BEECHER ...

...S OLD BROWN.

The clerical demagogue, Henry Ward Beecher, who started a subscription for twenty-five Sharp's rifles and contributed one himself, to help along Old Brown wile invading Missouri, three years ago, for the purpose of stealing horses and running off negroes—this same Beecher now taunts the people of Virginia with "cowardice." He hypocritically cants "about the power of true Christian prayer," the designs of God to cure slavery, &c., &c., but has no tears to shed over Brown's unfortunate victims at Harper's Ferry. He evidently considers the shooting down of a free colored man, with his Sharp's rifle, perhaps, for refusing to join his "poor child-bereft" Old Brown, and the murder in cold blood of the aged bridge tender, of little consequence. Of course Beecher now calls Brown "crazy." But was he not equally so when he went into Missouri, where an innocent man was shot on his own soil, for the same purpose that he recently went into Maryland and Virginia? Was his object not then, as now, to run off slaves, create insurrection and commit murder? What terms, then, can be used too severe to denounce a man professing to be a minister of Christ, who puts weapons into the hands of this "crazy" old fanatic? Did Christ advocate the use of weapons? Did he not rather command Peter to put up his sword who he smote a servant of the High Priest and cut off his right ear? But Beecher, pretending to be one of the elect, gives rifles to "crazy" abolitionists, and virtually says—"Go and kill slaveholders and induce their slaves to rise and murder defenceless women and children!"

Beecher says in his sermon, that the Virginia authorities will kill Brown, "not for treason, but for proving them cowards!" and in another place he cantingly says—"We must maintain sympathy and kindness toward the South"—probably he means by furnishing Sharp's rifles to be turned upon them by the hands of his "crazy" tools, while he himself is too arrant a coward to assist in using them.—How long are the people of the North to be cajoled by such knavish political priests as this man is constantly proving himself to be?

Letters from on board of the frigates Powhatan and Mississippi, in China, dated at the Pei-Tang river, on the 16th of July, and at Shanghai on the 12th of August state that previous to the receipt of the Imperial edict permitting Mr. Ward to go to Peking he had several interesting conversations with the Mandarins and local authorities, all of whom used a vast amount of official duplicity in dealing with him. When about to set out they endeavored to have him abandon the overland route and proceed by steamer; but he would not; so he set out with his suite in a wagon without springs—not in a box—for the capital.—A courier who reached Shanghai from Peking announced his arrival there, where he was attended by five hundred Chinese cavalry detailed as an escort for his service. The Russian naval officers who arrived at Pei-tang from the Amoor stated that the influence of the Czar in Peking was much overrated, as no Russian envoy could approach the place without special permission and by the road indicated, he also added that if the Chinese possessed any real native courage, they could, by their numbers, endanger the Russian settlements at any moment.—Great efforts were being made to arm and man the Taku forts. The armament was nearly complete, and the Peiho again filled with obstructions. So that the English and French will have to fight hard for victory yet. The Chinese had taken several guns from the stranded gunboats of the English, and also purchased twenty-five large ones from foreign traders in Shanghai. They offered at much as six hundred dollars a month to foreigners having a knowledge of artillery practice who would enter the Emperor's service. Shanghai and Ningpo were greatly disturbed and trade interrupted. A very severe opthalmia preveiled on board the Missisippi, with some slight cholera. The Missisippi was under orders to leave Shanghai and go to the Peiho to join Commodore Tatnall.

☞ The safe in the Bank of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, was blown open on Monday night last, by burglars, and robbed of about $7,000 in mortgages, land warrants, and cash. Two persons, supposed to be the robbers, were apprehended at Tomah, on Tuesday and Wednesday, while in the act of leaving town.—None of the property has been discovered.

A Bloody Proposal.—The Gazette de France has made the remarkable discovery that the conditional acceptance of Tuscany by Victor Emanuel is due to English intrigues. To punish this interference, the Gazette suggests the raising of 2,000,000 of soldiers, and a loan of £10,000,000 sterling, to blot England from the map of Europe.

☞ Some thirty years ago the "Edinburg Review" sneeringly asked the question, "Who reads an American Book?" and within the last few months a volume has been published in London entitled a "Guide to American Literature," which contains no less than seven hundred closely written pages.

The taxable property in Texas, this year, is $224,353,266, being an increase of thirty millions over the last.

While various Republican papers are pronouncing the most bitter execrations against the Virginia court at Charleston, "Old Brown" himself confounds these libellers by saying at the conclusion of his trial—"I feel entirely satisfied with the treatment I have recieved on my trial."

The National Intelligencer publishes the following respecting the judge, jury and counsel in this case:—"Judge Parker is a humane and impartial man, and the jury honest and intelligent citizens, while the prosecuting attorneys are neither vindictive nor anxious to pervert the law and the facts."

"Pink," of the Charleston Courier, who is by no means a pink of politeness, writes from New York, that there is a great and growing evil in New York, one of a delicate nature—the ladies get drunk!

IS THE PLACE TO BUY

CLOTHING,

FURNISHING GOODS.

MACHINE POETRY—A LA HIAWATHA.

Here's the place to buy your toggery,
Buy your vests and buy your breeches,
Buy your shirts and fancy facings,
Buy your caps and buy your chapeaus,
Buy your garments big and little,
Hat as high as any steeple,
Or as low as is the bayou,
All goods sold as low or lower than the lowest,
Retail dealer in this region,
Dares to sell his traps and plunder,
Opposition, "stand from under!"
Marks is he as who can peddle
His own good ship, his own staunch hooker,
Boots and shoes for gents and ladies,
Children and youth and little babies,
Marks has, and he is bound to sell 'em
Cheaper than the other traders,
Who can only barely, waddle,
While he'll "just get up and hedaddle."
Work to windward of the squadron,
For he carries piles of canvas,
And "goes in" upon his muscle.
Come along or send your orders
For goods that came by the Kaloolah,
Goods that come v-ia Goderich,
That's the route to bring you freight on,
Always sound and always certain,
Far across the raging Huron,
But the God of navigation
Likes the style of the Kaloolah,
Likes her owners and her captain,
And he blesses every package,
Every box and every barrel,
That comes that way, most truly.
But the machine is quite unruly,
So I'll blow my whistle and
Shut off. H. MARKS.
