FLINT'S FINE FURNITURE

THE ECLECTIC ROOM.

Portia remarked of the Englishman: "How oddly he is suited! I think he bought his doublet in Italy, his round-hose in France, his bonnet in Germany and his behavior everywhere."

Eclecticism even then, you see.

Nowadays the summer living-room shows one's eclectic tastes. Do not choose from a single style, but gather many styles and widely different periods, from this your Happy Hunting Ground. All the styles of the world—Oriental, Gothic, Mediæval, Modern. Better still, colors and forms are harmonized and contrasted to give ideas in combining.

Summer rugs from $15.00, and Oriental draperies, show how to "hold together" enamelled reed furniture novelties which are at factory prices, as you
