Considerable trouble has been had of late by the people of Manawa who are anxious to have a school house erected in the vicinity of the lake. An appropriation was voted something over a year ago for the purpose, but the school board was opposed to the scheme, and accordingly neglected to take the necessary steps to carry out the will of the people. A few days ago suits were commenced by three children against each of the three school directors, for $25 damages, for each week of in which the board had failed to provide a place for holding school. In this way fifty-four suits were piled up. The members of the board became alarmed for fear all the school children in the district would follow the example of the three enterprising ones who were plaintiffs in the actions and a meeting was held, at which it was decided to commence work upon the new building at once. A suit for an injunction has also been commenced to restrain the school directors from taking money from the school treasury to pay the expenses of their litigation.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS.

City Officials Have Much Trouble with "Belt" Game Men.

RELEASED AS RAPIDLY AS ARRESTED.

Considerable Curiosity Aroused by the Actions of the Chief of Police in the Premises.

Frank Carroll and Ed Maher set up a "belt" game yesterday morning at the corner of Broadway and Seventh streets, and were hard at work raking in the nickles and the quarters of the unsuspecting and gullible farmers, when Officer Wajeck came along The officer recognized it as being a "skin game" of the twenty-four caret style, and accordingly gathered the proprietors, with their establishment, under his arm. They were taken to the police station. A private interview between them and Chief of Police Carey ensued, and in the meantime the jailer commenced to enter the names of the parties on the book. Only one name had been written down, when a message came from the police headquarters notifying Wajeck to let them go, as they were all right, and the chief did not care to place any charge against them. Wajeck, of course, obeyed the mandate of his superior, and the two gamblers were discharged from custody.

Marshal Templeton knew very well that the two men would only be encouraged by their pleasant interview with the chief, and he sent a couple of deputies out to watch for further developments. In about an hour they returned, bringing the two culprits with them, and this time there was no hitch in the proceedings. They were booked with gambling, and their effects, amounting in all to about $50, were put up with the marshal for their appearance in police court tomorrow morning.

Considerable curiosity was aroused by the transaction as to what the motive of the chief was in letting the two culprits go free, in view of the fact that they are well known as two of the most unmitigated scalawags in the city.

Burglars at Work.

While the circus was entertaining the crowds at the driving park yesterday afternoon, burglars were getting in their work in different parts of the town, and more than one who had watched with open mouth the gray headed antics of the clown found his house turned topsy turvy when he reached home. Brockhoff's grocery store, at the corner of Sixth avenue and Fifteenth street, was one of the places visited. Mrs. Brockhoff was the only one at home. She is somewhat hard of hearing, but she heard a noise in the back part of the building. She went to investigate, when she suddenly found herself confronted with a large revolver, in the hands of a trampish looking man. She screamed for help, but was speedily silenced by a shot in her direction from the revolver and a warning from the man that held it as to what the result would be if the action was repeated. A few minutes later the man and his companion left the store leisurely by the front door.

A couple of doors away is the residence of J. Fullmer an engineer on the Union Pacific. Some of the neighbors saw a man leaving the house by the back way and knowing that all the family were away, went to see what was up. They found that someone had been through the house and had turned everything upside down in the effort to find something of value. A fine revolver and a lot of jewelry were taken and it is hard to tell how many other things will turn up missing in the course of the next few days.

The residence of C. E. Swanson, 129 Glen avenue, was visited. Here the burglars made an entrance through a back window, and took a pretty thorough inventory, but nothing else save a gold watch chain, the property of a young man who rooms in the house, was taken.

John Stubbs, 620 First avenue, received a call. A fine gold watch and chain were taken, and the burglars also helped themselves to some cigars that were lying on a dresser.

The house of John Green, the upper Broadway shoemaker, 628 South First street, was entered and everything in the house was gone through. Even the bedding was taken off from the beds, in the hope of finding the traditional gold mine between the bedticks. In a bureau drawer were an envelope containing a check for $50 and a small amount of silver. In some unaccountable way the marauder missed them both, and nothing at all was secured.

The work was all apparently done by amateurs who were so fearful of being discovered that they did not do their business up thoroughly. In very few instances did anybody see anyone about the places visited, and the only way the police hope to get any track of them is by arresting all suspicious characters on general principles. Two hard looking customers were captured last evening by Officer Kemp, giving their names as Ed Thompson and Dave Murray. Each of them had counterfeit money in his pocket, and the opinion of the police is that they are experienced crooks.

Must Have a Guarantee.

Abe Lincoln post, Grand Army of the Republic, took a hand in the encampment project last evening at their regular meeting, adopting the following set of resolutions which explain themselves:

Whereas, An effort is being made to secure the national encampment, Grand Army of the Republic, for 1892, at Council Bluffs, Ia., therefore be it

Resolved, By Abe Lincoln post, No. 29, department of Iowa, that it deprecates the attempt at this time, it being too late to raise the necessary money to insure taking care of the encampment in proper manner, and too late to secure the location for the time indicated, unless the citizens of this city will guarantee a fund of $50,000 to take proper care of the encampment and this fund or guarantee to be such as any of the banks of this city will honor.

In support of this action, one of the members of the post spoke as follows last evening:

"It will be simply time thrown away for Council Bluffs to try to get the encampment without anything but enthusiasm to show in her favor. Washington, D. C., and Lincoln, Neb., have each raised a fund of $50,000 which they can flash in the face of the convention at Detroit, and for us to send a committee there with nothing but promises would be utterly useless. Cash is what counts. Wind is good for nothing."

Wants His Share.

Some of the painters of the city are subjecting Chairman C. B. Waite of the school board committee on buildings and grounds to a mild roasting on account of a grievance which they claim they have suffered at his hands. There is several hundred dollars worth of painting and calcimining to be done about the public schools this summer and they claim that Waite has let the contract for the job to one Waldon, who has only been a citizen of the Bluffs a short time, without letting them have a chance to bid for it. In speaking of the matter yesterday H. P. Niles said:

"If Waldron can do the work at 25 cents a square, I am willing he should have it at that price. But at the same time I think a public officer ought to allow everyone an equal chance to get the work. The thing may be perfectly straight, but it looks too much to the public as though something underhanded was going on, and if there is going to be any stealing done, I want to have a chance to do my share of it."

AMUSEMENTS.

Not only a very large audience, but one that might, in this city and in these summer days, be considered a very "swell" one, welcomed "Tuxedo" at the Grand opera house last evening, and the predictions made by THE BEE as to the success of the new farce comedy were more than justified.

There is little plot in the comedy, and for the purposes of the entertainment little is needed. "Tuxedo" is chosen as the scene, and around the exclusives of that aristocratic New York resort the situations are written.

Mr. Thatcher as himself is inimitable and has shown a versatility which cannot be too highly commended. Mr. Hughey Dougherty made a pronounced hit as the song and dance man, Red McGee. Mr. Eugene O'Rourke is highly cast in the role of Jackson Park, a typical Chicagoan. While Mr. Marble, the author of the play, was not called before the footlights, he was nevertheless "very much in it" as Gregory Gabble, a retired auctioneer, twice married and very beautifully situated at Tuxedo, possibly in a cottage adjoining the Lorillard.

Raymon Moore plays a juvenile part very creditably, but needs a little more snap and go in several of his minor situations.

Mr. Coleman as Lord Cholmondelay, which the members of the company persist in pronouncing as it is spelled, was a surprise to his friends in the audience. His work was clear cut and he gave a really remarkable portraiture of a modern English swell, "who," as Thatcher says, "are not done justice in Puck."

Miss Lizzie Daly as Mildred was captivating and brings an excellent stage training to the role of a society young woman, in love with anything that has a bit of fun in it. Miss Hayden as Sadie Newett gives excellent promise for the future. She is young, pretty and ambitious.

Miss Fitzhugh as the Browning girl was pleasing, although she needs to elaborate the part, as it is a rival of Mrs. Gilliflory, except cast in a much lighter mould. She has a very sweet voice, which she uses well. Miss Mamie Gilroy, who has been seen in Omaha a number of times, is delightfully cast in the part of Fanny. She brings to the part a delightful personality and her duet with Mr. Coleman was the hit of the evening.

POLICE PICKINGS.

Wickedness Brought to the Surface by the Vigilant Officers.

The hearing of Jake Price in police court was contiued yesterday until 9:30 o'clock Monday morning. There is only one more witness to be examined. No new testimony was given on the stand yesterday. Price was taken to the county jail to spend Sunday.

M. Golden and Sam Snyder, the Farnam street pawnbrokers who have been selling brass watches to greenhorns lately and charging good prices, were arrested at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon on a warrant The men were released on bail pending their hearing in police court Monday.

Wah Lee was fined $10 and costs for keeping an opium joint and his pipes and opium confiscated. The three inmates of the joint were discharged.

William McDonald, a thirteen-year-old lad, stole a shirt from Hayden Brothers yesterday afternoon. The boy ran, but was caught and turned over to a policeman, who sent him to jail. The shirt is worth about 50 cents.

The gambling cases were called in police court yesterday and continued for one week.

ONE STAR EXTINGUISHED.

Officer Keyes Becomes a Private Citizen Once More.

The fire and police commissioners sat as a court last night and tried three officers and one fireman. Mrs. Freyer of Eighteenth and St. Mary's avenue charged Officer Monroe with insulting her. The testimony was taken and the case referred to a committee for investigation.

Pipeman Pat Noonan of hose company No. 6 was suspended from duty for five days for reporting for duty when under the influence of liquor.

Officer Vance Fields was suspended five days for absenting himself from duty without leave.

Charges were preferred against Officer J. H. Keyes for being drunk and disorderly. Keyes offered his resignation, which was accepted.

The committee was instructed to advertise for bids for sixteen horses for fire department purposes. This committee recommended the purchase of one new truck and a hose wagon and a chemical engine combined to be placed in one of the new houses.

MADISON'S CHAUTAUQUA.

Interesting Work of the Order in South Dakota.

MADISON, S. D., July 25.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—An interesting and important feature of the Lake Madison Chautauqua assembly is the Women's Christian Temperance union school of methods. The work is ably conducted by Mrs. Caroline M. Woodward of Nebraska. Her lectures on jail and prison work and work among railroad employes, with which she has had much to do, are very instructive. Today the school indulged in a season of parliamentary practice that was highly entertaining. Congressman Pickler introduced some of the dilatory practices employed in congress. This school is largely attended.

The assembly grows in interest daily, the people never tire of the work. The lectures of John Dewitt Miller and Dr. Grandison next week are anticipated with deep interest. Next Monday is Woman's Christian Temperance union, Tuesday Grand Army of the Republic and Wednesday Epworth League day.

RAN INTO BY A FREIGHT.

Terrible Collision on the C., H. & D. Road at Middletown, O.

THREE KNOWN TO HAVE BEEN KILLED.

Large Number of People Injured—Train Consisted of an Excursion of Workmen from Dayton.

CINCINNATI, O., July 25.—News has been received at this office from Hamilton of a collision of trains at Middletown, attended by serious loss of life. The Dayton cash register company gave their employes and the friends of their employes a picnic excursion to Woodsdale, a resort on the Miami river about four miles north of Hamilton and about thirty miles from Dayton. The excursionists went by railroad train on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton. The excursionists filled all the cars of a very long train and spent the day at Woodsdale. They were mostly young people, composed of about equal numbers of men and women, with a few children.

It was after 9 o'clock tonight when the long train with its load of happy occupants started to return to Dayton. It was a little after 10 o'clock when the train stopped at Middletown to let off the excursionists who stopped there. This was twenty miles south of Dayton. While the passenger train was standing there a freight at high speed ran into the rear end of it. Three cars full of people were overturned and wrecked.

General Passenger Agent W. O. McCormick of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton road as soon as he was notified of the accident came down from his Walnut Hills residence to the depot and dispatched a corps of surgeons to Middletown.

Through McCormick it has been learned that after leaving Woodsdale the coupling of some of the cars became disengaged and the train was delayed in order to fix it. Again at Middleton the train was stopped to further repair the damage. There is a curve at Middletown which hides a train standing at the depot from the view of a train approaching from the south. A flagman was sent back to stop the incoming freight, which was moving at a high rate of speed and was heavily loaded. The engineer of the freight saw the flags. He put on brakes, reversed his engine and apparently did all in his power to stop his train, but the impetus was too great and a moment later the awful crash came.

The report of the killed and wounded at Middleton as given by the officials of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton road is as follows:

FRANK SIMONER, Dayton.
LILLIE TRICE, Dayton.
YOUNG PATTERSON, a boy thirteen years old; cut in three pieces.

These three are the only ones of whom any definite account is given of being killed.

The injured are:

R. O. PAPPLER, Dayton; slightly hurt.
PEARL SHORTHILL, Dayton; collar bone broken.
FRANK PATTERSON, Dayton; left arm badly injured.
WILLIAM AMMON, Dayton; foot crushed.
H. SCHLERIN, Dayton; foot crushed.
RORY REES, Dayton; arm crushed.
MARY EMERY, Dayton; hip injured.
ALLEN BERNARD, Dayton; slightly injured.
W. THOMPSON, Layton; slightly hurt.
MARY GRAIM, North Dayton; foot crushed.
FELLIE FRITZ, Dayton; slightly injured.
MRS. BEASON, Dayton; slightly injured.
SQUIRE MURPHY, Dayton; slightly injured.
JOSEPH NEAL, Chicago; left arm severely injured.
JOSEPH SWARBELLE, Pottsville, Pa.; slightly injured.
EDITH M. TUTT, Dayton; slightly injured.

Superintendent Nelson sent two Pullman cars from Cincinnati tonight to take the injured to Dayton. Many who received bruises are not enumerated among the injured.

WILL WORK AGAINST GOULD.

Grand Consolidation of Canadian Interests to Oppose American.

NEW YORK, July 25.—According to a Montreal special a new phase has developed in the big railway deal going on between the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk railways, to the effect that the Boston & Maine railroad is also to be included in the new deal, which, if consummated, will form one of the biggest railroad combinations on the continent.

The idea is to form a great transcontinental pool between the Vanderbilts and these roads to work against the Gould and other American roads, with terminals at New York, Boston, Portland and Halifax, and a line of transatlantic steamers in connection therewith. If the arrangements are carried out these lines will contest for the traffic of half of the continent.

The Grand Trunk people still claim to be ignorant of the deal, although a gentleman who is intimate with the officers says the rumor is believed, and in fact many of the officers were certain that the Canadian Pacific will soon control the road.

A private cable from London says that the rumor published last night was cabled to London and effected the stock of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk, the latter advancing to 85 per cent.

The head of a large express concern says the story is current in Boston and is credited there. "What would be the effect of the deal?" was asked of a railway man. "Simply this; that the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific, working in harmony with the Vanderbilts, could carry freight from the great west cheaper and more expeditiously to the seaboard than any other roads on the continent. It is the best thing which could happen to the new Canadian roads, and I know for a fact that Mr. Van Horne has long been favorable to it."

COLORADO'S TOURISTS.

Traffic Arrangements Completed in Their Interest by the Rock Island.

MANITOU, Colo., July 25.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—W. H. Firth, Colorado passenger agent of the Rock Island, received a telegram from General Passenger Agent John Sebastian this afternoon to the effect that he had this morning made application to the Western States Passenger association for a round trip rate from the Missouri river points to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo of $15, tickets to be placed on sale August 5 and continuing one week, with a final limit of thirty days.

"This is requested for the purpose of assisting the tourist traffic," said Mr. Sebastian's telegram. "Cold weather and other causes have had a serious effect on this business and we have been asked by a great many people in that state (Colorado) if something would not be done. We feel it is no more than fair and right that Colorado should be assisted, and if other lines agree upon the rate we will do everything in our power to work a big crowd for your state."

Lighted the Stove With Gasoline.

ANN ARBOR, Mich, July 25.—Mary Bauer, a servant in the home of Charles W. Vogel, was lighting a gasoline stove last night when the gasoline ran over and caught fire. Mrs. Vogel and the girl were horribly burned and the former died a few hours later. Mary Bauer died at 9 o'clock this morning. Mr. Vogel, who ran to the assistance of the women, was badly burned about the hands.

Quietly Lynched.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 25.—John Grainger, colored, a few days ago had difficulty with a white man named Whitt, and also made threats against a sister of Whitt. This morning his dead body was found hanging to a tree, he having been quietly lynched by a mob last night.

SINGERS AND PLAYERS.

Opening of Madame Patti's Theatre—"Parsifal" at Bayreuth.

LONDON, June 25.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to THE BEE.]—All is ready for the opening of the dainty theatre which Mme. Patti has built at her castle at Craig-y-Nos. The announcement that Prince Henry of Battenburg, Princess Beatrice and possibly prince of Wales will be present at the inauguration has stirred up the country families. I visited Mme. Patti's castle two days ago and saw the superb little opera house. The stage is fitted with every modern appliance. The floor of the auditorium can be raised from a plane of one inch in twenty to a level with the stage, giving a ball room and theathre combined. The opening will be August 12. Mme. Patti will appear in the first act of "Il Traviata" and the garden scene from "Faust." Henry Irving is invited to be present. The next night there will be a grand ball, and on the third night another performance. At the theatre, when the diva sings in the spinning wheel scene from "Martha" and the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet," Arditi will be the conducter. Marcus Meyer has secured control of Patti's next tour.

Rudolph Aronsen, who has returned from Bayreuth, said to me: "No wonder Mme. Cosema Wagner protests against the performances of 'Parsifal' other than those given at Bayreuth, for the reason they would be almost impossible, owing to the musical and scenic difficulties, only overcome by the superb orchestra ensemble and the enormous stage of the Bayreuth theatre. 'Parsifal,' to my mind, is the greatest of all Wagner's works. I was never in my life more impressed than with the third act. It was like a dream. Parsifal's solo, the Good Friday spell, and the flower girls' chorus on master pieces. Such playing as that of the orchestra under the direction of Herr Levy I never heard surpassed, but as Alvary informed me before the first performance Sunday last, six weeks' rehearsal may account for that absolute perfection. The stage pictures were managed by Herr Fuchs with indescribable precision. There wasn't a hitch throughout the performance, and for more than foua hours the audience of nearly three thousand people, in darkness and without a murmur, sat and listented with rapt attention to the masterwork of the Shakespeare of composers. There were thousands of applicants for seats at the first performance who were unable to obtain them, and I know of instances where 75 florins were offered for a seat costing 20 marks. Mondays performance of 'Tristan Und Isole' was received enthusiastically by the inter-national audience crowding the vast theatre to the overflowing. Frau Rosa Sucher and Alvary were superb in the little roles. Herr Felix Motte of the Carlshine concluded in a simply perfect manner. Among the visitors were Princes William of Hesse, and Ludwig Victor of Bavaria and princess of Anhalt."

Henry Arthur Jones today sold the rights to the "Dancing Girl," which run 170 niffts at the Haymarket, to Dan Frohman for production at the Lyceum theater.

Colonel Sinn and Cora Tanner are in town, and after a week in Paris will go home.

Frank Daniels and Tony Pastor sailed today on the Etruria.

Donald Robertson and Catherine Lewis are to have a benefit in London next week.

British Public Aroused.

[Copyrighted 1891 by James Gordon Bennett.]

LONDON, July 25.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to THE BEE.]—While the mass of unemployed Welsh workmen is likely to be launched in the near future upon America, the British public is gradually becoming frantic over the overflow of Russian Jews and other destitute foreigners. It is impossible to exaggerate the depth and intensity of feeling upon the subject. While British statesmen try to disguise the English opposition to Jewish immigration under various phases and great efforts are being made to secretly divert it to America, the whirlwinds of applause at the monster mass meeting held in Princess hall last night shows what London thinks of this overshadowing issue. One of the most fiery orators was Arnold White, who went to Russia to investigate and take the part of the oppressed Jews. His protest against the arrival of these unfortunates in England was vehement. Every speaker declared that America was justified in adopting rigid legislation to prevent the vicious and destitute aliens from overwhelming the country. The distinguished committee which conducted the meeting announced that it will carry the agitation against destitute immigration to the very foot of the throne if necessary.

The entire United States commission investigating immigration was present at the meeting and vigorously applauded some portions of the speeches. The commissioners have split up, and Mr. Kempster and Chairman Weber have gone to St. Petersburg.

Prof. Koch's Resignation.

BERLIN, July 25.—The announcement that Prof. Koch had resigned all public offices held by him has caused considerable discussion and speculation as to the cause of this action. There have been rumors circulating that he was dissatisfied with the results of his tuberculin discoveries, and his resignation is attributed to this. But friends make the assertion that he is upon the point of accepting a new office—that of director of infectious diseases—which has been organized by the German government. It is also stated that the academic senate will bestow an honorary office upon Prof. Koch.

DECAY OF ARISTOCRACY.

is Lord Salisbury, who has entertained the queen, and who only the other day had the German emperor under his roof. Hatfield continues to flourish, but Ichabod must soon be written over the portals of Burghley. There is scarcely a more beautiful or interesting house to be seen anywhere and it stands in a park which is the glory of the surrounding country. Some of the finest carvings, granting Gibbons, are found in the rooms and masterpieces by Paolo Veronese Cartigilone, Orano Kuller and Cly adorn the walls. Since 1560 the property has been in the same family, now it will pass to some other, Colonel North, Baron Hirsch or perhaps some other wealthy American, for there are few persons in England who can launch out into such purchases as this.

Rents No Longer Pay.

The farms on the estate do not pay under the altered conditions of agriculture, the rents cannot be got in and the revenue no longer meets the expenses. All must go under the hammer of the auctioneer, thus one after another of the historic sites are disappearing or changing hands. The policy of Sir Robert Peel in 1846 is slowly working out the results foretold them by many, and the bulk of the people are thus far benefited, but old families are going or gone and all have got the dry rot. Some years ago when the Great Northern railway was to be built the then Marquis Exeter spent a large sum of money offending the line and he succeeded in his object but at what an expense, for not only did he have to pay enormous costs, but he ultimately actually found it necessary to make a railroad himself connecting his property with the main line.

Ruined by the Road.

He found himself completely isolated while the rest of the district was deriving enormous advantages from the railroad. This was the first great step toward the impoverishment of his family. Bad harvests, cheap wheat from abroad, decaying agriculture, unrestricted bargain and competition have done the rest. Unless these obstinate, slow-moving old families can adapt themselves to the times they will all have to go the same road. At present scores of them are holding on by a thread. Their carriages are put down, servants discharged, and their London houses are given up, but these economies will not suffice to avert ruin which is speadily advancing on all the old stock who once thought England belonged to them. The impending fate of the Burghley house is not yet known here, and therefore the American bidder may make a sure thing of being first in the field.

There seems to be no more money for land purchase left in England. Some great owners like the duke of Fife are unloading as fast as they can, perceiving the evil days that are coming on them. The duke's estates, however, are in Scotland. There land still fetches fancy prices. Mr. Balfour sold some not long ago at a great profit, but in England land is a drug in the market, for no sooner do holders exclaim, "Now we have reached the lowest prices!" then there is another great drop. Unless land happens to be in Pall Mall, when it fetches a £1,000,000 per acre, these things cause only a momentary stir.

Balfour the Coming Man.

In the house of commons we are at present much puzzled as to who is to succeed Mr. Smith as leader of the conservative party. Vendor is not seriously ill, but is ill enough and cannot carry on his present work. The coming man is Balfour. The Irish party are hoping to get John Dillon at their head. Gladstone is still content with being the "grand old man" if he can get back his health, which is much shattered.

We are talking less politics than of outside events, of a new meeting of the guards, this time among Coldstreams, which caused the duke of Cambridge to use language strong enough to blow the roof off a house. Something or other is sending the crack regiments all to the dogs.

The government has just had another severe reverse in the loss of the seat of Wisbeck. In spite of its recent bribe of free education. The dissentioned liberals are returning to the true fold, thus indicating another conservative rout at the next general election.

Gladstone and his friends are radiant with joy today. Salisbury will have his eyes opened to the fact that the stealing radical programme does not secure radical votes. The government's majority is being steadily wiped out.

Parnell has come back into the house full of fight and enthusiastic, the meeting at Dublin having given him fresh heart. It is believed he is now going to make an alliance once more with the conservative party as against Gladstone as long as it suits his purpose in this way he hopes to dish his rebellious followers.

Elliott Jury Takes a Recess.

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—The jury in the Elliott case has taken a recess till Monday After being in session since Thursday noon the jury asked the court today for a decision bearing on the point as to who fired the first shot in the tragedy. As the testimony on this point is of such a voluminous character the court was obliged to order a recess in order that he might have time to refresh his memory on the testimony desired. There is growing anxiety over the failure of the jury to return a verdict. There is no reliable information as to the standing of the jury, though it is understood that they are ten for murder in the first degree and two for murder in the second degree.

Mr. Stanley had started to walk from Muerron towards the Schill valley. While passing through a wood he slipped and fell heavily to the earth, fracturing his left thigh bone. Two English doctors who happened to be stopping here were summoned to the spot where the accident occurred. They bandaged Mr. Stanley's leg and then had him conveyed to Muerrin, where Dr. Playfair is attending him. The doctors think that the fracture will heal easily, and no complications are feared.
