BANNING ADVERTISING CO.

Endicott Building, St. Paul, Minn., where subscribers, advertisers and others may examine it and where estimates will be given upon space for GENERAL ADVERTISING.

PENSACOLA, FEB. 12, 1900

WHILE thousands of acres of the richest soil on earth lie all about us, capable of producing a world's supply of products suitable for canning purposes, we are annually paying out and sending away to others, wiser than we, thousands of dollars for canned goods. Is this good economy?

THE bill providing that twenty-five per cent of the Dingley tariff rates shall be collected from all Porto Rican imports into the United States, and the same percentage collected in that island upon all imports from the United States, which was recently reported by the ways and means committee, was opposed in that committee by all of its democratic members and one republican, Mr. McCall of Massachusetts, who will present a strong minority report. Debate on the bill will begin on the 15th inst.

WHEN the time comes for the national democratic convention to choose a real, live issue on which to win success would it not be quite worth its attention to consider one that has won democratic victories in the past—one that, however, old, is still new, and never more alive than now—the adoption by the country of a tariff on imports for purposes of revenue alone, in the place of the "protection" now afforded, through republican legislation, to the few at the expense of the many? This is the real trust issue, as it would be the real and only practical remedy against the iniquities perpetrated upon the people by the trusts.

Cheap Cotton Factories.

Mr. D. A. Tompkins of Charlotte, N. C., who has been largely instrumental in the establishment of the numerous cotton manufactories in that state, has recently published a pamphlet detailing a plan to raise capital for manufacturing which is not less captivating than unique. It is something like the building and loan associations, and appears to be perfectly practical, the only initial requisite being the right kind of a man to take hold of and push it through to success.

Shares aggregating $100,000 are offered to persons of small means, the payments to be made weekly—$1 for 2 years, or 50 cents for 4 years, or 25 cents for 8 years—the average payments aggregating about $25,000 a year. With the first year's payments the buildings could be completed, the second year's income would purchase and install enough machinery to begin operating, and the third and fourth years' income added to the net income from operation, would complete a mill of about 100 spindles and 200 looms, furnishing employment for 100 hands. The weekly payments on stock subscriptions would be easy and scarcely felt by those who engage understandingly in the enterprise, and when the stock is paid for, in this way, its value far exceeds its cost, yielding thenceforward a regular and satisfactory income. The investment of the money coming in during the first year in short loans would still further increase its amount, or if it is desired to anticipate the payments, upon the basis of a loan, the building and equipment might be completed and in operation, earning for the company, much earlier than the beginning of the third year.

Under this plan a considerable number of now well-paying mills have been erected in small places where no one man or group of men possessed the requisite capital to undertake such an enterprise alone. The plan is successful because of its great simplicity, and the small, regular, weekly payments encourage saving, and enable those of small means or income to become stockholders in an investment with so sure a prospect of profitable returns as to make their accumulation better than those of the savings banks.

Throughout the entire cotton region of Florida, Alabama and Georgia exist hundreds of small towns, handling from 5,000 to 20,000 bales of cotton yearly, every bale of which, by means of such mills, should leave in the communities where they are established, instead of the value of the raw cotton—$25 to $35 per bale—from $75 to $100. And there exists no good reason why a mill, acquired on the same plan, would not be a good thing for a city like Pensacola.

"Difficulties give way to diligence," and disease germs and blood humors disappear when Hood's Sarsaparilla is faithfully taken.

MARDI GRAS CARNIVAL.

The Mystic Society is Driving Ahead at High Pressure.

Every man, woman and child in Western Florida who enjoys having a good time should come to Pensacola Feb. 27 to participate in the welcome to Priscus, King of the Carnival, and to witness the gorgeous street pageants and magnificent masque ball.

The floats will be the most elaborate works of art ever attempted here and will be within themselves the whole thing on wheels.

The drill of the Devils will be one of the most unique and attractive exhibitions ever witnessed.

Priscus is the talk of the town and everybody is wondering who his queen will be.

Extremely low excursion rates will be given.

To add to the attractiveness of the carnival, President Oliver of the Clerks' Union has telegraphed to each of Florida's senators and representatives in congress and to Hon. J. Ed. O'Brien, urging them to do all in their power to secure a man-of-war for Pensacola for Feb. 26 and 27. If secured this will be quite an interesting sight for the people from the interior.

Capt. C. B. Parkhill has been invited to furnish a squad of twenty men from the Chipley Light Infantry to meet King Priscus on the arrival of the royal yacht and act as his body guard.

W. H. PETTERSON'S TROUSERS TRUST.

A Hotel Escambia Boarder in Serious Trouble.

He Swiped Twenty-Two Pairs of Trousers From the Sample Room and Pawned Part of them With M. Cashman—Marshal Wilde Works up the Case.

B. B. Hargrove, a clothing drummer who is a guest at Hotel Escambia, had occasion to go into the sample room at the hotel yesterday, where his samples were spread out, and soon discovered that other hands had been at work on the display.

An investigation showed a shortage of twenty-two pairs of trousers.

He at once notified the manager of the hotel and a thorough search was made for the missing garments, but no trace of them could be found.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Marshal Frank Wilde was notified and at once went to work on the case. By 6 o'clock he had located eight pairs of the trousers at M. Cashman's pawn shop, where they had been pledged by W. H. Patterson, Jr., a guest at the hotel.

Petterson was soon placed under arrest, charged with the theft, and was turned over the county authorities for trial.

Petterson has been a guest at Hotel Escambia since Dec. 17, on which date he registered as W. H. Petterson, Jr., Savannah, Ga.

Nothing crooked has heretofore been noted in his character and some of those who have met him at the hotel and about town seem to think that he was temporarily demented, otherwise he would not so soon have pawned the stolen goods here.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup never disappoints those who use it for obstinate coughs, colds and irritations of the throat and lungs. It stands unrivaled as a remedy for throat and lung diseases. Sold by all druggists for 25 cts.
