

Saint Mary's Beacon.

COUNTY NEWS.

Localwise and Otherwise.

The Orphans' and Commissioners' Courts were in session last Tuesday. See proceedings elsewhere.

Justice Walter B. Dorsey, of Leonardtown, has returned from a visit to Washington and Baltimore.

Miss Nannie Stone, of Los Angeles, California, is visiting her cousin, Joseph Stone Matthews, Park Hall.

The ladies of St. Andrew's Parish will give a musical entertainment at the Town Hall during Easter week. Due notice will be given.

In this issue William F. Greenwell, of Leonardtown, announces his candidacy for the Democratic Senatorial nomination. See card.

While on a visit to Baltimore, Miss Madge Fenwick, of Leonardtown, slipped and fell, breaking her right hand. Dr. Hartman reduced the fracture.

F. O. Morgan, of Leonardtown, has sold the stock of goods in his Storehouse at Morgantown, to Julian Parsons & Brother. We wish the new merchants abundant success.

Miss Susie Beal, of Piney Point, has returned from a visit to her Aunt, Mrs. Beal, of Baltimore. Miss Beal has been suffering from a severe wound on her right hand.

The Leonardtown Telephone Exchange will go into commission this week. The poles have been placed nearly up to Brandywine and we hope to be able to talk with Baltimore before many days.

In this issue will be found the list of delinquent tax payers whose property is advertised in default of taxes. Read the list carefully and note if any land in which you are interested is included in the advertisement.

Mrs. F. O. Morgan, Leonardtown, has returned from Baltimore with a full assortment of latest styles of Millinery and Dress Goods. Miss Josephine Schue, of Armstrong, Cator & Co., is in charge of the Hat Department.

At Tuesday's meeting, the Commissioners' Court reappointed all the District Road Supervisors except in the 1st Precinct of Leonardtown, where George F. Tennison was named in place of T. Edgar Russell, removed from the county.

We invite special attention to the sales advertised in this issue and to take place on Monday next, the 17th, instant. The Piney Point property and the Friendly Hall estate are among the most desirable places in St. Mary's. Remember that both sales are to be on the premises.

A CARD.

LEONARDTOWN, Md., April 12, 1905.
Messrs. Editors:—Please state that having been announced by some friend as a candidate for the Democratic Senatorial nomination and being urged by the people of this county, I have decided to decline to run for the office. I wish to thank my friends and the people generally throughout the county that I am in the light to win subject to their decision in the Convention.
Wm. F. GREENWELL.

COMMUNICATED.

Messrs. Editors:—I notice in an issue of the Baltimore Sun of April 6th, an editorial on "Distribution of Immigrants," by Mr. F. P. Sargent, Commissioner General of Immigration. It is interesting to me, and I think the plan he suggests is a practical one. The other industry has a great measure of success in labor in the lower counties of Southern Maryland. I would like to suggest that a number of immigrants to come to St. Mary's. I think it would be an easy matter for quite a number to find employment and comfortable homes among the farmers throughout this county.
W. T. HANNEY, California.

A CARD.

Kindly allow us space in your columns to thank our many friends for the kindness and sympathy so liberally extended to us in the sad accident and death of our little girl Louise Armstrong. The heartfelt sympathy of the entire neighborhood seemed to be thoroughly aroused, and all seemed to be anxious to do some act of kindness. Dr. Henry Richardson, the attending physician was summoned at midnight, and being by no means in good health himself, arose from his bed and was by her side before we thought it possible, remaining almost continually until the end. Our thanks are also extended to Dr. F. F. Greenwell, of your Town, who drove a distance of nearly twenty-five miles to meet in consultation and was present almost to the minute. And to dear Father Matthews, who spent several hours ministering to her so tenderly and sympathetically that she seemed to revive under the tender touch of his hand. And to Mrs. Clarke, her teacher, who closed the school and with nearly all her schoolmates attended the funeral. Such sympathy and kindness have been a source of consolation that could not be fully appreciated only by grief-stricken parents, and on Sunday evening, April 3, 1905, about 4 o'clock, in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends, under the supervision of the undertaker, Louis F. Clarke, six little boys with tender hands gently laid her in her grave. And now a little flower strewn mound, composed of the soft yellow sands at St. Nicholas graveyard, mark her last resting place; and stamped upon our hearts in sad remembrance are the last words she spoke on earth—Good night, Mamma. Good night, Papa.
PARENTS.

Mr. Kirksey's Recommendation.

Mr. Kirksey writes:—I give a positive guarantee with every box of Rydale's Stomach Tablets and Liver Tablets I sell, and have never been asked to refund the money in a single instance. I have used these tablets in my family with best results. W. L. Kirksey, Morgantown, N. C. Rydale's Tablets are prepared by The Radical Remedy Company, Hickory, N. C. who authorize every dealer in their preparations to guarantee every box or bottle of their medicine, they sell. Loker & deWaal.

ST. INIGO'S ITEMS.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

We see large areas of ground ploughed. We stop a few moments to think. Actions necessarily suppose the pre-existence of actors. The power of hard work is not to be questioned. Farmers are not afraid of difficulties. Their energy is praiseworthy. Their lives are in accord with the Master's plan. They sow and plant and wait for the 'early and later rain.' The development of cereals, tubers, etc is slow. They never despair. On the contrary they hope, knowing that without hope they would be miserable. The fertility of the soil is remarkable, and the possibilities of large yields of the staple crops are encouraging. There are no drones down here. No "black-lists" of laborers are made. We are not cumbered with labor troubles. Every laborer has a right to work for whom he pleases, and so far as our knowledge compasses their wages are not kept back by fraud. Farmers pursue the old-fashioned method of paying their debts if not at maturity, as fast as possible.

Several decades of years ago, we soil-cultured. Is there any cure for intemperance? We did not give it up as a hopeless case. We marked the case of the Ephesians. They left off their habits of excess, and we concluded that we could do so. The same grace was offered to us as to them. To the young men of the district who inordinately like intoxicants we will say that the great change was wrought in us by the great Physician who applied the remedy to the disease. He speaks by His spirit to the heart. Take an old ex-Rebel's advice before it is too late. Excessive drinking of whiskey and beer is a sin. Whether this vice be constantly upon you, or occasionally—in all cases it is a sin against God, and unless you repent and leave it off, it will most certainly cast both your bodies and souls into hell. This is plain language, and there really is no end to the catalogue of sins that accompany drunkenness. Pious ministers, like Paul and Silas, those messengers of peace, faithfully endeavor to get their hearers to be afraid of sin—to persevere in watchfulness over their hearts.

What beautiful flowers! Nature gives us no simple ideas. The daisy is complex. Has it not form, dimensions, color, etc?

It gives us pleasure to state that dogs—animals guided by impulse—animals incapable of calculating on distant consequences, and anticipating remote effects—do not molest sheep or invade hen houses.

Politicians are active. Politics rushes on like a torrent. The movements of men—aspirants for office—are unparalleled in the history of St. Inigo's. The pendulum is swinging clear to one side. The sudden recoil and political revulsion has come. That terrible weapon, the tongue, is ruled by the spirits of darkness. Ungratefulness is being manifested towards a certain aspirant for nomination. Men whom he assisted to get lucrative positions oppose him—intoxicated, it seems by a spiritual hate hatred against him. Clytus prevented Alexander the Great from having his head severed from his body, and subsequently ran a spear through the body of his friend—the man who saved his life at the Granicus.

Magistrates occasionally have cases to decide, and justice no doubt is meted to all.

Farms are offered for sale, and the prices asked reach some figures—no margin for speculators.

The Legal Size.

Deputy Game Warden, O. M. Dennis says: The fishing season having now about opened, I shall make an unusual effort to prevent the catching and shipment of undersized fish; therefore, give particular heed to the following instructions: Seek out and arrest all catchers of fish under size, to wit: White Perch under 7 inches. Yellow Perch under 8 inches. Striped Bass, rock or tailor under 10 inches. Pike under 14 inches. Black bass under 8 inches. If, however, undersized fish are taken from the waters of a county which is exempt from the operation of the Act of 1902, Chapter 355, then use your best effort to learn the name of the dealer to whom the fish are shipped, the route, time, etc., and report at once either by wire or telephone.

The deputies of Baltimore city are urged to keep vigilant watch at the wholesale markets, commission houses and the places of wholesale and retail dealers. The department desires to get at the takers and catchers of undersized fish, and, failing in this, then the wholesale and retail dealers.

REFLECTIONS

Upon Receiving a Copy of My First Poem From Published in the Newspaper.

Al! here it is! I'm famous now—
An author and a poet!
It really is in print! Ye gods!
How proud I'll be to show
And gentle Anna! What a thrill
Will course through my veins!
To read these ardent lines and know
To whom they are addressed.
Why, bless my soul!—here's something strange
What can the paper mean,
By talking thus of books
That gander o'er the green.
And here's a line that says
"Which makes it 'tipping rill';"
"We'll seek the shade" instead of "shade,"
And "hell" instead of "hill."
"They look so" what! I recollect,
"Was 'sweet' and then 'was 'kind';"
And now to think that here
For "bland" has printed "blind,"
Was ever such provoking work—
"Is curious by the end and left."
How something is rendered blind
By giving it an eye.
"Hast thou no tears," the 'r's left out,
"Hast thou no ears" instead;
"I hope thou art not dead," it put
"I hope that thou art dead."
Whoever saw in such a space
So many blunders!
"These gentle eyes bedimmed" is spelt
"These gentle eyes" bedimmed."
"The color of the rose" is "rose,"
"Affection" is "affliction,"
I wonder if the likeness holds,
In fact as well as name.
"Thou art a friend," the 's is gone;
Who ever would be so kind,
That such a trifling thing could change
A "friend" into a "mend!"
"Thou art the same" is rendered "lame,"
It really is too bad,
And here because an 's is out,
My "lovely maid" is "lovely maid";
They drove her blind by poking in
An eye process into her eye,
And now they've gouged it out again,
And made her crazy, too.
"Where are the crosses fed, that thou,
Shouldst live so long untried."
This reads my version—here it is—
"Should live so long untried."
"The fate of woman's love is this,"
An it commences late;
How small a circuit fate will turn
A woman's love to hate!
I'll read no more! What shall I do;
I'll never dare to read it out,
The paper's scattered far and wide
The more I see the more I hate!
O Fate! thou cheat of humankind!
Why didst thou ever write!
I wish my poem had been burnt
Before it saw the light.
Let's stop and recapitulate:—
I've damned her eyes—she's plain—
I've told her she is a lunatic,
And blind, and deaf, and lame,
Was ever such a horrid deed,
In poetry or prose?
I've said she was a friend, and praised
The color of her nose.

A Cold, a Cough—Consumption.

A brief told history, but true, Rydale's Cough Elixir will prevent this happening to you. It will check the progress of a cold at once, prevent the cough becoming deep seated, and thus ward off consumption. This modern scientific remedy kills the germs that cause throat and lung diseases, and by its stimulating and tonic effect upon the respiratory organs help nature speedily restore these organs to robust health. In some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up a fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower—health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment; a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.
