Concert at St. Joseph's.

The Annual Concert given at St. Joseph's church, Morganza, on Thursday, evening last proved a notable success both from excellence of program rendered and from number of persons present, a fact truly wonderful as the weather which was most threatening all day broke in several heavy showers just before the concert. A bountiful supper and other refreshments were provided, and the financial outcome considering the disheartening weather, was most gratifying. Much credit is due Miss Agnes Johnson, organist, of St. Joseph's, for her efforts to secure so varied and artistic a program and for giving the people of the county such a treat as Miss Helen Linhard's organ recitals and accompaniments proved. People of taste present declared that never was a more artistic program rendered in our county. The program follows with names of those who kindly took part:

Organ Recital—Bethoven Ave Maria—Dana Crescent Revere—Fieldhouse (Gate of Paradise)—Muller Sacred—Leonard Rock of Ages—Johnson Redemption—Stults He Ledeth Me—Ashford Quasi Dilecta—Lambillotte

The Delinctor For September. The earliest creations of Autumn are attractively set forth in the September Delinctor, along with the fashion comment and prophecies of Helen Berkeley-Loyd, Edour La Fontaine and other authorities in the world of styles, and there is much in the number of interest from the standpoint of fashion.

Mrs. Mary Hinman Abel contributes an article on the pure food question. It is the first of a series and opens the discussion by outlining the part of the consumer, the housewife, in procuring safe foods. N. Hudson Moore writes interestingly on English pottery and porcelain in "The Collector's Manual," and Dr. Grace P. Murray has a paper on the child in the nursery which will be read profitably by mothers. The hymn "Nearer, My God, to Thee" is the subject of a paper by Allan Sutherland. Weyner Jay Mills concludes his "Romances of Summer Resorts," and there is an enjoyable travel sketch, describing and picturing the beautiful Lake District in England. In the way of fiction, the number contains the continuation of Albert Bigelow Paine's serial "The Lucky-Piece," and of Helen M. Winslow's New England story, "At Spinster Farm," and two short stories by Cornelia Atwood Pratt, and Elizabeth McCracken. There are also entertaining pastimes for children, including an animal fairy tale by L. Frank Baum. As usual, many pages are devoted to domestic interests and the particular needs of woman within and without the home.

ST. INIGO'S ITEMS.

See! There they go—young and old, male and female—to a dance at the Hotel Potomac.

It is surprising how little we are naturally and how much we are artificially. Show! Oh that mischievous fly. It is first on our nose and then it is, trying to crawl into our ear. There! And now it has got into the ink bottle, well, we must have patience, bearing in mind how patient Sir Isaac Newton was when his pet dog, Diamond, upset a lighted candle and burned calculations, which it had required him years to make.

A few loads of tomatoes pass by Blue Gull to the cannery at Miller's wharf. A year ago, wagons, carts and other vehicles could be seen daily, loaded with the vegetable named, and drivers seemed happy as they whistled and sang "Uncle Tom and the Hornets," and "Miss Julia is so peculiar."

Miss Mabelle Talbot, of Baltimore, Md., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. John S. Jarboe, Ridge.

Some crabbing is being done and 2 cents a barrel is realized. Fish, principally trout, are caught and prices are reasonable.

Do not stare at any person, spony. It is impolite to do so. Remember that the face—we will not use the jaw-breaking word of five syllables—of man is modelled by conscience and the tenor of life.

Energy shrined in the bosoms of a few, will eventually give us a telephone from Leonardtown section to Leonardtown.

A railroad? Well, man respire, aspires and expires. Many with whom we were acquainted have passed away and during their mortal existence indulged the hope of travelling by rail to Baltimore and Washington. They died in despair of living to see their fond hopes realized. Despair is a correct accountant. Whenever it sets itself to find its total, it never eliminates the infinitely small part of a fraction.

See those employes! How they labor—toil from morning to night. What long days! We often soliloquize, were the days of the Mosaic Cosmogony days of well, days similar in length to those of the current month.

Mr. James Roach, J. P., who has been quite sick, is convalescent. Rain, and Sunflowers are just lovely, as the ladies say.

Fighting Excursionists. Tuesday last, the steamer Jane Mosely brought to Leonardtown from Washington a large negro excursion. One of the incidents of the excursion was the stabbing of Tom Williams by "Kid" Moore. Williams was cut twice in the left shoulder, one being a superficial wound and the other a deep gash about 2 1/2 inches long. The knife was driven into the scapular region, and that the blade was so deep that it had a hard time in getting out. Williams is in jail and Williams is a witness. The taxpayers of the county at large and the members of the Town will thoroughly approve the action of the Town Commissioners in telephoning the agent of the Mosely that the excursion due here Wednesday will not be allowed to land.

Sudden Death. John K. Davis, a prominent farmer of the Budd's district died suddenly last Thursday while out in the field looking after his crops. He left his home apparently in good health and not returning his family became alarmed and went to search for him, and found his dead body. He was a good man and a good citizen. May he rest in peace!

Solomon, 4. Leonardtown, O. Monday last, a Solomon's team defeated the Leonardtown nine by a score of 4 to 0. Both teams played well. The game was batted much. Dent was in good form and pitched well for the home nine; Gough made a fine catch. Batteries, Dent and Combs; Webster and Smith. Umpire, Mr. Cook.

Struck by Lightning. Saturday, Dr. Petherbridge's house at Charlotte Hall was almost demolished by lightning. The bolt struck a tall linden and passed to the dwelling, tearing out two windows, ripping off weatherboarding and generally smashing things. No one was injured and no fire was started. The house is a wreck.

Lost. A heavy gold rosary crucifix on street between St. Aloysius' church and Moore's Hotel, Leonardtown. Reward if returned to Bank.
