Prices Continue Erratic in Quiet Trading on Curb

Advance of 13 Points in McAndrews & Forbes on Increase in Dividends Is Feature; Peerless Gains

An increase in the dividend rate on MacAndrews & Forbes common stock from 6 to 10 per cent annually, the directors having ordered a payment of 2½ per cent, caused a sharp advance in the stock on the Curb market yesterday. At the close there was a net gain of 13 points at 101¼.

Prices as a rule continued erratic and gains were about offset by declines. Trading was generally quiet. Peerless Motors recovered part of its recent loss, working up to 40⅝ on renewed reports that Durant interests were seeking control. Glen Alden Coal sagged slightly. Philip Morris got to 6 but dropped back, while Tobacco Products Export advanced nearly a point. United Retail Candy gained fractionally.

Oils ruled easier. Magma Copper dropped a fraction.

Reaction in Cotton Prices as Volume Of Trading Drops

Excitement Over Short Crop Passing, and Market Is Awaiting Developments in Goods; Weak at Close

Although there were wide fluctuations in the cotton market again yesterday, the volume of business was much smaller, suggesting that excitement over small crop figures was subsiding and that traders were now more inclined to wait for developments in the spot and goods markets. After selling at 19.55c early December rallied to 19.85c, but broke to 19.48 in the late trading, with the general market closing weak at a net decline of 23 to 60 points.

Reports that a prominent Chicago authority estimated the condition of the crop at only 40, which would indicate a decline of 9.3 points since August 25, contributed to the late forenoon advance. They failed to stimulate any material broadening of demand, however, and when the reports were denied the market broke sharply, reaching the lowest figures of the day in the late trading, when active months showed net losses of 50 to 62 points.

There is a feeling in some quarters that the better weather now reported in the South is helping the crop outlook, although it is quite generally expected that end-month condition figures will show more than the average loss for the month. Reports of a firm spot basis helped the forenoon rally, which carried prices back to within 10 or 15 points of Wednesday's closing quotations, and it was claimed that middling cotton could not be bought in Texas at a price which would make it cost less than 150 points on October, landed at New York.

There was a good deal of reactionary sentiment here at the close on the ground that a short crop had been pretty well discounted so far as the immediate market was concerned and that buyers of cotton goods were reluctant to place orders at advancing prices.

Southern spot markets as officially reported were unchanged to 65 points lower, Houston reporting sales of 7,663 bales at a decline of 65 points to 19.60c for middling, while Dallas sold 9,655 bales at a decline of 60 points to 18.90c for middling and there were sales of over 3,000 bales at the same price in the Fort Worth market.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet and 50 points lower at 19.70c for middling; no sales were reported.
