Benjamin Franklin said, "Think what you do when you run into debt! You give to another power over your liberty. If you cannot pay at the time, you will be ashamed to see your creditor. You will be in fear when you speak to him. You will make poor, pitiful, sneaking excuses, and by degrees come to lose your veracity and sink into base, downright lying."

An exchange says: "If you ask a man for an ad or a local he will tell you he doesn't believe in advertising, the paper is never read. But let him be caught hugging the hired girl or chasing a piece of calico up the street after dark or struggling with a jug of 'tamri' water, if the printing office is in a garret of a twenty story building, he will climb to the top and ask the editor not to publish it in the paper where everybody can see it."

The newspapers of a town are its looking glasses. It is here you see yourselves as others see you. You smile on them, and they smile back at you; you frown on them, and you are repaid in kind. If the town is doing business the newspapers will show it in its advertising columns. If the merchants are spiritless, shiftless fellows, whose stores are jumbles of junk and jam, the newspapers will show it by the lack of space they take. If you want the world to know that you have a live town, you can only let it be known through its newspaper.

It is officially announced that the Central of Georgia railroad's railway and steamship traffic line which has been generally known as the Savannah Line for years past will hereafter be designated and advertised as the Central Savannah Line. The new designation is considered more appropriate, as the Central of Georgia railway reaches all important points in Georgia and Alabama over its own lines. The system does an immense and constantly increasing business and is admirably managed.

"Honesty is the best policy." Hoary with age and worn with constant use, this adage of a better day should be an inspiration for every man starting out on a career of his own. The deceiver seldom fools anybody but himself. People may be too polite to tell him they see through his attempts at deception, but they do, all the same. And it is a fact that the world has little regard for him who practices deception. Again, they may be "too polite" to make a "blowing horn" of their opinions, but deep down in their hearts they dread the deceiver. Worse still, he is loathsome in the sight of honest men and women. Exception may gain a temporary victory, but time will revel the innermost secrets and then the perpetrator must then despise himself for his folly.

Imperfect digestion and assimilation produce disordered conditions of the the system, which grow and are confirmed by neglect. Herbine gives tone to the stomach, and causes good digestion. Price 50 cts. Dr. J. M. Jones.
