Public Health Department

BY DR. J. C. MAHR, STATE COMMISSIONER OF HEALTH

A party writing from Ponca City, Oklahoma, requests that we answer the following questions in our next Public Health letter:

First—What are the duties of the City Health Officer? Answer—Paragraph 6794, Chapter 67, Article 1, Revised Statutes of Oklahoma, 1910, describes the duties of a City Health Officer.

Second—When an ordinance has been passed requiring every one to connect with the sewer, whose duty is it to see that it is enforced and that the unsanitary closet vaults are properly taken care of? Answer—The Mayor and City Council.

Third—Whose duty is it to see that the alleys are kept in a sanitary condition? Answer—The Mayor and City Council.

The tuberculosis death rate has declined fifty percent during the past thirty years, yet it is estimated that it slays 200,000 Americans annually, and afflicts over 900,000 who are spreading the disease to others.

Many people, including some of our United States Senators and Congressmen, believe that the United States should intervene in Mexico, yet preventable diseases at home are causing as many deaths and as much loss in property wealth as the revolution in Mexico. A little intervention, and the same amount of money that would be required in intervention in Mexico, would save as many lives at home, and as much property loss.

In the United States 600,000 lives are lost from preventable diseases, and statistics justify the prediction that over 400,000 people will be alive in the United States next New Year's day who would have died this year if the death rate of 1880 still prevailed. We have learned by experience how to prolong human life. Tuberculosis death rate has declined fifty percent in thirty years, still it slays 200,000 Americans annually, and 900,000 are busy spreading the disease to others.

Typhoid fever has reduced forty percent, diphtheria eighty percent, pneumonia ten percent; and still these diseases cost us 135,000 lives annually. Malaria is preventable, but yet thousands are suffering from it. Smallpox has almost entirely disappeared as a dearly disease, yellow fever has been conquered, and Asiatic cholera has been successfully resisted at our seaports. Other communicable diseases have decreased.

Is it worth while to make an effort to reduce this needless sacrifice of human life? If it is, intervention in this direction will bring great results. Intervention that would look to a pure water supply, satisfactory sewage disposal, proper sanitary methods of disposing of garbage, clean streets, alleys and back yards, elimination of stagnant pools of water in streets or near residences, official milk inspection that is thorough, proper supervision for consumptives and those afflicted with other communicable disease, with hospitals to care for them, thus preventing spreading the disease to others, compulsory reporting of all births and all deaths to the nearest Health Officer.

Do you know of any easier or cheaper way to save humanity, and yourself, than this kind of intervention? Like charity, it should commence at home.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

You can do in a very few minutes, what the United States Legislature has been trying for years to do. You can eliminate the manufacturer, who tries to sell you short weight packages for the misbelief that they are full weight. Many concerns manufacturing Macaroni, Spaghetti, Ready Cut and other paste put up short weight packages and sell them to you for full weight goods. Your scale should be your protection. Experience has taught many housewives that EAGLE BRAND Macaroni, Spaghetti and Ready Cut are always put up in FULL WEIGHT packages—that their quality is the best and never varies, that they cost less and goes further.
