TUCSON CITIZEN SEMI-CENTENARY EDITION IS OUT

The 50th anniversary edition of the Tucson Citizen has just been received. It contains 110 pages and is published to celebrate the completion of a half century of publication of this great Arizona daily, closed on October 15, its first issue having appeared on that date in 1870.

The first two sections are devoted to the history of the state and the territory for fifty years, interesting articles by pioneers on Apache and other conditions of the early days and a valuable collection of old views of the territory taken in the 70's and eighties by the late Henry Buchman, a photographer, who came to the territory in 1873.

The next four sections contain several hundred illustrations and special articles on the business, the architecture and the social life of Sonora, Sinaloa and other west coast of Mexico states prepared by a special staff who made a special trip of five weeks over the west coast gathering the material and making photographs for the most authoritative review of conditions there that has ever appeared.

There is the usual group of articles devoted to the mines of the state.

Tombstone comes in for its share of publicity with a number of illustrations adorning one of the pages. The article was written by A. H. Gaskill of this city, who also had a short article on the Old Spanish Trail accompanied by a map of the route. In this Tombstone article is given special treatment the historical points of interest. This can be viewed with pride.

PHOENIX, Oct. 25.—Governor Campbell's most recent attempt to play game in secrecy unfortunately for him accounted for himself in publicity. The governor charged the Democratic central committee in a note of Wednesday Saturday night with having engaged all automobiles which might transport citizens to a rally for Harding at the coliseum.

"Now, Mr. Smith, tell me, is it true that you have engaged the Elks club for a rally for Harding?" the governor wrote. "If so, I want to engage the auditorium for a rally for Governor Campbell. Please let me know at once what you have done in the matter."

Mr. Smith answered the letter with the information that the Elks club was not to be used for any political meeting, but that the Democratic committee had engaged all the automobiles in the city for the exclusive use of the committee.

Mark Smith is a quick man. He has probably the reputation among newspaper men of this state and both in the executive offices of the state. A poem from Mark's pen right days ago this year. The Democratic party is without money and Gov. Campbell machine party seems to have nothing but money. I am satisfied though, that Mark's friends will stand by him and successfully meet the opposition of all the money the other side can pile into the campaign. I know that the people of Arizona will not fail to stand home.

NACO CAPTAIN FINED FOR "EVICTION"

Saturday afternoon in Judge Wentworth's court, Capt. E. H. Coyle, stationed at Naco, was fined $250 or 25 days in jail when found guilty of a charge of eviction. The case had been brought to Tombstone from Bisbee under change of venue. Coyle was charged with having forcibly entered the home of Harry James and wife and had their household goods and provisions placed outside and ordered them to leave the place. This followed an attempt of the army officer to have James indicted on a charge of bootlegging, which was thrown out of court when the officer refused to have negro troopers testify for the defense. In submitting the fine Judge Wentworth gave the defendant a lecture on the difference between army law on and off the military reservation. Coyle's attorney gave notice of appeal.

PHOENIX, Oct. 25.—That United State Senator Mark Smith's reputation as a statesman par excellence is not by any means confined to his own state is proved by the following statement just received by wire from United States Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, who is manager of the western campaign of the Democratic National Committee, with headquarters at San Francisco. The telegram was received by Judge W. Y. Barnum of Phoenix: "In my strenuous service as western manager in behalf of Cox and Roosevelt, I have not forgotten Arizona. My duties do not call upon me to campaign for United States senators, but I realize the vital importance to the people of Arizona, to the country of the election of Senator Mark Smith.

"Arizona and the west need such a trusty or more influential friend in the senate. He has fought for our people and the interests. His heart and his sympathies have always gone out to the weak and the poor and to those who are striving to rise above them. He has more friends than any man in the senate. In the last congress I was him obtain the confirmation of his appointment of an Arizona man recommended by the president, when on the start, twothirds of the Democratic committee were against him. Through his long, able and faithful services he has risen to the top of the most powerful committee in the senate. As member of the foreign relations committee he had a controlling influence in the Mexican situation. As a ranking member of the public lands committee he is entitled to every confidence, commendation and support his power can protect the rights of the west and avoid unnecessary legislation.

He stands guard on the committee of irrigation and arid lands which exercises jurisdiction over special legislation for Arizona. In addition to these he is a member of the great committee on appropriations which has charge of appropriations for irrigation, for roads and for every other governmental activity in a state.

It would be absolutely impossible for a new senator to get on any of these committees for several years. It is a case of alone the election of such a man which will secure western the interests of the state and work against the disadvantage.

Mark Smith is a hard worker. He has proved his ability and knowledge of the west and both in the executive offices of the state. A poem from Mark's pen right days ago this year. The Democratic party is without money and Gov. Campbell machine party seems to have nothing but money. I am satisfied though, that Mark's friends will stand by him and successfully meet the opposition of all the money the other side can pile into the campaign. I know that the people of Arizona will not fail to stand home.

Aside from the election of officers for the next term the most important work of the convention on the last day was the acceptance of the legislative measures for nurses which have been prepared by the legislative committee and which are to be presented at the next legislature. These measures have been designed to raise the standard of nursing in Arizona and provide protective regulations for nurses. The proposed laws have received the indorsement of other nursing organizations, and it is believed that with their adoption by the state they will result in giving Arizona a standard of nursing second to none in the United States.

MARKED ENTHUSIASM IN STATE FAIR AUTO RACES

PHOENIX, Oct. 29.—Tremendous enthusiasm is being manifested in the Tri-State classic to be staged as one of the four events of the Auto Day program, to be held Saturday, the last day of Fair Week, November 8-13. Such interest is being shown by drivers of this state, New Mexico and Texas that the Tri-State bids fair to rival the 100-mile free-for-all in thrills and spectacular competition.

Though more Arizona drivers will enter the race than from the two outside states, communications received by L. H. Gibbs, superintendent of Auto Day, indicate that there will be a representative showing from New Mexico and Texas.

To date Mr. Gibbs has assurances of two entries from Casa Grande, two from Tempe, one from Mesa, and four from Tucson, with a possibility of six.

Douglas and Bisbee car owners have made inquiries to the superintendent that indicate four or five cars may be entered from Cochise county. Nogales has one car ready to enter and Mr. Gibbs is daily expecting entries from Yuma, Prescott, Flagstaff and other points.

That the Tri-State will be more contested was further evidenced by communications from drivers in El Paso, Silver City, New Mexico, Lordsburg and other points in the southern state.

The Tri-State is a stock car event, with no limit on piston displacement or the cost of cars. The only requirements is that the car entered shall have been in Arizona, New Mexico or Texas for at least six months prior to the race, and that Southern Automobile Association rules be complied with.

Fifteen hundred dollars are being offered in the winners of the Tri-State event, and the Tri-State Speedway management is now the contest committee. Many drivers are planning to enter both events, the Tri-State on Saturday and the Prescott Speedway on November 13. Prizes will be divided 50 per cent to the winner, 25 per cent to the second and 15 per cent to the third.

OFFICERS GET STILL, MASH, MEXICAN, PINT

PHOENIX, Oct. 28.—A still, 100 gallons of mash, a pocket pint of white mule and Mariscino Lopez, a Mexican, were the collective trophies of an official raid Wednesday afternoon on the desert about eight miles southeast of Mesa. The mash, still and pint are being held at the sheriff's office here as evidence and Lopez was to be arraigned early Thursday afternoon in answer to a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor. A bench warrant from Judge Stanford's court was issued containing the charge.

Sheriff John Montgomery and Deputy Gilbert Blanco drove to Chandler and with Chief of Police Malone proceeded to the desert location of the moonshine outfit.
