THE TRIBUNE.

HUNT'S MERCHANTS' MAGAZINE, Vol. VI. No. 3. March, 1842. Freeman Hunt, 142 Fulton-st.

The strong paper of this number is "Free Trade fairly Reciprocated; or, Countervailing Protection to our Home Interests:" by C. C. Haven, in behalf of the 'Home League.' It is able and instructive, though somewhat too florid and discursive for an answer to the precise and plausible argument of Mr. Condy Raguet. As a general view of the subject, however, it is comprehensive and convincing. We shall endeavor to make room for the gist of it directly.

The Magazine has also original papers on 'Mediterranean Commerce with India,' 'The Equation of Payments,' 'Merchants and Mercantile Law,' 'Tobacco Trade,' 'Measurement of Ships,' 'Russian Law of Copartnery,' 'Morals of Trade,' by Rev. J. N. BELLOWS; 'Laws Relative to Debtor and Creditor,' and 'Sketches of Distinguished Merchants—Benjamin Bussey. The Statistical department contains a lucid summary of the U. S. Census for 1840, &c. &c.

THE WORKS OF SIR WALTER SCOTT, Miscellaneous Prose and Poetical, Revised Edition, Nos VI. VII. VIII.—(Tales of a Grandfather.)
THIERS'S FRENCH REVOLUTION, Nos. XXXVIII. to XLI.

These numbers have just been sent us by Israel Post, 33 Bowery. We have repeatedly spoken in warm and just commendation of the series to which they severally belong.

THE CONFESSIONS OF HARRY LORREQUER. Complete in one volume. Third American Edition. (Pp. 302 8vo.) Carey & Hart.

'Harry Lorrequer' is the work by which Dr. Laver, the author of 'Charles O'Malley,' first became widely popular. It is full of fun, humor, and dashing adventure. Israel Post, 33 Bowery.

☞ ARCTURUS for March contains a new Chapter of Puffer Hopkins, two articles on the International Copyright Law, and several well written and pleasant articles on various subjects, both in prose and verse. We have no room to say more.

☞ LITTEL'S MUSEUM for March contains a great variety of most excellent reading from the best Magazines of Europe and America for the current month. For sale by George L. Curry & Co. 157 Broadway.

☞ THE PEOPLE'S LIBRARY; Or, Magazine of Choice and Entertaining Literature, just published by Israel Post, contains 64 pages of 'Harry Lorrequer' in continuation. It will be completed in the number.

☞ THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S BOOK, No. 7, for March, has just been sent us by I. Post, 33 Bowery. It is mainly devoted to sketches in History and Natural Science, illustrated.

JONES'S BOOK-KEEPING, published at 183 Broadway.

Testimonials.—We think it admirably calculated to lead the student to a thorough acquaintance with the theory and practice of that useful art.

WM. H. WILLIS, of the firm of Willis & Brothers.

CORNELL, BROTHERS,
W. F. & S. WARING.

I am convinced that his plan of operations is decidedly the best to impart a thorough knowledge of Book-keeping both theoretically and practically.

W. H. PRIEST, Cashier and Accountant, with Austen, Wilmerding & Co.

The merits of the work commend it strongly to the attention of every youth who chooses commerce for his career.

H. SCHAPER, with Messrs. Prime, Ward & King.
S. H. PIERSON, with A. Tappan & Co.
H. S. WHITTEMORE, with Cutter, Bulkley, Merritt & Co.

It enables the pupil to understand the principles on which the various operations are founded.

ROB. ADRAIN, late Pro. of Math., &c., Col'a. Col.

The ledger exercises, founded on your simple and rational division of the accounts into "primary and secondary," thus at once distinguishing single entry from double, are, in my estimation, admirable. JOHN H. SHEPHERD, Commercial Department, Grammar School, Col'a. Col.

The explanations are exceedingly clear—the arrangement excellent. JAMES SEXTON, Master in the Commercial Department, University Grammar School.

We know Mr. Jones to be an able accountant and a successful teacher of Book-Keeping.

JOHN HAGGERTY & SONS.

It leads the learner to a full and thorough knowledge of the important principles of the art. [N. Y. Jour. of Com.

From the London Atlas.

He has struck out a new method of teaching the science, by means of exercises similar to the plan usually adopted in teaching the arithmetic, and we have no doubt this will be found a very great improvement.

The above views are corroborated in the report of a special committee of the American Institute appointed to examine its merits. (See Journal.)

☞ Instruction is given by the Author, as usual, at his Rooms, 183 Broadway.

☞ The Magnet.—The subscriber proposes to publish a periodical with the above title, devoted to the investigation of Human Physiology, Phrenology, Physiognomy, Pathognomy, and Astronomical and Human Magnetism. Having made these subjects matters of serious and patient investigation for some time past, and considering the increasing attention which has lately been given to them by the learned, both in this country and in Europe, it is believed that such a periodical is called for, and that it will meet with liberal encouragement from the lovers of science, in this and other countries.

One object of this work will be to excite and encourage a spirit of inquiry, and to assist in such investigations as may tend to settle the following, among other similar questions:

1. That the magnetic forces not only pervade all matter, but that every living being has a peculiar magnetic nature.
2. That these forces are the means of motion and sensation.
3. That every Mental and Physical organ, and every muscle has its corresponding magnetic poles.
4. That the Magnetic forces from the different organs which terminate in the face, and by means of which the various expressions of Fear, Hope, Love, Anger, etc., are expressed in the countenance, and the muscles and limbs are made to obey the human will.
5. That these organs may be excited separately, or their action modified by Magnetism, as the condition of the patient may require.
6. That this Magnetic nature is governed by laws peculiar to itself; and may be communicated from one person to another.
7. And as to what these laws are, the number, location and functions of the different organs; the location of the corresponding poles of the Mental and Physical organs, etc., etc.

The subscriber has been engaged for some time in a course of magnetic cerebral experiments, the results of which go very far, as he believes, towards demonstrating these assumptions; and if they should prove to be true, all must admit that they are immensely important, as much so as any discoveries ever made illustrating the Physical or Mental nature of MAN.

The matter will be illustrated by numerous engravings, some of which are now ready for use, the whole rendering the work one of surpassing interest, and every way worthy of patronage from the curious and scientific, who wish to understand the mysteries of human nature. The plates will be of special interest, inasmuch as they will not only explain many magnetic phenomena hitherto unknown, or not understood, but one or more will be given designating those features in the human face where the magnetic courses terminate from the different physical and mental organs, a thing never before known; and this will be seen the only true explanation of Physiognomy ever given to the world. In a word, the work shall be filled with new and valuable matter on every question relating to the Physical, Mental, and Magnetic Natures of Man; explaining the phenomena of Sleepwalking, Somnambulism, Monomania, Insanity, Madness, Dreaming and Fanaticism, the whole designed to exhibit the claims of these subjects on the attention of the candid, and to assist them in ascertaining how far Magnetism has been, or may be, used as a medicinal agent.

In furnishing articles for its pages, the subscriber expects the assistance of a number of medical and scientific gentlemen of the highest respectability in their profession.

The Magnet will be published once a month; each number containing twenty-four super-royal 8vo pages, with a painted cover.

Terms $2 per year, invariably in advance. It will, in no case, be forwarded till the pay for it has been received. The first number will be issued as soon as five hundred subscribers shall have been obtained.

☞ Any person procuring subscribers, will be allowed to retain the pay for the fourth, provided the balance be forwarded to the publisher, free of expense.

Every Editor who shall give this Prospectus (including this paragraph) six insertions, shall receive the Magnet, without an exchange, for one year, provided the papers containing this notice be forwarded, marked, to "The Magnet, 126 Fulton-street, New-York City."

ASSOCIATION;

OR, PRINCIPLES OF A TRUE ORGANIZATION OF SOCIETY.

☞ This Column has been purchased by the Advocates of Association in order to lay their Principles before the Public. Its editorship is entirely distinct from that of the Tribune.

Source of the Evils which afflict Society.

We stated in our last article that the various Evils which different parties are striving to reform, have their origin in the false Organization of Society. We will examine a few of these Evils and point out their causes.

Slavery, and the abuses of our system of Hired Labor or Labor for Wages, are results of the Repugnant Industry which characterizes the productive Element of the false Societies now and hitherto existing on the earth. Slavery, Oppression and Injustice will continue until Industry is rendered Attractive.

So long as Industry or Labor is repugnant, dishonorable and ill-requited, Man will avoid it as he would a curse and a scourge: he will endeavor to escape its burthen by every means and device which ingenuity can invent, and will resort to violence, overreaching, tyranny, fraud, and often to downright robbery to obtain the Products of Industry, which are so absolutely necessary to his wants and comforts, and throw the burthen of producing them upon others.

In the early Societies which were established on the earth, Industry was doubly repugnant and odious, because there were very few implements of labor, and those only of the rudest and most defective kind, and because Man had not lost his native dignity and love of freedom and ease, which belong to a primitive condition. War, in all early Societies, was the main, and in fact, the sole important occupation of the Leaders of the world. The Power which was used to resist the incursions of enemies, or to invade and plunder, was found equally efficacious in enslaving the Multitude and wresting from them the product of their toil. The prisoners taken in war became the property of the victors, and, despoiled of all rights, were forced to labor by the rudest and most brutal means that occurred to minds engaged in strife and plunder,—the lash and other corporeal punishments. Thus Slavery, or the ownership of Man by his fellow Man, was established, and violence employed to force the one to toil, in order to relieve the other from the burthen of Labor.

Repugnant Industry is the sole cause of the Institution of Slavery. The desire and necessity of possessing the Products of Labor, and the disgust of undergoing it, have impelled from the beginning of history down to the present time the Strong and Crafty to enslave the Weak and to cheat the Ignorant. The Mass, whether they be Slaves or hired Laborers, will always be victims, and will always toil to enrich a Minority, until Industry is DIGNIFIED and rendered ATTRACTIVE by means of Association and a true Organization of Labor.

Slavery took its rise in the barbarian Societies. In the Savage State, there is no Slavery, because there is no Industry. In this primitive Society, Man lives upon the spontaneous products of the earth, and by hunting and fishing; he does not prosecute Agriculture, Manufactures and Mechanics, and he consequently requires no slaves to perform the labor.

When population increases so that hunting and fishing are no longer sufficient to support existence, Man must resort to Labor to live. Industry is then established, and when in the commencement of Societies, as we before remarked, there are scarcely any tools, implements or facilities, it must be in the highest degree repulsive and loathsome. Slavery grows out of such a state of things as a natural consequence. If we wish to abolish it effectually and under all its forms, we must uproot the cause,—Repugnant Industry.

Slavery in Antiquity was almost universal; it has been continued more or less generally ever since, and exists at present upon a large part of the globe. With the aid of Christianity and other influences, Slavery has been abolished in most civilized countries, and a system of Hired Labor has grown up in its place. When the Mass were freed, they found the Soil, Work-shops and other means of Production monopolized and in the hands of a few. (In new countries where they are not, they soon become so by a minority possessed of Knowledge, Skill and Craft, which the Mass have not.) The freed Multitude were consequently forced to beg the privilege of laboring from those who owned the Property, and to accept the terms they chose to dictate. If they did not, no other alternative was left them than to starve.

In countries where there is a thick population, and strong competition exists between the Laboring Classes for the work which Capitalists and Employers require, the system of Hired Labor reduces the Mass to a condition as bad as that of Slaves. In France and England, two of the most civilized countries on the earth, the Working Classes toil from fourteen to sixteen hours per day in filthy work-shops for a miserable pittance that scarcely keeps body and soul together, and when they are old, sick or out of employment, they are left without aid, and often to starve. In this country, the Working Classes are better off,—not because we have a Republican form of Government,—but because we have a vast extent of soil and a thin population. The Political Institutions of a country have very little to do with the great question of Labor and its Organization, and in a century or two more, the Laboring Mass will be as poor, destitute and dependent in this country—if the present system of Society be continued—as they are in Europe. Athens was a Republic, and there were in it about four hundred thousand Slaves and twenty thousand Freemen. This shows that political Democracy may cover the greatest social Tyranny.

So long as Labor is repugnant, degrading and ill-requited, Man will not undergo it, unless he is forced to do so. To force him to it, Constraint must of necessity be employed. But two systems of Constraint have been devised by the Political and Scientific Leaders of the world, and on them have been based the two systems of Industry which have been established,—the Slave system and the system of Hired Labor. The one makes use of the whip as the stimulant to toil, the other of want and starvation. The great works of Antiquity,—its Temples, Aqueducts, &c. were built by Masses that labored from the fear of corporeal punishments, while the great works and luxuries of the modern Age are produced by famished Operatives, who labor from want and necessity. Both the Slave system and the system of Hired Labor are a disgrace to the Genius of Man, and must be replaced by a new Organization of Industry.

FOURIER has discovered a third system of Labor, which is the true and natural system,—the one destined for Man, and which will replace the two false ones that now exist. By means of this system, Industry can be ennobled and rendered Attractive, and the great Evils and Abuses, which the others engender, banished for ever from Human Societies.

We intended in this article to have explained the causes of Intemperance, but we must defer it to another time. In our next article, we will give a sketch of the rise and progress of the Doctrine of Association.

MUTUAL INSURANCE.—On Dwelling Houses and Furniture only, profits returned to the Assured.—THE HOUSEHOLDERS' MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY, Office 45 Merchants' Exchange, corner of William and Wall-streets. The attention of Householders is respectfully requested to the annexed plan for separating the insurance of Dwelling Houses and Furniture, from that of Stores and Merchandise.

It is well known that almost all the losses incurred in the business of insurance, are the result of the burning of valuable stores and costly goods.

This increases the expense of insurance to the householder, and may possibly deprive him of the very security for which he pays his premium, as was the case in the great fire of 1835, when the whole capitals of so many insurance companies were totally lost by the destruction of this kind of property; and many dwellings left for a time wholly unprotected by insurance.

Another feature recommended to your attention, is the division of the profits among those who are insured by this Company.

The cash payments or premiums form a fund, which, after paying expenses and losses, is represented by scrip, and is issued to the assured in proportion to the amount of their insurance, which is thus obtained at cost; and should the business of the Company at all realize the expectations of the directors, the expenses of insurance upon dwelling houses and furniture will be diminished by more than one half of the present rates, by reason of the return of the earned premiums.

This Company is prepared to insure against loss or damage by fire, Dwelling Houses, Household Furniture, Plate, Family Stores, Libraries, Pictures, Statuary, Cabinets of Minerals and other objects, Anatomical Collections, and all Household Property, ordinarily kept in dwelling houses. Every person insuring with this Company is entitled to one vote for each hundred dollars insured.

The rates of insurance and all other particulars may be obtained on application at the office of the Company.
