GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Many in Corn Trade Who Are Friendly to the Bull Side.

PRESENT WEATHER IS BEARISH

From All Appearances the Turning Point Is Not Far Ahead and Market Gets Good Support in Moderate Breaks.

OMAHA, Nov. 14, 1911.

With cables lower and no definite cash demand, wheat sagged lower today in sympathy with the late advance yesterday, and the general sentiment regarding the market is strongly in favor of only a scaping affair for the present.

However, any day may bring a change in the character of the news from Argentine. In the meantime stocks are heavy and the visible supply enormous, and the temper of the trade bearish.

There are many in the corn trade who are friendly to the bull side of corn for a long pull. For the time being the clear, cold weather is bearish and marketing should increase. From all appearances the turning point is not far ahead, and the market gets good support on all moderate breaks.

Wheat lost the advance made at yesterday's close and the market was a sagging affair throughout the session. Cash wheat was ¼c higher today.

Extremely light receipts is the strengthening feature in corn. Weather conditions are very favorable for an increase in the country movement.

Primary wheat receipts were 704,000 bushels and shipments were 544,000 bushels, against receipts last year of 600,000 bushels and shipments of 725,000 bushels.

Primary corn receipts were 311,000 bushels and shipments were 320,000 bushels, against receipts last year of 408,000 bushels and shipments of 373,000 bushels.

Clearances were 1,289 bushels of corn, 5,000 bushels of oats and wheat and flour equal to 218,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed ¼@½d lower on wheat and ⅛d higher on corn.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Predictions that the Argentine crop will reach more than 50,000,000 bushels in excess of the bumper yield of 1907 bewildered wheat speculators today and put a stop to an upturn here in the market prices. The close was within a shade either way from last night's figures, in corn the outcome was a net advance of ⅛@⅛c to ¾c, oats finished unchanged to ¼c higher and hog products the same as twenty-four hours previous to 10c below.

The world's available supplies of wheat was shown today to have climbed to almost the colossal total of a year ago. Scattered commission sources absorbed all pit offerings, resisted every raid, and brought the market back from each decline. One reason was that winter wheat receipts southwest were sensationally small, presumably owing to recent rough weather and low prices combined. Leading cash interests here reported sales large, though naming no specific quantity.

In the end the opposing influences appeared to be evenly balanced and the closing tone was steady. During the session December fluctuated between 95⅝@96⅞c and 95¼c, which last sales 95½@95¾c, a net gain of a shade.

Corn developed strength on account of small receipts and light country offerings. December ranged from 69⅛c to 69¾c, closing steady ¾c up at 69⅝c. Cash grades were firm. No 2 yellow was quoted at 73½@74c.

Purchasing by group of local dealers made a better market for oats despite fair sales from elevator sources. High and low levels touched by the December option proved to be 46¾c and 47⅛c, with the close 47⅛c, just the same as last night.

With the run of hogs west reported nearly a third more plentiful than the corresponding day a year ago, provisions showed a tendency to drop. Tonight lard had sunk 5c to 10c and other produce traded from last night's figures to 7½c decline.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Prices Drift Slowly Toward Lower Level During Day.

LATE RALLY REDUCES LOSSES

No General Investment Demand Has Appeared and Absorptive Power of the Market Consequently Is Higher.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Prices drifted slowly toward a lower level during most of today's trading in stocks. At no time was the movement abrupt and a later rally reduced losses largely, so that at the close changes for the most part were small. Profit taking was continued in a moderate way and the willingness of holders of long stocks to sell whenever favorable opportunities were presented, apparently was largely responsible for the course of the market. No general investment demand has appeared, with the result that the absorptive power of the market is lighter, although it has been sufficient to preserve the greater part of the recent large advances. Trading at times was listless and professional dealings made up the bulk of the total.

The rally in prices apparently was based on the recent order of the commerce courts granting a temporary injunction in the intermountain freight rate case, the text of which was made known today. Much was made of the restrictions laid on the Interstate Commerce commission in regulation of rates under the long and short haul clause.

That the court thus rules against what is probably the commerce commission's most important order of the kind was regarded as one of great importance. Railroad stocks were bought heavily on publication of the text of the court's order. Union Pacific derived the greatest benefit with a rise of nearly 2 points. The whole market improved moderately.

The bears found ammunition earlier in the day in the ouster decree of the Missouri supreme court against the International Harvester company. The stock had been moving uncertainly for several days on reports that the company had not been able to agree with the Department of Justice on a plan of reorganization to improve its standing under the Sherman law. When the decision of the Missouri court was announced it broke 5¾ points. The bears attacked the list vigorously and succeeded in depressing prices somewhat, but the losses were small except in the case of International Harvester itself, which subsequently recovered half of the decline.

The coal roads were again prominent. Lehigh Valley touched 181¼ equalling its high price for the present movement. Reading fluctuated widely and after gaining more than a point, closed nearly 2 points off. St. Paul again showed weakness and United States Steel lagged behind. A vigorous selling movement started late in the last hour. Much of the selling was reported to come from London, owing to apprehension there over the failure of a colonial bank. Earlier in the session London sent over buying orders amounting to perhaps 25,000 shares, taking United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific, Reading and Rock Island on the recession in this market.

The bond market was irregular with American Tobacco issues again showing conspicuous firmness. Total sales, par value, $4,556,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.
