MACNEIL, MOORE & CO.

About a fortnight before Christmas the yacht Islanthe, with three men on board, sailed out of Fort Philip bay, Victoria, and was never seen again. On the 26th of December a high white shark was caught at Frankston, a small village near Melbourne. Some of the hangers-on the beach facetiously suggested that relics of the missing crew might be looked for inside the fish. The shark, therefore, was cut open, and in its stomach were actually found a human hand, a mass of sailor rags, a broken wooden pipe and a gold watch and chain. The watch was immediately recognized as having belonged to one of the yachtsmen who had been on board the Islanthe.
