The Annual Meeting.

The fifteenth annual meeting of the Nebraska State Sportsmen's association was held at John J. Hardin's sporting goods headquarters last night, with W. H. S. Hughes, the president, in the chair. John Field was appointed secretary pro tem. On a call of the roll of the clubs constituting the association it was found that representatives were present from the clubs of Omaha, Tekamah, South Omaha and Ponca. After the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting the reports of committees and a lot of general miscellaneous business of but little interest was transacted. On motion of Judge Barnes, the next meeting of the association will be held at Norfolk. The election of officers for the ensuing year was gone into. Judge Barnes, of Ponca, was elected president, and assumed the chair. B. F. Locke, of Norfolk, elected secretary and W. E. Nason treasurer.

LOWRY CORNERS BROATCH.

The Councilman and Mayor Have a Very Lively Tilt.

A sensational episode occurred in the office of the gas inspector at the city hall yesterday in which Councilman Lowry and Mayor Broatch were the principal actors, and for a while it looked as though the City of Omaha would have to put on the garb of mourning for its chief executive. The cause of the disruption was an article published in an evening paper purporting to be an interview between a reporter and Mayor Broatch. Some of the remarks put in the mouth of that city official reflected considerably on Mr. Lowry as chairman of the committee on grades and grading. This raised the ire of the councilman, but he did not get a chance to square matters with the Mayor until about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He found the mayor at that time at his desk and asked him to step across the hall into the gas inspector's office. The mayor did so, and as soon as he was inside Lowry stepped to the door, locked it and put the key in his pocket. This looked rather ominous, but the city's chief executive thought it best to keep quiet and await developments. They were immediately forthcoming, for Lowry, planting himself squarely in front of Broatch, and with fire in his eyes, demanded an explanation of the remarks damaging to himself. The angry demonstration rather startled his excellency, the mayor, and he turned red and white by turns before he essayed to answer. He finally gained his self-possession and assured Mr. Lowry that the whole interview was a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end, and that the entire affair originated in the brain of the reporter who penned it. He (Broatch) had neither seen nor talked with any reporter on that subject. He said furthermore he would write a personal letter to the editor of the paper disclaiming any knowledge of the interview published. This had a cooling effect on the anger of Mr. Lowry, and, after assuring the mayor that it was well for him that he denied the truthfulness of the damaging statement published, he unlocked the door and released from custody the governor of the great Nebraska Metropolis.

How to Select a Wife.

Good health, good morals, good sense and good temper, are the four essentials for a good wife. These are the indispensables. After them come the minor advantages of good looks, accomplishments, family position, etc. With the first four, married life will be comfortable and happy. Lacking either, it will be in more or less degree a failure. Upon good health depends largely good temper and good looks, and to some extent good sense also, as the best mind must be affected more or less by the weaknesses and whims attendant on frail health. Young man, if your wife is falling into a state of invalidism, first of all things try to restore her health. If she is troubled with debilitating female weaknesses, buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will cure her.

Assaulted By a Pinkerton.

One of the Pinkerton hirelings named Johnson was guilty of a most gross assault on Con Hetzler, assistant yardmaster of the Union Pacific, yesterday about noon. Hetzler was on his way home to dinner at the time, when he was hailed by Johnson near the B. & M. crossing on Eighth street. The Pinkerton man came running up to him and shaking his club in Hetzler's face, commenced to curse and threaten him on account of an alleged participation in the riot of the day before. Hetzler assured him that he was mistaken, but the Pinkerton, raising his club, struck Hetzler several savage blows over the head and shoulders. To cover up the brutal attack the Chicago man placed his victim under arrest and took him to the B. & M. depot. The police officers, however, refused to lock the assistant yardmaster up, and he was released. Hetzler swore out a warrant for the arrest of Johnson and he was put behind the bars of the central station.

Cruel and Cowardly.

People who were present at the Council Bluffs transfer last Sunday witnessed a shocking instance of brutality on the part of one of the porters there. A young sparrow had fallen out of one of the nests under the porch, and being unable to fly was captured by a little boy. The porter, who was wetting the floor with the hose at the time, secured the bird on the promise to return it to its nest, and then, when the boy was looking in another direction, tossed it on the floor and turned the full stream of the hose on it. After sweeping it several feet he went to another part of the porch and left the bird gasping on the floor. One of the passengers who witnessed the act picked the little creature up, and with a rap on one of the iron posts put it out of its misery. One of the gentlemen present remarked: "If I were as big a man as Sullivan I should have caught that porter by the collar with one hand and turned the hose directly in his face with the other, followed by some posterior admonitions with the toe of my boot."

The occurrence created great indignation among the score or more of people who witnessed it, and the opinion was general that the roads at the transfer should protect their patrons by the prompt discharge of an employe guilty of such a shocking act of inhumanity.

Prospective Manufactory.

Mr. L. D. Vogel, of Boone, Ia., is in the city seeking to organize a company for the manufacture of a patent building, designed chiefly for brick, tile and salt yards. Brickmakers suffer great loss, often as high as 25 per cent, in times of bad weather, not to mention the loss of time. In wet weather the green brick take up moisture and many of them are spoiled. The Vogel building is designed to overcome these difficulties. Its roof is of thin iron in sheets, overlapping each other. They are attached to an endless chain, and by turning a crank the whole roof is drawn up under the ridge pole. The sides of the building are made like a huge slatted window shutter. By these contrivances the building can be shut up tight or made almost open as out doors.

A number of brickmakers have examined the model and pronounce it "the thing." Two of them say they want the new shed as soon as they can be had. Several capitalists have volunteered to take stock in the enterprise, but more will be needed. Mr. Vogel controls the patent for the whole United States, and is desirous of having the central manufactory in Omaha. His patent is also designed to be used for awnings, and its durability will be a strong card. There is seemingly a vast field for this manufacturing enterprise, and Omaha capitalists should investigate its merits before it goes elsewhere. Mr. Vogel's headquarters are with the contractors' association at room 438, Paxton building.

Life will acquire new zest, and cheerfulness return, if you will impel your liver and kidneys to the performance of their functions. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm will stimulate them to healthful action. $1 per bottle.

THE MASONIC GRAND LODGE.

First Day's Session Opened at the Capitol City.

PROMINENT MEN ATTENDING.

Discussing the Location of the Orphans Home—A $50,000 Bonus Wanted—Cattle Dying at Ord—City Brevities.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMAHA BEE, 1029 P STREET, LINCOLN, June 21.

The Grand Lodge of Masons are busily at work to-day in their first day's session. From the 163 lodges in the state nearly every one is represented, and there are at least 250 delegates in attendance. The report of the committee on credentials was the opening business of the morning, and it showed, among others, the following prominent Masons in attendance: George W. Lininger, Daniel H. White, Chris Hartman, Charles K. Coutant, Omaha; Robert W. Furnas, Brownville; Frank E. White, J. G. Richey, Plattsmouth; Jacob S. Dew, Tecumseh; H. N. Blake, Beatrice; J. L. Linn, Humbolt; J. O. Chase, Fairmount; H. M. Wells, Crete; C. C. Rittenhouse, Hastings; N. V. Harlan, York; Dr. M. W. Stone, Wahoo; J. K. Dempster, H. L. Smith, Geneva; Brad D. Slaughter, Fullerton; Elmer McFarland, Hubbell; J. M. Beardsley, Weeping Water; J. H. Ager, Ord; Charles N. Folsom, Ashland; F. M. Suiter, DeWitt; A. R. Graham, Wisner; Lewis A. Kent, Minden; George B. France, York.

The published report of the grand treasurer showed a balance on hand of $12,361.10 and Secretary Fumas, managing trustee of the orphan fund, reported $15,545.85. The membership increase of the year is 1,212 and the decrease by death and expulsion 579. The total number of names in the state is 8,007. The committee on orphans' home reported early in the day and it led to an animated discussion of two hours' duration, a large number in the grand lodge favoring active work in this direction at once. Mr. Lininger stated that the best kind of inducements had been made by the people of Omaha for the location of the home there and he spoke of the liberal contributions that the Masons in Omaha would make to build and sustain the institution. The design of the home is to have a place where the children of Masons left upon the world can have care, education and a home. The discussion resulted in the passage of a resolution instructing the grand master to appoint a special committee that will have the duty of soliciting and securing funds and when $50,000 is raised it is left with the committee to decide whether or not to proceed in locating and erecting a home. At the afternoon session the report of the committee on grievances was the first taken up and the cases occupied some time in consideration. This evening the organization of Masons who have been members of the organization for twenty-one years or over, hold a reunion and banquet at the parlors of Temple hall. The grand lodge will remain in session another day.

At the night session Omaha was selected as the meeting place for next year, and the following officers were elected: Grand master, George B. France, York; deputy, Dr. J. J. Mercer, Brownville; senior warden, R. E. French, Kearney.

CATTLE DISEASE AT ORD.

The live stock commission has received a communication from A. S. Adams of Ord, who states that he has lost five head of cattle, one of them a valuable animal from some cattle disease which he cannot fathom. In writing to the commission he describes the symptoms by stating that the cattle get dull and spiritless lying down often and, in attempting to walk, fall blowing and frothing. Mr. Adams has had a post mortem examination made of some of the cattle but it throws little light on the trouble. The commission has written for further information and Dr. Gerth will go to the scene of the trouble at an early day.

ASSAULTING A BILL POSTER.

Yesterday a bill poster in connection with Funke's opera house was engaged in posting bills for the brotherhood on his bill boards over the city. While at work on P street, between Eighth and Ninth, a special B. & M. policeman came along and assaulted him, as he states, knocking him down and kicking him. The bill poster says that he was posting on places that he controlled, and that there was no provocation for the assault. The special went to the county court in the evening and plead guilty to assault and was fined. However, young Martin, the bill poster, did not propose to have the case settled in that way and had a warrant issued from the police court, the trial being set for this afternoon.
