GREAT CROWD AT FINAL SESSION

George Stuart Addresses Anti-Saloon League Convention.

DR. CRAWFORD ENDORSED

Centenary Church Packed to Its Doors and Greater Interest Shown in the Temperance Cause—Executive Committee Meets To-Day.

The Virginia Anti-Saloon League in session in this city since Tuesday closed its second annual convention with a most triumphant meeting at Centenary Methodist Church last night.

Before the opening hour the great building was crowded on the main floor and in the gallery, so that hundreds of persons stood in the aisles and around the doors, drawn largely by the announcement that Rev. George R. Stuart, the evangelist, was to speak.

The other speaker of the evening was Judge W. H. Mann, author of the "Mann bill," and one of the most conspicuous advocates of temperance in the State.

The addresses of these gentlemen enthused the audience so that more than once the church resounded with loud applause, welcoming the denunciation of the saloon and predictions that it will be swept from Virginia.

That the people are in earnest and deeply interested in this movement of the Anti-Saloon League was proven by the liberality of their donations to the cause. The total amount raised at this convention, which will go towards the advancement of the work during the coming twelve months, exceeded $2,000, nearly three times the sum with which the League entered the field a year ago.

Entering upon the new year, the League's organization will work in perfect harmony, and will accomplish results exceeding the accomplishments of the previous months of the body's operation in the State.

NO FRICTION.

The matter of the conventions endeavoring Superintendent Crawford, which promised some friction in the league on yesterday, was happily adjusted last night by the Committee on Resolution, which in its report inserted the following section, endorsing both Dr. Crawford and Mr. West, the field secretary:

Resolved, That we hereby express our great sincere appreciation of the conscientious and efficient services of Messrs. Crawford and West, both of whom have borne heroic sacrifices in behalf of our cause, and whose examples should inspire up all to nobler efforts in behalf of temperance reform.

This in connection wth other resolutions were unanimously adopted by the convention. After a brief devotional service President Mitchell, in a fitting tribute to the distinguished speaker, introduced Hon. tW. H. Mann. Judge Mann expressed what all Virginians know, his hearty and life-long interest in the cause of temperance, and went briefly into his measure, now pending in the Legislature, which will, if adopted, give the league many advantages in its struggle to clear the State of saloons and the sale of liquor under any conditions. The bill will prohibit the granting of liquor licenses where it can be shown that a saloon is detrimental either to the moral or material welfare of a community. The organization will concentrate its forces upon an effort to secure its passage, believing that it contains the true principles which should obtain in the granting of liquor licenses.

MR. STUART'S ADDRESS.

Rev. George R. Stuart's address was upon the characteristic subject, "The Stuff We Need for the Conflict." He opened with the statement that people pray too much and work too little. He said it was votes they need to run saloons out of Virginia, and as God didn't vote, it was with the men and not with Him that the responsibility rested.

The preachers, he said, must lead the movement, for t was for them to walk in the forefront of every moral reform, and in this, the greatest and most stubborn for fight for reform, they should take their places at the head of the column.

On the saloon question, Mr. Stuart said a conscience should be awakened in the State; the people should wake up to realize the great grip the curse had upon the Commonwealth, and shake it loose. He said a highwayman had a higher calling than a saloon keeper, for where the former took a dollar from your pocket he left nothing, while the bar keeper left a quart of liquor, and that ten to one he had rather have nothing in his boy's pocket than a bottle of whiskey.

Mr. Stuart's speech was full of striking illustrations, drawn from every-day life, and full of humor.

His address was necessarily cut short by his departure on an early train, but with the audience he left food for reflection, and struck a straight blow for temperance in Virginia.

LEAGUE'S POLICY.

Before the adjournment, the Committee on Resolutions, Rev. M. Ashby Jones, Rev. P. A. Cave, Rev. James Cannon, Jr., Rev. J. E. Cook and Mr. G. W. Hawxhurst, submitted its report, outlining the league's policy and indicating its objects in the immediate future. Among the measures endorsed, were the "Mann bill," a bill recently introduced in the House, providing that the place of delivery of liquor shall be the legal place of sale, thus breaking up the "jug" or "bottle" trade; a bill of Representative Rixey, of Virginia, forbidding the government of the United States to grant license for the operation of a distillery in any district of any State when the State law forbids the granting of any liquor license; and to support such legislation as will secure at once the erection, equipment, and maintenance of buildings at the various army posts as will furnish suitable places for recreation and amuse ment for the soldiers.

Another section of the resolutions reiterated a fundamental purpose of the league in this:

"If we would control legislation and secure law enforcement in the future, we must concentrate our votes at he ballot box in large enough numbers to defeat any public official who betrays the public welfare by allying himself with the saloon. We demand that the men who manage our political affairs shall not manage them in the interest of the saloon."

Before the benediction, the hymn, "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," was sung, and the second annual convention of the league was at an end.

MORNING SESSION

Mr. Crawford Wanted Endorsation of Whole Convention.

When the Anti-Saloon League convened in regular session yesterday morning at 10 o'clock there was the largest attendance upon any business session, and the most earnest purpose which has been apparent throughout this meeting was evident on every face.

The devotional service, which was conducted by Rev. A. S. Carson and Rev. J. E. De Shazo, was brief and impressive, characterized by most fervent prayer. Reports of committees and the election of officers occupied the first business hour of the session.

Rev. J. W. West, field secretary, submitted his report at this time, which contained the record of triumph for the temperance cause in different sections, and an account of conditions in various parts of the country. He predicted that within five years the time would be at hand for the League to strike and redeem Virginia from the saloons.

The committee to which all reports of the convention had been referred was called upon next, and submitted through its chairman, Mr. Hawxhurst, a report, which is given in part below:

I. The Mann bill, now pending in the Legislature, is of such direct value as a temperance advance possible of immediate attainment, that we urge all officers and members of the league to leave no proper influence unemployed that may contribute to its passage.

II. We recommend the continuation of the Christian Federation, the organ of the league, and suggest that it include from time to time supplements presenting the great principles, facts and arguments, with regard to local option suit to the conditions arising from time to time in our work.

III. We recommend that the Executive Committee be increased to fifteen members.

IV. We recommend that all paid officers or agents of the league be elected by the Executive Committee, which shall also assign to each his work, and salaried officers may not be members of the Executive Committee, but shall attend the meeting when desired by the committee.

V. We recommend the league raise $3,000.

It was the fourth section of this report that gave rise to the only personal allusions during the meeting. Superintendent Crawford took exception to the recommendation that the election of paid officers be by the Executive Committee, and rising to a personal privilege, said: "I want to know of this convention whether I am wanted as superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia. In view of all that has happened," he said, "I think it is due me that I know of this body whether I am to be retained."

He declared he preferred election by the convention to election by the Executive Committee.

Dr. Crawford's speech and attitude in this matter was a surprise to the League, and precipitated considerable discussion, in which Rev. James Cannon, Rev. M. Ashby Jones and others took the positions that the committee, in making the recommendation, had no man in view; that it was not a personal matter at all, but a matter of principle.

Dr. Crawford again rose and asked to state his position, saying he deserved the endorsement of the convention as a help in his future work. The idea advanced by some of the speakers was that it was not the proper time for this endorsement, but that that would be done.

The Rev. W. A. Cooper, pastor of St. James, called attention to the imminent danger of the League and its superintendent to be falsely placed before the public. He said very emphatically that the personal element did enter into the case, and that it was due the superintendent that the convention endorse its administration. This closing declaration was received with instant and hearty applause.

Mr. Cannon again entered the discussion, and deplored the mixing of a personal matter with a question of principle. He said that later a resolution would be reported endorsing the administration of Superintendent Crawford and Field-Agent West.

This satisfied the delegates, who then voted unanimously for the recommendation which places the election in the hands of the Executive Committee.

OFFICERS CHOSEN.

The election of officers, which was next gone into, resulted in the following organization: Professor S. C. Mitchell, president; vice-presidents, Judge W. H. Mann, Rev. M. L. Wood, Rev. Edwin S. Hinks, Dr. W. W. Smith, Mr. T. S. Southgate; secretary, Dr. A. B. Greiner; treasurer, Mr. S. P. Jones; attorney, Walter Sydnor; Executive Committee, Prof. S. C. Mitchell, Dr. A. B. Greiner, Mr. S. P. Jones, Rev. W. W. Lear, Rev. M. Ashby Jones, Rev. J. E. Cook, Rev. P. A. Cave, Rev. James Cannon, Rev. W. B. Beauchamp, Rev. C. S. Gardner, Mr. C. E. Brauer, Rev. H. P. Atkins, Mr. J. F. Bellants, Rev. Russell Cecil, Mr. Charles Lorraine.

The Board of Directors was re-elected, with the addition of six new members.

Shortly before 11 o'clock Dr. Howard H. Russell, superintendent of the American Anti-Saloon League, was announced, and made a brief farewell address before leaving on a noonday train. He expressed the greatest pleasure at the spirit manifested in the work in Virginia, and predicted the best results.

The fixed address of the morning was by Rev. L. A. Cutler, on the "Redemption of Louisa." He spoke of the victory there for local option and its good results. Mr. Walter Sydnor, attorney for the league, gave some interesting experiences upon "Defeating Licenses," and quoted much law and many decisions of the courts upon subjects touching these matters. During the session there were 125 delegates present.

Afternoon Seesion.

Reports made on local option in various parts of Virginia.

The afternoon session of the league was given largely to hearing reports of local option in different parts of the State, all of which were heard with the most enthusiastic applause and served to encourage the workers. Among those who spoke along this line were Mr. W. McD. Lee, editor of the Virginia Citizen, upon "Breaking Up a Menagerie" in Lancaster county; Rev. Z. W. West, on slot machines; Rev. C. R. James, on getting up a county convention, and Rev I. S. Boyles, on winning a local option election.

Besides these, Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, who was a visitor, addressed the meeting at some length. Dr. Hawthorne said he had not preached a sermon in all his life that he had not inserted at least one paragraph for temperance.

He said he was in most hearty sympathy with the Anti-Saloon League, and that he believed if the pulpits of the State should unite upon the question, the question would be settled. The doctor told a good story of his pastoral in Montgomery, Ala., to illustrate that there is no reason to believe that because a man hears you preach each Sabbath for years, and is your great admirer, that you can depend upon him to do just what you would have him, or that you can believe you have impressed him. He said, in his work in Montgomery, he preached for four years against "mean liquor," and that in his congregation there sat each time the church was opened a venerable and cultured gentleman, who apparently absorbed every word he uttered. When Dr. Hawthorne came to leave that city this gentleman came along with many others to say farewell. Grasping the departing minister's hand, he said, Doctor, you have done me great good; my whole life has been changed by your preaching. I have heard every word you have said about "mean liquor," and upon my bended knee I have recorded a vow—to drink a better brand in the future. This brought down the house.

Dr. J. William Jones spoke of the operation of the local option law at Chapel Hill, N. C., where the University of North Carolina is situated. He said in his two years there he had not seen one case of drunkenness among the students, while at another place, which he said he need not mention, he could not stay there a half day without seeing many evidences of the heavy drinking.

Rev. M. Ashby Jones spoke of the Christian spirit which should characterize the work of the league.

Before adjourning the committee on choosing the next meeting place recommended Danville. This was objected to on account of the city's location not being central, so the whole matter was left with the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee will meet this morning at 9:30 o'clock, at the Y. M. C. A. hall.

NORMAL GRADUATES

Interesting Exercises at the Farmville School Last Night.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

FARMVILLE, VA., January 22.—Simple but interesting and impressive exercises marked the closing of the half session at the State Female Normal School to-night. The exercises took place in the assembly hall, and it was packed to its full capacity. The programme was splendidly rendered, beginning with the usual processional march, followed by a hymn, after which prayer was offered by Dr. O. B. Sears. Following this there was a song by Miss Eva Minor; next came Miss May Phelps, class history; Miss Nannie Lurcer, class prophecy, and Miss Eleanor White, class will.

The presentation of diplomas was made by President Jarman. The principal speaker of the evening was Professor Elmer E. Jones, who addressed the graduating class on "The Teachers of Real Worth." The evening's exercises were concluded with a song by Miss Eva Minor.

The following young ladies received diplomas: Classical, Miss Hattie May Phelps; professional diploma, Miss Eleanor Cameron White, Miss Minnie Coles Taylor, Miss Elizabeth Barnet Baskervill, Miss Pearl Whitman and Miss Nannie Healy Turner.

The young ladies will be tendered a handsome reception by Mrs. Morrison to-morrow night, and will in all probability leave for their respective homes Saturday.

A RECORD-BREAKER

Botetourt Grand Jury After Violators of the Liquor Laws.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

FINCASTLE, VA., January 22.—The Botetourt grand jury for the January term is already a record breaker. It has been in session now since the 12th and has work cut out that will keep it here for the balance of this week. They are raking the county with a fine-tooth comb. There are no licensed bar-rooms in the county, but the sale of liquor seems to be going on at a lively rate. Twenty-five indictments for violations of the revenue laws have been found so far, with a fighting chance for as many more in the next few days. One hundred and fifty witnesses have been summoned and examined, with several precincts yet to be heard from. And yet no county in the State can boast of a more sober and law-abiding population than Botetourt.

Investing in Bristol.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

BRISTOL, VA., January 22.—New York capitalists have purchased an interest in the Bristol gas and electric plant and the Bristol Belt Line Railway. The properties will be under a new management. The new manager is a Mr. Dobbins, of New York, and he and his family will reside in Bristol.

LITIGATION OVER THE NEW CITY JAIL

James Fox Files Suit Against Stewart Iron Works.

TIMBERLAKE MURDER TRIAL

Case of William Hundley Will Be Called in Hustings Court This Morning. Charters Granted—Other News of the City Courts.

Smith, Moncure and Gordon, representing James Fox, one of the subcontractors on the new city jail, filed notice of trespass against the Stewart Iron Works for $5,000 in the Law and Equity Court yesterday afternoon, the suit being returnable at the February term of the court.

It is alleged that the Stewart Iron Works, the Cincinnati firm which was awarded the contract for the construction of the new jail, is indebted to James Fox to the amount of $3,600, balance due for carpenter work done by the plaintiff, the total amount having been about $35,000.

The process will never go to trial, and is regarded simply as a form of protection Mr. Fox has adopted. Such is at least the opinion of Mr. W. N. Bowman, the representative of the Stewart Iron Works, on whom the process was served. He regarded the affair as rather ridiculous, in view of the fact that the company which he represents is under a $20,000 bond to make good all of the local debts.

Deputy Sheriff Hungerford served notice of the process upon Mr. Bowman while he was in consultation with a subcommittee of the Grounds and Buildings Committee in the office of the City Engineer. He also served notice upon Councilman Pollock, representing the city, and the matter was turned over to the City Attorney.

Indicted as an accessory to the murder of Mr. Charles T. Timberlake, which occurred on the night of the 27th of December in front of his home on Canal, near South Fourth Street, Wm. Hundley will be arraigned in the Hustings Court this morning, but it is probable that the case will be postponed, as important witnesses for the prosecution will not be present.

The murderer of Mr. Timberlake, one John Lewis, colored, a notorious police character, is still at large, having made good his escape immediately after firing the fatal shot. Hundley was with Lewis, and it is alleged urged him to shoot. He was arrested and on the strength of evidence presented to the grand jury was indicted as an accessory.

John Overton, colored, was fined $20 in the Hustings Court yesterday afternoon for carrying a concealed weapon. An appeal from the Police Court, where he had a term of thirty days.

Judge Minor, in the Law and Equity Court, yesterday granted a charter to "The Richmond Garment Company," with a capital stock of from $5,000 to $10,000, for the purpose of manufacturing clothing for men, women and children, with the following officers:

Joseph O'Connor, president; Samuel Weinberg, vice-president; E. J. Connor, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. Isaac Curd qualified as executor of Archer B. Lewis in the Chancery Court yesterday. The estate is valued at $3,000.

The suit of B. W. Ford vs. Edgar Allen, committee for Mrs. Mary Ford, for $5,000, alleged to be due, is on trial in the Law and Equity Court. Mrs. Ford claims that amount on a note, which Mr. Allen avers is of no value, because of the mental condition of Mrs. Ford when the note was drawn. Mr. Ford says the money was spent by him previous to the mental collapse of his mother.

OBITUARY.

Read Lanier's Poems.

Miss Eugenia Aunspaugh gave a lecture and reading of Sidney Lanier's poems last night at the residence of Dr. Robert P. Kerr, No. 418 West Grace Street. The parlors were crowded, and the interpretation of Miss Aunspaugh displayed much depth of insight, and her expression delighted all. She is a teacher of elocution or expression in the city, and is succeeding admirably.

Edgar B. Hackett.

Mr. Edgar B. Hackett, the oldest son of Policeman James Hackett, died at his father's home, No. 16 Nicholson Street, Fulton, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Victor Brandon Peters.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

HAMPTON, VA., January 22.—Mrs. Victor Brandon Peters, wife of Rev. Sidney Peters, died in this city this morning at 6:35 o'clock at Rudd's Cottage, where she boarded with her family. Her entirely peaceful death was witnessed by her family and a number of relatives who were present. Mrs. Peters was thirty-seven years of age, and was a native of "Walnut Hill," in Campbell county, near Evington. The funeral will be held to-morrow at 11 o'clock A. M. Subsequently the remains will be taken to Norfolk and thence to Walnut Hill, arriving in Lynchburg about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The interment will be at Walnut Hill at 4 o'clock that afternoon. Rev. J. C. Reed, D. D., of Lynchburg, and Rev. W. E. Thompson, of Memphis, will officiate. Mrs. Peters is a lineal descendant of the well known families of Brandons, Barringers and Antonys. Mr. Peters a long time represented Lynchburg and Campbell in the Legislature. After entering the ministry he filled charges in Bedford, Charlotte, Cumberland, Richmond and his present charge of the First M. E. Church, Hampton.

James A. Conner.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

LEXINGTON, VA., January 22.—James A. Conner died at his home near Rockbridge Baths yesterday morning and was buried to-day from the Presbyterian Church at that place. He was a communicant of that church. Mr. Conner was in his seventieth year and was born in Rockbridge county. His second wife, who was a Miss Johnson, survives, with nine children, among them being Mr. E. L. Conner, assistant postmaster at Lexington, and Mr. C. B. Conner, also of Lexington. The deceased was one of the original members of the Rockbridge Artillery and served in the Confederate army until he was captured at Gettysburg. For nine months he was a prisoner at Point Lookout. After the war he enrolled as a member of the United States infantry and served in the far West against the Indians for nine months. He received a Federal pension until his death.

David Crone.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

WINCHESTER, VA., Jan. 22.—David Crone, the oldest man in this section, and in some respects a very remarkable person, died last night unexpectedly after a brief illness of pneumonia, aged ninety-three years. Until the day of his final illness he was in robust health, and could perform as much heavy work on the farm as a young man. He was a native of York county, Penn., and came here in 1840. He never used a horse on his farm in tilling the soil, all the work being done with hoes. At ninety-three years Mr. Crone was almost a perfect specimen of vigorous manhood, and only recently he shucked twenty-five barrels of corn in two days.

Mrs. Mary Ann Nott.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

WINCHESTER, VA., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Mary Ann Nott, widow of Casper Nott, a former prominent merchant here, died last night, aged eighty years. She was formerly Miss Mesner, and with her husband resided for many years at Federal Hill, Baltimore. She was a member of a prominent Virginia family, and during the Civil War she took an active interest as volunteer nurse in the hospitals here. Three children survive—William T. Nott, of Baltimore; Henry Nott and Miss Nora Nott, of Winchester.

Mrs. Jane Margaret Cary.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

BALTIMORE, MD., January 22.—Mrs. Jane Margaret Cary, widow of Wilson M. Cary, died to-day at her home, No. 1012 Belvidere Terrace, in her ninety-fourth year. Mrs. Cary was one of the most prominent women in Baltimore society and in educational circles. In 1842 she came to Baltimore from Albemarle county, Virginia, and established the Southern Home School for girls. Mrs. Cary before her marriage was Miss Jane Margaret Carr. Mrs. Cary is survived by her daughter, Miss Jane M. Cary, and by two sons, Wilson and John B. Cary.

Mrs. Sarah A. Motherspaugh.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

LEXINGTON, VA., January 22.—Mrs. Sarah A. Motherspaugh died at her home near Lexington yesterday morning at the age of seventy years, and her funeral will take place Friday afternoon. She was a member of the Baptist Church. Ten children survive her, most of them residents of Lexington and Rockbridge county.

ANOTHER ERUPTION OF THE SOUFRIERE VOLCANO

(By Associated Press.)

KINGSTOWN, ISLAND OF ST. VINCENT, January 22.—A brisk eruption of the Soufriere volanco on this island, occurred at noon to-day. Into the clear sky shot up a twirling, incandescent cloud, followed by a black smoke, which rapidly ascended to a great height. It furnished a highly interesting spectacle, and was visible throughout the island. Sand is falling at Chateau Belaire.

MRS. MINOR'S PLEA FOR CHILD-LABOR

when she was eight years old and at work in a cotton factory in Manchester. The lint made her throat so dry she had to chew something to secrete saliva and relieve the inflammation. She tried gum, and this answered the purpose, but she had to chew all the time. The result was that at night the muscles of her jaws were sore and inflamed.

DIDN'T SEE THE JOKE.

She had to give it up and use tobacco
