OVER THE CITY.

THE JURY IN THE DAVIS CASE BRING IN A

Verdict of Murder in The First Degree, and Affix The Death Penalty

Our Usual Budget of Interesting News, Gathered For Our Subscribers

Old Fellows meet tonight.

Music, dancing and social games at the Crystal Palace. jy4

Col. Hewitt made a masterly argument in the Davis case.

The thermometer registered 88 degrees at noon today.

A. Schwartz's shoes fit so well that they make the handles smile. jy 6

Tomorrow will be a busy day in the District court.

[illegible] in Turn Verein hall, the people's popular

[illegible] for the [illegible] sold out of [illegible] jy4

A few more and our children will not be compelled to attend court until next term of it.

Buy a pair of A. Schwartz's agents' walking shoes, and you will never need a doctor. jy 6

[illegible] Tombstone [illegible] Pacific railroad, for [illegible] jy4

When you take your July outing [illegible] and you will feel cool and comfortable. jy 6

Mr. Davis was taken to the district court-room yesterday morning in the [illegible] the jury in his case to render a verdict. Davis will be sentenced to-morrow.

Bob Stewart, the Benson infant, still lingers in town, being kept here in attendance on the district court.

Mr. Davis, who was convicted in city of the murder of Alexander Matthews, will have sentence pronounced upon him to-morrow.

We hope that everybody will put their shoulder to the wheel and see that Tombstone has a monster celebration on the Fourth of July.

Tom Hunt, arrived in this city from Benson this afternoon bringing in charge one Manuel Acosta, who has been held to answer to the next grand jury, for an assault to murder.

Everybody is interested now as to whether we will celebrate the Fourth of July, and so is A. Schwartz. He will furnish you the shoes to celebrate in. jy 6

[illegible] Haynes, A. Calhoun, A. [illegible] H. McGhee, T. D. Boone, Thompson, M. G. Martin, Le Hume, are registered at the Occidental hotel.

Mr. S. Deffendich, one of Tombstone's prominent business men, returned yesterday from the county where he has been for his health.

Pete Jones is still a very sick man, and several of the members of his family arrived in town yesterday morning, and after looking around returned to Sonoita this evening.

The celebrated case wherein Dr. McSween was defendant, grand jury sitting with the judge who held the doctor to answer before them and ignored the bill. There being no evidence against him.

As will be seen by referring to the proceedings of the district court in this issue all the traverses are dismissed, with the exception of those now held to try the case of Herring vs. Jones.

Our citizens should all contribute when the finance committee calls to raise funds to have a grand celebration on July 4th. By all odds Tombstone will, on that glorious day, have at least ten thousand people on her streets.

For constitutional or scrofulous catarrh and for consumption induced by the scrofulous taint, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the true remedy. It has cured numberless cases. It stops catarrhal discharges, and removes the sickening odor—indications of scrofula.

W. H. Edmunds, a brother of our fellow townsman, who is better known as Stockton, arrived in this city on Saturday last. This is the first time Mr. Stockton has ever seen this brother, he having been born since Mr. Stockton left his home 36 years ago.

From private information from Benson received to-day it is learned that Agent Crumb is able to meander around that burg, but it will be some time before he will have courage enough to again tackle the rollers. We would say right here that our information is authentic, as it comes direct from W. F. Holder Esq.

Angelica Alonso,
Notice Contest.

The local travel between Nogales and all points on the Sonora railway, is increasing daily.

J. M. Wilkins of Tucson, is at present constructing electric light and ice work in Hermosillo.

Railroad tickets are now be purchased at the agency in Nogales, for all parts of the United States and Canada.

S. L. Tanner, wife and daughter, from Bisbee, passed by on the south bound train on Tuesday last.

The wagon road to the great Trinidad mine is at last finished, and the machinery will be taken in as fast as possible.

Five car loads of coal, which is intended to supply the steamer "City of Guaymas," passed through here for Guaymas yesterday.

The wife of Mr. Thomas A. Brown, agent for the railroad company at Willcox, died and being in that city last Sunday.

The work on the post work has been unusually hot, but we can assure our friends that we cannot further it as long as it is owned in Tucson.

Tucson cannot be muzzled, but it is indeed a pity that she has to say poor, fortune is unfair we give Mr. Leigh a fair trial upon which to stand.

The Indian question must be settled sooner or later, and the only way is to kill every one of them. Let the people arm themselves and go to the peaceable Indians, leaving the evil disposed of them.

C. S. Dunham, general manager of the Cananea mine, returned with his wife from Guaymas having the work in the mine as thoroughly as his engagement with the Guaymas, and is now on the company's property in the Cananea.

Territorial Court.

[illegible] Tombstone [illegible] had sought verdict. [illegible] Hunter, S. Friedlander, E. Hunt, [illegible] Thomas, W. Greenhow, Frank Leguia, T. D. Jones.

They found the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree and affixed the death penalty. Judge Bradshaw [illegible] the prisoner to appear to-morrow morning for sentence.

Gonzales et al. vs. Stillwater et al. are technically settled.

M. F. Harling vs. Horace Davis, still on trial before a jury.

All jurors except those engaged in the Herring-Jones case, were dismissed for the term.

Interesting Arrival.

Mr. Abbott who came in from Mexico to the Dalzhure Sporting writer to due, reports that two more who were compelled to leave them in the mountains, saw a band of 12 Indians, strip of them, driving a band of horses. The men, as soon as they saw the Indians, made their escape, as the Indians left in the direction of Rucker Siding. This band moved off from horses from Sonoita to Lochiel ranch, and broke from the ranch of Hartley & Hill.

Thursday fresh arrivals from San Carlos reservation, and note the sending that Agent Tidball says that no Indians have left the reservation, and that they are all quiet and contented, we believe that they are leaving the reservation every day in small bands.

The posse that left yesterday afternoon have not returned, and are probably on a hot trail.

Grand Success.

The ball given last evening at Mining Exchange hall by the Grand Central miners was decidedly a grand success, both socially and pecuniarily. The hall had been tastefully decorated, the floor nicely waxed, and the dressing rooms for the ladies and gents all that could be desired. The arrangement committee had wisely secured the services of the City band, which under the leadership of Mr. Thomas Vincent was exceedingly fine. Mr. Thomas Gallagher, the genial and courteous gentleman and the [illegible] assisted by his staff of assistants. Many were the remarks made in praise of the citizens on the success of the ball.

The arrangement committee had prepared some light liquid refreshments and an invitation was extended to all to partake, which invitation was gladly accepted.

Attention Select Knights!

All Knights not having paid for their uniforms are requested to do so before Thursday June 30th, to Chas. Morgan.

MISS EVA BAILEY

A YOUNG LADY OF ELMIRA, SUDDENLY DISAPPEARS

From Her Home, Without A Word of Explanation, After Coming Home

From an Entertainment at a Friend's House—No Clue To Her Whereabouts.

Great excitement, amounting almost to panic, prevails in this city on account of the mysterious and utterly inexplicable disappearance from her home last evening of Miss Eva Bailey, sister of Mrs. Dr. L. H. Foster, with whom she resides. Miss Bailey is 21 years of age, and last year was a graduate of the Elmira High School, has grown up from childhood in Elmira, is well connected and of excellent social standing. She was bright, attractive and popular with all who knew her, was engaged to be married to Mr. Charles Jordan, a young man of good family, which would seem to preclude the supposition of an elopement. Her parents are in very good circumstances and universally respected, and her home life with Mrs. Foster, Jordan and others, seems to have been happy. There is no reason, so far as known, why she should leave home. She was in every sense of the word a young lady of refinement and intelligence, and her not only worldly prospects, but her social position, all seem to point against her leaving home. Miss Bailey and Mrs. Charles Tuttle and her husband, Charles, had been to a social party in the evening, and on returning home she went to her room, and her sister, Mrs. Foster, and her husband, Charles, went to their rooms, and Charles and Mrs. Foster, on going to her room, found she was not there, and on inquiry found that she had left the house, and no one had seen her go out. The door was fastened on the inside, and she must have gone out through the window, which is but a few feet from the ground, and there is a porch below. The night was very dark, and it was raining when she left the house. The parents were at Newton, where they had gone to attend the funeral of a relative, and were expected home on the train due at midnight. The young lady left no note or message, and no one saw her go. The last seen of her, except that her sister thinks she saw her walking up the street in the direction of the depot, was by a young man who lives in the vicinity. Dr. Jordan, her lover, was at home, and he and his father, on being notified, came to the house immediately in search of the young lady. They were the last seen of her, except that her sister thinks she saw her walking up the street in the direction of the depot. Dr. Jordan, the young man of a [illegible] Dr. Jordan, her lover, went home, and, in company with his father, called on the parents of the young lady, and, on being informed of the facts, left for Elmira to the house indicated in search of the young lady. Her parents were quite prostrated, and she was leaving nothing done that seemed to promise anything toward her discovery. The police were called, but no information could be obtained, and everything went to show that the young lady had left of her own accord. The young lady was dressed in a light dress, and she had no money, and had no money, and had no money, and