Foreigner in War

The German army was equipped with steel helmets long before the war began. After the conflict was well under way the French discovered that the percentage of head wounds sustained by their soldiers was much greater than the percentage in the German army. The French adopted the steel helmet. The British followed suit, and now even the slow-moving Russians have equipped a small part of their forces with the best form of protection against head wounds. Other Russia forces the Central Powers with an announcement through the war department that steel helmets for Japan-Siam soldiers are being "considered."—Washington Herald.

More Horses Than Ever

For all the motor vehicles which are multiplying the mighty horses are increasing in number. In New York State a census was taken by automobiles last year under the auspices of the State association and agricultural department. This was the first census of the kind ever attempted.

The children's figures give the number of horses last year at 1,007,728, which is an increase of 108,000 over the Federal census of 1910. The number of cows remains unchanged, but sheep fell off 800,000. A gain of 200,000 is shown in swine.

Worries Bring Aches

Life today brings many worries and worrying brings on kidney troubles, as the doctors say. Kidney weakness reveals itself in backache, pains when stooping or lifting, dizzy sensations and urinary disorders. Be cheerful. Stop worrying. And, to strengthen weak kidneys, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the kidney remedy that is used and recommended the world over.

A Texas Case

Mrs. B. Hay, R. F. D. 1, Lancaster and Pleasant Site, Greenville, Texas, says: "For two years I suffered from a dull, throbbing ache across the small of my back. The kidney secretions were at times too frequent in passage, then again very distressing. Many medicines were common, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me in good health. Whenever I have taken them since, I have had the results."

MAKE PARKS OF BACKYARDS

Baltimore Has Demonstrated That Division Fences May Profitably Be Done Away With.

It has already been successfully demonstrated here in Baltimore that the scheme of leaving fences dividing house between city lots backyards and developing the unobstructed growth of space thus provided in a continuous former garden or a grassed area, is an distinctive or impressive design. It has been demonstrated because it has been done on several back streets and partially accomplished in hundreds of instances. By partially accomplished we mean those numerous whose two or three or four adjoining householders have thrown their backyards into a common and developed the enlarged space into flower gardens. This backyard part does belonging to the limit of practicality would mean the tearing down of all fences on both sides the midway alley and beautifying all the yards upon those harmonious schemes of ornamental gardening.

There are comparatively few block centers in which this complete scheme of ornamentation can be realized, for the reason that many owners wish to build a garage, a stable or some other kind of outbuilding in the backyard and fronting along the alley. While the planting of near buildings is one or more of the backyards of a block in conference with the complete realization of the backyard gardening scheme, it need not prevent the partial carrying out of the plan. And as to back buildings, their aptness and inharmony can be greatly modified by planting climbing vines of other climbing vines along their sides and rear ends. There is nothing so utilitarian—not even a stable—that every thought of beautification should be abandoned in connection with it.—Baltimore American.

FIRE PREVENTION PAYS WELL

Safe Construction Lowers Insurance and Reduces Depreciation—Repair Cost Little.

If the walls and roof of the house are of fire-resistant material fully 90 per cent of the fire hazard is overcome, says the writer of an article on "Construction Means Home Building," which is published in the Prize Essay of Construction. In the interior it is not necessary to eliminate wood from the finishing. There is no objection to trim or doors and even the floors above the first may be of wood.

The basement should, by all means, be cut off from the rest of the house by a masonry floor, protected stairway and fireproof doors connecting with the first floor. Partitions should be of fire-resistive material in order to check the rapid spread of flames. In other words, think of fire as it really is and use common sense in the construction of the house.

In most localities a house of this type is credited with a noticeable reduction in insurance cost. Naturally, too, the cost of maintenance is reduced, painting and repairs are not necessary. Another saving factor is the matter of depreciation. A frame house with wood shingles, built as they are today, will depreciate just three times as quickly as a masonry house with a common-sense roof.

Chicago's City Planning.

Chicago, the premier American city in city-planning work, is about to invade the world of the "movies."

It is going to show other municipalities how to make themselves more attractive, beautiful and prosperous, and as an object lesson will display views of present-day and future Chicago to millions of people throughout the United States, Canada and Europe.

To satisfy demands made by more than a hundred American cities which are watching Chicago's planning efforts, the Chicago plan commission has arranged to have the entire Chicago plan put in film form.

The national, state, county and city officials in Chicago, members of the Commercial club, members of the plan commission and the officers and directors of the leading civic, social and commercial organizations, industrial clubs, real estate board and women's clubs are to be visualized.

The Household Incinerator.

An aid in sanitation especially useful in the country is a small garbage incinerator which can be attached to the ordinary kitchen range. The surplus heat from the range will dry the garbage in a short time. After all the moisture has been taken up, a damper is opened, which allows a draft from the firebox to pass over the dried garbage and consume it to ashes in a few minutes. The ashes can be removed from the incinerator without being mixed with those of the range. The garbage ashes constitute a valuable fertilizer.

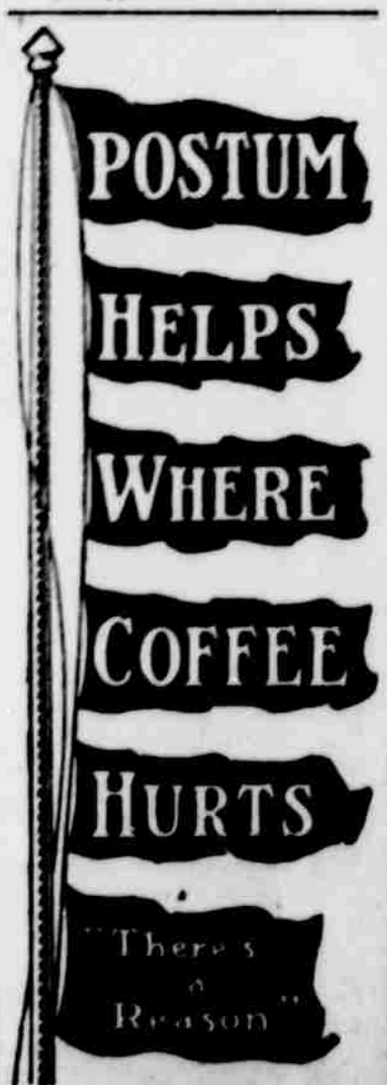
Treatment of "Sick" Plants.

The plan of treating sick plants with sprays of iron sulphate solution is believed to be the solution of a serious problem of pineapple growers in the Hawaiian Islands. Though the details of application are yet to be perfected, the black surface soil near Honolulu, over an area of 5,000 to 10,000 acres, contains manganese, up to two or three per cent, and pineapple plants in this soil, though growing well for a time, eventually become weak and sickly, with drooping yellow leaves. The fruit, which develops and ripens imperfectly, is made unpalatable by a peculiar acidity and lack of sugar. The investigation of M. O. Johnson, of the Honolulu experiment station, has recently brought the discovery that the manganese dioxide in the soil renders the iron insoluble, and that, in soil having a great abundance of iron, the plants have failed from lack of this element. Injections of iron sulphate promptly restored greenness and vigor. In field experiments, feeding iron to the plants gave no results, but it was found that when the leaves were wet with copperas solution enough iron was absorbed to supply their needs. The flavor of the treated fruit was equal to that of the product of the best pineapple land.



VALUE OF IMPROVED ROADS

Public Highways to Move Generally Guest Than Any Other Means of Intercommunication.

It has been stated, and currently so, that only 10 per cent of the public roads in the United States are improved; in many states, only 1 per cent have been made good. Therefore, with from 90 to 95 per cent of our highways there trails across country, Americans are living in a land of mud or dust, according to the season.

Rarely are poor roads really improved roads, if improved according to modern methods, are always impassable in the most inclement weather, barring a blizzard and snowdrifts. The force of this observation may be the more readily understood when it is stated that the public road is more generally used than any other means of intercommunication. It is free and open to all of the people. It is of benefit to one class more than another only to the extent one class uses it more than another.

Many sections of the country are opposing road improvement, just like the cattle barons of the unfenced western plains—the llama ranchs—not many years ago opposed the coming of the homesteader and the railroad. One definition of a "nonbeliever" is that he is a foe to progress. Opponents of good roads are nonbelievers of this character. They are hamping their heels on the way of progress solely because they lack understanding of the value of good roads to their own communities.

Too much cannot be said in favor of improved roads. They are worth all they cost. The argument is all one way. Why drive through mud and water with a four-horse team empty over a bad road when a two-horse will haul as much as 12 bales of cotton, for example, more rapidly and surely over a good road?

A little thought along these lines must convince anyone that these United States need good roads about as bad as anything.—New York Commercial.

MAKING STATE ROADS SAFER

Purchase of Parcels of Land at Highway Intersections of Interest to All Travelers.

A bill authorizing the purchase of parcels of land at highway intersections, now on the house calendar, is of interest to all travelers on the state roads. Any reasonable plans for improving the corners is likely to have general approval. Real estate in the country towns, outside the villages, is inexpensive. The cost of eliminating right-angle turns should not be excessive, and the gain in safety will be appreciable. Many serious accidents have occurred at these abrupt turns, particularly where the dangerous conditions were not revealed by lights. At such points the best remedy is in the relocation of the highway lines, and it may be said that immunity from danger is worth more than the price of a few square feet of unoccupied farm land.—Providence Journal.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY, IT SICKENS! STOP USING SALIVATING DRUG

Don't Lose a Day's Work. If Your Liver Is Sluggish or Bowels Constipated Take "Dodson's Liver Tone."—It's Fine!

You're bilious. Your liver is sluggish. You feel sore, sick and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad, stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes torment of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the sweet, gentle liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced, take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working, you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and cannot salivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.—Adv.

Don't Neglect Kidneys

Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Prescription, Overcomes Kidney Trouble

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

The kidneys should receive some attention when needed. We take less exercise, drink too water and often eat more rich, heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, aching bladder troubles, scanting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, yellow complexion, rheumatism, nervous weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. There is nothing else like it. It is a Dr. Kilmer's prescription used in private practice and it is sure to benefit you. Get a bottle from your druggist.

However, if you want first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. Adv.

MOVE "SUPERS" IN PROTEST

Claim Salaries Do Not Fit Increased Duties and Responsibilities of the Work.

The "vapors" of the moving pictures to the number of ten thousand have appealed to the American Federation of Labor to help them. The days when in the "legitimate" they could get several dollars a night for looking the part have given place to long hours of exposure to lumps and thumps and thrilling handling and falling for a wage scale seriously reduced, they maintain, by the exorbitant commissions demanded by the agents. The public is no longer satisfied to let a jumper fall from a roof or jump from a moving car to a train, or shot a mad-dog shark, or perform the role of a sho-bear in bed bed. It expects the "super" himself to be an "injurious-ney type" bullet and resilient, whether he is dropped from a house roof or smothered under a bayonet. He must be a glutton for punishment, and cater to the indurated sympathy of a mob like from the lungs of a Ted Meredith and the muscles of a Howard Berry.

Yet for all this he is to have the pay of a shoveler or a waiting porter. He thinks he deserves the wages of a Mexican bullfighter, at least. He suffers from competition. He is a "supernumerary." He gets the wages paid to millions that get little or no premium on mentality. Bruises, sprains and gashes, in a world dripping with gore, have a lessened market value since they have become part of the accepted order. The trivial wounds of civilians are little noted for the real and widespread suffering among the soldiers. The "super" would win at once as a warrior the sympathy that is denied to his cinematographic trials and sufferings.

Cupid succumbs with silken hairs.
