BY VIRTUE OF AN EXECUTION ISSUED out of Justice John Richardson's court, successor to Justice Geo. W. Snyder, of Township No. one, county of Cochise, Territory of Arizona, and to me directed and delivered, dated the 21st day of February, A. D. 1885, in a certain action wherein A. I am commanded to make out of the real estate of the said defendant Samuel Stanton, by distress and sale, to make the said sum of one hundred and fifty-one dollars, damages, and sixty-three twenty-two one-hundredth dollars, costs of suit, together with the costs that may accrue. Therefore, I have this 25th day of February, 1885, levied upon the following described property, to wit: All the right, title and interest of the said Samuel Stanton in and to a certain tract of land, containing 160 acres, on the San Pedro river, on the northwest side of the river, and about 5 miles southeast of Benson, together with all the improvements thereon, consisting of 1 adobe house 12x30 with adobe partition, 1 small adobe house, 1 stable, 1 corral and wire fence around three sides of the said property. The said land and improvements are situated in the county of Cochise, territory of Arizona.

Public notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 27th day of March, A. D. 1885, between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. m., to wit: the hour of one o'clock p. m. of said day in front of Justice John Richardson's office in the city of Tombstone, county of Cochise, Territory of Arizona, I will sell at public auction all the right, title and interest of the said defendant Samuel Stanton in and to the above described property, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, lawful money of the United States, to satisfy said execution and all costs of the suit.

Given under my hand this the 25th day of February, A. D. 1885.

How He was made City Editor.

When the new reporter, just from college, reached the Arkansaw Traveler, started out to fire up a fire, the "fellows" who had for many years been in the harness smiled, and the managing editor, hearing the joke, laughed and said, "now we shall have a thrilling account of the burning of Rome. It is a pity our Greek font of type is not in order. He could tell us of all the great fires in Athens." The young reporter came in later a while, and, without running his fingers through his hair or muttering any Latin, sat down and wrote the following: "Last night about 11 o'clock an alarm of fire was sounded. The city was not thrown into an intense excitement; neither did any of our brave firemen risk their life. By the time the engines arrived at the house, an old rat nest situated in the eastern part of town, was almost burned. It is not believed that the fire was the work of an incendiary; neither does the impression that it resulted from a defective flue prevail to any great extent." The managing editor when he read the paragraph handed to the new reporter and said, "you will make your mark, sir. Come take my room," vacating the position of city editor.
