A PROUD RECORD.

The Past Year One of Unprecedented Prosperity to Pierre and Vicinity.

A Record of Progress and Improvements Comparable to Any City in the State.

List of Those Who Have Helped in the Big Work of Building a Metropolis.

Something That Pierre's People Can View With Pride and Satisfaction.

Fort Pierre and Stanley are Brought in Under the Same General Head.

The Footings of Improvements Make Up the Big Round Sum of $633,570.

The FREE PRESS has been trying to compile a list of the business and substantial improvements in Pierre from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1890, but it has been a very difficult matter to run down and hunt out all the new buildings and improvements, and it would be little short of a miracle if a great many have not been omitted. In this list no improvements are given that were made prior to Jan. 1, except possibly a few cases where buildings had been commenced last year, in which case the amount expended this year only is intended to be given. We might also add that quite a number of buildings have been moved into Pierre from other places, of which we have made no note, although they might properly appear as improvements, which they are. Our object is this: is to give only new structures or new improvements. The showing is certainly a good one, considering that this season rather than the rule. In this connection we wish to call attention to the number of good dwellings that have been built, and the number of improvements that have been added to dwellings. It is always a sure indication of prosperity in a town when business men build new and enlarge their residences, and indicates permanency and confidence. There have also been some very fine business houses erected during the year, buildings that would be a credit to any town.

No person need be ashamed to send this list to their eastern friends as it is in every way creditable.

We also give a list of the building improvements of our sister cities of Fort Pierre and Stanley, and point to them with pride, as indicating that here is being built up a center of business for a vast stretch of country. Whatever benefits Pierre will benefit the country to the west, and whatever benefits that country will benefit Pierre.

The year just closing has been a momentous one for Pierre. It has seen the opening to settlement, immediately west of her, of a tract of country equal to a good sized eastern state; it has seen Pierre chosen as the permanent capital of the great state of South Dakota by the popular vote of the people, and by a majority that was at once emphatic and convincing that the people expect to develop the whole state and build up a new civilization in this new country; the year has witnessed the commencement and partial completion of a new railroad which is intended to connect the capital take rank with the great world outside; it has seen the foundation of a new city will one day at Pierre, not will grow up into one day dawn; the year has witnessed the first shipment of cattle ever made through Pierre, the shipment being made by a company of Pierre men, and the year has witnessed the first sale of a ranch in the vicinity of Pierre to a company of Pierre men, with a view to stocking it with cattle; it has seen
