douglas Carpenter, of Budd's Creek, has closed out his business at that place and removed to Washington, D. C. Douglas is a first-class business man and an all-around good fellow. We wish him great success in his new home.

Mr. Walter H. Dudley, a son of Mr. Hiram G. Dudley, of Baltimore, died at the Maryland University Hospital Sunday last. He deceased was in his twenty-first year and was a young man of bright promise. He was a student of medicine.

Leonardtown now has a night-watcher man who patrols the town from 11:30 p. m. to 6 a. m. and looks out for fire and burglars. We hope he will not be obliged to make any arrests or to call out the fire department. Mr. George Russell is the watchman.

The train on Mechanicsville road will make two trips, Wednesday, the 22nd, instant. The down train Wednesday will return Thursday morning in time to make connection with Pope's Creek road. The two trains are on account of the Charlotte Hall dance.

Mr. William J. Bean, of Valley Lee, has purchased an acre of land on the east side of Great Mills run and across the road from James Jackson's blacksmith shop. Mr. Bean was informed, and will erect a store building on the lot and Mr. Lewis Springer will begin merchandizing there.

Our St. George's Island friends have our heartfelt sympathy in the bereavements that have recently befallen them. The deaths to-day published well illustrate the poet's words:

"There is a reaper, and his name is Death, And with his sickle he reaps the grain, He reaps the bearded grain at a breath, And the flowers that grow between."

Joseph C. Hobbs, Sr., died at his residence on St. George's Island, December 8th instant. Mr. Hobbs was in his 63rd year and was a pious Christian gentleman and a model citizen. About two years ago the writer called to see him and found him engaged in making a railing to inclose his wife's grave. We little thought then that he would so soon be laid beneath her. Husband and wife, we trust and hope, are now united in that blissful land where there is no parting.

Last week a breakman on the Mechanicsville railroad played a "smart trick" on a young gentleman from Leonardtown. The young man got on the train at Hughesville to investigate. The train usually runs up to the platform at Bowling's store and stops. Mr. Breakman told the y. m. that the train "didn't stop any longer" and that if he didn't want to go to Baltimore to jump. The young gentleman jumped, struck in a crotch and in the resultant rousing sustained many minor cuts on hands, etc.

Lowantown Locals.

More appearance is no criterion of fact. It seems, appears to us that the ensuing Xmas holidays will be pleasant. The weather is variable, however, and the green myriads of the peopled grass may be completely silenced by the time mentioned and great coats and thickly knitted gloves be necessary for comfort. Considerable preparation is being made and the little folks are getting their stockings ready for Santa Claus. Dear little creatures it is a point of inexplicable difficulty for them to understand how the old gentleman with his deer, etc., descends and ascends small and perpendicular flues. Suffice it he fills their stockings with good things, and we are happy, too, with them.

There they go, carts, wagons, buggies, etc., to Miller's and Raleigh's wharves. (Gabbling geese, wise looking gobs and frightened pullets, etc., make up the principal consignments just now for Baltimore. Pennsylvania and New Jersey get the consignments of oysters, that is, those shipped in barrels. Several small boats freight a fair class of bay and creek oysters to Baltimore and Washington.

Schools are being well attended and teachers seemingly are well satisfied with the progress of pupils. Perhaps there will be some bright intellects working in after years—pupils who are not much noticed now become a Davy in intellect and conjecture the unknown base of something that will equally be beneficial to man as potash. Minds, may it please, endowed with capacities ample enough to grasp the wonderful. May it be so.

Wheat, not "macaroni wheat," not remarkable for its hardness, has been disposed of. Farmers who formerly retained the result of their harvest until Spring have shipped every bushel that could be spared from their granaries. Hard times, it is asserted, is the cause of their actions.

Ministers preach good sermons, and although we are a sinner we rejoice that the libidinous ourragant is not our progenitor and our future is not a blank. Cord wood—principally pine—is selling from $1.00 to $2.00 per cord, delivered at the wood shed.

Saturday past was spring like and the fox hunters from the Northern Neck of Virginia enjoyed themselves exceedingly well. Their dogs show good treatment and they are well trained. "The St. Ingigo's Fox Club" turned out in force and the two packs of dogs made it lively for Reynard. The tonguing of the dogs was rhythical and consequently pleasing to the ear. One fox we learn was caught between Point Lookout and the Pine.

Miss Annie Williams, the polite and pretty clerk, in the millinery department of Mrs. A. S. Benville, is visiting friends in Baltimore.

The Sunday School at St. Michael's church has been temporarily discontinued until after the holidays. We are glad to know that the substance of the catechism is taught in the Spring time of life, when the tastes of the young are simple, the hearts fresh, etc.

Premiums For Subscribers.

The New York Ledger has just issued a premium number with attractive premiums for both old and new subscribers. It will pay any of our readers to send for a sample copy of this premium number, which will be mailed to them free by the Ledger. The Ledger makes a remarkably attractive offer of the new Oxford self-pronouncing Bible, the best edition, of $3.00 for the Bible and the New York Ledger together. This edition of the Oxford Bible is sold in the large department stores for from $3.25 to $3.00. Every one who sends $2.00 to the New York Ledger for a year's subscription can get this edition of the Oxford Bible by sending $1.00 additional. The Ledger makes a point of repaying all postage and express charges on its premiums.

Address all communications to ROBERT BONNER'S SONS, Ledger Building, 180 William St., New York City.

Circuit Court.

The adjourned session of the St. Mary's Circuit Court was resumed Tuesday, the 14th, and after hearing arguments in the appeal case of Hancock and Forrest, adjourned for the term. The appeal was argued by Mr. Hammett for appellant and Mr. Camalier for appellee. Associate Judge Crane signed an order in the case, "that unless the appellant [Jordan Hancock] file with the clerk of court on or before January 1, 1898, an additional appeal bond in the penalty of one hundred dollars the appeal shall be dismissed and the warrant for the restitution of the possession of the premises shall immediately issue, provided a copy of the Court's order be served on the appellant before the 24th day of December, 1897."

[COMMUNICATED.]

PARK HALL, Dec. 14, 1897.

Vanity Fair was organized at the residence of Mr. J. F. Bohanan, Thursday, Dec. 9. Quite a large number were present and heartily enjoyed and approved of the Society as a medium for mental and social culture. Officers elected were: President, Miss Olive Bohanan. Treasurer, Miss Lesie Penbroke. Secretary, Mr. Reyburn Bradshaw. Committee on Music and Literature, Miss Edith Ford, Miss Ida Dawson, and Mr. George Dawson. "LA MAGNATE."

Quarterly Meeting.

The 4th Quarterly Meeting of Leonardtown charge will convene at McKendree M. E. church Dec. 19th and 20th as follows: Preaching by Dr. L. B. Wilson Sunday at 7:30 p. m. Also Monday at 10 a. m., after which the Quarterly conference will be conducted.

Death of Mrs. Maria L. Key.

The death, in Baltimore City, a few days ago, of the estimable lady whose name heads this notice removes from among us the last of a once celebrated name in our colonial history. Mrs. Key was a sister of the late Henry Sewell, of Cedar Point, the last of a name coeval with our history, his ancestors having received a grant for Mattapani Sewell, which up to a few years ago remained in the family.

Henry Sewell died during the late war and wishing to secure for his sister, Mrs. Key, his nearest relative, who was then in the South, his large landed property here, in such a manner as to escape confiscation by the government, devised his estate to the late Dr. Henry C. Edelen, without reservation. Dr. Edelen held it during the war and when the war was over and Mrs. Key returned to St. Mary's passed the property over to her.

This property, as before stated, remained in the family until a few years ago and is one of the most beautiful estates in our county.

Mrs. Key married Philip Barton Key, a member of the old Key family of St. Mary's. Her husband died many years ago. Several children survive who by marriage and travel have been separated from the old home and, today, no one to our knowledge of the historic Sewell family remain in our county and the old place re-echoes to the tread of strangers.

Peter H. Morgan Dead.

Mr. Peter H. Morgan, head of the firm of P. H. Morgan & Son, contractors and tinners, died at his residence, No. 908 Harlem Ave., Baltimore, Friday morning, Dec. 10, 1897. He was stricken with paralysis Friday, Dec. 3, while at work in the cellar of No. 241 Robert street. Mr. Morgan was born in St. Mary's county, and was the brother of the late George H. Morgan, Benjamin H. Morgan and Mrs. Mary A. Travers. He served in the Confederate army, went to Baltimore in 1870 and engaged in the roofing business. He was a widower and had one son, Mr. Robt. L. Morgan, who was associated with him in business.

He was a member of the Catholic Benevolent Legion, Improved Order of Hoppatos, Confederate Society, Robert Emmet Society and the Catholic Club. He was one of the most charitable men in his community and died with all the rites of his holy religion.

Mrs. Key Dead.

Mrs. Maria Barton Key died Friday at the convent of the Sisters of Bon Secour, Baltimore, from infirmities caused by old age. She was a daughter of Nicholas Sewall, of Cedar Point, St. Mary's county, Md. The homestead where she was born in 1811 was first obtained by the Sewalls in 1676, when it was patented to Mr. Nicholas Sewall, a step-son of Charles, third Lord Baltimore.

In 1838 she was married to Mr. Philip Barton Key, a kinsman of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star-Spangled Banner." Her husband at that time lived in Georgetown. He was a son of Philip Barton Key, who represented Maryland in Congress from 1807 to 1813.

Mr. Key studied law with Francis Scott Key, and afterward removed to Louisiana, where he became prominent in State politics.

Eight years after the death of her husband, which occurred in Louisiana in 1854, Mrs. Key returned to the old homestead in St. Mary's county, which had been left to her by the will of her brother, who died in 1861. Mr. Philip Barton Key, who died on September 26, 1896, at his home in Statesville, N. C., in the sixty-first year of his age, was a son of Mrs. Key. She had twelve children, of whom five survive here. They are Mr. Henry J. Key, Mr. William T. Key, Mrs. George C. Jenkins, Mr. Edward Key and Mrs. Henry Daingerfield, of Alexandria, Va.

The funeral of Mrs. Key took place Monday morning from the home of Mr. George C. Jenkins, Calvert and Chase streets. The pallbearers were Charles Morris Howard, Charles McHenry Howard, Edward Lloyd Key, and her three grandsons, Thomas C. Jenkins, Henry Daingerfield and Philip Barton Key—Sons.

A Conundrum for the Little Folks.

Over the hills and far away
My voice is heard both night and day.
The mountain's top I skim with ease,
And fan the meadows like a breeze.
Oft in Summer's hottest day
I come to soothe the heated away
When tolling bells are washed to earth
I come to cool the heated breast.
My voice is heard among the trees,
I span the mighty raging seas,
When stillness on the deep prevails,
"Tis I who swell the rushing sails.
When Peter cried his Lord to save
I was the mighty raging wave,
O'erward, rushing at full will,
When the sailor spoke, "Peace, be still."
When Jonas' orb was thrown
I was the angry sea's own son,
When I betrayed the guilty one,
And lo! when to madness driven,
Tremble both earth and heaven,
Yet in peace, when main is curbed,
The tiniest leaf is undisturbed.
Now, little readers, if you can,
Tell what monster that I am.

Christmas Plum Pudding.

A pound of suet, chopped, but not too fine; a pound of currants; a pound of raisins, stoned; four eggs; half a nutmeg, grated; an ounce of citron and lemon peel, shred fine; a teaspoonful of beaten pepper; half pound of bread-crumbs; half a pound of flour; and a pint of milk. Beat them together, and by degrees stir in the flour, then the fruit, suet, and spices. Use as much milk as will mix it together very thick; then take your cloth, dip in boiling water, and squeeze dry. While the water is boiling fast, put in your pudding, which should boil five hours at the least.

Pay Your Small Bills.

Every year it has to be repeated: If you want every one's Christmas to be a good one, pay your bills now! Pay the small bills. Pay the small shops, first of all. If those who have worked for you have small accounts standing against you, how can they fill their children's stockings or provide any part of the modest fest they long to spread on Christmas day? It takes time as well as money, so do not leave settling the small accounts until you have spent all your money to give pleasure to friends already gorged with gifts. Do it to-day, this week, for it is the small streams that set the larger ones going, and these are your creditors, who should not be asked to wait.

A Spelling Test.

The Louisville Courier-Journal thinks if you can spell every word correctly in the following rhymes—all legitimate expressions—you may consider yourself qualified to enter a spelling bee.

Stand up, ye spellers, now, and spell—
Spell phenakites and knell;
Or take some simple word as chilly
Or gauger or the garden lily.
To spell such words as typhoid,
And ichthyose and syphoid,
And Pentateuch and saccharine,
Apoerypha and cedrine,
Jemine and homeopathy,
Paralysis and chloroform,
Metempsychosis, gherkins, basque,
Is certainly no easy task,
Kaleidoscope and Tennessee,
Kamelkatka and erysipias,
And etiquette and sastrars,
Infibulate and pyralium,
All pathy and rheumatism,
Ar4 catalum and beleagueur,
Twelfth, eighteen, renouevous, intriguer,
And hosts of other words all found
On English and classic ground.
Thus, Behring Straits and Michaelmas,
Theropogon, Jap, Havana,
Cinquedent and pecenaha,
And Rappahannock and Shenandoah,
And Schuykill and a thousand more,
Are words some prime spellers miss
In dictionary lands like this.
Nor need one think himself a scrology
If some of these his efforts foil,
Nor deem himself unwise forever,
To miss the name of either river,
The Dniester, Seine, or Guadalquivir.

Mrs. L. A. Jones has just received a large supply of Xmas goods, consisting of all the novelties of the season. She invites all to call and see them.

Dolls, Toys, Fancy Articles. Largest variety at F. W. China and Bric-a-Brac in the county for presents at Lawrence's.

Puny Children

Who would prescribe only tonics and bitters for a weak, puny child? Its muscles and nerves are so thoroughly exhausted that they cannot be whipped into activity. The child needs food; a blood-making, nerve-strengthening and muscle-building food.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-Liver Oil is all of this, and you still have a tonic in the hypophosphites of lime and soda to act with the food. For thin and delicate children there is no remedy superior to it in the world. It means growth, strength, plumpness and comfort to them. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion.
