COMMISSIONERS MAY CONTEST

Five of the seven Republican county commissioners, whose terms expire Sept. 30, met yesterday to consider whether they would make claim to their right to hold office after September 30, against the men named by Gov. Baldwin, there being no selections in the seven counties by the Legislature. While there was no definite decision reached, in the absence of two of the commissioners, the sentiment of the meeting was for the present holders to contest the claims of the seven appointees of Gov. Baldwin.

Plain and brocade velvets are expected to be in good demand this fall.

Blue stockings and blue shoes appear with white dresses and blue sashes.
