TOPICS FOR A DAY OF REST

Gospel Teams in Charge of Services in Many of the Protestant Churches of City.

RESULT OF SUNDAY MEETINGS

The gospel teams continue to conduct the regular Sunday services in numerous of the Protestant churches of the city, continuing the revival work inaugurated by "Billy" Sunday during the tabernacle campaign. These teams as a rule are made up from the tabernacle choir, usher and door-keeping forces. They are all active church men.

In selecting the gospel teams the idea was to have from four to eight men on each, and in their particular lines these men are becoming specialists. Each team has one member who can preach as eloquent and effective a sermon as many of the regularly ordained preachers. Then there are usually one or two men who can fill in with short talks. There are singers on the teams and on some of them there are pretty fair musicians, playing the organ or piano, while a number play the cornet.

At the close of each service conducted by a gospel team an invitation is extended to hit the trail and these invitations are seldom without results.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Zion Lutheran church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Sidney Swanson, 356 California street, yesterday afternoon.

It has been customary in the past for this society to hold an annual auction, but it was decided this year to give an "experience party," each member contributing $1 and relating how this dollar had been saved or earned. In the evening the men of the church were entertained at the Swanson home, each contributing $1 to the society.

The Ladies' Aid society is one of the active branches of the Zion Lutheran church. Rev. A. T. Lorimer is president, Mrs. Herman Skarin, vice president; Mrs. C. M. Rylander, treasurer, and Mrs. A. G. Swanson, secretary. The visiting committee consists of Mrs. T. G. Northwall, Mrs. P. A. Edquist and Mrs. J. A. Swanson.

Melba Has Some Advice for the Young Girl Who Wants to Sing

BEATRICE HARRISON

MADAME MELBA

"We do not accept tuition in architecture, chemistry, or law from any casual dabbler in these professions, but we welcome the gospel of vocalization from those who have not even a perfunctory acquaintance with the science of singing. Students should remember that a good general knowledge of music does not imply a knowledge of voice-production based on scientific principles, and until they come to look for that scientific basis in their teachers, nondescript singers will continue to be crowded on a patient, perhaps culpable public. Physiological principles are the necessary groundwork of correct vocalization. Through them defects are more surely detected and remedied, and the restoration or development of a maimed or immature organ definitely achieved. Physiology is absolutely essential to preserve the health of the vocal organs and protect the voice from injurious influences; but in saying this it must be understood that I am dealing with the science, not the soul, of song."

These wise words were written by one of the greatest authorities on the art of singing and the greatest singer of our time, Madame Melba, who appears at the Auditorium next Wednesday evening in the third concert of the Charity Concert course. In writing thus she was giving expression to her utmost conviction that no one, however talented a musician, has a right to teach singing unless he has a complete knowledge of the physiology of the throat.

"To my mind," says Melba, "a girl should never enter on the serious routine of voice culture until she is 17 years of age. Before that time even a moderate share of work is likely to interfere with the proper development of the vocal organs, and perhaps cause certain injury. Madame Marchesi used to recall the fact that the too frequent use of her marvelous voice in youth had prematurely impaired the middle register of Jenny Lind."

Madame Melba disapproves of class tuition, believing that each individual should have the individual training necessary to his or her peculiarities. Again like all great artists she thinks singers should be musicians and that they have a thorough knowledge of the piano, harmony and counterpoint which are as important in the expression of music as is grammar to the spoken or written language.

"Beatrice Harrison is positively the finest of lady 'cellists, and I am sure she will have an enormous success wherever she appears." Thus wrote Fritz Kreisler last January concerning the charming artist who is assisting Madame Melba on her concert tour this season. Both he and Mrs. Kreisler took a great deal of interest in Miss Harrison in the season of 1914-1915 and were able to do much for her. Miss Harrison is an exceedingly pretty woman, the daughter of the late Colonel J. H. C. Harrison of the Royal Engineers of the British army, and was born in the Northwestern province of India in the shadow of the Himalayas. She made her debut as a soloist at her own recital in Bechstein hall, Berlin, and immediately found herself in great demand. Shortly thereafter, she made her London debut at Queen's hall, appearing as soloist with the Queen's hall orchestra, under the direction of Sir Henry J. Wood. With her sister May, who in the meantime, encountered fame as a violinist, she then began a tour of the continent, opening at Christiania, Norway, and ending at The Hague, the territory embraced being Scandinavia, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Switzerland, Germany, Austria, Hungary and Russia. Whereupon followed her American debut with the New York Philharmonic society, a circumstance which is still fresh in the minds of concert goers.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Negro's Arm Badly Cut as Result of His Taking Part in a Cutting Scrape

JOY WRESTLE ENDS IN GORE

Howard Starnes, negro, 115 South Thirteenth street, is at the South Side hospital, suffering from a dangerous slash across the lower right arm just above the elbow as the result of a cutting fray between himself and one, Nick Krajnovich, an associate. The scrap occurred in the Pleches saloon at Twenty-eight and R streets at 7:30 o'clock.

Chauffeur Danbaum and Conductor Jackson rushed the police ambulance to the scene and arrived only a moment after Nick had left. It appeared that the two men were playfully wrestling when Krajnovich took offense and drew a knife. Before Starnes could escape he had been slashed across the arm. An artery was cut.

Centurion Club Meets.

The Centurion club gave an entertainment and reception to the newly elected officers last evening at their hall at Twenty-sixth and F streets. Several speakers of prominence, including Mayor James C. Dahlman, were present and made short talks on the worth of the younger generation. About 200 young people and visitors of the the club attended.

Louis Kavanaugh, graduate of the Creighton Law school, acted as toastmaster and introduced all of the speakers in their after dinner talks. Several popular songs were sung, including "Brighten the Corner" which has taken a firm hold on all young peoples societies of Greater Omaha.

Speeches were made by J. H. Hanley, secretary to Congressman Lobeck; Willard D. Eakin, secretary to Senator Hitchcock; L. J. Telfoel, of the city legal department; former State Senator J. M. Tanner, State Representative John C. Barrett and City Commissioner Dan Butler.

That Homeopathy requires faith to be of benefit is disproven by the people of all beliefs being constant users of "Seventy-seven."

To get the best results, take "Seventy-seven" at the first feeling of a Cold—lassitude.

If you wait until you begin to cough and sneeze, it may take longer.

A small vial of pleasant pellets, fits the vest pocket.

Qualities that distinguish the

Aeolian Vocalion

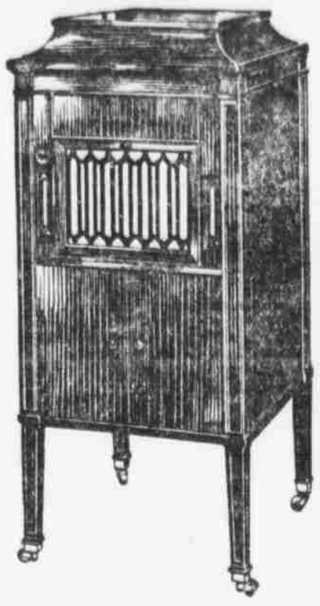
(1) A sonorous and rounded depth of tone—new to the phonograph.

(2) A complete absence of metallic qualities.

(3) An ability to bring forth in all purity every voice in the orchestral choir, even the most difficult, such as the wistful "strings" and the mellow "wood-winds."

(4) The wholly new and fascinating additional phonograph privilege of subtly varying the tone-volume to suit your taste.

(5) A simple dignity and beauty of line and finish hitherto unknown to the phonograph; impossible to convey in a mere illustration.



Style "I," $200.

No other phonograph at any price even measurably approaches this superb model of the Aeolian Vocalion at $200.

We will be glad to show you all the different beautiful models of the Aeolian Vocalion and play them for you, whether you are an intending purchaser or not.

Prices $35 to $350

Sold on small monthly payments—Allowances on phonographs of other makes.

SERVICE and GOOD WORK

These are the two principles upon which we are establishing a reputation as photo engravers.

Any one who places orders for printing knows the value of properly etched plates, they also know the convenience of being in position to secure engraved work when they need it.

We have helped others in preparing their copy as we employ a competent force of artists.

Advice cheerfully given
