The long straight lines of this evening gown are especially suited to the matron. This one glistens with paillettes and bugles in tones of blue.

Dancing frocks in their taffeta smartness flare over a silver lace underskirt, and the snug fitting bodice of to-day is relieved by an old time berthe of lace.

Beads accentuate the motifs of this lace frock, a season's novelty that bids fair to be popular.

Pompadour ribbon makes up this billowy dancing frock designed for summer wear and displayed so well by Natalie Manning of "Cornered."

This afternoon outfit includes a lacy frock with uneven hem, a picture hat of tulle and lace and a lace parasol.

Photographs on this page from Old Masters.

Above — Alice Brady displaying a 1921 hat with its drooping ostrich plumes at the sides and flaring ribbons in front.

At left — Brocaded slippers with rhinestone buckles are the latest things for evening wear.

Handkerchief linen, embroidered and hemstitched, with a bit of lace added, makes the ideal summer dress of the year, as this attractive model shows.